Final plans were made for the telephone bridge being held this month. Katherine Alexander conducted several contests.

The rest of the evening was spent watching television after which Kay Wardle and her committee served refreshments.

Schoolgirl Receives Letter From Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth

Faye E. Wagar, a Grade VIII pupil at Queen Mary School, has received an air mail letter from Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II.

In the first week of February Faye decided she would like to send the Princess a Valentine and a small gift. She told the Princess how she had been saving clippings and pictures of the Royal Family for several years and of how much she admired her Royal Highness.

In the meantime her Princess became Queen through the death of her father and Faye wondered if she would get an answer to her letter.

Today a reply came and the following is a copy of the letter.

Dear Faye:

I write by The Queen's command to thank you for your letter, and for your very kind thought in sending the little sachet, which Her Majesty has much pleasure in accepting as a token of your good wishes.

Yours sincerely,
Margeret Hay

Ireland in Song 'and Story

By HELEN B. ANDERSON

Wellington — This week with Shamrock teas and St. Patrick's parties as social attractions, the thoughts of every true Irishman will turn to his birthplace, the Emerald Isle. For, in spite of its troubled history, Ireland holds tender memories for her native sons. Perhaps it is the soothing effect of its natural beauty that enthralls. H. V. Morton in his book "In Search of Ireland" writes, "In Summer Killarney is a botanist's paradise. The lanes of Killarney are as lovely as the lakes."

The love of the homeland seems characteristic of the Irish race. We note this in their poetry. The poet Goldsmith who was a great traveller writes of his desire for home, "I still had hopes, my long vexatious past; Here to return and die at home at last." Then E. B Henderson, Colborne, Ontario, writes of her home in Kerry:—

"I am wearying of the city, the hurrying and the tumult. I am sick of stranger faces that go unheeding by. Oh, if I had a wishing stone — there's many such in Kerry — I'd see again the Kerry hills beneath an April sky. Quoting H. V. Morton again:— "And London is only a few miles away from Kerry. It seems impossible. Some day tired people will know this and will come here to let the peace of Ireland sink into their very souls".

The late Norah M. Holland of Toronto has left us some tender poems of her beloved Erin. We have the following:—

Fair are the fields of Canada, and broad her rivers flow,
But my heart's away from Canada to seek the hills I know,
Far, far away o'er billows grey, where western breezes sweep,
And — it's not the songs of Canada go sounding through my sleep.

Along the sides of old Slieve Dhu again my footstep falls,
Again the turf smoke rises blue, again the cuckoo calls,
Once more adorn the mountain brown the brown bog-waters leap
Oh how the croon of "Shulearoon" goes sounding through my sleep.

Oh, 'tis I am here in Canada, far far across the foam,
And many years and many tears divide me from my home;
But still above the Irish hills the stars their watches keep,
And—it's not the songs of Canada go sounding through my sleep.

The failure of the potato crop in Ireland brought many settlers to Canada. Many of the tombstones in Hillier cemetery bear the words "Born in Ireland". Here in the village of Wellington we have evidence of Irish enterprise and ambition in the fine residence Tara Hall built by the late Archie McFaul, a pioneer settler from Ireland, who also helped to build the Catholic Church. Tara was the home of the ancient Irish Kings.

O Tara Hall, did thy builder dream
As he planned each turret and tower and beam,
That an Irish King might reign in thee
As in old Tara across the sea.

We shall conclude this with the poem "The Irishman's Toast" by Jean Blewett:—

There's an isle, a green isle, set in the sea—
Here's to the Saint that blest her!
And here's to the billows wild and free
That for centuries have caressed her!

Here's to old Ireland fair I ween,
With the blue skies stretched above her!
Here's to her shamrocks warm and green—
And here's to the hearts that love her!

—Jean Blewett.

Awards for Best Actor, Actress Toss-up This Year

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, March 17 (AP)—The movie world's biggest party—the Academy Awards—arrives with a hoopla of searchlights and ermine next Thursday night. For the first time in years, it's anyone's guess as to the winners.

Usually the Oscar Derby can be predicted with a degree of accuracy. There might be one upset among the major winners but most of the categories are well tabbed in advance.

This year the Hollywood oracles have been fumbling for predictions and no one can seem to agree on the probable victors. After sampling industry opinion, this is how the race shapes up:

Best actress' performance—Vivien Leigh ("A Streetcar Named Desire") appears to have a slight advantage. Closely following her is Shelley Winters ("A Place in the Sun"). Eleanor Parker ("Detective Story") has a good dark horse chance. Less-likely winners are Katharine Hepburn ("The African Queen") and Jane Wyman ("The Blue Veil").

Best actor's performance—this is a toughie. It could be any of four—Marlon Brando ("Streetcar"), Arthur Kennedy ("Bright Victory"), Frederic March ("Death of a Salesman") or Humphrey Bogart ("The African Queen"). Not so promising is Montgomery Clift ("A Place in the Sun"). I'll take a flier and predict Bogart.

Best picture—"A Place in the Sun" appears the first choice, although "Streetcar" may ace in and sweep many categories.

Four stars have won two Oscars. They are Spencer Tracy, Bette Davis, Louise Rainer, Frederic March and Olivia Dehavilland. Walter Brennan has won three as a supporting actor. This year Vivien Leigh, Jane Wyman or Katharine Hepburn could win their second Oscar, and March could win his third.

Ocars are gold-plate bronze statuettes, 10 inches tall and weighing seven pounds. They cost around $60 by winning one adds an estimated $1,000,000 to a picture's gross.

AMELIASBURG EUCHRE CLUB

Ameliasburg — The Ameliasbury community Euchre Club held a euchre in the town hall on Tuesday evening, with 11 tables in play; the proceeds going to the "March of Dimes". The prizes given were kindly donated, of which appreciation is extended. These were won by: Ladies' high, Mrs. Roy Smith, Mrs. Clinton Sager; most lone hands for lady, Mrs. A. Cook. Men's high, Mr. Edward Cannons, Mr. Roy Smith; most lone hands for men, Mr. Ronald Wood.

The frame prize went to Mrs. Roy Smith for the ladies and to Mr. Roy Smith for the men.

The mystery card was held by Mrs. T. Blake. Door prize was won by Mrs. Harry Bisdee; lucky cup held by Mr. James Colton; lucky plate by Mr. William Colton; lucky chair by Mrs. Richard Soble; coming the longest distance prize, went to Miss M. Keeble, of Belleville.

The guessing bean contest went to Mr. Richard Soble.

Mrs. A. Cook made and donated a chesterfield set with Mr. Carl Soble holding the lucky ticket, and the one having a birthday this month, nearest to date, was won by Mr. Carl Soble.

The proceeds for the evening were $19.10.

Queen Victoria H-S. Association Presents Colorful 'Children's Fair'

On Friday evening, the doors of Queen Victoria school swung open to admit the throngs of youngsters to their own "Children's Fair" as well as a large number of interested parents and friends.

The Children's Fair is the one initial project of the year with Queen Victoria Home and School Association, and proved to be a gratifying success. Various attractions were provided both for the adults and for the youngsters, including television, provided by Mr. Vic White through the courtesy of the Stewart-Warner; and movies under the supervision of Mr. Bob Tanner, who reported a 'sell-out' crowd at each performance.

Those assisting Mr. Tanner included, Mrs. B. Tanner, Mr. B. Baldwin, Mr. Murray, Dick Powell and Neil Firman.

Popular Fish-Pond

On the second floor were the ever-popular fish-ponds for boys and girls, to which the children's love of adventure lured them again and again. Mrs. G. Durno was in charge and those helping were, Mrs. Doogan, Mrs. Tuck, Mrs. Addy and Mrs. Parkham, while Mr. St. Pierre looked after the boys' pond, with Mrs. St. Pierre, Mr. and Mrs. Gilroy, Mrs. S. C. Else and Mrs. S. Gulis helping.

The popcorn booth on the main floor with its mounds of popcorn, buttered and enticing, proved most popular with the younger set. This was under the convenership of Mrs. S. Askey, assisted by Mrs. F. Shannick, Mrs. Fargey, Mrs. B. Haslip and Mrs. L. Goodman.

Next in popularity was the candy booth with its creamy chocolate fudge, divinity fudge, popcorn balls, colorful marshmallow dolls, pastel baskets and homemade face suckers, ably convened by Mrs. K. Sager, with Mrs. N. Germaine, Mrs. R. Anderson, Mrs. Rowe, Mrs. H. McNish and Mrs. G. Rogers assisting.

White Elephant

The white elephant booth contained everything from oversize records to tall goblets and prettily dressed dolls; crocheted chair sets. This was convened by Mrs. T. Colden, assisted by Mrs. J. Lewis, Mrs. R. Wardle, Mrs. R. T. Young.

Hot dogs, ice cream and cokes were soon disposed of by the many hungry youngsters. Those in charge were: of the ice cream, Mr. H. Keller, assisted by Mrs. Keller; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Smith and Mrs. Lidster; the cokes: by Mrs. N. O'Neil, assisted by Mr. O'Neil; Mr. and Mrs. R. Keenan, Mrs. James and Mr. MacKeen.

Mr. M. Lysecki was in charge of the hot dogs with Mrs. Lysecki and Mr. and Mrs. N. Tremaine assisting.

Lovely Cakes

Last, but by no means least, was the homecooking table with its colorful array of beautiful decorated cakes, tarts, pies, iced fruit bread, sugar buns and cookies. This was convened by Mrs. P. Dewberry and those who assisted were: Mrs. B. Punchard, Mrs. Ford Chick, Mrs. F. Davidson, Mrs. N. Hickson, Mrs. W. Soules, Mrs. J. MacKeen, Mrs. J. Sherwood, Mrs. W. Arthurs, Mrs. W. Countryman, Mrs. R. Smith, Mrs. R. Potter, Mrs. D. Taylor, Mrs. M. Matthews, Mrs. E. Palmer, Mrs. A. R. Newman, Mrs. N. Cathers, Mrs. K. H. Davidson and Mrs. V. White.

Appreciative thanks are tendered Mrs. Charles Powell for the fine way in which the fair was convened and also for the advertising, and to Mr. Walton of the school staff for the eye-catching decorations on the auditorium stage. Others who assisted during the fair were, Mr. Bradford, Mr. Slack, Mrs. Eakins, Mr. Punchard and Mr. Van Tassel.

Rev. Sister M. Lenore Gives Address At P-T. Association

St. Michael's and Holy Rosary Parent-Teacher Association, held their monthly meeting recently.

Guest speaker was Rev. Sister M. Lenore, M.A., principal of St. Michael's High School and Provincial President of the Ontario English Catholic Teachers' Association. Sister M. Andrew, principal of St. Michael's Academy, introduced the speaker, who chose as her subject "The Parochial School." In her talk, Sister M. Lenore outlined the function of a school, which is not only to teach but to educate and help the child to develop an integrated personality. She also spoke of modern or progressive trends in education.

Mrs. G. Donoghue thanked the speaker.

As it was Education Week, Miss Moher introduced a film entitled "Family Circles" produced by the National Film Board of Canada. This film is a winner of two awards and impresses upon the onlooker the fact that "Education is Everybody's Business."

Parent attendance plaques were won by Sister M. Avita's class at St. Michael's and at Holy Rosary School, Sister M. Callista's and Sister M. Evelyn's class were tied for first place.

Women's Activities

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.

Campbellford — The regular meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S. was held at the manse with Mrs. Wesley Stephens, president, in charge. After the call to worship, two minutes' silence was observed in memory of the late King George VI. and a prayer given for the Queen.

The members voted in favor of changing the hour of the regular meeting from 3 o'clock to 2.30 in the hope of increasing the attendance. It was decided to have a cooking sale, tea and bazaar on Saturday, May 10. Mrs. Reg. McCulloch and Mrs. G. G. Stephens were named a committee to find a suitable location and to arrange for publicity for the event.

Growth of State and Church

Mrs. Adamson took the chair for the program which she had prepared. Mrs. Hazel Storie explained the chapters in the Study Book: "Meet the South Americans," dealing with the growth of state and church in South America, the early Roman Catholic missions and efforts to achieve political unity.

Scripture readings were taken by Mrs. James Storie, Mrs. Hazell and Mrs. Charles Milne. Mrs. Jack McCredie rendered a lovely solo. A reading, appropriate to the study was given by Mrs. Robt. McCulloch.

The president reminded the members of the semi-annual meeting of the Peterborough Presbyterial to be held in Hastings on May 8th., also the annual meeting of the Synodical Society of Toronto and Kingston, in Lindsay, on April 22, 23, 24.

Mrs. Stephens gave the highlights of the annual Presbyterial meeting held in Peterborough.

The next meeting will be held in the church, with Mrs. DeCarrol in charge of the program.

REDNERSVILLE W.A.

A pleasant evening was spent on Thursday by 23 members and two visitors of the Rednersville W.A. at the home of Mrs. Ross Roblin. Mrs. Leon Ward read the scripture.

Business included plans for the coming bazaar to be held next Tuesday. This was followed by a pleasing piano duet by Mrs. McKay and Mrs. Rorebeck, and a game which was won by one of the visitors.

After a sing-song in which all joined, refreshments were served by the hostess, and a vote of thanks tendered by Mrs. Marie Adams to all who had taken part, and to the hostess for her gracious hospitality.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

The Flirtatious Husband

What can a wife do with a flirtatious husband? Even though he would never for a moment entertain a thought of being unfaithful to her, it's a difficult problem to her for quite another reason, the reason being that to see him behave so, makes her uncomfortable and embarrassed for both of them.

A case in point is described in this letter:

"During the past few years my husband has often "fooled around" with my friends or acquaintances (never the ones closest or dearest to me.) This has always occurred in my presence, but each time it happens I feel deeply hurt and embarrassed. When he first began to do this I spoke to him about it, but he thought I was very silly, and refused to discuss it. My husband is intelligent, not worldly and not sentimental. I know he loves me and our two children, and except for these rare happenings, which leave me morbid and depressed, we get along well.

"In comparison with very serious martial problems, this may not seem an important one, but it is very distressing to me. I thought for awhile that I might possibly change the situation by 'playing up' to other husbands, but I don't like the idea and feel I'd be cheapening myself. I would certainly appreciate your wise advice."

The wording of this particular letter leaves me a little puzzled as to just what this wife means when she speaks of her husband's "fooling around." Since he does it in her presence, I wouldn't think it amounted to anything more than a rather crude adolescent attempt at making himself agreeable to other women and having a little harmless fun himself at the same time. But if it goes beyond casual flirting to the point where he actually fondles the other women, then it's something else again, and I certainly don't blame her for being upset by such an exhibition of bad taste by the man to whom she is married.

Talk Does Not Help

Even so, she won't accomplish anything by trying to make her husband realize what an ill-mannered clown he is making of himself and how distasteful it is to her. Talking about it will only stir up his anger and resentment.

Of course this wife is wise to avoid any retaliation in kind. It could do no good, whatever, for her to "fool around" in the same way with other womens' husbands. On the contrary, it would undoubtedly create an even more unpleasant situation between herself and her husband, which would intensify the problem rather than simplify it.

Naturally, women who allow someone else's husband to "fool around" with them are just as much at fault as he is. In responding to that kind of clowning, they put themselves in an equally unfavorable light. But the hands of any self-respecting wife are, obviously, tied so far as trying to point this out to these women is concerned.

It seems to me the wisest technique for this wife, at the moment, is to treat the whole thing as though it were quite unimportant to her, ignoring it just as much as she can any time it happens when the two of them are out together. And by ignoring it, I don't mean for her to do so in a pointed or conspicuous fashion, so that he, and everyone else present, is given to understand that she is irritated and upset. Let her try to sell herself on the idea that since she knows in her heart it really means nothing, she can afford to let it pass, and that since he is supposedly an adult, he will have to take care of his own reputation; that if he doesn't care what more male people think of him, that's up to him.

I realize that this is not very much consolation to a wife who naturally wants her husband to appear to best advantage in public at all times, and who feels that it reflects upon and embarrasses her when he fails to do so. But I still believe that if she will have too much dignity to notice his foolish behavior, and try to keep herself from getting "morbid and depressed" when it occurs, it may be the most effective means of influencing him. It will, also, make other people less conscious of it and keep them from pitying her, as they would certainly do if they thought she took it so seriously.

FASHION FLASHES

MAGNIFICENT handwork distinguishes a new dress collection. A dinner dress, with a cover-up top and three-quarter sleeves, is of white cross-banded lace which is filled in with hand-painted squares to give a plaid lace effect that is particularly lovely and different.

FOR THOSE that can wear 'em sailors will be the thing for Spring, and every milliner is showing several versions. Soft gray straw makes a narrow-brimmed sailor, softly trimmed with a mauve-pink velvet band and bow in back, and a tiny stick-up spray of white flowers.

Food for Thought

By Mary Moore

The Streamlined Tea Party

Some of Marianne's fellow—"probies" had been invited for tea on Sunday afternoon and I allotted three hours on Saturday morning—from 9 to 12—to prepare the sandwiches and cakes.

I was told by a gal who considers herself something of an authority on time-studies that what I did could not be done in 3 hours. And whether it is worth the effort I do not know. I do know this that I hope you folks have more sense, and do not rush like that when you are getting ready for a tea.

(1) I made mayonnaise—using the electric beater; (2) I washed the breakfast dishes; (3) I made 2 loaves up into pinwheel and ribbon sandwiches which required the preparation of 4 different sandwich fillings (fortunately the bread was colored—green for St. Pat.—and sliced by the bakery); (4) Eighteen tiny strawberry tarts were whipped up using homemade pastry and frozen berries—defrosted and sweetened and thickened; (5) an oversize angel cake batter—used for 18 cup cakes and 1 square cake. The latter was later pulled apart to make snow balls—you know what they are? piece of cake rolled in thin butter icing and then in shredded raw cocoanut.

At 12:06 noon four beloved friends dropped in for lunch!

They were lucky—and so was I—that I had a big pitcher of homemade pea soup in the refrigerator. I put sandwich makings on the table and let them sample the strawberry tarts.

I'm wearying thinking and writing about it. Next time they get tea biscuits and jam!

Dear Miss Moore: Would be very glad if you could give a word of advice. We soon plan to have a fish and chips supper at our church and it is our first try. Hints on best results and as economical as possible. Could we use lard as shortening costs so much. . . a dressing for cole slaw too.—Mrs. A. D.

ANSWER:

The operator of a large fish and chip store tells me that they use the best quality of lard they can buy—for more than one reason. (1) price; (2) flavor; (3) lasting qualities. One shortening, which is expensive, has no odor and my informant says everybody would prefer to use it, if it were not so costly.

Coat the well-dried fish by any of the following methods: (1) Sift together 2 cups flour, 2 cups cornmeal, 5 tablespoons salt. Quickly dip fish in cold water then in this mixture and drop into fat at 375 deg. Fahr. Do not let temperature drop below 370 deg. Sufficient for 12 lbs.

(2) Beat 4 eggs slightly and add 1-2 cup cold water. Mix 4 tablespoons salt with 4 cups sifted dry breadcrumbs or cracker crumbs. Sufficient for 12 lbs.

(3) Batter No. 1: 4 cups bread flour, 2 teaspoons salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 3 1-3 cups milk, 8 eggs. Batter No. 2: 4 cups bread flour, 6 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 cups milk, 3 eggs.

Drain fish on paper towels; keep hot in oven on the paper towels at 250 deg. Fahr.

I will give you a different slaw dressing that is very popular.

DRESSING FOR SLAW

In top of double boiler put 1 can condensed (not evaporated) milk, and let it cook 10 minutes. Cool. Turn into mixing bowl and add 1 1-2 teaspoons dry mustard, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce. Beat with rotary beater 2 minutes. Gradually beat in 3-4 cup cider vinegar. Beat hard for 1 minute after all vinegar is added. Three lbs. cabbage makes cole slaw for 20, and requires 1 1-2 pints dressing. Sliced Bermuda onion, shredded green pepper and shredded raw carrot are good additions to the slaw.

Wedding Notes...The Spring Bride, the June Bride

1. Clear traditional bridal white is still the choice of most brides. To some brides, the off-white shades are more becoming — cream-white, ivory-white, or the soft shade of orange blossoms. And many a bride today is choosing the wondrously subtle shade of pink, so faint that it is referred to as "blush"...and how gently radiant it looks as it floats up the aisle! Another hushed tone very popular at the moment is the delicate ice-blue, "bride's blue" it's called. And occasionally one sees a bride wearing the very lightest of champagne shades.

2. Materials? First in traditional elegance is white or off-white heavy satin, "bridal satin." Regal, timeless. Sometimes the satin is all-silk, sometimes rayon satin, sometimes the heavy "slipper satin," sometimes a lighter-weight satin. And many, many lovely wedding dresses are made of nylon net and nylon tulle, so young, so glamorous. Silk or rayon taffeta is very popular, too, very adaptable to certain designs ...and with such a wonderful rustle! And the handsome all-over lace wedding dresses.. particularly Chantilly-type lace and Venetian-type lace. White lace over white; ivory over ivory; white lace over blush; white over ice-blue. And many ariations of combinations-of-materials; lace and nylon tulle over satin: yards of tulle over taffeta or satin.

Groom's Family Should Send Bride's Family List of Relatives and Friends

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My brother is to be married about 200 miles from home, and he wants us to mail him a list of our relatives and friends so that his fiancee's family may send them wedding invitations. We feel that this is an imposition, an obvious "call" for gifts, and we definitely do not want to be placed in such an embarrassing position. We take the stand that it would be more proper to send out announcements after the wedding. However, his fiancee and her mother maintain that the polite thing is to send our relatives and friends wedding invitations. We would welcome your impartial judgment. L. H.

Your brother, his fiancee and her mother have the right point of view, and you and your family must co-operate with this. When formal wedding invitations are being sent, they are sent to all relatives and friends, the groom's as well as the bride's...and whether or not they will be able to come to the wedding. A wedding invitation is a charming gesture, and means "The bride and groom would like to have you at their wedding ...and they hope it will be possible for you to be with them on this important day."

Don't think of invitations in terms of gifts; guests may or may not send one, as they wish. And it would certainly be an "embarrassing position" for your brother and his family if all the invitations are sent to his fiancee's family, and none sent to his relatives and friends!

BEAUTY

HELEN JAMIESON

"She Wears Clothes Well"

There are women who seem never to appear in the same frock twice. They must spend fabulous sums for expensive dry goods, yet they never look right. Sometimes it is because they have never developed an appreciation of fine lines and becoming colors. More often it is because they don't take the trouble to carry themselves properly, with the result that the chest is flat, the shoulders are rounded, and there is a little shelf abaft the waistline.

One can learn dress sense by the trial-and-error method. If a woman is disappointed in a dress, doesn't feel comfortable in it, she should decide what is wrong. It may be the cut of the neckline, the placing of the belt, or the kind of sleeve that throws her figure out of form.

It won't do to buy a dress because it looks attractive in a shop window or because it flattered the model in a fashion show, who may be an entirely different type. It must be tried on, viewed from all angles. The effect of the color on the complexion and the figure must be carefully considered.

When a woman feels that her good looks are fading, she often says "what's the use?" That is just the time when she should give extra special attention to her appearance. and cultivate dress sense.

Every article of wearing apparel should be purchased according to a well-conceived plan. Otherwise a woman's wardrobe will consist of three types of dresses—those that give her a lift, make her feel that she is in the fashion picture; those that barely get by; and those that she loathes and sends to the rummage sale.

Over-dressing is a common fault. Except for bouffant and elegant formals, simplicity is the high card in the sartorial deck. Some of the most expensive dresses—and the most beautiful—carry practically no decorative elements. Smartness is achieved by graceful lines and attractive fabrics. But the style element will disappear unless the gown is worn with distinction. That means a backbone that is on the job, a head that is balanced, hips that are tucked back, and a neat waist.

A dress that is too tight does not make the grade. Many tiny women select dresses that are a size too large, which also is a mistake. They look as if they had borrowed their clothes. Sometimes it happens that a pretty frock is spoiled by the accessories—an elaborate belt, a fussy purse, a hat that puts up a color fight, or too much costume jewelry.

The clothes-conscious woman is always with us. A woman should get herself together as perfectly as she can, then forget about her draperies.

NOTES ON SOIL

Organic matter or humus is a vital necessity for good plant growth. Soil organic matter is the remains from the rotting and decomposition of both plant and animal bodies. The partial decay of these organic substance occurs at the soil surface or the top few inches. Even weeds and insects that can do damage to our crops can be helpful in soil building after they die. These are made a part of the soil through the work of small living things in the earth. Every cubic foot of top soil teems with living organisms called bacteria. There are also numbers of mold plants, insects, grubs, worms that help change the soil. Top soil can be considered as a teeming community of living things.

It is well for the gardener to study soil components and the methods by which he can increase soil fertility. A compost pile is a necessity in every garden. This is composed of grass clippings, leaves, sand, soil refuse and manure. Chemicals can be added to quicken decomposition, and in a few months this excellent humus is available. Legumes such as clover, alfalfa, soybean and cow peas contain nitrogen and are valuable as green manure. Such plants have little lumps called nodules on the roots. These contain nitrogen fixing bacteria.

The study of soil composition is a fascinating one. It is vitally important to successful gardens.

"It's time Pop knew some of the facts of life!"

Funny thing about parents. They can be so smart about some things—and blind to other things.

Take my Pop, for instance. When I first bowed into this confusing world, he was wise enough to take out more life insurance. Now, if anything happens to him, Mom will still have money for groceries and rent. And I can go on playing here, instead of at some nursery while Mother earns a living.

For that, I give Pop full credit. Yet he's always complaining about how tough it is to save more money these days. Why can't he see that he can use life insurance—with its system for putting money aside regularly—to reach other goals. That way, saving's as easy as sucking a toe!

Another thing. As I observe economic conditions in this great nation of ours, one fact is increasingly evident! Every dollar that's saved helps to check inflation. So we should all save as much as we can, every way we can.

That's what I'm going to tell Pop. And if he doesn't listen to reason, I'll just drool all over his new tie!

Life insurance dollars serve you these other ways:

A large part of every life insurance dollar is put to work in investments that bring you—and all other Canadians—extra benefits.

Hundreds of millions of these dollars have been used in this way, helping to provide new schools, highways, power plants, oil pipelines, homes and many other vital projects that raise living standards.

Today, by their thrifty habit of paying life insurance premiums regularly, nearly five million Canadians are providing security for their families . . . working to check inflation . . . and promoting progress throughout the nation!

STIRLING

Claude Smith Speaks On 'A Good Scout'

Stirling — Some 140 fathers and sons were in attendance at the annual Boy Scout banquet held in the Stirling Community Hall on Wednesday night. The tables were well arranged and a splendid dinner was served by the mothers of the Cubs and Scouts and the wives of the group committee.

Mr. Ross Hermiston acted as chairman while Mr. Bob Patterson led the community singing with Mr. Fred Houchin at the piano. The toast to "Our Parents" was ably proposed by Ronnie Woodbeck, who paid tribute to their importance in a Boy Scout's life.

Value of Training

In response Mr. H. J. Wells voiced the thanks and appreciation of the parents to the local Scout leaders for their untiring efforts in teaching Cub and Scout work. The training given the boys through this medium would stand them in good stead in their manhood days.

Its benefit was manifested last summer by the heroic act of a local Scout in saving the life of a younger boy. Stirling is fortunate in having good leaders and good Scouts, concluded Mr. Wells.

Scout Field Commissioner Jackson, of Trenton, announced that Mr. and Mrs. J. Irish, local Scout leaders, will be presented with an award giving them the privilege of wearing "Gilwell Beads" at a meeting in Cobourg on the 22nd.

Awards Presented

He also presented Cub Bobbie Montgomery and King Scout Ray Hermiston with achievement awards, won by the local troop for extraordinary success in Scouting during the past year. They are to be sewn on the troop flags.

Mr. Claude Smith, District Scout Commissioner, Trenton, was the guest speaker and delivered a thought-provoking address on "The Good Scout." "A good Scout is always dependable and one on whom you can always count in the pinches," stated speaker. "Our dads are the best scouts in the world and we want to be as much like them as possible.

"The lot of a dad was not easy, neither is that of the son who should co-operate with his dad as he would with a teammate in a game of hockey or baseball. There should be plenty of team spirit.

Be As Good as Dad

"It's hard to be a good Scout but tougher to be as good as your dad even when he is not around. However, it is a two-way effort and we, as dads, should be as good as our sons think we are," concluded Mr. Smith.

The following presentations were made: Badges, Rodger Smith, David Potts, Fred Palmer, Allan MacConnell, James Waterfall, Ron. Woodbeck; (badges and all round cord). Tommy Wells (artist's badge.)

Commissioner Smith also congratulated Tommy Wells on passing the Bronze Arrowhead Course and Arthur MacConnell on winning the Gilt Cross.

Appreciation Voiced

Mr. R. A. Patterson voiced the appreciation of the Scout executive to the mothers of the Scouts and Cubs for the splendid banquet.

Two films, "The Circus" and "Snow Fiesta" were shown by Mr. J. Churchill of Foxboro, to bring a splendid evening to a close.

The members of the group committee are: Messrs. R. Hermiston, Sheldon McIntosh, X. P. Mayhew, Joe Fillion, R. B. Bell, R. A. Patterson, D. Duffin and R. Hulin.

War Goods and Opium Make Smugglers Rich in Singapore

Singapore, March 17 (AP) — The United Nations' blockade of Communist China and boom conditions in Singapore have transformed this great trading centre into a teeming hub of two-way smuggling.

Bigtime operators, who long have used loopholes to smuggle in opium for rich Chinese addicts, now use the same loopholes to send out strategic war materials to Communist countries.

Quantities of tin, rubber, tires, auto parts, tinplate, carbon black and other war necessities are flowing out of the colony despite the official ban.

British authorities admit cargoes are getting past customs.

One customs spokesman said: "Contrabrand, opium, gold, liquor and tobacco coming in is small compared to the volume of prohibited goods going out."

"Strategic materials are the money-making exports of smugglers," he said, and named Red China and Indo-China as the main "importing countries."

Big Money

Customs men have made large seizures of strategic materials banned by Britain but they admit the biggest barrier to cleaning up the rings is reluctance of minor smugglers to reveal identities of their bosses.

"There is big money involved, and where big money is concerned little talking is done," a spokesman said. "Stooges arrested have sufficient inducement to keep their mouths shut. And they do."

Side by side with smuggling of strategic goods, illicit supplies of opium are pouring into the colony.

Ships of all countries which converge on this port bring the supplies. Agents on board dump watertight packages of the drug overboard. Small sampans pick up the cargoes.

Sometimes larger cargoes are landed on the many islands lying off Singapore and hidden in the undergrowth. Motorized junks bring them into Singapore. Even the huge fleet of high-powered, radio and searchlight-equipped customs patrol boats cannot put an end to the traffic.

Profits are huge, middlemen handling the drug are numerous and many otherwise bona-fide importers now are believed engaged in the traffic.

Singapore's 66-mile vulernable coastline and corruption among some customs men are two factors contributing to the flourishing trade.

STEADY COLLECTIONS

Winnipeg — (CP — When city finance committee chopped $30,000 off the garbage collection budget, it warned the move might result in collections every 10 days, instead of once a week. Now the Winnipeg health committee has protested any reduction in collections.

The senior Hawks can hang up their skates, bag their duffle, hock the shillalaghs and call it a day.

On Saturday the Ontario Hockey Association tossed out their protest of the use of the Peterborough Petes of members of the Triple-Links junior "B" team.

No wonder the Petes skated with tongue-in-cheek during their victorious four-game sweep of the semi-finals series with the Hawks. The protest was "in the bag" and they knew it.

The Hawks based their protest on the printed rule that teams affiliating with those of an upper bracket must file notice of affiliation with the OHA secretary prior to the start of seasonal play.

President Harper McElrath of the Hawks who was present at the Saturday afternoon hearing nearly fainted with surprise when he was informed by the OHA that the rule (And get this) affecting affiliation "HAD BEEN PRINTED WRONGLY".

A representative of the Triple-Links told the hearing that his club had had a "working arrangement" with the Petes for a number of years, and did not think it necessary to file notification each year.

Asked why members of his team played with the Hawks against Kingston he came up with the rehearsed answer:—"They played without permits".

Apparently the rule affecting goalkeeper replacements was printed correctly.

And with a scuffling of hands signifying that is that the august OHA in a magnanimous gesture returned the Hawks protest fee.

Pass the deodorizer.

JUNIORS LONE SURVIVORS

On the broad shoulders of the junior Hawks rests the job of carrying Belleville's lone banner into the Ontario Hockey Association playdowns. Conquerors of Kingston Vics in four straight games the Hawklets now await the first call to battle in the playdown series.

After much mental juggling and whatnot the OHA finally came up with a playdown solution. On Saturday BGH secretary Dick Beare was notified that the Hawks, Weston Dukes and Barrie will play a round-robin home-and-home series. The two top teams will play a four-of-seven series with the winner going into the Ontario finals.

Hamilton and the winners of the Dundas-London, and Kitchener-Waterloo series will also play a similar round robin series with the winner meeting that of the eastern group. At time of writing no playing dates had been arrived at, the matter being left to team officials to set their own dates. We may have something on that before press time.

ALL SET FOR POLICE-FIREMEN JOUST

Chief Gerald Vance's Smoke-Eaters and Inspector McDougall's provincial police puck-chasers have completed their training and are all set for the big annual ice battle in Memorial Arena tomorrow night.

Reports say the teams are in good shape, rivalry is keen and barring no eleventh-hour importation of National Hockey League stars, the situation should develop into one of the closest games ever staged by the boys of the blue and brass.

Besides there's the topflight entertainment being staged or iced by stars of the Quinte Skating Club, thanks to President Jack Dickens. These brilliant artists will appear between periods and have fashioned an outstanding spectacle for the occasion. Then, too, the moppets will have their chance. Rangers and Bruins of the peewee league will battle in a sudden-death game for the league championship and the Canadian Legion's handsome Trophy. Legion president LeRoy Madden will present the bauble to the winners immediately following the game.

And by no means least will be the fine rhythms of the RCAF, Trenton Station drum and trumpet band. This band rated as one of the best of its kind in Eastern Canada is appearing through the kind permission of Group Captain G. F. Dunlop, AFC, CD, commanding officer of the station.

All-in-all it looks like a gala evening. Tickets are still on sale and can be secured from any police officer, fireman or Shriner. And remember your twenty-five cents will help a crippled kiddie on the road to health, or at least betterment of condition. Better get your ticket today.

JUNIOR GEN

Here's the latest "gen" on the junior situation. The Hawks will go to Weston to meet the Dukes on Friday or Saturday of this week with the Dukes back here, Wednesday, March 26th.

In the meantime there is a possibility of Barrie being here this Wednesday. Negotiations are under way and it is likely the OHA will order that date.

Secretary Dick Beare announced this morning that due to the heavy demand for tickets to the junior games, the pasteboards are now on sale at Cooks Tobacco Store, regardless of date. Those wanting seats for the first game here are urged to get tickets as quickly as possible.

WI' STANE AN' BROOM

A revival of the once popular curling game may come about if plans of members of the Curling Club here materialize. At an enthusiastic meeting the other night curlers past, present and future laid plans for a "session here" contingent on the possibility of securing Memorial Arena for the games. Curling is a popular game in other centres, while lack of ice here, it must be admitted, has been a deterrent to anything that resembled a permanent revival of the game. Another meeting is scheduled for tomorrow night when it is hoped definite plans will be laid for the proposed brief period as suggested at the first meeting. We understand there are good curlers in the city, who could form the nucleus of a strong permanent organization providing ice facilities were available.

Boston Can Clinch 4th Spot With Win Over Hawks Tues; Leafs Within 1 Point of Habs

(By The Canadian Press)

Toronto Maple Leafs are noted around the National Hockey League for their ability to come through with a victory when the chips are down. During the weekend, Boston Bruins climbed aboard their bandwagon.

While third-place Leafs turned back New York Rangers 5-2 Saturday and 4-2 Sunday, the Bruins stayed in line with 2-0 and 2-1 triumphs over Montreal Canadiens. The combination of victories all but eliminated the fifth-place New Yorkers from the four-team Stanley Cup playoffs and at the same time moved Toronto within one point of the second-place Canadiens.

In the weekend's two other clashes, Detroit Red Wings—who have already clinched their fourth consecutive N. H. L. title—drubbed the tail-end Chicago Black Hawks 6-1 at Detroit and 4-0 Sunday afternoon in Chicago.

Can Clinch it Tuesday

The two wins gave the fourth-place Bruins a five-point lead over Rangers. With only three games remaining in the 70-game schedule, the Bruins could clinch a playoff berth by winning Tuesday at home against Chicago.

In picking up those four important points the Leafs considerably brightened their prospects of moving into second place. They meet the Canadiens Wednesday in Toronto in a game that could well be the key to the whole playoff picture.

A win would give them a one-point lead on the Habs.

Left-winger Sid Smith led the Leaf attack Saturday with three goals while Tod Sloan and Howie Meeker added the others. Ed Slowinski and Don Raleigh notched the New York markers.

Sunday at New York, the Rangers took a 2-0 first-period lead on a pair of goals by Wally Hergesheimer only to have the Leafs roar back with two each in both final stanzas. Danny Lewicki, Sid Smith, Ted Kennedy and Cal Gardner were the Toronto scorers.

Ed Sandford and veteran Milt Schmidt supplied the Bruins with their 2-0 edge Saturday at Montreal. Sugar Jim Henry turned aside 32 shots in chalking up his shut out.

Paul Meger gave the Habs a temporary 1-0 Sunday lead at Boston, but second period goals by Dave Creighton and Real Chevrefils scored 16 seconds apart provided the Bruins with their necessary edge.

Red Kelly, Marty Pavelich and Ted Lindsay each scored a pair of goals Saturday while George Gee garnered Chicago's lone tally.

Terry Sawchuk came up with his 12th shutout of the season Sunday with Ted Lindsay clicking again for two goals. Alex Delvecchio and Metro Prystal countered the others.

Probably the biggest touch of the weekend was provided Saturday night at Toronto when referee George Gravel and linesman Frank Udvari and Jack Mehlenbacher appeared to officiate the Ranger-Leaf game in bright orange sweaters. The color eliminated any confusion between the officials and Toronto's white home uniforms.

Niagara Falls Wins 3 COSSA Basketball Titles

By DON DOLAN

The Niagara Falls Collegiate Institute, a school reputed throughout the province for its winning basketball teams, walked off with three of the four "A" championships in the 1952 Central Ontario Secondary Schools Association playdowns which were held in Toronto on Saturday. The only title that did not fall into the hands of the Niagara cagers was the senior girls championship which was won by Beamsville.

Trenton in Finals

Of the four local teams which entered the tournament, only one, the Trenton junior girls entered the finals.

Those who witnessed the games at Hart House on Saturday saw in action one of the best teams that has ever played in a C. O. S. S. A. tournament; this team being the Niagara Falls Red Raiders. With the exception of three players, Niagara displayed the same team that in 1951 won the C. O. S. S. A. championship; the Telegram Trophy which is emblematic of Ontario high school basketball supremacy and the Queen's University Invitational tournament.

Coach Jim Rose's Red Raiders left little doubt in the minds of those witnessing the tournament as to who had the better team.

In the first round of the playdown, the Falls had an easy time in downing Orillia 67-39.

Meanwhile in the other half of the senior semi-finals, Peterborough Collegiate paced by a 17 point effort from Don Ash trounced the Belleville Collegiate 49-26. Lanky Bruce Page played very well for the locals and his 13 point contribution was the only bright spot in an otherwise dismal display.

Then came the finals in which the Peterborough team was subjected to one of the most humiliating defeats ever handed to a team in COSSA play. Niagara Fall's big three of Howie Triano, Dick McKenzie and Zoli January, scored 27, 31, and 10 points respectively in trouncing the Liftlock City crew 97 to 36 thus giving to the Raiders their second successive COSSA title.

It was the same old story of too much Niagara Falls in the junior boys division.

The kids from the Falls captured their semi-final game from Barrie by a score of 53-37. Twenty-three of their points came on free throws.

Scared Peterborough

"Red" Townsend's BCI juniors threw a scare into Peterborough juniors before bowing 45-38 to the latter. At one point in the third quarter the Belleville quintet led by as much as seven points but when Jack Mathhews, their ace scorer (who threw in 17 points during the game, was ejected from the game for committing five personal fouls, their attack fell apart and the Petes eventually pulled away from them.

As was the case in the senior final, the junior final proved to be no contest. Niagara was terrific both in ball handling and deadly accurate shooting and when all was over, the Peterborough team found themselves on the short end of a 72-34 decision.

The third team from the Niagara Falls Collegiate Institute to win a COSSA title this year was the junior girls. After defeating Midland 38-20 in the semi-finals, they downed Trenton High School 36-6 in the finals. Trenton reached the finals by virtue of a 13-10 win over Lindsay in the afternoon play.

A well coached group of lassies from Beamsville proved to be too strong for the other teams in the senior girls' division. Beamsville scuttled Newmarket 45-13 in the first round and by virtue of a 50-18 victory over Port Perry in the finals, were acclaimed the COSSA titlists for 1952.

Inability to hit from the free throw line cost the Belleville Collegiate seniors a chance to play in the finals. The BCI team managed to make only seven free throws in 23 attempts while losing 17-12 in their semi-final. Beth Wilber, Diane Gibson and Doris Kerr led the locals in scoring with three points apiece.

Over at Danforth Tech the "B" section championships were won by Collingwood in the senior and by Ridgeway-Crystal Beach H.S. in the junior. In order to gain the finals, Collingwood downed Beamsville 70-61 while Albert College of Belleville downed Port Hope 66-51 in the other senior semi-final. However in the final, Collingwood paced by a 37-point scoring spree by John Hill, had little trouble in downing Albert 71-49.

Ridgeway-Crystal Beach H.S. disposed of Midland 67-47 and of Trenton H.S. 50-20 in claiming the junior title in the B section.

Blueshirts' Hy Buller Ranks High In NHL Rookie-of-The-Year Battle

New York, March 17 (AP)—The scramble for rookie-of-the year honors in the National Hockey League continues into the final week of the season with Hy Buller, New York Rangers' defenceman, stacked against a glittering array of freshman who have pushed the Montreal Canadiens into second place.

At least three Montrealers — Boom Boom Geoffrion, Digging Dickie Moore and Paul Meger — have been rated well above the rookie field in various quarters, but Chicago coach Ebbie Goodfellow said today the Calder Trophy should go to Buller, a Montreal boy, if the Rangers achieve a play-off spot.

Favor 'Boom-Boom'

"If they get in," said Goodfellow "it's Buller who got them there."

Goodfellow's top choice among the Canadiens is scrappy, two-way Meger, who has 23 goals, six fewer than his colleague on the right wing, Geoffrion.

"I have a lot of respect for Geoffrion's shotmaking," said Goodfellow, "but sometimes he strikes me as being a little lazy. He does not push himself too hard."

Critics of Buller's candidacy point out that no defenceman has ever won the trophy and the $1,000 which the NHL awards as a bonus. But Frank Boucher, Ranger manager, ridicules this argument.

"If Buller wins," says Boucher, "it will cost the Rangers as well as the NHL a $1,000 bonus. But I think he rates it. He is as good a defenceman as there is in the league."

"You have to judge a player by his merits, no matter where he plays. And I don't have to tell you how much Buller has meant to us."

Only three Ranger forwards have outscored Buller, whose 35 points have already tied the club record for a defenceman, set originally by Ott Heller in 1943-44. And his 12 goals are one short of another club record for a backliner.

Buller, a mature rookie who reached his 26th birthday today was buried for eight seasons in the American Hockey League, a mystery Boucher will never understand.

"On power plays," Boucher says "he's the best defenceman the Rangers have ever had."

Elks Bruins Win Bantam Title

The Elk Bruins won the bantam championship of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association, Saturday morning at the Memorial Arena when they scored a 6-2 win over the Y's Men Rangers in a final sudden-death play-off game.

Bob Hull paced the winners with a three-goal attack and added one assist. Cannon tallied twice and McLean notched the singleton. Lynch drew an assist.

Asseltine and Chris scored one goal each for the Rangers while Foster assisted on one.

'Dromes' Defeat Recreations 5-2

In a Central Ontario Bowling League game played at Recreation Alleys on Saturday night the Belleville Bowl-O-Drome team won a 5-2 decision over the Recreations.

Belleville Dromes racked up 3495 against 3367 for Recreations.

For Bowl-O-Drome, Les Lennox 772 (290), Ted Greenfield 739 (303), "Toots" Holway 720 (291), were high.

Hank Ryan 696 (311), and Joe Legault 696 (304) led Recreation's attack. Jim McKenzie had 678 (327), and Joe Kirkwood 683 (263).

Men's Commercial

Bosiaks rolled the high pinfall of 3665 to take seven points from Legionnaires in the Men's Commercial Bowling League session. Other seven-point winners were Star Welding, Gourley Motors, Rockets and O'Neil Sales over Mead-Johnson, Stephens-Adamson, Welding Gases and Balyx Brothers. Moose Lodge split with the Alemite 5-2.

Bosiaks increased their league lead to three points while Moose Lodge now lead Star Welding by one point for the runner-up spot.

Maurice Reid bowled high triple of 857 (373). Other scores were Ross Huffman 772, Jack Fitzgerald 757; Grant Badgeley 752; Ted Colden 744, Flip Clare 725, Bill Bateman 732, Vince Sagriff 721, Ken Peacock 678, Joe Vatcher 626, Gar Anderson 657, Stan Royale 656.

Sport in Brief

(By The Canadian Press)

Canada's Olympic hockey champions, Edmonton Mercurys, arrived in London Saturday for a final exhibition series in Britain before returning home.

Lugging bags packed with trophies and souvenirs and clad in white Stetson hats, tartan scarves and fawn jackets, Mercurys attracted much attention as they stepped from the chartered plane that brought them from Zurich, Switzerland.

First game for the Canadians is tonight against the United States Olympic team for the Churchill Cup.

Ralph Kiner, slugging Pittsburgh outfielder, has signed a new one-year contract for an estimated $75,000, the Pirates announced yesterday in Oakland, Calif. The salary makes Kiner the second highest paid player in the National League and third in baseball.

In Edinburgh, England trounced a Scottish team 19-3 Saturday in an International Rugby Union game on the Murrayfield ground before 65,000 fans. Scotland now has lost all four games in the international championship which includes England, Wales, Ireland and France and rests at the foot of the standings.

A record opening-day crowd of 27,000 bet more than $1,000,000 in near-freezing weather Saturday as Lincoln (R. I.) Downs began a 30-day spring meeting.

Gordon Cowan, Vancouver, and Anita Gathe, who recently moved to Vancouver from Zurich, Switzerland, captured the Canadian championships on Vancouver's Grouse Mountain Saturday.

Catcher Yogi Berra of New York Yankees sprained a ligament and ruptured a blood vessel in his left foot Saturday in an exhibition baseball game against Brooklyn Dodgers in Miami, Fla. Doctors said he should return to duty in a week or 10 days.

The Damon Runyan Cancer Fund will get about $15,000 out of the Sugar Ray Robinson-Bob Olson middleweight championship fight, which grossed more than $63,000 Thursday night in San Francisco. Expenses and taxes took three-quarters of the gate receipts.

In Manchester, England, steeplechase jockey A. P. Kelly earned his pay the hard way Saturday. Kelly's first horse crashed at the last hurdle. Kelly came back in an ambulance. The doctors said "nothing serious." In the feature race, Kelly's horse fell two fences from home. Kelly came back in an ambulance. Doctor: "Minor abrasions."

The fee for a losing ride is seven guineas. Kelly had no other mounts.

Lucien Laferte, Canadian ski jumping champion from Three Rivers, Que., who distinguished himself as a member of the Canadian Olympic ski team this year in Oslo when he bowed to the crowd after a bad spill, broke his left arm Saturday while practising on Vancouver's Grouse Mountain. He will be unable to defend his title, which he also won in 1949.

September Air, a 12-year-old steeplechaser, won a 2½-mile race at London's Sandown Park race track Saturday and dropped dead a few yards beyond the winning post.

Frankford Sport

Frankford — The Frankford Bowling League tightened up considerably around the top of the standing, and it looks as if for the third straight year, the league pennant is going to be decided on the final night of bowling. With only two night remaining, the Crackpots hold a two-point margin in the league lead over the Pinpoppers.

This week, Gene Lohnes' Pinpoppers climbed to within striking distance of the top rung by downing Ray Scott's Skeeters for seven points. In so doing, they set a new league record for high single and high triple. The Crackpots, piloted by Ross Huffman dropped five to Bob Morglan's Bobsmob, Ed Tomecek's rejuvenated Rockets took five from Russ Hogg's Inkspots, and Harry Hearns' Hotshots made it five over Jack Farley's Fireballs.

Elsie Couture of the Pinpoppers joined the Ladies 250 Club with a 280 game. Ross Huffman of the Crackpots narrowly missed his fifth 300 game, as he rolled 299. He is the fourth bowler this year to roll that score.

Ottawa Skier Places Second In U.S. Meet

North Conway, N.H., March 17 — (CP)—Art Tommy of Ottawa, recent winner of the Quebec Kandahar, placed second Sunday in the combined competition at the United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association meet.

The 18-year-old Tommy tied for sixth place in the downhill Saturday and was third in the slalom Sunday.

Ralph Miller, an 18-year-old Dartmouth freshman, took the combined crown with a total of 1.60 points to 4.68 for Tommy.

Miller won the downhill Saturday over a 1.3 mile course. Braving 40-mile-an-hour winds, Miller covered the extremely fast descent in 2:01.2 to break the course mark by 2.2 seconds.

Edi Maull, Austrian ski instructor, was second in 2:02.6. Tommy was tied with Dick Church of Bowdoin, each timed 2:05.6.

In Sunday's slalom race Miller was fourth: The winner was Pepi Gabl, a ski instructor at Mt. Mansfield, Vt., who was closed in 2:06.4 for his two runs through the 39 gate half-mile course.

Don Henderson, former Middlebury ace, was second in the slalom with a total time of 2:08 while Tommy took third place.

Victoria Edges Westminsters 2-1 In Pacific Loop

(By The Canadian Press)

Victoria Cougars retained a chance at the Pacific Coast Hockey League playoffs Saturday night when they edged the Royals in New Westminster 2-1. The victory left Cougars in a three-way fight for sixth and last playoff position.

At Tacoma the Rockets took a 3-1 triumph over Seattle Ironmen Saturday and in Saskatoon the Quakers clinched second spot in the league by trouncing Calgary Stampeders 8-0.

For Victoria Eddie Dorohoy and Walt Atanas scored singles. Butch Houle was the lone sniper for New Westminster.

At Tacoma Warren Godfrey, Mark Marquess and Gordie Kerr shared the scoring honors. George Homenuke scored for Ironmen.

Alex Kaleta and Johnny Chad with two goals each and Neil Strain Chuck McCullough, Tommy Fowler and Ken Hunter with singles gave Saskatoon their shutout over Calgary.

Seattle made up for their Saturday loss by nosing out Vancouver Canucks 4-3 Sunday at Seattle. Ironmen scorers were George Homenuke with two, John Bailey and Bill Richardson. For Vancouver Don Smith, Vic Lofvendahl and Ron Plumb shared the goals.

Les Digby Named President Quinte Football League

Les Digby, one of the busiest soccer men in this part of Ontario, was elected to a fourth term as president of the Bay of Quinte Football Association at the annual meeting held Friday night.

Other officers are John Jones, Demorestville vice-president; Fred Jones, Belleville, secretary treasurer; Captain Davison, Picton and Tony Machola, Batawa, executive members. Honorary officials are Mayor A. McLean Haig, Belleville, Frank S. Follwell, M.P., Lieut. Col. Fisher, Picton, William Harvey and W. H. Drury, Belleville.

The meeting set the entry deadline for April 10th with the first game called for May 1st. An appearance bond of $10 per club is to be posted with the entry fee. The bond will be returnable at the end of the season providing the schedule is completed.

There was considerable discussion on junior activities. It was decided to start with the youngsters early in the season and possibly closing down the summer months. It is hoped other centres will sponsor junior activities this year.

Phillies Like Oriole Hurler

Clearwater, Fla., March 17 (AP) — Steve Ridzik, a 22-year-old righthander up from Baltimore of the International League is tabbed "the best looking pitcher in camp" by Philadelphia Phillies manager Eddie Sawyer.

In his latest outing, Saturday, the Yonkers, N.Y., native gave the St. Louis Cardinals one hit in two innings and received credit for the Phillies' 4-2 victory.

Ridzik broke into the Philadelphia farm system at 16 and has advanced up through Schenectady, Wilkington, Utica, Toronto and Baltimore.

AIRFIELD PROJECTS

Oslo (CP) — Norwegian Defence Minister Nils Langhelle said that under plans approved at the recent Lisbon meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty organization's council, Norway will build one new air base and expand six existing fields. Norway will pay one-third of the cost.

Robinson to Mind Own Business, No More Feuding With Leo Durocher

By JACK HAND

Miami, Fla., March 17 — (AP) — Jackie Robinson is going to mind his own business this year. No more feuding with Leo Durocher—Maybe.

"I'm going to mind my own 25 cents worth, except when I'm concerned," he said. Then he added with a grin, "At least I'm going to try to stay out."

Although there never was any love lost between the pair, Robinson was one of the first Brooklyn players to bustle into the New York Giants' clubhouse with congratulations to Leo on his pennant win last fall.

Robinson may have a little trouble, deciding where his own business ends and other people's troubles start. Personalities have a way of wedging into any Giant-Dodger battle. It usually winds up with a sulphuric exchange between Jackie and Leo.

How About Giants?

"I don't think the Giants can get that same kind of pitching again," said Robinson. "Especially from Sal Maglie. You hear a lot about how old the Dodgers are getting. How about the Giants?

"A lot of people said we'd come down here meek and beaten after what happened last summer. I think we have more incentive to win than ever before. We have a big responsibility to a lot of fans who suffered when we lost.

Did overconfidence cause the Dodgers to blow a 13½ - game lead last summer?

"Maybe you could call it that," he said. "I was out five days with a minor operation that I could just as well have postponed until winter. Others were out of the line-up too when they might have played. When we got back, we just weren't the same club.

"I don't think that club (the Giants) can be that lucky again."

Robinson reported a little heavier than last season and picked up a sore shoulder at the Vero Beach camp. He is not concerned about the few extra pounds.

A couple of years back, Jackie talked of retiring soon. He has changed his mind.

"I want to stay in baseball as long as I can," he said.

Peewee All-Stars Sweep Series With Kingston

Belleville Pee-Wee All Stars scored a 6-0 win over Kingston Pee-Wee All Stars at the Kingston Community Centre on Saturday afternoon to sweep the two-game, total points to count series by a 13-3 margin, having won the first tilt in Belleville by a 7-3 edge.

Deacon, Howard, J. Cadding, MacDonald, Wright and Bishop were the marksmen for the winning crew. Foster assisted on a pair while single assists went to Dies, E. Alyea, T. Alyea, Brennan and Gill.

The Belleville team were guests of the Kingston Kiwanis Club following the game at which they received doughnuts, soft drinks, and other refreshments.

The winners now play Peterborough in the Liftlock City in a return game, Belleville having won the first one by a 5-4 edge, to decide the series winner and the ownership of a cup donated for that purpose.

He's Indignant

An artist could get no greater expression of indignation than shown by Alfred Lawson, 82, founder of the "University of Lawsonomy" in Des Moines, Ia., as he appeared before an investigating committee in Washington. The committee inquired into his school's reported $115,000 profit, allegedly made on war surplus tools sold on condition that they be used for educational purposes. They were bought for $4,408 and reportedly sold for $120,000. — Central Press Canadian.

Sloppy Joe is not going to like me for this. Neither is Akoolap Oxpert. But they already think me as nutty as a fruit cake, anyway. So, what's the diff.

This is leading up to the first response by north with this hand:

♠K 9 6
♥9 6 3 2
♣7 5 3

South opened with a bid of one club. West simply overcalled with a bid of one diamond. What should the north hand do? Nothing but pass. No matter how much he hates to do it he should pass.

His hand contains only two tricks. One of them is ace in the diamond suit. The other is the spade king. A jack is not counted as a trick. And the hand contains no short cards.

Two tricks are exactly what an opener depends on in the hand of his partners. Therefore, if responder bids without being forced, his opening partner has a right to expect more than two tricks.

Suppose an expert south opens with a bid of one club and west passes. An expert north might respond with one no-trump. He knows it is not correct. But he might do it anyway. Why?

An expert pair has subtle ways of putting on the brakes after misinforming each other. So, they stretch a little if necessary to give partner another chance to show what else he has, if anything.

But, when west sticks in a defensive bid of one diamond, north has no such excuse. The defensive bid gives partner another crack at the bidding. No need for north to lie for that purpose.

The way to look at such a response is this: If opener has no more than a bid of one, game is not likely with only two tricks in partner. So, partner should not be encouraged.

Partner may like another chance to bid, of course. But if an opponent has come in with a bid it is already kept open for him.

It is unwise to misinform partner for no good purpose.

Refers to Abbott as "Skeleton at Feast"

Harold Wilson

During a U.K. parliamentary debate on economic affairs, Harold Wilson, a left wing labor member, charged that Hon. Douglas Abbott, Canada's finance minister, had prevented Britain from taking a policy of discrimination against the dollar at the meeting of Commonwealth finance ministers in London last January. He referred to Abbott as "a skeleton at the feast," for it was Abbott who prevented the chancellor of the exchequer from proposing outright discrimination against the dollar by the Commonwealth countries. Debate was touched off by Australia's decision to slash imports from the U.K. instead of dollar and non-sterling countries. — Central Press Canadian.

Weekend of Wild Weather Had Fortunate Ending

Bishop, Calif., March 17. (AP)—A weekend of wild weather in California had a fortunate ending last night in the rescue of 33 persons whose mining camp high in the Sierra Nevada was crushed under giant snowslides.

The 33 rescued were workers and their families at the U.S. Vanadium Corporation's Tungsten mill—the world's largest—9,000 feet high in Pine Creek Canyon, 20 miles northwest of here.

Saturday a huge slide poured down. On end of the mill was caved in. Four homes were partially destroyed.

The season's third "major" storm, after battering the San Francisco area, hit Southern California Saturday. It caused flooding in low-lying sections and families had to be evacuated in several Santa Barbara and Los Angeles county communities.

In Los Angeles winds felled trees and power poles, caused electrical failures, drove two boats ashore and whipped heavy snow in the mountains into huge drifts.

Three lives were lost—one by drowning and two others by carbon monoxide in trucks stalled in deep snow.

Yesterday a freak "twister" struck Santa Monica, blew down a garage, knocked over chimneys and toppled boats in several small shipyards.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, March 17—(AP)—Cary Grant is unique among movie stars. His sole interest is acting in motion pictures.

That may not sound unusual but it is when you consider the activities of other screen celebrities. Some, like Bob Hope and Bing Crosby, have many business enterprises. Some, like Red Skelton, Donald O'Connor, devote much of their time to television.

But what about Cary Grant's interest in such matters? I asked him if he yearned to direct movies.

"I'd be afraid to try," he replied. "I think one should be cognizant of one's own limitations."

What about a return to the stage?

"I don't think so. I haven't been on the stage for 20 years, and I see no reason to go back now."

Television?

"Nope." He firmly believes that television entertainment will eventually be supplied by the movie industry and thus he will continue doing the same thing he is now.

AT THE BELLE — Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis co-star with Corinne Calvet and Marion Marshall in "Sailor Beware" — the fastest, funniest frothiest of the Martin and Lewis comedies, at the Belle today, Tuesday and Wednesday — matinee daily.

No Big Business

Grant added that he indulges in no big business enterprises. What does he do with his film salaries?

"I can tell you where the bulk of it goes," he laughed, indicating I imagine, the U. S. treasury. "Of course, I do have some surplus at the end of the year. But I am not one to worry about money. Actually, it doesn't matter much in these days whether you earn $500,000 or $150,000. The difference in your net return is only a matter of $3,000 or $4,000.

"And what is the difference how much money you make, anyway, as long as you have enough? You can only eat so many meals and wear so many clothes."

Grant added that he has no outside activities "because it took me long enough to learn this craft and I'm not certain I've finished learning it."

Other film actors wouldn't share his modest opinion. And when they complain about the inequities of the academy awards, they agree that it's a shame that Grant never has been given one.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars,

FOR TUESDAY, MARCH 18, 1952

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Fairly encouraging aspects for routine, personal duties. Better stay wide-awake. Later hours of day things may change quickly; be ready to act.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Move with caution, during this period. Brook no deception, understand what you are about. Don't act on impulse.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—A day to use for reviewing what has gone before, what you expect to accomplish, and how. Have family, home, friends in mind. Be temperate.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Waste no time in fussing over decisions that should be made quickly. Most financial, business affairs will require much tact.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Guard against possible harmful agencies that could interfere with your rights, work or principles. Watch temper. Be calm, make no rash promises you cannot keep.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Take it easier if you have been pressing. Put aside worrying; see yourself in healthier mood. We all have troubles, but God will give the strength to see them through.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Strengthen courage, aspirations; strive to attain higher goals. The law of average is with you, and remember, doers only make mistakes. They also succeed firstest and mostest.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Fresh satisfaction in things you like, in achieving. Today can be gratifying one if you put forth your best. Competitive work is invigorating, healthy. Get started early.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Most worthy endeavors sponsored. Get together in spare time with loved ones, friends. Follow a worth-while chart without misgivings or fuss.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Business and personal matters on more favorable side now. But you must not wait for the other fellow to lead. Sound aggression required.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Not so stimulating rays for exciting affairs, new ventures. If you direct your efforts in calm, systematic manner and look optimistically on happenings you can carry on creditably.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Mildly friendly period for spontaneous effort furthering financial endeavors. Conferences, reviewing problems, attending to important correspondence can prove extra profitable.

YOU BORN TODAY are idealistic, fond of philosophical knowledge; like travel, history. But sometimes lack confidence for the top accomplishment you could have. Be less retiring. Seek companions of high incentive. Adapt self readily to necessary conditions for better living. You are strong in defense of friends, worthy causes. Birthdate: Grover Cleveland, 22nd and 24th U.S. pres.; John C. Calhoun, statesman; Robert Donat, actor.

CENTRAL MORTGAGE AND HOUSING CORPORATION
TENDER

File # 120-3-6-B-13-4/51
(D.N.D. (Non-Urban)

Construction of Sewers, Pumping Station Watermains, Road Sub-grade & Base Course at BARRIEFIELD, Ontario.

Sealed tenders plainly marked as to content and addressed to the undersigned will be received up to 2.00 p.m. E.S.T. Tuesday, April 8, 1952 for the performance of the following work: the construction of sewers, sewage pumping station, watermains, road sub-grade and base course at Barriefield, Ontario.

Specifications, plans and tender documents for this project may be obtained by prime contract tenderers at the address shown below. A deposit of $100.00 in the form of a cheque made payable to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation is required for each complete set of specifications, plans and documents. This deposit will be refunded if the documents are returned in good condition within seven days from the award of contract.

Each tender must be accompanied by a security deposit amounting to ten per cent (10%) of the total amount of the tender. The security deposit will be forfeited in the event the successful tenderer refuses to enter into the contract on the basis of his tender when called upon to do so. The security deposits of the unsuccessful tenderers will be returned.

A marked cheque on a chartered Canadian bank, made payable to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, or negotiable Dominion of Canada Bonds will be accepted as security deposit.

Sets of specifications, plans, etc., have been made available for the purpose of information to sub-contractors and material suppliers at the following locations: Kingston Builders' Exchange, 83 Clarence Street Kingston, Ontario, and at this office.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Holds the Floor of N.B. Legislature

J. Harvey Ramsay, in everyday life chief draftsman of the New Brunswick department of lands and mines, trades his drafting pencil for an auctioneer's gavel to sell some $83,000 worth of New Brunswick salmon angling leases. He is shown holding in his left hand one of the numbered markers which correspond to the stretches of water offered at the decennial sale of leases. The event is traditionally held in the assembly chamber of the legislative building at Fredericton, the legislature itself being adjourned on the day in question to make way for the sale.—Central Press Canadian.

DEFENCE CONSTRUCTION (1951) LIMITED
TENDER

File#122-7-T-2-15 Job#1898 Water Storage Reservoir and Pumping Station, R.C.A.F. TRENTON, Ontario.

Sealed tenders plainly marked as to content and addressed to the undersigned will be received up to 2.00 p.m. E.S.T. Tuesday, April 1st, 1952, for the performance of the following work:—the construction of a Water Pumping Station and Water Storage Reservoir to be located at the R.C.A.F. Station, Trenton, Ontario.

Plans, specifications and tender documents for this project may be obtained by prime contract tenderers at the address shown below. A deposit of $100.00 in the form of a cheque made payable to Defence Construction (1951) Limited is required for each complete set of plans, specifications and documents. This deposit will be refunded if the documents are returned in good condition within seven (7) days from the award of contract.

Each tender must be accompanied by a security deposit amounting to ten per cent (10%) of the tender total. The security deposit will be forfeited in the event the successful tenderer refuses to enter into the contract on the basis of his tender when called upon to do so. The security deposits of the unsuccessful tenderers will be returned. A marked cheque on a chartered Canadian bank and made payable to Defence Construction (1951) Limited or negotiable Dominion of Canada Bonds will be accepted as security deposit.

Sets of plans, specifications, etc. have been made available for the purpose of information to sub-contractors and material suppliers at the following locations: The Belleville and District Builder's Exchange Belleville, Ontario, and the Toronto Builder's Exchange, 1104 Bay Street, Toronto, Ontario.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Board Takes Over Union Headquarters

Detroit, March 17 — (AP) — Peacefully and without any apparent resistance, Ford Local 600 of the United Auto Workers (C. I. O.) turned over its control to the international union today.

The four top officers of Local 600 yielded their posts to an administrative group assigned by the U. A. W. international executive board. The group went into conference in the office of Carl Stellato, president of the local.

Stellato and three co-officials were removed on charges that they failed to keep communist influences out of the local's management. Yesterday the international executive fired five minor officials of the local.

After the action against the top officers, one of the latter, William R. Hood, recording secretary, said he would not "physically give up my office." Hood said he would refuse to "abjectly surrender without counsel with my membership."

Apparently, however, Hood made no effort to resist.

LESS PAYING TAX

Tokyo, March 17 (Reuters) — Japanese paying income tax this year will be nearly 1,000,000 less than last year. This is because of new tax laws freeing low-income groups from income tax. Of Japan's 84,000,000 population, approximately one person in seven will pay tax—roughly 12,000,000.

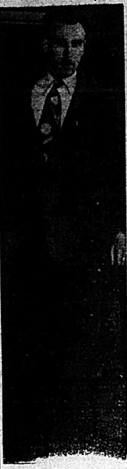
As local as the name implies



With Boyd at time of capture was his brother, Norman, above, who was also held by police. Only a few hours before his surrender, fellow-thugs had conveyed Boyd to the apartment. While the gangster-escort hustled the wanted man into the apartment, police watched from observation posts, then swung into action.—Central Press Canadian.

Even Edwin Alonzo Boyd, last of trio of desperate gunmen, admitted that police "did a fine job" in surprising him asleep with his wife in his North Toronto apartment hideout. Capture of the suave "master bank robber" climaxed the greatest police manhunt in Canada's crime history. Police said capture was not result of a tip-off but was due to "super-detective work" of Dets. Payne and Craven. — Central Press Canadian.

FARMHAND HELD

Police and relatives continued a hunt on the farm for the blunt instrument they believed bludgeoned the life out of Sidney Goff.

It is believed to have been an oversized tinsmith's hammer which had been hanging in the tool shed of the barn and which now is missing.

Speaking of Deneau, who was paroled to his custody in October, Mr. Goff said he seemed a quiet, likeable sort, although a bit moody.

"He was just like one of the family," he added, "we treated him well and he was fed well."

Sunday morning he joked with young Goff before going out to the barn with him. There had never been any trouble between the two, said Mr. Goff.

Mysterious Feline

This baby cougar, donated by Mayor Fred Hume, Vancouver, is en route to North Luffenham, Eng., for mascot duty with the R.C.A.F.'s 410 Cougar Squadron. The three-month-old cougar called "Rosie" although its sex is still uncertain, is now the size of a big alley cat, but when full grown will tip the scales at 450 pounds. — Central Press Canadian.

Nobody Loves Forever

By Margaretta Brucker

A message came from Tom. He had arrived in the United States but might be held up for days or weeks. He would come home as soon as possible.

Jessica spent a night of terror. As the distance between Tom and herself diminished she became more and more upset. Would Tom be different? Would he be the same Tom who overrode her every wish and was as stubborn and determined as his mother? What weapon could she use to persuade him to agree to a separation?

In the past, love-making had been her only way to influence Tom. The very thought brought a shocking return of memory.

What had David said? Nobody loves forever. The words sounded flippant and cheap, but true, nevertheless; for what she had felt for Tom, that heady, wild infatuation, had died with his departure.

She tossed and turned in bed. Next morning she awoke with a headache. She was too restless to stay in the house all day and welcomed Doris' invitation to go to a movie that evening. Lucy agreed to listen for Betsy, who always went off to bed at seven.

The theatre was jammed and they had to wait in the crowded lobby. Doris chewed gum and prowled through the crowd trying to spot two seats. For a little while Jessica stood alone. She thought, I'm glad it's a silly show. Soothing and relaxing.

The lights inside went on suddenly; the organ burst into a selection which marked the intermission. The crowd moved toward the lobby. She saw Doris push toward her and just then she caught a glimpse of a pair of familiar shoulders.

David. He was not alone. The girl with him wore no hat. A mane of pale-gold hair touched her fur-clad shoulders.

Doris saw them and winked at Jessica. "There goes Sara Linton" she said in a loud whisper.

Jessica saw nothing on the screen that evening. Her imagination carried her away and she saw David and that pale-haired girl together—at the Mayflower, chatting over a drink, or possibly in Hugh Linton's home. David did not need to be secret about his meetings with Sara Linton, she thought bitterly. He didn't have to hide anything.

She was unfair to think that. He was only keeping his promise to her when he avoided her and never called, she reminded herself.

But the following day the urge to see him overwhelmed her, and for the first time Jessica called him at his office. Just for an instant she believed she recognized the voice of the girl who answered. Could it be Genevieve?

Then she forgot everything but the relief when David answered. "Anything wrong?" he asked.

She was breathless, the call was silly. She said "David—"

He laughed with a touch of triumph in his deep voice. "Look," he asked, "will you meet me this afternoon?"

She hesitated. He urged, "you want to see me, don't you?"

In the end she agreed. She was too absorbed in her own thoughts to hear the door to the kitchen open. Her mother-in-law's harsh voice startled her.

"When Tom comes home there'll be no more of this gallivanting about with strange men," she said flatly.

Her face looked drawn and pinched today. Colorless. Her eyes glittered angrily behind her glasses.

Jessica left the telephone and started toward the stairs. She had thought Mrs. Blake gone from the house when she called. Did it matter, she thought rebelliously.

Mrs. Blake came farther into the hall. "It's disgraceful for a girl to forget her husband when he has been off fighting for his country," she declared.

"The fact that Tom is a soldier has nothing to do with our relations," said Jessica, controlling her tongue with an effort. "Wearing a uniform doesn't make any man a hero to his wife. A man wins the respect of his wife when he shows her consideration — not when he leaves her alone with people who hate her.

There was a moment of dreadful silence.

"I was homesick and lonely when I came here," she said rapidly. "I didn't realize the mistake I made when I married Tom. I did wrong, and I was unfair to myself.

"I planned to be independent, and then Betsy came. If you had shown just a little love—"

Mrs. Blake broke in harshly. "Nothing will ever make you seem Tom's wife to me; you think you're too good for us."

Jessica said firmly, "you're quite wrong, and I'm sorry—"

But she spoke to Mrs. Blake's rigid back, disappearing through the kitchen door.

Jessica felt weak and unnerved. Almost, she forgot the telephone call which had precipitated the ugly scene. Well, at least there was a certain relief in the knowledge that Mrs. Blake knew or suspected that she did not plan to continue to live here. She and her son and Lucy would soon be alone together, and Jessica's one hope was that they would forget her completely. A mistake was a mistake. Nothing could make her marriage to Tom Blake a success and a life with Tom's mother was quite beyond any possibility in the future.

Jessica dressed rapidly, late for her engagement with David, woke Betsy and hurried her into her clothes and across the street where Doris was busily engaged cleaning out her closets

"Bill's coming home," said Doris over her shoulder. "After the training he's had in the navy he'll expect to have the place looking shipshape, won't he? I got off early this afternoon I'm not going back to work until Monday so if you want me to keep Betsy any time—"

Jessica smoothed Betsy's ruffled curls. "It will not be long now until we leave here," she said confidently.

"Any further word from Tom?" Doris frowned at a spot on a man's cheap sports coat and removed the coat from its hanger Betsy ran about eagerly investigating the contents of a box Doris set on the floor for her to examine.

Jessica stood in the doorway stripping her gloves through her nervous hands. "No," she said, "but he's due home any day now. I'm planning to leave just as soon as I can after he arrives."

Doris shot her a glance. "You think it will be easy?"

"How can he keep me?"

Doris shrugged. "I've never known anyone more stubborn than Tom Blake, unless it is his daughter."

Jessica left with that, stifling her own doubts as she took the bus, and wishing that she had abided by her first decision not to see David.

But just seeing him dispelled all doubts. It was fun to have a handsome, broad-shouldered man come forward to greet you eagerly. Exciting to read the gleam in his bright eyes.

"You look wonderful today," he said, and his eyes darkened. "But this is no place to tell a woman that you love her."

Jessica said "I'm a fool to see you after begging you not to call me, David."

"Such a lovely fool."

"David, I'm scared," she said.

"Scared?"

"Of myself. I can't explain exactly. Maybe I'm trapped by a sense of duty. Maybe I'm infected with a feeling of obligation which makes me fear I won't have the strength to oppose Tom when he comes."

"What do you mean, exactly?"

"I'm afraid of Tom's mother, David. Really, I'm not being silly about this." She told him about the scene that afternoon and David listened gravely.

"It's probably just as well that she knows the truth," he said. "Why not tell her quite frankly that you plan to divorce her son?"

"I couldn't." Jessica shivered. "There will be unpleasantness enough later. Besides, I owe it to Tom to tell him first."

There were so many things Jessica wanted to discuss with David that afternoon. Mrs. Blake's growing influence with Betsy, her attempt to awaken Betsy's interest in her father, her own uneasiness. Butt here were eager plans for future to discuss too. Already David had requested a leave of absence. Possibly he might be sent abroad for his firm, and it was not impossible that he could combine business and a honeymoon.

Events moved swiftly these days. Rationing was abandoned on many things, regulations lifted. Was it impossible that he and Jessica take a wedding trip on a clipper to Europe?

She found herself alarmed by David's indifference to any obstacle which might arise to prevent the fulfilment of these plans which seemed fantastic and unreal as Jessica listened.

They drove deep into the park where David had surprised her that day in October. He stopped the car and indicated the bench where she had sat so lonely, never dreaming that she would see again the man she had talked with at the airport—David. Odd now, to think of David as a stranger.

"There was never a doubt in my mind about you from the first moment I saw you, Jessica," he said. "You were lovely then—you are beautiful now. That's because you belong to me."

But she didn't belong to David —not yet.

She couldn't bear to discourage him when he pleaded with her to let him hold her in his arms.

All wrong, she knew, knew with an odd and growing sense of apprehension, a strange presentiment that they were crowding their luck.

"David," she spoke. his name brokenly, her heart torn by a great fear.

David said, "you're crying. This is no time to cry. Look, darling, tell me why you are afraid."

She only clung to him, unable to put into words her feeling unwilling to spoil this hour with doubts and apprehensions. Beset by a sense of bereavement, she lifted her face to meet his goodby kiss.

Maybe she lacked courage. Maybe weakness explained her failure to have the hope David held that they would soon be happy together. Possibly she was a coward, unable to make the right decision. Why else should she stand and look after David's car as it drove away, wanting to cry out and beg him to take her with him?

Jessica was obsessed by a feeling of deep despair, which haunted her all that evening. There were so many obstacles between her and the new happiness David considered so certain.

MARMORA

Fred Izzard Badly Burned At Deloro Plant

Marmora—Fred Izzard of Deloro suffered a painful accident at the Deloro plant about 7 a.m. on Saturday. The charge of molten silver in the furnace he was operating which he was shortly to have poured exploded striking him in the face and shoulders and igniting his clothing. Badly burned and suffering facial and other injuries besides shock, he was taken to the office of Dr. H. G. Parkin in Marmora and later removed by Bush's ambulance to Belleville General Hospital. His condition is said to be most serious although information was received from the hospital on Sunday that it was thought there was a slight improvement.

TWO KEY MEMBERS OUSTED CABINET ARRESTED

Probe is Asked Of Pollution In Ontario Waters

Hunters, Anglers Send Brief to Legislature

Toronto, March 18. (CP)—A royal commission to study water polution was asked today by the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters in a brief to the legislature's fish and game committee.

Legislation dealing with pollution "is not only inadequate but is entirely outmoded," the federation said in a brief read by Ken Clarke, of Kingston, its president.

The government should also set up a control board to take continuing responsibility for pollution, the federation said.

Lands Minister Scott said a report made on pollution of the Spanish River at Espanola will be tabled in the legislature. The minister was replying to a statement by Mr. Clarke that there was a growing public feeling that the Spanish River investigation was made only as a "stay" for public opinion.

Other federation requests included a plea that conservation be speeded in southern Ontario by permitting river valley authorities to widen their activities. The brief asked for some control over operation of dams which affected water levels, particularly during spawning seasons.

Lake trout fishing should be banned on all inland waters during spawning season, the federation said.

Wants Champlain Trail Preserved

The Northern Ontario Outfitter's Association, represented by Len Hughes of North Bay, asked that the Champlain Trail up the Mattawa watershed be "preserved for the pleasure of all for all time." The area should be kept as a "buildingless forest area," with cutting of trees limited under government supervision.

The outfitters also charged that commercial netting on river mouths along Georgian Bay was hampering the natural supply of pickerel, and asked that the nets be removed or moved farther out into the bay.

Kenora and Rainy River area waters need re-stocking, the outfitters said, and a muskellunge hatchery should be established in the Dryden district in northwestern Ontario.

A request for higher wages to provincial game wardens in northern Ontaria was made by Mervyn Somers of Cartier, president of the Cartier Fish and Game Protective Association.

Game wardens were "severly underpaid," he said. "They are not making the wage of an extra gang laborer."

Mr. Hughes suggested a $1 fishing permit fee for all Canadians 16 years and over. The money would provide for better and higher-paid wardens, he said, and would also finance necessary biological studies.

Suckers destroy a "tremendous amount" of fish spawn, A. L. Cochrane of the Lake Timagami Camping Association told the committee. They were a major factor in the decerase of game fish and should be destroyed when they go up the creeks in the spring.

Mine Workers At Hollinger Vote to Strike

Timmins, March 18 (CP) —For the second time in a year, employees of Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines have voted to strike.

The men—members of Local 4305, United Steelworkers of America (CIO)—decided Sunday to stop work if necessary to force the company to carry out terms of an agreement which settled a 52-day strike last year.

The 1951 strike was settled Aug. 30 by a memorandum which granted pay increases of 16 cents an hour. The present dispute hinges on whether or not the memorandum is a collective agreement enforceable under the Ontario Labor Relations Act.

The Ontario Labor Relations Board heard the question Feb. 13 but has not yet given a decision.

C. H. Millard, Canadian director of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) said that the situation at the mine is 'explosive.'

Under the agreement union and company negotiators were to work out a job evaluation plan. When the talks failed, the company put its own plan into effect.

Net Agreement Claim

The union sought permission from the Labor Board to prosecute the company on the grounds that the company plan violated the agreement. The company claimed that the agreement was not a collective bargaining agreement under Ontario Labor Law.

Several weeks ago Labor Minister Daley of Ontario assured members of the Ontario Federation of Labor (CCL) that all strike settlements made by his office would be regarded as binding on all parties concerned and that he would act to make them binding.

The 1951 strike started July 9. The union was asking a 17-cent-an-hour increase and company check-off of union dues. A conciliation board recommended a 13-cent increase and the check-off.

The strike ended with a 16-cent-an-hour increase and permission for the union to collect dues on company property.

More than 1,500 workers were made idle by the strike.

Britain's Worst Epidemic Is Still Persisting

London, March 18—(Reuters)—The agriculture ministry today reported several new outbreaks of foot-and-mouth disease during the weekend, giving rise to fears that Britain's worst epidemic in 10 years is still persisting.

Earlier this month, it was believed the worst of the epidemic was over, though it was still raging in some parts of Europe.

The new outbreaks are in the eastern counties of Essex and Suffolk. Several cattle markets have been closed.

The scourge has been concentrated along the east coast, supporting the theory of agrculture experts that the outbreaks are caused by the flight of migratory birds from Europe to Britain at the beginning of the cold weather.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, March 18 (CP)—Synopsis: Ontario had a clear frosty night, but this morning warm air from the south started to flow over the province. The southerly winds are associated with a slow moving weather system which will cause increasing cloudiness followed by rain. On Wednesday the centre of the disturbance will pass through Ontario and skies will gradually clear after it passes.

FIRESTONE SAYS BUILDING TRADES MUST CUT COSTS

Sees Lumber Sales Hit By Substitute Materials

Toronto, March 18 (CP)—Canadians are clamoring for more new homes and builders can sell more if only they can keep costs down, Dr. O. J. Firestone said today.

The economic adviser to the trade department and Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation said he realized that it isn't easy to keep costs down, especially when labor is asking for higher wages and prices of materials keep rising.

But the building industry had to understand the "basic facts", he said in a speech prepared for delivery before the Ontario Retail Lumber Dealers Association.

"Even with plentiful materials and more liberal financing, the building industry must be able to produce a house at a price that the majority of Canadians can afford to pay if the industry wants to keep busy and lumber dealers want to sell large quantities of lumber in the domestic market."

Much Competition

"It is pretty important to remember that there is not only competition among business men in one industry but also competition between different kinds of commodities for the consumer dollar. And if we have faith in competition, then we should do our utmost to make it work for our benefit."

With Canadians earning more and saving more than they did before the Second World War, the Canadian standard of living is rising and with it has come a big demand for Canadian lumber.

In fact, Canadians, said Dr. Firestone, could enjoy a still higher standard of living and more income, if they choose to work the same hours they did before the war. Instead the trend is towards less work and more leisure and the "non-material pursuits of life."

Even so, the average income of a working person in 1951 amounted to $2,980, almost three times the average $1,058 earned in 1939.

Profits Quadruple

On the business side, corporation profits quadrupled to $2,500,000,000 in 1951 from $658,000,000 in 1939. Capital expenditures by business skyrocketed to $2,900,000,000 from $400,000,000.

All this has meant a great wave of prosperity for Canadians. But business men had to face up to the fact "that periods of great buoyancy are usually followed by some slackening."

On the strength of the current wave of prosperity, the market for lumber in Canada was growing. A half-century ago Canada absorbed about one-quarter of her lumber production, exporting the other three-quarters. By 1951, she was absorbing almost one-half her production.

But the lumber industry, as any other business, had to remain competitive. Otherwise Canada may see greater use of substitute materials such as cement and light metals in home and furniture production'

Aurora Borealis Said to be Celestial Hailstorms by Cornell University

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

Ithaca, N. Y., March 18 — (AP) — The northern lights, or aurora borealis, are celestial hailstorms. The hail is a rain of charged hydrogen atoms coming from the sun.

The verification of this storm was reported today at Cornell University's department of physics. It was done with instruments which break light into rainbow colors.

Dr. Carl W. Gartlein, Cornell physicist, calculated that if this hail causes the northern lights, the instruments would show it when sighted both from directly underneath and from far off to one side.

Underneath the motion would be directly down. From the side the downward movement would appear to be sweeping across, but with scattered motions toward and away from the southern observer.

These measurements were made and showed the two motions. The sighting directly underneath an aurora was done in Arnprior, Ont by H. S. Stevinson, a Canadian government scientist. The lights were sighted from the side at Cornell.

They gave a speed of about 1,600 miles a second to the downrushing hydrogen. Our sun shoots these atoms out from its face by some unknown process.

The Cornell work is sponsored by the Evans Signal Laboratory of the U. S. Signal Corps, and the National Geographic Society.

Truman Book Says President Feared Outbreak of War On Two Occasions in Recent Years

Washington, March 18 — (AP) — President Truman secretly feared on two occasions in recent years that a third world war was about to break out

He saw that explosive threat first in the Berlin crisis in September, 1948, and again in the United Nations reverses in Korea in December, 1950, after red China intervened.

Truman recorded his anxieties over war — along with his privately-noted thoughts on Stalin, Russia, preventative war and various other foreign matters — in personal papers published today in the book "Mr. President."

The book, published by Farrar, Straus and Young, Inc., was written by William Hillman, former newspaper man who now is a radio commentator for the Mutual Broadcasting System.

The papers also disclose that Truman once sent a message to the Kremlin that Stalin was not a man of his word. And the President once read State Secretary James F. Byrnes a stiff lecture on who was boss of U.S. foreign policy and on the need for a tough attitude toward Russia.

In the Byrnes memorandum, possibly the most sepsational item in the book, Truman said sharply that he, not Byrnes, would make final foreign-policy decisions and he added bluntly: "I'm tired babying the Russians."

That was in January, 1946, and Byrnes, then one of the President's closest advisers, had just been to Moscow where he made agreements which critics characterized as appeasement of the Russians.

Denies Lecture Given

Truman's account gives no hint as to Byrnes' response.

Byrnes resigned a year later. He denied that Truman had given him a "stiff lecture".

Here are some of the chief points the book makes about Truman and foreign-policy matters.

1. When Russia's blockade of Berlin was six months old, the president was briefed by his military chiefs on Sept. 13, 1948, on "Bases, bombs, Moscow, Leningrad, and the like."

Truman wrote afterwards: "I have a terrible feeling that we are very close to war."

2. On Dec. 9, 1950, a month after massive Chinese armies struck in Korea, Truman wrote that the nation faced a jittery world and confided:

"I have worked for peace for five years and six months, and it looks like World War III is near."

3. In the Byrnes memorandum of January, 1946, Truman called for an end to compromise with Russia and said: "Unless Russia is faced with an iron fist and strong language another war is in the making. Only one language do they understand—'How many divisions have you?' "

4. A message to Stalin in March, 1946, sent through Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith at Moscow said Truman was disappointed that Stalin had not kept his word to get Russian troops out of Iran by March 2. He also told Smith to "urge Stalin" to visit America.

Dairymen Up in Arms at Govt's. Reluctance to Ban Imports

Seigniory Club, Que., March 18 — (CP)—Canadian dairy men are up in arms against the apparent reluctance of the Canadian government to impose sweeping bans on dairy imports.

Gilbert McMillan, president of the Dairy Farmers of Canada told the National Dairy Council yesterday that the government is leaving itself open to "severe criticism" for declining to take such action.

With milk production in Canada climbing and with imported products such as cheese under-selling the Canadian producers, it was possible that dairy prices may break in the spring and that some cheese factories may remain closed.

Mr. McMillan made these other points:

1. The dairy industry should get together with consumers to work out a "sound" formula on milk prices.

2. Internal jealousies among various segments of the dairy industry should concentrate on winning the good will of the public.

He said it was 'very regrettable' that the government has made no move to ban imports, even when other countries with no emergency conditions to worry about have restricted imports of Canadian products.

With weather and growth conditions the same as 1951, the dairy industry might produce more milk than it anticipated, thus upsetting the whole industry, Mr. McMillan said.

A break in dairy prices might be of some temporary advantage to Canadian consumers, but it would be "fatal" to dairy farmers and "eventually for our whole economy."

Mr. McMillan, a Huntingdon, Que., farmer, suggested import controls would not have to be permanent. The government could imposet hem and rescind them at any time.

But to sit back and take no action "until we are in a mess, does not make sense to me," he said.

May Play in Canada

New York, March 18 (CP)—Barbara Ann Scott's Hollywood Ice Review is expected to play in eastern Canada within the next few months a Music Corporation of America official said today.

Miss Scott will put in a guest appearance alone in Vancouver Mar. 19 and cities in which the entire review will appear have not yet been settled. The M.C.A. official said the show is expected to play in Canada "sometime between now and May."

Woman Shot To Death, Man Then Kills Self

Montreal, March 18 (CP)—A man shot a woman to death and then committed suicide early today in suburban Verdun.

Police said the man identified as Charles Lawton shot a woman known to neighbors only as "Mrs. Cotton" and then turned a .20 gauge shotgun on himself.

Mrs. Cotton's 12-year-old son watched the shooting, police said, and then fled from the apartment screaming.

Capt.-Det. Ray Priestly of the Verdun detective department said neighbors told him Mrs. Cotton was separated from her husband and had been living with her son in the apartment for some two years.

Betting Steel Strike Will Be Again Postponed

Washington, March 18 (AP)—Most of the steel industry appeared today to be betting that a steel strike in the United States threatened for midnight Sunday will be postponed.

U. S. Steel Corp., the largest producer, had expressed intention of starting to shut down its ferro-manganese operations today. But the corporation apparently reversed that stand and held off a formal shutdown announcement.

Of all the large steel companies only Jones & Laughlin has any definite close down plans. It will start closing tomorrow.

The wage stabilization board is expected to make public its recommendations Thursday for settling the dispute.

It is also the day fixed by the United Steel Workers (C.I.O.) for replying to a government request for a strike postponement at least until April 8.

One union demand is for an 18½-cent hourly pay boost. The steelworkers now earn nearly $2 an hour.

FEDERAL ACTION TO CHECK PRICE WAR SUGGESTED

Member Says 'Fictitious' Allowances are Paid

Ottawa, March 18—(CP)—Federal government action to prevent a spread of price wars in electrical appliances and other fields was suggested yesterday in the commons.

Ross Thatcher, a hardware merchant from Moose Jaw, Sask., said that "fictitious" trade-in allowances offered on electrical appliances and predatory price wars in some centres are driving hundreds of small retail merchants into bankruptcy.

Mr. Thatcher, C. C. F. member for Moose Jaw, said the trade-in allowances offered by some stores are making a farce of the government's consumer-credit restrictions. The government should insist on a down payment of at least 20 per cent in cash.

Under existing regulations, the trade-in allowance is counted as part of the one-third down payment required under the credit restrictions. In some cases, the trade-in allowance offered means that the customer does not make any down-payment.

He quoted various advertisements showing the types of allowances being offered in some centres. In Vancouver, for instance, one merchant offered $150 trade-in allowance for a cup and saucer on a new refrigerator.

"This practice," said Mr. Thatcher, "does not necessarily mean that the consumer is getting a better price because some companies have simply added something to the price in the article, and then given it back to the customer in the form of an increased payment for his trade-in. The customer is not, perhaps, worse off, but in many instances he is no better off."

The abolition of competition would mean that in the long run the consumer would not benefit.

"The small appliance dealers are apparently the first victims in the retail trade to be sacrificed on the altar of political expediency by a government seeking a scapegoat for its own failure to deal with rising prices," said Mr. Thatcher.

He called for government action to reduce taxes on electrical appliances. They were largely responsible for unemployment in the industry.

Mr. Thatcher was one of several to participate in resumed debate on the Throne-Speech.

In the opening minutes, Resources Minister Winters announced that a Commons committee will be established during the current session to review activities of the Crown-owned National Film Board.

Hope of Collecting Remote

Finance Minister Abbott said the government's hopes of collecting the $12,000,000 owing on the seven controversial Ming Sung ships are "somewhat remote." But the government has not cancelled the order-in-council under which the Ming Sung firm was given permission to fly the Canadian ensign on the ships, built in Canada on loans from Canadian banks. The government guaranteed the loans.

The debate was marked by a renewal of the controversy which developed last week after external Affairs Minister Pearson said the CCF, through criticism of Atlantic Pact ministry plans, was playing into the hands of communist propagandists.

President Found King 'A Very Pleasant and Surprising Person'

Washington, March 18 — (Reuters) — President Truman found King George VI "a very pleasant and surprising person" when he met him on the way back from the 1945 Potsdam conference, Truman's diaries showed today.

Parts of the diaries were revealed in the book 'Mr. President' published today.

Truman gives an intimate picture of his meeting with the King in the entry of his diary dated Aug. 5, 1945, and written aboard the U. S. S. Augusta on the way back from his conference with British and Russian leaders. The King visited Truman on the Augusta off Plymouth.

The diary says:

"Had lunch with Britain's King George VI. He is a very pleasant and surprising person. We had a short interview just before luncheon on the Renown in the King's cabin. He was very much interested in what had taken place at the conference and in our new terrific explosion . . .

"As soon as we returned to the Augusta, the King . . . inspected the guard, looked over the sailors, signed the ship's guest book, collected an autograph for each of his daughters and the Queen, and after some more formalities went back to his ship."

Taken by Escort To Two Villages In Northern Egypt

Wafdist Party Accused Of Responsibility in Riots

Cairo, March 18 — (AP)—The arrest of two key members of the ousted Wafdist party cabinet — party strong man Fuad Serag El Din Pasha and former social affairs minister Abdel Fattah Hassan Pasha — was reported early to lay.

A high - ranking police source said police took them under escort to two villages in northern Egypt.

No charges so far had been announced, but Egypt's prosecutor general recently accused Serag El Din of "administrative responsibility" in the destructive fire riots here Jan. 26.

The key Wafdist was interior minister in the anti-British cabinet of Mustapha El Nahas Pasha which King Farouk ousted after the fire riots.

Abdel Fattah Hassan had been accused by anti-Wafdist circles of making a speech Jan. 26 which "excited the population."

Strong police detachments cordoned off the home of the two men shortly after midnight. An escort took Serag El Din to his estate at Bilbeis village and Hassan to Bassioun, where they are being detained.

Political circles term the arrests the "first major blow" aimed by the independent government of Premier Ahmed Naguib Hilaly Pasha against the Wafdist party.

Pledged to Make Clean up

Hilaly has pledged his cabinet to clean up corruption in Egypt.

Only last Saturday Hilaly in a broadcast accused the Wafd of "planning to instigate in Egypt a sedition which will expose the country again to anarchy and destruction."

Serag El Din, secretary-general of the powerful anti-British Wafd party, is considered one of its policy-makers.

The prosecutor general's report, made public earlier this month, said Wafdist government statements on the bloody clash between Egyptian police and British troops at Ismailia on Jan. 25 stirred up popular anger and contributed to the fire riots the next day.

The prosecutor added that the interior minister, Serag El Din, and responsible members of his staff failed to take action to prevent or halt the riots.

The Wafdist, riding a crest of popular unrest and nationalist hatred of the British, won a landslide victory in the elections two years ago.

The party's executive committee has issued a declaration of non-co-operation with Hilaly's government.

BILL SENT TO GOVERNOR

Albany, N.Y., March 18. (AP)—The New York State Assembly today approved a bill that would permit newspapers to make 'fair and true" reports of non-public judicial or legislative proceedings without danger of libel. The controversial measure, approved 96 to 46, was sent to Governor Thomas Dewey.

Pilot Orders 20 To Bail Out But Three Killed

By RAY CARPENTER

Dallas, Tex., March 18 — (AP) — A nervy marine pilot ordered 20 servicemen out of a burning transport yesterday, then stuck with the plane until it passed over a residential area in southeast Dallas.

Two of the men were killed in parachute accidents. A third was missing. None of the others suffered injuries. The navy planned a search party today to look for the missing man.

The blazing two-engine C - 46 crashed and exploded in an open field about one quarter of a mile from a residential area.

Capt. R. C. Wesley, Pensacola, Fla., was the pilot. He parachuted to safety from about 500 feet while the plane was in a dive

"I stayed with the plane because I wanted to make sure it missed those houses," Wesley said. "I sure hope that falling engine did not hurt anyone."

Mrs. S. Sikorsky, who lives about one mile from the crash scene, said, "That pilot was wonderful. The plane might have killed a lot of people if it had struck the houses."

Mrs. Sikorsky said she was in the house when it suddenly started shaking. "I looked out the window," she said, "and there was just one big ball of fire with someone coming down in a parachute. It must have been the pilot."

Bound from El Toro, Calif., to Cherry Point, N. C., on a regular transport trip, the plane had landed to refuel at the Dallas naval air station.

Sgt. Harold Cook, the crew chief, said "that left engine started popping right after we left the airport. I flipped the CO-2 (fire extinguisher) switch to put out the fire. But instead the flames spread to the wing."

RED BREAST SEEN ON DUFFERIN AVE.

Although the first day of spring is two days away, already robins have made their appearance in the city. Mrs. W. E. Burrowes, Dufferin Avenue, reported today she was greeted early this morning by the cheery note of the red breast and opening the back door found the spring harbinger sitting in the tree giving forth his lilting melody. Tulips, crocuses and daffodils are sending their shoots above ground, and sap is running and it will not be long before the trout fisherman is hiking to his favorite pool. In fact it's only 43 days to the opening of trout season.

COMMITTEE NAMED TO MEET BOARDS

A special committee from city council will meet with the local parks board and representatives of the Belleville Yacht Club to consider policy direction for the rejuvenation of Victoria Park. The meeting is scheduled for Monday afternoon, April 7th, at the city hall. The city council committee to attend the meeting will be Aldermen Argue, Thomas and Smith.

LIVELY DOE SEEN NEAR CORBYVILLE

While watching out of the window on Sunday afternoon, the family of Arthur Balcanquel of Corbyville witnessed a doe scampering across the lawn and heading for the thick woods a short distance away. The doe was being pursued by two hounds which apparently flushed the doe out of woods on the other side of the house. The deer appeared to be well nourished and it may have lived south of number 7 highway all winter.

Council Members Meet Trustees To Discuss Area

Members of Sidney township council met with the trustees association of the municipality Monday evening at Wallbridge school where the possible entry into the Bay of Quinte High School area was discussed. Representatives from 14 schools in the township attended the meeting.

Council members, including Reeve Lee Grills addressed the meeting on the matter following which there was considerable discussion. School trustees will be expected to acquaint ratepayers regarding the high school area and it is hoped that a general meeting will be held in the near future.

The Bay of Quinte High School area is composed of Belleville and the three rural municipalities of Thurlow, Tyendinaga and Ameliasburg. Sidney township did not join the area, while the village of Frankford, although willing to join the area, is unable to do so because no part of its municipality touches the area boundary. Both Sidney and Frankford purchase education from the area.

New Addition Of Thurlow School To be Opened

The official opening of the new public school addition at S. S. No. 20, South Thurlow school area, will be held Wednesday evening when residents of the area are invited to attend and inspect the new school.

The new two-room addition to the Kingston Road school has been in use for over a year but only recently have the final details of completion been added.

One of the features of the opening program will be the presentation of a new flag by the St. Julien Chapter of the I.O.D.E. A program consisting of vocal numbers by the school pupils and musical numbers as well as addresses has been planned. Scheduled to speak are Mr. G. L. Duffin, assistant superintendent of elementary education for the Department of Education and Mrs. Jean Watson, field director, Ontario School Trustees' and Ratepayers' Association.

A new name for the school "Bayview" has been suggested.

Three Lots on Hastings Drive Will be Used for Wayside Park If Not Used for New Fire Hall

City council will reserve three building lots on Hastings Drive to be used either as a site for the proposed new firehall or for a wayside park, it was decided at the regular meeting of council held Monday afternoon.

Council

Council recommended that the lots be turned over to the parks board for development as a park providing they were not needed as a site for the proposed new firehall. Council held up sale of the lots at a previous meeting, when it was learned the parks board was interested in establishing a park in the area.

At the same time council recommended the sale of the four remaining lots on Hastings Drive and abutting Dundas Street, to Louis Maraskas, sale price to be $500 each. Alderman Countryman, as chairman of property, said a down payment had been made on the lots by the purchaser.

He said he understood that the purchaser intended to build a motel on the site and noted there were no building restrictions in the area.

Considerable Discussion

There was considerable discussion as to whether council would be prepared to give a building permit for the construction of a motel on the lots to be sold with Mayor A. M. Haig stating council should be fair and declare itself on the matter.

Alderman Rollins thought council should move carefully in the matter pointing out that it was a residential district.

Alderman Tice wanted to know if council could refuse a permit, when the area was not restricted. To this it was pointed out that a previous would-be purchaser of a lot on Dundas Street had been refused a permit for a store.

Council, however, moved to sell the lots and did not declare itself on the matter of whether a permit for a motel would be granted.

Tabled Without Vote

A recommendation of the fire committee not to build the proposed new firehall this year was tabled without a vote of the council pending the report of a committee to investigate the condition of the Front Street firehall. The recommendation in question had been passed by the fire committee last week and was before council for ratification.

Another recommendation from the public works committee calling for an inspection of all buildings in the city to determine if roof water was going into the sanitary sewer, was passed by council members. The recommendation called for owners to be notified where roof water was found going into the sanitary sewer with the request that such drains be disconnected within 30 days. Failure to do so would mean a penalty under the provisions of a by-law passed four years ago.

One alderman wanted to know if council had authority to order disconnection of roof drains where they emptied into sanitary sewers, and asked how the by-law would be forced.

"It would be enforced through the courts," replied Alderman Thomas.

No Action Taken

No action was taken on a resolution from the city of Stratford asking the department of highways be asked to give police the responsibility of testing drivers for chauffeurs and operators permits. The wording of the resolution was said not to be sufficiently clear and it was tabled for further particulars as to the intention meant in the resolution.

Communication from the Parks Board indicated the cost estimate for repairs to the Cenotaph on Station Street would be $277. It had been recommended by the Board that council pay the cost of the work. The matter was referred to the property committee.

Referred to Committee

Another recommendation, this time from St. Catharines, calling for the Dominion government to take action to relieve the municipalities of heavy relief costs, was referred to the welfare committee and the city solicitor. This action was taken on the advice of Mayor Haig who said he doubted the legality of such a move.

On question from one of the aldermen, Alderman Bruce Smith, chairman of Welfare, replied there were 73 relief cases in the city at present. He noted that the city was called upon to provide relief in some cases for unemployed persons during the period while waiting for unemployment benefits to commence and also after such benefits ran out.

An offer of $20,000 for the purchase of the old county home was placed before council. The matter was referred to the special committee appointed to investigate the possible use or sale of the building.

Reported on Convention

Alderman Wm. Argue reported on the Ontario Industrial Promotion Conference held recently in Toronto. He quoted one of the speakers at the conference, who felt it was not practical for cities the size of Belleville to acquire large industries employing many thousands of workers. Other questions such as annexation problems and the duties of planning boards, had been discussed at the meeting," he said.

Alderman Wilbur Countryman reported for the committee appointed to investigate ways and means to improve the preparation of the municipal voters' lists.

After receiving information from 18 different centres Alderman Countryman said the committee felt that Belleville city officials had been doing an outstanding job in preparing voters' lists with 62 per cent of eligible voters casting their ballots in the last election.

Three Conclusions Presented

He said this was the third highest percentage of all centres replying and this spoke well of the interest in Belleville in municipal affairs. He said the local city clerk was doing everything permissible under the election act in the matter of issuing certificates to vote. Newspaper and radio advertising was used to draw attention to voters' lists.

Alderman Countryman presented three conclusions which might increase the number of voters.

These included wider distribution of voters' lists such as placement in stores, employee rooms of large industries and in club rooms of recognized organizations; the adoption of a plan to send out a card to each voter on the list informing of the day, time and place where he or she is to vote; and a miniature plan of the city showing wards, sub-divisions and polling booths to be placed at the front of each voters' list to make it easier for newer citizens to vote.

On the suggestion of Mayor Haig the chairman of property will investigate the securing of suitable photographs of Queen Elizabeth and her Prince Consort for hanging in the council chambers.

Council approved of a recommendation from Alderman Temple that building contractors doing work for the city be asked to use local labor wherever this was possible. It was pointed out that this would be a request only.

Arrangements To be Ratified At Meeting

Considerable progress has been made for starting a curling club in this city and tonight at the City Hall a full report will be given on the progress made so far. Arrangements with the Memorial Arena Commission to use the ice for a period of two weeks after the hockey season is closed have been made and this arrangement will be ratified by the members at the meeting.

Due to the Junior 'B' Hawks being in the round robin series with Barrie and Weston, it is not likely that the arena ice will be available before April 17th or 20th at the earliest. This would give two weeks and the members are sure that enough enthusiasm can be created to start preparations for the building of a new rink in the city. Presentations have been made informally to the Parks Board and it is believed sufficient space can be obtained to erect the rink on the Fair Grounds and it would then be available for any function and the use of the Fair Board during the fair period.

Don MacKinnon, the efficient secretary of the club at present has received a number of applications to curl during the period set and more are arriving with each mail. Other members who were in attendance at the first meeting have been missionaries for the project and a large number is expected out to the meeting. W. C. Gault, who has had knowledge of former cities in the quest for a curling rink, is head of the energetic committee and is much enthused over the prospects. This curling season will not be for old curlers but the prospective curler is earnestly invited to come along and get interested in the popular winter pastime. Anyone, who can spare an hour this evening will be welcomed and the whole project will be fully discussed.

Obituary

LATE JOHN DUNCAN McDOUGALL

The funeral of John Duncan McDougall was held at the Thomas C. Thompson Funeral Home on Monday afternoon. Rev. R. A. Rowley conducted the service in the chapel and the last rites at Belleville Cemetery.

The bearers were William Frawley, John Farley, John Darvell, Lorne Wilson, Harold Lynch and George Bronson.

Ducks Unlimited Provides Film For Rotary Club

A color film entitled "Meet the Ducks" was the entertainment provided at an informal St. Patrick's Day meeting of the Rotary Club on Monday in the Quinte Hotel.

The film, sponsored by Ducks Unlimited, an organization formed to promote, maintain and improve greater waterfowl production, dealt with all types of ducks. It explained the flight and physical characteristics of each bird, the nesting grounds and periods, their various speeds, breeding grounds, winter ranges and habitats.

Included among the various breeds of ducks were the Mallard, Black, Pintail, Gotwald, Baldface, Shoveller or spoon bill, Red Wood, Canvasback, Redhead, Bluebill, Ringbill, Blue Wing Teal and concluded with the Canada Goose.

The accompanying narrator explained that Ducks Unlimited did a vast amount of work in preparing nesting grounds for ducks, and in breeding grounds through reconnaissance and survey work in field and stream projects. Ducks Unlimited also co-operate with provincial bodies in the erection of dams in waterfowl breeding areas.

The film was made available to the club through the efforts of program chairman Fred Wilson. Roy H. Macklem was the projectionist.

A jaunty sing-song of Irish songs was led by John Deacon with, Harry Gourley accompanying at the piano.

Correspondence from Rotarian Harry Ackerman, who is vacationing in Florida, was read to the club.

President Court Miller reminded club members of the annual ladies night, being held at Albert College on Friday, April 18th, and of the Rotary District Conference in Niagara Falls immediately following.

L. O. L. Sponsors Card Party to Aid Brother

An enjoyable card party and dance was held in the Orange Hall at Cannifton on Friday. This dance was in the form of a benefit affair to assist Mr. Harvey Putman who met with a serious accident at Corby's Distillery recently and who now is confined to hospital in Toronto

The hall was filled to capacity and people gave generously of their time and money to make the party a real success.

Over $100 was realized from the party and this amount will be given to Mr. Putman's wife by LOL No. 2320 sponsors of the party.

HOARD OF WEAPONS FOUND

Norwich, England, March 18—(Reuters) — A hoard of ancient weapons dating back to Britain's Bronze Age — around 1,000 B.C. —has been found during excavations on a new housing site near this eastern town. An official at Norwich Museum said the hoard included 10 bronze axe heads, a sword blade and a chisel head.

Delaney Exclusive Furriers Hold 'At Home' Opening

The name of "Delaney Exclusive Furriers" lives on. One of the city's landmarks was reborn yesterday in an entrancing shade of dove gray in refurbished fur cabinets and soft luxurious grey carpet, while gorgeous baskets of spring flowers, white snapdragons, pale pink carnations, intermingled with downy pussy willow added their lovely appeal to the "At Home" yesterday when many visited the display of luxurious furs, demonstrated by the attractive models.

Mr. Gordon Delaney the new proprietor of an old and well-known firm, son of the original founder, with whom he was associated for 11 years, has for the past 14 years been with leading fur houses throughout Canada, and is an expert in all matters dealing with furs.

Mrs. Margot Hughes, acted as commentator who, as the models, Esther Hughs, Olive McCoy, Pat Peterson, Audrey Stewart and Ann Putman, displayed the many types of coats, shorties and stoles, added her interesting comments from time to time drawing attention to the rippling backs, cup and saucer collars and deep, voluminous cuffs and cleverly inserted pockets.

The fur demonstrated included shorties in grey kidskin; black Persian paw, beaver, muskrat and grey lamb; scarves in light Kolensky and squirrel; six-skin cape scarf, dark squirrel and Kolensky. Coats, full backed and in regulation lengths of three-quarter or long were shown in Hudson seal, muskrat and grey lamb. This latter coat was 'out-of-this-world,' in its soft loose curl, with standing collar, full sleeves, deep cuffed which are so much in vogue, having patch pockets.

Following the review, refreshments were served the many guests of tea, coffee and biscuits, and to each guest a pretty corsage of Irish shamrock was given as a souvenir of this event.

Investigation Into Windsor Hospital Will Open Soon

Toronto, March 18—(CP)—A royal commission probe into alleged irregularities at the East Windsor Hospital for Incurables is expected to begin soon following yesterday's order-in-council appointment of Gordon Fraser, prominent Windsor lawyer, as royal commissioner.

Attorney-General Porter announced the appointment in the Ontario legislature minutes after Lieutenant - Governor Louis Breithaupt gave royal assent to a bill permitting the inquiry.

The bill, which passed through the legislature in only four days, provides for investigations of hospitals for any organization receiving provincial grants.

Mr. Porter gave no indication yesterday of the reason for the probe, beyond his statement of last Wednesday that certain irregularities had been reported by Frank Brobst, chairman of the hospital's board of governors.

The legislature today continues the throne speech debate, which concludes tomorrow with speeches by opposition leader Farquhar Oliver and the attorney-general.

This will clear the way for the budget, to be presented Thursday by Premier Frost.

Yesterday the assembly adjourned debate on second reading of a bill to extend the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Three new members — Ellis Morningstar (PC — Welland), Robert Herbert (PC—Timiskaming) and J. P. Johnstone (PC — Bruce)—spoke in yesterday's debate.

Reviews Development

Labor Minister Daley reviewed the development of Workmen's Compensation. He said that since compensation was begun in Ontario in 1915, more than $329,000,000 had been paid on more than 3,000,000 accident claims.

He said three Toronto policemen, Edward Tong, Roy Perry and Ronald Deadman, wounded by bandits, would benefit from compensation and receive treatment as long as they needed it.

Amendments in the present bill extend coverage to citizens who are commandeered to assist policemen in making arrests or maintaining order, to members of volunteer fire brigades, and to apprentices and learners.

The changes, Mr. Daley said, complete all but one of the recommendations made in the 1950 Royal Commission report on Workmen's Compensation by Mr. Justice W. D. Roach.

The government was still considering the final recommendation, that employees be given representation on accident prevention boards, which now are organized by employer groups.

Mr. Morningstar suggested formations of an appeal board to rule on borderline cases where employees were found ineligible for compensation.

Mr. Herbert said prices in Northern Ontario towns were higher than elsewhere because of freight charges by the provincially-owned Ontario Northland Railway.

A reduction in freight rates would lower prices and encourage the establishments of new industries.

Mr. Johnstone asked that milk producers and distributors in small towns and rural areas be given additional protection by strengthening the Ontario Milk Control Board.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, March 18 — (CP) — Stock market prices drifted irregularly lower today in early afternoon dealings.

Western oils checked yesterday's profit-taking with an opening show of strength. The rally was short-lived, however, as support weakened again within the first hour.

Industrial dealings spread slowly from leading issues and a few golds and metals attracted interest. Volume for the first three hours was 2,013,000 shares.

Losses among oils ranged from pennies to about 50 cents. Calgary and Edmonton, Canadian Atlantic, Home Oil, National Petroleum and Pacific Petroleum were among issues lower. Federated Petroleum, Punch and United Oil pushed upward.

Steels and refining oils led industrials lower with a scattered list of fractional losses. Papers, utilities, liquors and manufacturing companies also weakened but banks and retail stores edged upward.

Base metal leaders eased as East Sullivan, Golden Manitou, Hudson Bay and Steep Rock slipped. Chromium, Mindamar, Noranda and Sherritt - Gordon climbed moderately.

Senior golds sagged as Dome, Lake Shore and McIntyre turned lower. Juniors also dipped while prospects held gains and losses in balance.

PRODUCE MARKET

Toronto, March 18 — (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged here today.

All grades were in liberal supply with prices unchanged at the egg market today.

Graded eggs cases free, delivered Toronto: grade A large 37½-38; A medium 36 1-2-37; A small 33; Grade B 32; Grade C 30.

Wholesale to retail: grade A large 40-42; A medium 39-40; A small 37-48; grade B 36-37; grade C 33-35.

Butter solids: first grade 66 (nominal); no prices established on second or western grades.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, March 18. (CP)—Trading was dull at the Ontario stockyards today with only 250 head of cattle sold up to noon. Prices on all grades dropped $1 again today to show a decline of $2 for the week. Receipts: cattle 630; calves 90; hogs 400; sheep and lambs 10. The leftover from Monday was 1,500 cattle.

Good to choice weighty steers sold at $25.50 to $26.50 with a few tops selling at $27 and good to choice steers at $20 to $26.50. Good heifers sold mostly $25 to $25.50 while good cows brought $20 to $21 and canners and cutters from $12 to $15. Good to choice fed yearlings were at $27 to $28. A few heavy bulls sold from $19 to $22 while common light bulls sold at $16.50 to $18.50.

Calves were $1 lower at $30-$32 for good to choice vealers with common to medium from $18 to $29.

Hog prices were at $26 for Grade A with sows $15 dressed.

No sheep or lambs were sold up to noon.

PROBE IS ASKED

A. E. Hick of the Victoria County Council said 24 hour fishing in the county was resulting in a "mass killing of pickerel and muskellunge." He asked that fishing be restricted to daylight hours.

J. H. Jamieson of the Fort Erie Fish and Game Society asked that all limits be removed on catches of pike in the international waters of Lake Erie and the Niagara River, to conform with United States fishing laws in the same waters.

A. J. Soper of the Rice Lake Toruist Association asked that muskellunge in the Trent River system be permitted in June. At present a special law made the season 1 1-2 months shorter than elsewhere in southern Ontario.

J. C. Dunham of the O.M.P.A.H. Conservation Association in Frontenac County asked that where speckled and lake trout are found together, a closed season on speckled trout be extended to lake trout.

Committee Named to Probe Possibilities of Presenting Budget Before End of Year

The public school board will be asked to go along with city council in its investigation of the possibility of striking next year's tax rate before the end of the year.

At the regular monthly meeting of the board held Monday evening members were asked to investigate presentation of the school budget before the year's end and a special committee was appointed to look into the matter. Alderman Chas. Hyde as chairman of finance attended the meeting with the request. The committee appointed to consider the matter included Chairman Fred Symons and members Gerald Hyde, Carman Caverley and Harry Knott with L. A. Kells.

A special committee of Chas. Hewson, A. S. Robb and Frank Grandame was appointed to confer with the Corby Public Library board to discuss the matter of establishing a branch library at Queen Elizabeth school.

Hours Enter Picture

The matter of establishing a branch library in city schools was brought up at a previous meeting of the board but no action had been taken. The consensus was that such a move would be a fine idea but members pointed out such matters as caretakers' hours entered into the picture.

The suggestion is that such a branch library would be open for two afternoons or evenings each week. There should be no cost to the school board, it was felt.

Public school board by-laws were presented by Dr. Howard L. House and will be considered for adoption at the next meeting of the board.

Approve Hours of Work

The board approved in principle of a 48-hour week for school janitors and agreed that to make this possible schools should be officially open only for five days during the week. Previously caretakers had been required to be at schools on Saturday morning.

There has been a shuffling of school janitors with men having the greater seniority having choice of schools to look after. Caretaker Walter Fredette will have charge of Queen Alexandra; Dan Wilson will remain at King George; Clayton Wilson will go to Queen Mary and Albert Miller to Queen Elizabeth. Russell Ashbury will be caretaker at Queen Victoria and Fred Wiggins will have Prince Charles School.

Charles Carter and Thos. Coxon will be given half time duty at Queen Alexandra and Queen Victoria Schools.

Will Consider Scheme

Consideration of a pension scheme for caretakers is being given by the board but the matter will be given further consideration before decision is made. Caretakers were said to be in favor of the plan. Cost to the board would be roughly $800 per year. Caretakers would contribute 5 per cent of their salaries.

A heating consultant engineer will be retained to make an inspection of the boiler at Queen Mary School and present a recommendation as to what can be done to secure better heating efficiency.

An assessment from the city of $216 per year for ten years as the cost of laying sidewalk on MacDonald Ave. in front of the Queen Elizabeth School was accepted.

Will Lay Platforms

Asphalt platforms at King George and Queen Victoria schools, for which contracts were previously let will be laid in late May or June, according to a communication received from the H. J. McFarland Construction Company. The property committee was authorized to study the school platform situation at all schools and reported to the board of requirements.

Approval was given for the purchase of a new motion picture and sound projector for Prince Charles School. The tender of McIntosh Brothers for drapes at the Queen Elizabeth school was approved with the committee and teacher to make the choice of materials.

There was considerable discussion regarding the delay in installing sound equipment at Queen Elizabeth school and a committee of L. A. Kells and Fred Beeby was named to interview the contractor Stan Martin Radio of Kingston and his banker regarding the delay.

No Accommodation

An application from the Trenton air station to have airforce children admitted to Belleville public schools for home economics and manual training was dealt with. It was decided there was no accommodation for airforce pupils in regular classes but board members voiced their willingness to approve of Saturday morning classes if such would be suitable.

Notice was received from the Department of Education that Belleville would receive a legislative grant of $3 per pupil of average attendance, this to be used only for the purchase of approved text books. This grant would amount to $5,471.76, as computed on last year's attendance.

Keys Restricted

Only school principals and caretakers will be permitted to have keys for city public schools it was decided.

Representatives of the boy scout organizations in the city had requested that scout leaders be allowed keys for use of schools for meetings.

A special meeting of the board will be held in the near future to consider applications for appointment to the schools teaching staff.

Fifteen teachers who had been on the probationary teaching staff were given their permanent appointments. These are Mrs. Grace Anderson, Fred Dier, William Burgoyne, Bruce Gorriel, James Campbell, Marjorie Grier, Doris Hough, Marilyn Kerr, Ilda Ketcheson, Joan McCurdy, Enid Malcolm, Nan Pitchford, Walter Roblin, Paul Walton and Aileen Wright.

POLICE BLOTTER

Police circles were comparatively quiet during the past 24 hours with few occurrences of any importance being recorded.

Local police were asked by Trenton officers to be on the lookout for a car reported stolen in that centre during the night.

The White Lumber Company complained that building materials being used in the construction of a new house at Victoria and Bertram Ave., were being damaged by children.

An accident on Station Street saw two vehicles damaged but no injuries were reported.

Court circles were also quiet, while provincial police reported no accidents of any serious nature.

COST IS HEAVY

London, March 18 — (Reuters) —It is expected to cost £410,000 to maintain Britain's royal palaces for the fiscal year 1952-53, it was shown in figures released yesterday. The figure is just £100 more than last year. It includes £42,000 for fuel, gas, electricity, water and household articles.

Visitors Crowd Court for Second Day of Trial

Nassau, Bahamas, March 18. — (Reuters)—Visitors to this tropical playground crowded the supreme court today for the second day of Errol Flynn's lawsuit against Duncan McMartin, Canadian millionaire, which got under way Monday.

The Hollywood star is suing McMartin for £80,000 damages after the Canadian, Flynn claims, hit him in the neck last March in a hotel bar here.

Flynn limped across the courtroom at the opening of the case to take his place in the witness box.

W. E. A. Callender, lawyer for the actor, explained the limp was not connected with the lawsuit but was caused by an injury in Flynn's latest movie. Film acting is strenuous work, he added.

McMartin told the court he was on terms of friendship and "easy familiarity" with the star. It was customary for them to greet each other in a "hearty manner," he declared. The blow Flynn complained of was a light and friendly one administered in sport, he said.

Flynn denied he was struck lightly and said he barely knew the Canadian. He probably met him first ten years ago at a party given by Mrs. McMartin, the court was told. "And I've always felt McMartin didn't like me," he added.

"I feel that stronger now," said Flynn.

McMartin is the son of the late Duncan McMartin, Senior, one of the original owners of the Hollinger Gold Mines. When the younger McMartin was 25 he was said to have collected $10,000,000 from his father's estate.

Expressed Regret

Flynn said the Canadian visited him two days following the incident and expressed his regret.

"When I'm drunk I don't know who I hit," the millionaire is reported to have told Flynn.

The court was told the neck blow prevented Flynn from making "Lydia Bailey", a 20th Century Fox film for which he would have been paid $200,000. He said Warners Brothers who employ him to make one picture a year at $160,000 per film, allows him to make another yearly for any other major producer.

Later in the proceedings Flynn admitted when he arrived here last March he and McMartin lived at the Windsor Hotel and had drinks in each others rooms.

He said during cross-examination the Canadian's valet supplied him with dinner clothes for a party the night he arrived because his other clothes were still on the way.

But the star continued to deny he and McMartin were close friends.

Gravedigger Held In Letter Threat To Slain Tipster

New York, March 18—(AP)—An elderly gravedigger is held today as the anonymous writer of a threatening letter to slain Arnold Schuster, whose tip led police to bank robber Willie Sutton.

The gravedigger was to be arraigned at about the same time that Sutton was put on trial for a 1950 holdup.

Schuster, 24-year-old Brooklyn clothing salesman, was killed near his home March 8. Just a month ago, on Feb. 18, Schuster had spotted the bank robber and prison escape artist on a subway train.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation arrested the gravedigger, William Brickerhoff Brown, 61, of New York, last night and said he admitted writing Schuster on Feb. 22 that "Your days are numbered for being a squealer on Willie Sutton."

Schuster received about a dozen threats before he was shot

F.B.I. agents refused to answer reporters' questions on certain aspects of the case — what Brown's motive in writing Schuster might have been, whether the gravedigger was questioned about the murder and how the F.B.I. traced him. However, he was reported to have denied killing Schuster.

Brown was charged with violating the Federal Extortion Statute.

accomplices were up on charges of holding up a branch of the Manufacturers Trust Company for $64,000.

Special security measures included screening all who enter County Judge Peter T. Farrell's court. Guards will be provided for each juror selected.

How much will it cost your family to have an "amateur" executor?

The inexperienced executor may work long hours—struggling to translate his good intentions into deeds. But unless he knows how to deal efficiently with the many technicalities of estate management . . . his best intentions may result only in confusion and unnecessary expense.

Informed people no longer appoint a relative or best friend as Executor. They know that successful estate management today is a highly specialized business. And they entrust it to a responsible company fully qualified in this field.

For the security of your family, name National Trust as Executor in your Will. We invite you to consult one of our Trust Officers.

HE WANTS $10,000,000

Mayor Allan Lamport of Toronto has just asked Premier Leslie Frost to give Toronto $10,000,000 in "unconditional grants."

Mayor Lamport stated that Toronto has already received $9,000,000 in federal and provincial grants this year. Unless Toronto gets the extra $10,000,000, said Mayor Lamport, the city will have to reduce its services.

Mayor Lamport told Mr. Frost that municipal taxation in Toronto has already reached its limit; in other words, Mr. Lamport and his council are squeezing the Toronto taxpayers to the limit.

If Toronto, which is the wealthiest city not only in Ontario, but in all Canada, can get a donation from the provincial government by merely asking for it, many of the smaller and poorer centres of population will not be hesitant about asking for similar extra assistance. Any one of them can make out a better case for such help than Toronto.

No doubt Mayor Lamport and the other members of the Toronto city council would like to have another $10,000,000 to throw around, but so would many another municipal council.

If Premier Frost and his colleagues accede to the Toronto request, they will be establishing a precedent which will probably cause them all sorts of future headaches.

SCOTT WARNS TRESPASSERS

Hon. Harold Scott, Ontario's minister of lands and forests, made a speech to members of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters, in Toronto last Friday night. During that speech, Mr. Scott said, in part:

"A very awkward situation is developing between farmers and sportsmen. It is something which is in your hands. Hunting licences do not provide authority for trespassing on private property. Huntsmen and fishermen are largely dependent on the goodwill of the farmers for their sport. It should never be forgotten that access to private land is a privilege, not a right, and this privilege should never be abused. An epidemic of 'No Trespassing' signs could quite readily curb the hunting and fishing possibilities in any area. I cannot legislate against it."

People who like hunting and fishing would do well to ponder Mr. Scott's words. The city man has no more right to go tramping across a farmer's property hunting for fish or game than the farmer has to invade the city man's home uninvited and raid the refrigerator.

GREY, SIMCOE CHAMPION COUNTIES

There were 3,137,100 cattle on Ontario's farms on December 1, 1951, as compared with 2,781,400 on the corresponding date the year before, it is shown by the monthly bulletin issued by the Ontario department of agriculture.

Here are the five leading cattle-raising counties of Ontario, with the number of cattle in each, as of last December 1: Grey, 166,800; Huron, 162,400; Bruce, 142,600; Middlesex, 142,500; Simcoe 136,900.

Here are the leading counties for "cows and heifers, two years old and over, kept mainly for milk purposes," with the number of dairy cows in each: Middlesex, 50,000; Oxford, 49,000; Carleton, 44,500; Grey, 43,500; Perth, 42,000.

Here are the five leading swine-producing counties, with the total number of hogs in each: Simcoe, 165,000; Perth, 153,000; Wellington, 148,000; Huron, 136,500; Grey, 133,800.

DANISH FARMERS HELD MODEL

Wellington Jeffers, the financial editor of the Globe and Mail, thinks the farmers of Denmark are pretty good. As proof of this contention, Mr. Jeffers says that since 19337, the retail price of milk in Copenhagen has been reduced "from the producer price plus one hundred per cent to the producer price plus fifty per cent."

Mr. Jeffers does not compare retail prices in Denmark with those of Canadian cities, but he does say that Copenhagen is about the same size as Toronto. The whole tenor of his article is that the cost of milk in Toronto is far too high in relation to the price the farmer receives for it.

Since the Danish farmers got busy reducing distribution costs, Mr. Jeffers notes, the per capita consumption of milk in Copenhagen, as well as throughout all Denmark, has increased substantially. Denmark's dairy cows provide one-third of all the country's exports.

GIRL SCOUT COOKIES

I've been a willing patron of the Girl Scout cookie drive
One box for thirty-five cents, and for three, a dollar, five.
And if a prize were offered, I believe that I could boast Possession of a trophy for the one who bought the most.

I may be old and foolish, but when little girls I see
In the uniform of freedom I am proud as I can be.
When they said: "We're selling cookies. You can pay when they arrive,"
I promptly took three boxes and dug up the dollar, five.

Now I've cookies in the carton and I've cookies in the jar.
I have stuffed myself with cookies, and I'll say that nice they are.
But, I'm sure I'll still have cookies — if I manage to survive —
When the Girl Scouts of the nation start their next year's cookie drive.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

March 18th., 1932

The Rev. W. L. Wright, Rector of the Anglican Church at Tweed, has accepted the office of curate at Christ Church Cathedral, Hamilton, of which the Very Rev. L. W. Broughall is the Rector.

At the meeting of the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East in Peterborough, the Rev. A. L. Geen of this city was elected Grand Chaplain and Mr. Everett Bell of this city was elected Associate Deputy Grand Master.

Sixty years ago yesterday, March 17th., 1872, the first brick church built by the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was dedicated by the Rev. Principal Snodgrass, D. D., of Queen's University, Kingston, and the sermon was preached by him. At the afternoon service the Rev. John Burton, minister of the Canada Presbyterian Church, now John Street Church, delivered the sermon, and at the evening service the sermon was delivered by the Rev. Prof. McKerras of Queen's University. The musical portion of the services under the direction of Dr. Crozier was excellent. The music of the new pipe organ added greatly to the service. This church was burned 34 years ago and with it was lost beautiful sounding chimes which were heard every Sunday with much pleasure by all citizens. The building of the present church was commenced immediately. The Rev. J. A. Seymour, M.A., S.T.D., is the present minister.

30 YEARS AGO

March 18th., 1922

Mrs. William Phillips of London, Ontario, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hopkins, Johnson Street.

A baseball club has been formed at Maynooth with the following officers: Hon. President, E. Guss Porter, K.C., M.P.; Hon. Vice President, Robert Cooke, M.P.P.; President, Rev. A. Redding; Vice President, F. V. Buckley; Secretary-Treasurer, M. J. Flynn; Manager, Rev. Father Brady; Captain, George Twa; Official Scorer, Dan Goodwin.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. MacDiarmid of Toronto, formerly of Belleville, are spending a few days in town.

40 YEARS AGO

March 18th., 1912

Mrs. George A. Sears, who has been visiting here for some time has returned to her home in Booneville, N.Y.

Mr. Harry Mackie is home from Toronto on a short visit.

Front Street may be paved eventually; the matter is now under consideration.

Mr. W. H. Garrison has been awarded the contract to build a church at Empey Hill at a cost of $7,000. This will make 39 churches he has built.

Mr. J. H. Shearing of the C. P. R. offices, Montreal, an old Belleville boy and son of Mr. A. Shearing of this city, presided at a meeting of the Association of Railway Accounting Officers in Savanah, Ga., recently.

Messrs. J. H. Anderson and W. T. Watts, will go to Kingston tomorrow to attend the Orange Grand Lodge for Eastern Ontario.

50 YEARS AGO

March 18th., 1902

With St. Patrick's Day over and the robins here, it is surely time that our sporting boys who are going to play lacrosse this summer got together.

Chief of Police Gunyou of Deseronto was in town today.

Mr. and Mrs. John VanNorman and Mr. and Mrs. Frank VanNorman spent yesterday in Madoc.

A barn belonging to Mr. Andrew McCreary, Geddes Street, near Albert College, was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon.

Things are going well at the lock factory and the company contemplates building a new moulding shop as the present premises are too small.

The cheese buyers and a large number of cheese factory men of this district will meet at Madoc to discuss matters of importance to the cheese industry. A banquet will take place in the evening and Mr. E. P. Brintnell and Mr. F. W. Brenton of this city will attend.

A CHRISTIAN NATION?

We are supposed to be living today in a Christian country. Yet fifty million adults in the United States have no church connections whatsoever, and twenty million children are without any religious instruction. Conditions are better in Canada than in the United States, but they are not enough better to produce complacency.

We might almost say that the United States and Canada are Christian nations—minus 50 per cent. When we deduct from the nominal Christians the dead wood in all the churches and the people who call themselves Christians without having any right to do so, then we have reduced the sincere, genuine group of Christians down to a pretty small handful.

The Bible is very definite as to how the spiritual life of a nation is to be improved. In both the Old and New Testaments the emphasis is upon the home. The law of God is to be taught to children, to be talked about in the ordinary walk and conversation which make up life. God's Word is to be written upon the doorposts of the house and upon its gates.

We try to place the responsibility for the religious education of boys and girls solely on the church and Sunday school. This responsibility must be placed primarily upon the home. When the adults get religion, the children will get it too.

OUR TOWN

BY JACK SCOTT

A MAN'S MUSING

We have a new little outboard motor in our home. The man who sold me this instrument of the devil called it "a simple and complex machine." It is a pretty good description. Nothing is as simple when it's running or as complex when it ain't. And it usually aint. For sheer frustration there's nothing like pulling at the flywheel of a small dead outboard motor.

Since I got this machine I've developed a vocabulary of cussing that astounds and disgusts me. There's no explaining its whims. One morning it will go with one easy spin, mad to go. The next morning it gives a small embarrassed cough and nothing else.

John Steinbeck once wrote of an outboard like this, or perhaps they're all of the same breed. His, he said, was incredibly lazy and loved to ride on the back of a boat, trailing its propeller daintily in the water while somebody rowed. It is, indeed, a vengeful, mischievous device and I make an ugly picture out there screaming and beating my temples.

Like every mechanical device of these complicated days the outboard came with a manual of instructions that is, to me at any rate, completely indecipherable. I am going to make my fortune some day by writing the manuals for manufacturers of machinery so that ordinary mortals may understand them.

Why describe something as a "pivot bearing assembly" or "reverse lock spring" to a man who has trouble putting a new flint in a lighter? Far better just to say "the little screw an inch from the top" or "the doojigger that's right alongside the propeller."

Also, the manual is so frankly pessimistic. I'm astounded that the motor goes at all. It list 64 things that can go wrong and that, I submit, is mighty poor psychology.

With an outboard motor you must never let the motor know that you're afraid of it. Bravado isn't enough. It must be a deep conviction of man mastering machine. And the manufacturers have destroyed that by fearing the worst.

I can hardly wait for the summer. Some sunny day I am going to be lying on the beach with somebody I want to impress. A beautiful girl is going to walk by. And I am going to murmur (as if I'd just thought of it) "Ma foi! Etre encore soixante-dix!" I just read this in a story about Clemenceau. It means, "Ah to be seventy again!" and Clemenceau said it at the age of 80 when a pretty girl walked by.

It's my conviction that all the great bon mots and apparently spontaneous quips were carefully planned this way. Clemenceau himself was probably just waiting for the right situation and a handy biographer.

I have one friend who does this all the time. Once we took a party out to the airport and as we sat in the car watching the airliners come and go my friend remarked, oh! so casually, "Eire today and Guam tomorrow." He had clearly been saving it for the right set of circumstances. I used this in a column a day later and, as far as I know, nobody laughed. It needed the background, needed to be staged.

Our village store has blossomed in one corner with its annual seed display and it's a happy sight to see the people standing there with their eyes shining, already imagining the lush growth that will come later. No one is more astonished than me that I'm among them.

As it is with outboard motors so it is with gardens. I have no confidence whatever in the seed. It seems completely unlikely to me that a small, dead husk the size of a finger's end will become a saucepan of peas. Indeed, in my gardens, it rarely does.

Still, with gardens I have an almost unconquerable spirit. Each year I demonstrate man's faith in the miracle of Nature. This year I have an added hope. We have chickens now and everybody agrees that chicken dung would make a rock grow flowers.

One of my oldest friends in the city, Jack Patterson, also has chickens and whenever we get together these days we have a common subject. The last time I saw Jack he was kind of wistful about it. "We used to talk about girls," he said. "Now all we ever talk about is chicken dung."

This week I ran into one of those people who persist in always looking on the bright side, a deplorable trait. I was bellyaching, in my dyspeptic way, about some chore I had to do and this fellow said, "I enjoy everything I do. If it seems disagreeable I make it a game and then it's fun."

What a ghastly way to look at life! If everything was fun then fun would be pretty dull stuff.

The man went on, naturally enough, to say that he made it a practice of always looking on the sunny side. "After all," he said, "the sun will shine tomorrow. There's always beauty and joy about you if you go to the window and look out."

What a depressing thought! I don't think that life was meant to be lived that way, forever on an even keel. I like a good chunk of gloom once in awhile because then it dramatizes the times when you perch up on the top of the world. I don't want to make a game out of something I detest doing. I want to hate it and grumble and do it reluctantly.

That's the only way I can really enjoy myself.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Farmers still like to do their best plowing closest to the road. Over the hill, you may hear the tractor snorting at a great rate, and speed being made. You can cach glimpses of the farmer's head and shoulders as he jounces along towing his plows. But when he comes round near the road, he slows the tractor down.

And with what remains of that traditional pride farmers enjoyed as they handled their teams of horses and the writhing plow handles in full view of the road (down which a buggy was bound to be passing) the mechanized farmer steers the tractor at a reduced pace, turned his head constantly to see how the furrows roll. For a straight furrow remains the pride of a countryman.

Old farmers tell me that for all the hardships, spring plowing had a satisfaction about it that was unique. It was an art. The handling of a well-trained team of horses, the management of the plow itself, the constant attention upon the ever-changing character of the soil, even in a single field, all concentrated upon one accomplishment, a perfect straight furrow—that was art. Those old farmers declare there is as much difference between horse plowing and tractor plowing as there is between playing a piano and a mechanical piano.

But art is going out of industry all over creation. Machines can do better than hands; machines add better than brains; the perfect machine is one in which its operator does not have to think at all.

Still, a million farmers right now are thinking about having their best furrows nearest the road.

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Signed Letters, Not More Than One Page, or 100 Words Long, Pertaining to Personal Health and Hygiene, Not to Disease, Diagnosis or Treatment, Will be Answered by Dr. Brady if a Stamped, Self-Addressed Envelope is Enclosed, Etc.

SURE AND WHY SHOULDN'T I?

A writer, commenting on the American habit of overeating and being always hungry, concludes this is "part of the price we pay for forgetting our high-school lessons in physiology and hygiene."

What! Physiology and hygiene lessons in an American high-school? Oh, yes, perhaps the biology textbook gives a word or a whole sentence here and there to these vulgar subjects, but for health's sake it is just as well if we do forget all that.

The editorial writer courageously asserts that much of the "education" of the public today is carried on by vendors of sugary beverages, overrefined breads and pastries and other over-processed foodstuffs.

Then he mentions two prevailing misconceptions, (1) that fat is a sign of health and (2) that grains, meats, fruits and vegetables generally profit from processing.

The truth is that much food value is lost or diverted because of processing and, as the writer asserts, "no amount of chemical injection can restore raw food elements which have been extracted."

There the editorial writer is in danger of incurring the displeasure of the National Research Council Committee on Food and Nutrition, the "authorities" who sanction the practice of doctoring white flour, which even they are compelled to admit is nutritionally inadequate, with bits of a few of the cheaper vitamins of which wheat flour is robbed in the milling, refining and bleaching processes. As the editorial writer observed, this phony "enrichment" of white flour does not restore the essential vitamins and minerals which have been extracted. It does give the vendors the face to assure the gullible American public that bread made on this "enriched" flour is "just as good" as whole wheat bread. In other words the self-constituted authorities have the unmitigated nerve to tell us most of the vitamins and minerals in the staff of life are of no value in human nutrition, only the two or three cheapest ones being needed to prevent beri beri, pellagra and other deficiency diseases. They get away with it not because we have forgotten our highschool lessons in physiology and hygiene but because such nasty subjects are not treated seriously in the public schools.

This editorial writer was going great guns and I was waving my hat (figuratively, of course) for him, when the fellow suddenly implicated an innocent bystander: "Doc Brady, whose health column appears daily . . ." says he, or, I begin to suspect, it may be she, and I beg to amend the statement to read: such fragments of it as remain when we editors have trimmed it down to fit the available space, "Ole Doc Brady constantly harps upon the strange aspect of starvation amid plenty."

I harp, do I?

Well, now, young fellow, me lad, starvation amid plenty is a fine theme indeed, but if I deal with it at all, at all, it will be with my shillelagh.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Too Young

I am 15 and a little overweight. Please send your pamphlet How to Lose Weight. My biology teacher in school told the class that your column is quite worthwhile. (Helen H.)

Answer—I'm sorry Helen, but I believe it is unwise for a girl to attempt to reduce before she is 18. You had better do any reduction only under the observation of your physician.

Flunked Exam Because of Jitters

Recently flunked a telegraphy test because of nervousness. Druggist told me you have a quinine preparation that prevents such nervousness. (R. K.)

Answer—Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet on Examination Jitters. Do not use clipping.

Tight Schedule

If a child 7 or 8 years old should have a noon nap of an hour how do you expect parents to abide by state education laws? The schools allow a maximum of 1¼ hours lunch time . . . (H. E. S.)

Answer—I don't know what may have been printed, but what I wrote appears thus in my master copy: A noon nap of from one to three hours is necessary for a normal child up to the age of 4 or 5 years and a shorter noon nap is fine for children up to 7 or 8 years of age." Read what a V I R—very important reader—has to say about it tomorrow—if the column appears at all, at all.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

A BELOVED EXECUTIVE

In a book of quotations I came upon this one by John Lee Mahin: "No man", said he, "will ever be a big executive who feels that he must, either openly or under cover, follow every order he gives and sees that it is done—nor will he ever develop a capable assistant."

The man who said that was my first boss. He hired me for $6 a week. I often worked ten and twelve hours a day for him. In less than six months I was given $15 a week and placed at the head of a department. Mahin was a big man, and although he was only 32 years of age at that time, he had an advertising business that ran much over a million dollars a year in total business. Outside of practising what he preached, he was a great salesman—the greatest with whom I have ever come in contact. I learned things from him that have been invaluable to me in my own business that has lasted longer than his own, for he retired and died several years ago.

Mahin was the product of a small mid-western town. He went to Chicago and worked on the Chicago Daily News, then started his own agency in advertising and was a great success. I recall how he would return from New York with his portfolio filled with orders. When he sold a bill of goods he would stand erect, with his blue eyes centered upon an advertiser, and his better than six feet of height would be a thing to behold, for sincerity and conviction were in everything he said.

John Lee Mahin was the first to bring out the idea of psychology in advertising and engaged Walter Dill Scott, a professor at Northwestern University to write a series of articles along this line that created national attention. Later Scott became the president of this great Northwestern college. Though John Lee Mahin died many years ago his ideas and personality are a remembered asset to many, including this writer. Many were those who went out from the Mahin organization who in turn became fine executives and successful men. The good and inspiring things of a man live on and on.

Much of South America Remains Unexploited Jungle, Canadian Writer Discovers

By FORBES RHUDE
(Canadian Press Business Editor)

When one first comes to Rio de Janeiro it is a spectacle to be seen.

After a fortnight, it is a way of life which one is loath to leave.

So it was with our party which visited Brazil recently. From the air, as we left, our eyes lingered on the lovely panorama; while the majestic 100-foot state of Christ the Redeemer (Cristo Redentor), rising with outstretched arms from the top of 2,000-foot Corcovado, seemed to give a farewell benediction.

There was first a 55-minute flight to Sao Paulo, over now familiar terrain, for we had motored over it, flown over it, and travelled it by train, in the last two weeks. Then we got away on the nine-hour flight from Atlantic to Pacific and over the Andes.

Beneath us were the rich coffee plantations and farm lands of Southern Brazil, until we passed into the state of Matto Grosso, meaning big forest, or big jungle—about the size of the province of Quebec.

Savage Fish

Not far away, schools of the incredibly savage fish, the piranha, less than a foot long but swift death to man or beast, scoured the Parana River for flesh to tear and devour.

It is raw jungle which one day may be rich farmland.

We passed from it into the rising mountains of the Andes, which stretch 4,400 miles along the western side of South America.

In their heart, La Paz, Bolivia, have a pattern of red and pink roofs, housing its more than 300,000 people. This city, once called "heritage of gold" by the Indians, is situated at more than 12,000 feet altitude, the highest capital in the world. From its mines come much of the world's tin. Its airport, at 13,400 feet, has one of the world's longest runways and, for the thin air, has a sloped surface so that incoming planes may land uphill, and outgoing craft may take off downhill.

Higher Than Rockies

Near La Paz we passed the peak of Illimani, 21,200 feet, some 9,000 feet higher than the highest of the Canadian Rockies.

We saw nearby, too, Lake Titicaca, 130 miles long and half the size of Lake Ontario, which provides a waterway for commerce 12,000 feet above sea level.

We were amazed at the number of roads which wound up the mountains — most of them narrow, and some mere donkey paths, but carved out slowly through hundreds of years by sturdy Indians who make their homes there.

We passed from Bolivia to Peru, birthplace of both the potato and corn, and ultimately came to the Pacific, lying in a vast calm, but showing a solid line of white surf as it struck the continent.

In Peru, we were puzzled by oval-shaped enclosures until told they were traps for llamas, the South American member of the camel family which serves as beast of burden, yields wool, and ends up on the dinner table.

Has Special Protest

We were told that when the llama gets over-weary, it turns its head and discharges an evil-smelling saliva in the rider's face. We had no opportunity to confirm this, but who would blame the llama?

On the Peruvian coast the Andes turn into giant sand dunes, the height of low mountains, but, here and there, narrow green valleys run down to the Pacific.

A more fertile country heralded the approach of the capital, Lima, and acres of new suburbs showed that, like most western hemisphere cities, its 500,000 people have a building boom.

Brazil, Bolivia, the Andes, Peru in one day. Imagination sagged and most of us went to bed as we headed for Panama and back to the Atlantic, including stops at Sao Paulo, Lima, Panama and Miami. Our trip to Brazil and 12,000 miles of air travel, were over.

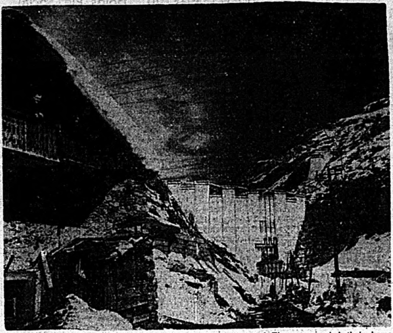
500-Year-Old Village Dies for Progress



Following a six-year battle, inhabitants of the tiny village of Tignes evacuated their homes to make way for a hydro-electric project that will drown the centuries-old village under 500 feet of water. The village contained 120 buildings and 479 inhabitants. Here one of the last inhabitants to leave, stands on the balcony of his home for a last look at his village. In background can be seen a part of the dam being constructed. This will be one of the largest dams in Europe, and will contain the waters of the Isere River. — Central Press-Canadian.

Negotiators Fail To End Dispute Over Iranian Oil

Tehran, Iran, March 18. (AP)—A world bank team wrote "failure" Monday on latest efforts to start Iran's oil flowing to the west again.

Talks with Iran's government broke down Sunday night and a spokesman of Iran's joint oil board announced: "Negotiations are now ended."

Later a government spokesman said he hopes that after the mission reports to officials of the bank in Washington, a solution to the oil disagreement still may be found.

The Senate, obviously worried over the breakdown in the oil talks, sent a three-man delegation to ask Premier Mohammed Mossadegh what policies he now intends to follow.

The bank mission, headed by Hector Prudhomme, is to fly back to the United States later this week. The oil board spokesman, Aly Shayegan, said the bank team and his group could not agree on the use of British technicians, the bank's position in operating Iran's nationalized oil industry and the price to be paid for the oil.

The bank had hoped to operate the now-idle industry pending a final settlement between Iran and the British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, whose holdings Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's government nationalized last year.

LAKE WATER HIGH

Erieau, March 18. (CP)—Not since 1929 have Lake Erie water levels climbed so high this early in the season. Dykes surrounding valuable marshlands are reported almost inundated and water is back as far as the third concession line. Pumps are being run day and night in an attempt to keep the marshes from complete flooding.

WANT NEW WATER TOWER

St. Mary's, March 18. (CP)—The public utilities commission has asked town council for a new water tower. It will cost an estimated $50,000 and have a 208,000-gallon capacity. It will stand 125 feet high.

Women of Moose Sponsor Delicious St. Patrick Supper

A St. Patrick's Day chicken supper and social evening, under the auspices of the Women of the Moose, Chapter 435, was held in the Moose hall on Victoria Ave., last night.

Following the completion of a fine supper entertainment was provided by the Barbara Diment dancing class. Gail Tremaine headed the program with a song and dance number followed by Barbara Thrasher who did a toe dance.

Dancing Numbers

A dancing number, performed on roller skates by Linda Lennox and Gail Juby drew an appreciative round of applause from the audience. Marion Toms and Gail Tremaine followed with individual dance numbers after which Barbara Thrasher returned with a colorful St. Patrick's Day number in complete Irish costume.

Brenda Archer, Sandra Randall and Diana Mansfield each drew the plaudits of the audience with tap dancing numbers and Linda Lennox and Gail Juby returned for an encore number.

Gary and Gail Tremaine completed the dancing numbers with a waltz and tap dancing feature number.

Walt Taylor and the Rhythm Ranch Riders provided the music and entertainment for the remainder of the evening, dancing lasting until midnight.

Mr., Mrs. Woodward Celebrate Their 50th Anniversary

About 80 relatives and friends called recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Woodward, 12 Louis St., Trenton, in honor of their Golden Wedding anniversary.

Guests included the bridesmaid of 50 years ago, Miss Phoebe Kerr, of Thomasburg, Ont., the best man, who now resides in Alberta unfortunately was unable to attend, and Mr. Alfred Davis of Tweed, capably acted in this capacity.

It was on March 5th, 1902, that Sam Woodward of Rawdon, and Lucinda Kerr, of Thomasburg, were married at the home of the bride's brother, the late Mr. Wm. Kerr of Thomasburg. The bride's sister, Miss Phoebe Kerr was bridesmaid with the groom's youngest brother, Mr. Jack Woodward, now of Waskateneau, Alta., acting as best man.

Looking back over the years, Mr. Woodward recalls the good old horse and buggy days, being a great lover of horses and still is, he always kept good trotter. The honeymoon consisted of calling on their friends by this means of transportation. Mr. Woodward, who has reached the age of 82 has led a very interesting and active life on the railroad, retiring as Roadmaster of the CNR at Trenton in 1937. He is the eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sid Woodward of Waskateneau, Alta.

Mrs. Woodward, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kerr of Thomasburg, who is in her 80th year, has always been a devoted wife and mother and reared their four sons, Melvin and Milton, of Trenton, Ralph of Madoc and Sid of Toronto, the latter three following in their father's footsteps making railroading their career while the eldest son, Melvin, is a supervisor at the Hinde and Dauch paper mill in Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodward are both enjoying fairly good health and take a very keen interest in their home and lovely garden in the summer and manage to go on a shopping tour about once or twice a week.

They have seven grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Eldest of the guests calling was Mrs. George Rosebush, of Trenton, who is 84 years 'young' and remembers when the couple returned from their honeymoon. The youngest was little Miss Judy LaBelle, great grandchild of the honored couple.

BABY REPTILE ADDED

Cincinnati, March 18 (AP)—The Cincinnati Zoo received an unexpected addition yesterday—a two-foot long boa constrictor. The baby reptile had been hauled here from New Orleans on a truck load of bananas. A dock foreman found the snake and managed to push the boa into a box and then turned it over to the zoo.

Thor C. Hansen, Art Director, Designer, Gives Interesting Talk On 'Creative Imagination'

Last evening the University Women's Club and the Belleville Arts and Crafts Club were privileged to have as their guest speaker, at the Ontario School for the Deaf, Mr. Thor C. Hansen, art director of the Public Relations Department of the British American Oil Company Limited, who brought a most interesting and educational talk on "Creative Imagination."

Mr. W. J. Morrison, superintendent of the school welcomed the guests, and Mrs. Donald MacKinnon, vice-president of the University Women's Club, acting for the president Mrs. Douglas Burr, who was unavoidably absent through illness, introduced Mr. Hansen to his audience, giving a brief review of his attainments.

Mr. Hansen was born in Denmark, and at an early age showed artistic ability winning a trip to the Orient in 1927, but preferred to come west where he learned English while employed on a farm, finally entering the employ of the British American Oil Company, later being transferred to the head office at Toronto, where he became staff artist and designer.

Colored Slides

During his address Mr. Hansen demonstrated through the means of colored slides, how the British American Oil Building in Toronto has been decorated by a skillful adaptation of folk art technique. Responsible for the designs and motifs employed is Mr. Hansen himself, who worked continuously for eighteen months on his decorative scheme. B-A's headquarters is consequently one of the most unique office buildings in Canada, showing what industry can achieve through the imaginative use of domestic talent and materials.

Mr. Hansen's theme was the necessity of using creative imagination in every walk of life. He stressed how favorably its application could benefit the fields of mental health, cultural development and the Canadian economy.

The great common denominator for all people, said Mr. Hansen, was the quest for happiness. Progress should be measured in terms of happiness. If some development, material or abstract, made people happier, it could justly be called progress. On the other hand, if it caused them to be less happy, such a development constituted regress.

Frustration-Boredom

Failure to exercise one's creative imagination was, Mr. Hansen claimed, one of the chief causes of frustration and boredom. People in all times and places had been endowed with the desire to create and to discover beauty. This latent desire was often halted or frustrated by our modern industrial society. Individual creative imagination had little chance to blossom in an atmosphere or hurried-up living and assembly line production.

"The principal outlet for creative imagination," the speaker continued, "is through one's hands. Hands, directed by the imagination, can create beauty in the form of objects or by writing and painting. Creative imagination can also find expression through singing, speech, drama and rhythm.

Creative Art Best

"The important thing is that, regardless of any degree of skill, a person experiments creatively through these channels. Working from a pattern is good exercise and will increase proficiency, but creative imagination really has full play when we are not quite sure what the next stroke or word or movement will do to make what we are creating a harmonious whole. We use our minds to conjure up images to guide us, and that is creative imagination at work."

When the imagination goes to work in such a manner, Mr. Hansen claims, then do we find happiness.

Receptive Standard

Taking Canadian cultural standards to task, Mr. Hansen said that in this country we have what is essentially a "receptive," rather than a "productive" culture. Our popular entertainment is piped in from other lands or imported in the "package." Our orchestras play music for the most part composed in other lands books by authors from outside Canada are most widely read and publicized, and so on. This situation can be changed only by a movement stemming from the grass roots people—by their taking part in the development of folk arts. That, continued the speaker, was where small groups and associations can play and are playing such an important part.

Folk Art

A nation's culture and folk art originate with the people themselves, and art originating in that manner is the only kind that retains vitality and harmony throughout the ages. He contrasted this with the over-refined cultures which have produced beautiful craftsmanship but ostentatious products.

Summing up, Mr. Hansen pointed out how the healthy and vigorous development of Canadian folk arts contribute to the national economy and the tourist trade in particular. He deplored the alien decorations prevalent in many hotels and tourist resorts. He also expressed regret at the lack of simple, inexpensive articles made with Canadian skill and materials, and books written by Canadian authors which, he felt, would be widely appreciated as souvenirs by tourists.

Following his talk Mr. Hansen showed colored slides of Canadian designs, most of them his own, which have been employed in the development of indigenous crafts. Many of the slides were of the decorative effects in the British American Oil Building, which Mr. Hansen might justly claim to be his piece de resistance.

Appreciation was tendered Mr. Hansen by Mrs. H. S. Robbins for a most delightful address.

Tea was served later.

Mrs. B. Ostrander Presented With Gifts

A suprise party was recently given by ten of her friends, to Miss Barbarr Ostrander, formerly of Picton, at the home of Mrs. Vincent Raddell, 29 Station Street, where she now resides, before her departure for a month's holiday trip to the West Indies by air.

The evening was spent in an enjoyable sing-song, with Mrs. H. Ostrander presiding at the piano; two contests were given by Mrs. Gerald Istead, the first being, "Name Twin Brothers" which was won by Mrs. Archie Cannons, and the second, "Title Contest" went to Mrs. H. Ostrander and Miss Ann Barnes.

Miss Marjorie Cannons gave a reading entitled, "Wouldn't This Old World be Better," and a contest for the best letter written using "All Song Titles," this was won by Mrs. Lorna Bennett and Miss Ann Barnes.

Following an address, read by Miss Ann Barnes, congratulating Barbara on her good fortune and wishing her continued happiness, signed by Mrs. Elsie Raddell and Miss Marjorie Cannons, on behalf of those present, Barbara was presented with a day travel book by Mrs. Lorna Bennett and although taken by surprise, Barbara most graciously expressed her sincere appreciation for their timely gift, and good wishes on her behalf.

Later, the hostess served refreshments, assisted by Miss Marjorie Cannons and Mrs. Archie Cannons, bringing a happy evening to a close.

Tokyo, March 18 — (AP) — U.S. airmen and Japanese civilians today rescued 219 patients from a burning Far East Air Forces hospital. The fire swept through two wards of the hospital. Firemen brought it under control in 40 minutes.

G. Lachlin Explains 'Social Studies' At H-S. Association

King George Home and School Association held their Education Week meeting on Monday evening last.

The meeting was opened by Mr. Hall, president. Mrs. Hall read several thank you notes sent to the Sunshine Committee.

Mrs. Rompin gave the radio report, and advised that Dr. Potter will be the speaker on the next and possibly last radio program for this season. Miss Heasman' class won the class award of a radio.

The program for the evening was conducted by the teachers and pupils. Under the supervision of Miss Wallbridge, grade 6 pupils had a study class on audio visual education on P.E.I.

An introductory discussion was held, followed by a film on P.E.I. and afterwards class discussion on points observed in the film. Grades 7 and 8 girls sang a selection under the leadership of Mr. Gorrell.

Mr. G. Lachlin explained the new subject "Social Studies," and Mr. Gorrell explained the importance of physical education in the schools today.

A two-act skit was played by Grade 8, written and directed by Mr. Cousins.

Refreshments were served by a group of mothers.

Cannifton Choir Holds Pie Social

On Wednesday evening a large crowd turned out to a pie social held in Cannifton church under the auspices of the choir.

Rev. W. R. Merrick acted as chairman for the evening. The program follows: Solo, Master Don Rose, Halloway; three readings, Mrs. T. A. Tucker, Belleville; reading, Miss Carolyn Franklin, Belleville; solo, little Miss Marlene Mitchell, Belleville; solo, Miss Myrna Milton; musical number, Mr. and Mrs. Don Rose, Halloway; reading, Master Bobby Franklin, Belelville; two instrumentals, Miss Merebeth Holgate, Cannifton; solo, Floyd Milton, Cannifton; cornet number Mr. and Mrs. Manley Mitchell, Belleville; solo, Mrs. Perry Hamilton, Sidney; three readings, Mrs. Charlton, Belleville.

The choir leader and organist, Mrs. H. Farnham thanked the guest artists for so royal an entertainment.

Later the guests retired to the Sunday school rooms which were prettily decorated with St. Patrick's colors and pots of shamrocks. The long, white tables containing the pies were covered with St. Patrick color tablecloths.

Much credit is due Mrs. Carl Ellsworth and Mrs. Don Milton for these pretty arrangements.

The choir served the guests, wearing green and white aprons with small matching hats with green shamrocks. The pies were plentiful and varied.

Thanks are tendered to Mr. Merrick and to all who assisted in making this event so successful.

Ameliasburg Hall Scene Of Reception for Couple Wedded for 65 Years

Lifelong residents of the Ameliasburg district, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Vancott of Ameliasburg village were guests of honor recently at a social gathering held in the townhall. Mr. and Mrs. Vancott were observing the 65th anniversary of their marriage.

A congratulatory telegram from Premier Leslie Frost and Mrs. Frost wishing the couple many more happy years of married life, was read by Norris Whitney, M.P.P. Mr. Whitney also presented them with a shield from the Ontario government. Rev. H. Hillis was chairman for the evening.

Others speaking briefly and extending good wishes to the couple included Mr. Oscar Pierce, Dr. Dow; Neilville Gooding, Roy Vancott and Mrs. W. Hopkins. Mrs. George Cunningham, who acted as bridesmaid at the Vancott wedding 65 years ago, and Mr. Herb. Dempsey, a guest at the wedding, also spoke.

A program of musical entertainment was enjoyed. Piano solos were given by Miss Joan Wood, Mrs. Ross Spencer, Master Edward Dow, Miss Annette Finch, who also sang "The Old Rugged Cross" accompanied by her mother, Mrs. A. F. Finch.

Given Hymnary

Mr. and Mrs. Vancott were given seats of honor and an address of welcome was read by Mr. Hopkins. On behalf of the community they were presented with a beautiful basket of American Beauty roses by Miss Dorothy Fritz and Miss Catherine Wannamaker. They were also given a hymnary.

The hall was decorated in pink and white; the table covered with a lace tablecloth and centred with the gold-trimmed anniversary cake. Bouquets of snapdragons, tulips and daffodils, gifts of Clifton Ellis and Son, Hillier, and a potted azalea from Mr. and Mrs. Ray Vancott of St. Ignace, Mich.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Vancott spoke briefly expressing appreciation for the kindness of the people in the Ameliasburg community. The guest book was signed by 97 persons. A lovely anniversary cake was made by Mrs. George LaRue of Consecon.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Morgan Sills, Mrs. Earl Wood, Mrs. John Wannamaker, Mrs. Harry Bisdee, and Mrs. Gerald Fritz.

Mrs. Lyle Jones Gives Review Of 'North Pole Boarding House'

The regular meeting of the Albert College Women's Guild was held in the ladies parlor of Bridge Street Church on Friday last with the president, Mrs. May presiding.

The devotional period was in charge of Mrs. F. E. Houston who chose as her Bible reading, Luke 9:18-27. The text of her address was Christ's command, "Take up thy Cross and Follow Me." "The cross is the supreme symobl of our religion," said the speaker. It typifies both the greatest sacrifice and the greatest love, and to follow Christ, we must be ready to give our lives, also in the service of others. No happiness can be found in selfishly living one's own life. "The greatest happiness is found in making others happy."

Mrs. May thanked Mrs. Houston for her inspiring address.

Mrs. Clifford Templer, accompanied by Mrs. E. M. Hubbs, sang two beautiful solos "Little Boy Love" and "Cuckoo Song."

Speaker

Miss Helen Sulman introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Lyle Jones. Mrs. Jones gave a most delightful review of the novel "The North Pole Boarding House," by the Canadian authoress, Elsie Gillis.

Before beginning the review, Mrs. Jones said that "as Canadians, we should listen to Canadian music, look at the Canadian pictures and read Canadian literature." She spoke highly of Belleville public library and the splendid collection of books, to be found there.

Descriptive Trip

The story, "The North Pole Boarding House," is Mrs. Gillis' account of a trip she took with her husband, a meteorologist, to Arctic Bay, the most northerly outpost, to which women are allowed to go. The expedition started by boat from Fort Churchill on Hudson Bay and sailed through Hudson Straits, around the northern coast of Baffin Land. Among the members of the expedition were two meteorologists, a doctor, dentist, oculist, radio operator and some members of the P.C.M.P. Canon and Mrs. Turner were travelling on the same boat to Moffat Bay.

On arriving at Arctic Bay, Mrs. Gillis found a most comfortable modern bungalow had been prepared for her and her husband. Supplies had been carried from Fort Churchill and Mrs. Gillis assumed the duties of housekeeper for the men on government service. Unfortunately the frozen meat had been left at Fort Churchill and Mrs. Gillis was forced to substitute canned meat in its place.

Eskimo Maids

Eskimo maids helped with the work in the house. Sometimes their housekeeping methods might be open to criticism, but in disposition, they were always happy.

At Christmas, Eskimos came from long distances, by dog train, to a party at the home of the Hudson Bay Factor. They danced to the music of an accordion.

Mrs. Jones' sympathetic review of the book, left one with the feeling that one must read it as soon as possible. Mrs. M. B. Weese thanked Mrs. Jones for the pleasure she had given to the members of the Guild.

After the meeting closed, tea was served.

Past Noble Grand's Club Holds Meeting

A pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mrs. Rhea Mitchell, 136 East Moira Street on Wednesday when the Past Noble Grands Club met for its monthly meeting.

The business was conducted by the president, Mrs. Annie Rose, after which contests were conducted by Mrs. Nellie Cooper. The prize winners were Mrs. Irene Aman, Mrs. Dorothy Harwood and Mrs. Pearl Drury. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Mitchell and her assistants, Mrs. Nellie Cooper, Mrs. Aletha Cornish and Mrs. Marjorie Large.

SOVIET TAKES OVER

London, March 18 — (AP) — The Yugoslav newspaper Borba quotes two Romanian refugees as saying the Soviet air force has taken over several Romanian airfields including "the modern Constanta air field." The Romanians said jet propelled planes of the "Mig" and "Yak" types are arriving in increasing numbers.

EDUCATION NEEDED

Montreal (CP)—Early recognition of cancer through wider education on the disease would have saved perhaps 5,000 of the 17,000 persons who died of cancer in Canada last year. This estimate was made by F. G. Butterfield of Regina, president of the Canadian Cancer Society, visiting here on a tour of society branches.

BOY BURNED TO DEATH

Moonachie, N.J., March 18 (AP)—A 14-year-old boy was burned to death here yesterday when he ran back into his flaming house to get his shoes. The boy, Thomas Childress, had been led out of the blazing house with his three stepbrothers by his 74-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Farah Cheades. Once out of the house he announced "I'm going back for my shoes."

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

How to refuse guest's request to bring stranger to buffet party

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I'm not an experienced hostess—we were married several months ago, and have only recently moved into our own home—and I would like to have your guidance about how to deal with a situation if it should arise in the future. Last Sunday evening my husband and I were to give our first rather large party (rather large to us), a buffet-supper, to which we were inviting some of our friends who had been particularly hospitable to us. We had invited two single girls, and one of them, on Saturday morning telephoned to ask if she might bring a man friend, someone we didn't know. This was the last thing in the world I wanted to have happen—for my husband and I had made and re-made the list of guests, so that we would include as many as possible of our most intimate friends—but I did not know what to do except to consent.

When my husband came home and I told him, he was terribly disappointed, and really blamed me for not giving some excuse for not consenting to this girl's request. (Sad to say, our party really was more or less spoiled by the presence of the "stranger", for he seemed to be quite a snob, and certainly didn't contribute anything to the party, wasn't a bit gracious, and I'm sure we'll never see him again.) But I wouldn't know now, any more than I knew then, how to meet this situation. What could I say that wouldn't sound terribly impolite. —Claire T.

Actually, it was "terribly impolite" for this young woman to ask for this invitation. . .since she is an intimate friends of yours, she would naturally know that giving this party was extremely important to you, that you couldn't accommodate very many friends and certainly shouldn't be asked to include a stranger, just because it happened to please her. So to meet such lackof-thoughtfulness, you probably can't be too subtle, and you could straightforwardly say, "Oh, Betty dear, I'm so sorry, but Bill and I have had to plan most carefully for just the number of guests we've invited. You know our set-up so well that I'm sure you'll understand. Perhaps sometime when we're having a more general party, say late on some Sunday afternoon, you will bring your friend to our house, and give us the pleasure of meeting him."

Engagement. gift something personal for the engaged girl

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A friend of mine, with whom I went to summer camp for several years, has just written me that she is going to announce her engagement in three weeks. She invited me to come to the engagement—announcement party, but because of distance, this will be impossible. However, I would like to send her a nice engagement present. Should this kind of present be something for her personally, or something for her new home?—S.W.

An engagement present should be something for the engaged girl personally. . . .this differing from the wedding present, which is something for the new home. The engagement present often is an article for the girl's personal trousseau, gloves perhaps, or handkerchiefs, or stockings, or lingerie; or a compact or vanity-case, dressing case, costume jewelry, jewel case, evening bag, or something similar.

Wife's Worries Exceed Mate's

London. (CP) — The "little woman" faced with the problem of keeping her expenses within the weekly household allowance has far greater financial worries than the husband, says the current issue of the Houseworker, organ of the National Institute of Houseworkers.

"When money is short, it is always the mother of the family who must sacrifice all luxuries," the paper says. "It is she who must forego a new coat, a fresh hat and other little luxuries in order that her children will be well cared for."

BIG FAMILY

Fort Frances, Ont. (CP)— Mr. and Mrs. William Begg of International Falls, Minn., who were married in Kenora in 1887, celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary. They have six children, 29 grand children and 32 great grandchildren.

HECTIC PERIOD

Guelph, Ont., (CP)—Within a period of four days on the farm of J. C. Barnes at Hillsburgh three cows gave birth to calves and there were twin calves in each instance.

Food for Thought

By Mary Moore

Featuring Smoked Hams And Stuffed Pork Chops

The request for cooking hams and other smoked pork products and for stuffed pork chops will interest many of you:

"Dear Mary Moore: Thanks so much for your prompt reply with reference to scallops, making steak gravy, etc. Have been enjoying eating scallops on Friday nights now and have passed your advice on to friends. Have been asked several times though why you did not dip scallops in flour, then eggs and breadcrumbs. Are you certain you do not dip them in flour?

"I clipped out your recipe for Homemade Soup too. . . I am really eager to learn about cooking hams. . .there are so many kinds—rolled, picnic hams, peameal bacon, etc. Mother used to simmer her hams (rolled) but I don't remember how long. I will watch your columns. . .also how do you bake thick pork chops. Some people tell me they add milk. Do you always buy loin chops? One time I tasted "stuffed pork chops". Everyone raved about them—so hot and tasty with just a simple dressing. What's the secret?"—B. D.

ANSWER TO B.D.:

If scallops are wiped dry they do not need the flour first but flouring them first does give you a thicker crunchier crust. Roll the scallops in flour which has been seasoned with salt and pepper. Then dip in egg diluted with 1 or 2 tablespoons water, then in fine sifted crumbs.

BOILED HAM (rind on)

Scrub ham thoroughly and soak 12 hours in cold water. Skim off surface scum. Bring to boil in soaking water and simmer until tender allowing 20 minutes per pound—longer if it is not tender at the bone.

To serve cold keep in stock in cool place for 12 hours, then peel off rind. To serve hot let cool slightly in stock before removing, then skin off the rind. If to be finished by baking to serve hot spread scored fat surface with a paste made of 1 cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon dry mustard and 2 or 3 tablespoons vinegar or honey or fruit juice. Place in oven of 325 deg. Fahr. for 45 minutes. It may be basted with cider or peach or pineapple juice during this period. Sections where it is scored may be dotted symmetrically with whole cloves after it is spread with sugar paste.

BAKED HAM

For Hams bought in transparent casings follow directions printed thereon.

For smoked hams with rind on bake a 10 or 12-lb. ham 18 minutes to the pound at 325 deg. Fahr. Do not cover, do not add water.

If sugar-paste finish is desired use same method as finish under boiled ham.

For Picnic Shoulder allow 30 minutes per lb. For Boned shoulder weighing 4 lbs. 35 minutes per lb.

STUFFED PORK CHOPS

Ordinary bread stuffing as for chicken may be used but a special one is: Brown in 2 tablespoons butter or fat, 1-2 cup washed and chopped mushrooms, 2 tablespoons chopped onion, and 1-2 cup boiled rice for 5 minutes slowly. Add 1 cup breadcrumbs, 1 cup canned tomatoes, 1 teaspoon salt, and 1-4 teaspoon pepper. Simmer 10 minutes. Let cool. Have ready thick pork chops (1 1-2 inch) loin or shoulder in which you have made a deep pocket, slitting along the fat edge. Stuff them with this mixture, and fasten with skewers. Brown chops on both sides in frying pan until meat is nearly heated through, then add 1-2 cup water, cover and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour. This amount of stuffing will fill 6 chops. If you prefer 1-inch chops reduce cooking time.

Stylist Raymonde Predicts London's Women to Wear Shorter Hair This Spring

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London (CP) — Long tresses for women are to modern hair styles as a horse and buggy to a jet engine, says Raymonde, leading London stylist.

"Short hair belongs to these times," he said. "With it women look lighter, brighter, wittier and smarter."

Whether Raymonde's influence is responsible, London's Mayfair salons are certainly sharpening their scissors for the latest spring cuts. Styles are short, with the accent on grooming.

The most wind-blown number is a poodle cut favored by television hair expert, Jose Pou. With two-inch curls completely covering the head, it's just right for those natural curls — but definitely out for those who have to "perm." For one thing, it's much too expensive. A cut is needed every three weeks and this means frequent perming.

Excellent Style

Nevertheless, for those with the courage —and the income — this is an excellent style for new spring hats. Easter bonnets will be shallow crowned with little or no back, the front stopping short of the hair-line. The poodle cut is therefore a good choice for such as the poke bonnet in parma violet velveteen that sweeps up at the back like the ridge to a cowboy's saddle.

Smooth and groomed is a style by Raymonde that streamlines into a short curling page-boy. The roll is swept back from one temple only, forming a slight ridged curl secured by application of lacquer and the use of a tiny comb. A side parting comes from low on the temple and sweeps back in a wide arc to the centre crown.

Competes with Raymonde

Another smooth number is the heart-shaped style by Steiner, Mayfair stylist who competes yearly with Raymonde for top honors in the newest cuts. This is a style that deals effectively with shoulder-length hair. Brushed tightly back from the forehead, the hair is caught at either side with a ribbon bow and curls downward over the ears in two horsetails. Loose ends are finished in tiny pin curls that soften the temples.

For the more daring, there are rainbow hair fashions. Two or more streaks of color achieved by dye or lacquer sweep back from the temples. For evening wear there are gold and silver curls that can be added at will and the hair may be dusted with these and other colors to give a nighttime glitter.

"This is the age of the illuminated brunette," says Raymonde.

Bedtime Snack
solves laxative problem

"Constipation made me sullen all day. What a change since I started to use ALL-BRAN regularly! Even my wife notices it!" writes man from Ville Montmorency, Que. If you suffer from irregularity due to lack of bulk, try a bowlful of this toast cereal every night before bed. It may bring back the youthful regularity you thought long lost. ALL-BRAN is the only type ready-to-eat cereal that supplies all the bulk you may need. It's high in protein and iron. Not habit-forming. Kellogg's is so sure you'll like ALL-BRAN that if you're not completely satisfied after 10 days, send empty carton to Kellogg's, London, Ont., and get DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK!

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

How can you tell the "One and Only"?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

How can a girl be sure that she is really in love? Many times I have thought I have met the "one and only", but after a short time someone else looks better to me. Do you think this is a natural trait for a girl in her early twenties? Also, I have a tendency to expect a great deal of a boy and I am usually disappointed. Sometimes I wonder if I am too critical.

A couple of years ago I met a boy whom I have not seen for a year now, but he is constantly in my thoughts and I keep comparing other boys to him. This has got me more or less mixed up. Do you think I will eventually forget him, or that I will always consider him the "only one?"—M.

Dear M.:

It isn't always easy for a girl to be sure that her feeling for a particular young man is love Sometimes she mistakes a mere infatuation for the real thing. Moreover, it can happen to anyone, at any age. It's not the girl's years that determine her reactions, but the degree of mature judgment she has reached. And when she reaches that right stage of maturity, she'll know that the only way to find out whether or not she is really in love is to give herself plenty of time to see how a relationship "wears". By this I mean, of course, time to discover whether she likes a boy more and more, or less and less, as their friendship develops; also, whether she increasingly admires and respects him as she gets to know him better, or comes to the conclusion that his traits and standards and habits are not really those she wants in the man she would like to have for a husband.

As for the particular boy you mention, it seems to me you are letting yourself daydream too much. My advice here is to concentrate more on the boys with whom you are now going out, and less on the one you don't see any more. If you do this consistently, I think you'll find you'll get over being "mixed up" and that your problems will take care of themselves.

Are gifts and visits from the boy friend approved?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm 15 years old and I like a boy 18. Is it all right for him to visit me once in awhile and for me to receive gifts from him on special occasions like Christmas, birthdays, etc.?—B. R.

Dear B.R.:

Of course there is no reason why you shouldn't have this or any other boy come to see you whenever he likes. If, by "visiting" you, you mean that he lives in another city and has to be specially invited for the weekend or something like that, then when you want to ask him to come, your letter of invitation should contain in it some such message as "Mother wants me to say that she hopes you will come "or something of the kind, to let him know that the visit is approved by her.

Of course, too, gifts on special days are perfectly all right, provided they aren't too expensive or so personal that they take on more significance than is really meant.

Fair complexion, rosy cheeks

Scrubbing with a brush stimulates circulation

Blushing is just about the only trick a woman can't learn. No matter how smart she is, she can't flush up the carnation bloom that is produced by the expansion of the tiny capillaries close to the surface of the skin. In youth, when circulation is brisk and life offers healthy activities out of doors, lovely coloring is usually present. But it disappears all too soon these days. Young girls play tennis, swim, skate, go in for outdoor sports at a great rate. They should have beautiful complexions, yet not all are so blessed. It must be the hectic life we lead.

It is an old bromide that health is the foundation upon which the temple of beauty is built, but one that is worth a thought now and then. Not all healthy individuals are beautiful, but to be truly lovely one must have vitality that incites animation and brings coloring to the cheeks that no rouge pad can duplicate.

To maintain tip-top form, there are a number of health rules that a young woman must keep in mind. First is the matter of nutrition. You can't keep your motors going without fuel. If a girl has no appetite, no interest in food, there is something definitely wrong with her. Every meal of the day should be a pleasure to which one looks forward.

You should not be too finicky about your diet. You need protein, fats, carbohydrates; you will not get them in proper proportions unless you have a variety of foods—cereals, eggs, meat, poultry, sea food, vegetables, fruits, milk. If the fussy eater is pale, if her hair goes thin and her elbows are sharp, either it is her own fault or she is suffering from understandard health.

There is the matter of sleep. Cut down on sleeping hours and nature cannot do her repair work, rebuild cells. Most of us are going at a terrific clip these days—even when we think we are having fun and seeking pleasures. Tension is a common trouble. You see it in the faces of your friends. The cure for it is relaxation, a respite from dashing around in the hope of finding amusement.

Everyone should have a certain amount of exercise, preferably out of doors. The majority of women can't bear exercise, yet it is the only way to keep the body young. One can at least find time for a short walk every day.

To keep the complexion fine and clear, the entire body surface should be bathed every day so the skin will function normally as an organ of elimination. A warm scrubbing with a brush of heavy bristles hustles up circulation, calms a jittery nervous system, relaxes tense muscles.

Fashion Flashes

EASY TO WEAR and easy to look at is a charming dress of quilted taffeta done in a neat but bright floral print on a dark ground. The dress has a scoop neckline, and brief sleeves and flares from a tiny waistline. One of the season's first big successes!

IT'S EASY enough to get the feel of Spring by investing in one of those tiny light-hued all-flower hats. Done mainly in shell shapes of tiny profile caps, some of these pretty little creations have rhinestone dewdrops glistening on the flowers while others use tiny rhinestone petals on brief veils.

LOOKING OUT for a good all around Spring coat, one that is as good at home as it is for travel purposes? Then consider the claims of cashmere coats dyed in luscious pastels, such as honey gold, dawn pink, azure blue or sea green, not forgetting coral. Simply styled with generous lines, huge turn-back cuffs and silk self-stitching, such coats have everything, according to the buyers. And we agree!

ADROIT handling of material gives interest to slim skirts, and offers lively competition for the full-cut jobs. Brown taffeta is the fabric used for an evening dress, the strapless bodice marked by curved tucking. The short skirt is slim, but has panel fullness at one side, balanced at the opposite side by a pocket massed with velvet and taffeta orchids.

LIKES THE YOUNGSTERS!

Big "Red" Hamill, coach of the Galt Black Hawks junior "A" squad nodded his head approvingly a few days ago when he was asked his opinion of the junior "B" Hawks.

The husky auburn-top came down from Galt to watch the Hawks play that fourth game against Maxie Jackson's plucky Vics in Kingston. He remained in the city overnight with Bob Wilson, chief eastern scout for the Chicago Black Hawks.

In a "bull" session in their hotel room the following afternoon, "Red" said simply without any superfluity of adjectives "You've got a good little team there".

Asked what he thought were the Hawks' chances against the Barrie squad whom they are pitted against in the first round of the OHA junior "B" playdowns, "Red" was optimistic over the Hawks chances.

"While I haven't seen the Barrie 'B's' play", he said, "I've seen their junior "A" squad in action several times. And with all due respect to Hap Emms' crew, I believe it had several junior "B" players on its roster. So it is quite reasonable to believe that the Barrie junior "B" squad will not be any stronger than your Hawks.

"In fact", "Red" added, "I believe I would take your team to win the series against Barrie."

But the big Galt mentor was not so optimistic when the Big Six winner was mentioned. "You must understand," Red said, "that these squads are working (at hockey) all the time. When they are not playing they are practicing. Their coaches believe that work and plenty of it is the best conditioner for any hockey club, providing it is not overdone as was the case in Lindsay."

—Power along the line and frequent use of the attacking platoons were one of the secrets of the Big Six smart play, Hamill said. They have three lines that tear up the ice at top speed for 90 seconds then on goes another trio. Then another. That, he believes would give either of the Big Sixers an advantage over other teams.

With a little more manpower of the ilk of Lalande, DeGray, Jacklin, Doran and Therrien, Hamil believed the junior Hawks would go a long way down the playdown trail. But on the whole he was satisfied but plenty with what he saw wearing Hawks uniforms.

Of course "Red" had other fish to fry on his visit here. And don't be surprised to see two or more of the current crop of junior "B" Hawks wearing a Galt junior "A" livery next season.

POLICE-FIREMEN JOUST TONIGHT

Tonight will see the thrill of a lifetime for little Sharon Rushlow "Sweetheart of the Shrine Club" who will face the puck at the Police-Firemen hockey match at Memorial Arena. Accompanied by her Shriner "daddy" Noble Charles Cawker, the little crippled girl will be carried to centre ice and drop the puck between a husky police puckchaser and his counterpart of the Fire Department.

It looks like a "big time in the ole town tonight". They tell us Memorial Arena will see an overflow crowd so better get that ticket and get down there early. Both hockey squads, the bantams championship finalists, Jack Dickens Quinte Skating Club stars and the RCAF Drum and Trumpet Band are all set and ready to go.

But even if you can't put in an appearance it isn't too late to buy one of the 25c tickets. Every cent of the proceeds of tonight's goings-on will go to the Shrine Club's crippled children fund. Not one cent goes to the police or firemen, the arena officials, artists, players or Shrine Club officials. It's clear velvet for the Fund. How about it?

NICE GESTURE!

Dick Irvin, dynamic coach of the Montreal Canadiens in memorial tribute to an old friend has donated an autographed hockey stick to a current hockey series between sea cadet corps of Kingston and Belleville. Coach Irvin, an intimate friend of the late Bill (Deacon Bros.) Moore sent the stick autographed by all members of the Habs, to Miss Ada Moore, daughter of the late Bill.

The stick will be presented to the winners of the Kingston-Belleville sea cadet series which at present stands at one victory for Kingston. The second of the best-of-three series, we are informed will be played in Memorial Arena Saturday morning at 10.30.

NHL Second Spot May Hinge On Leafs-Habs Game on Wed; Bruins Almost Cinch for 4th

Montreal, March 18—(CP)—Main interest in the National Hockey League these days centres on the battle for second place between Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs.

At present, Canadiens have a slim, one-point edge over the Leafs. The two teams meet in Toronto tomorrow night and this game could well decide matters.

Each has three games left to play. Canadiens have a home-and-home series with the leading Detroit Red Wings this coming weekend and the Leafs entertain Chicago Black Hawks at home Saturday and round out the schedule Sunday at Boston.

Here's how the race stands:

Detroit is home free in first spot with 95 points from 42 victories, 14 losses and 11 ties in the 67 games they have played.

Canadiens have 75 points, one more than Leafs. Canadiens have won 33, lost 25 and tied 9 while Leafs have been victorious 29 times, have lost 22 and have tied 16.

Boston Bruins appear to have the last playoff spot tied up as they have 62 points, five more than the Rangers. Chicago brings up in the cellar with 39 points.

And Howe

In the individual-honors department, Detroit's Gordie Howe has 78 points, from a pace-setting 42 goals and 36 assists.

Howe, by winning the league scoring championship two years in a row, becomes the fourth player in history to perform this feat. Others were Max Bentley, Chicago, 1945-46 and 1946-47; Sweeney Schriner, New York Americans, 1935-36 and 1936-37; and Charlie Conacher, Toronto, 1933-34 and 1934-35.

Tied for second place, with 61 points apiece, are Ted Lindsay of Detroit and Elmer Lach of Montreal. Lindsay has 25 goals and 36 assists and Lach 13 goals and a record 48 assists.

Tied for fourth place with 56 points are Sid Smith of Toronto and Don Raleigh of New York.

Terry Sawchuk of the Wings is far ahead in the matter of shutouts, having chalked up an even dozen so far, compared with six for his nearest competitor, Jim Henry of Boston.

Sawchuk's goals-against average is 1:85, compared with 2:19 for second-place Al Rollins of the Leafs.

Rangers are the least penalized club with 524 minutes and Toronto the most penalized with 818 minutes. Individual bad man is Gus Kyle of Boston who has spent 125 minutes in the penalty box.

One-Man Team!

Lockport, N.Y., (AP)—Jack Murrell, a forward on the Lockport Motors team in the YMCA League here, scored 91 points in a basketball game Sunday night.

Murrell beat the American Legion team 91-49.

Sport in Brief

(By The Canadian Press)

The boxing world was full of activity last night. In Boston, featherweight champion Sandy Saddler of New York was knocked off his feet for the first time in his 143 fights, but he came back to floor Irish Tommy Collins of Boston four times before winning a technical knockout verdict in the fifth round of a St. Patrick's night donnybrook.

In Philadelphia, young Harold Johnson, Philadelphia light heavyweight counted out of boxing two years ago because of a serious back injury, scored a startling upset by winning a split decision over Clarence Henry, third-rated heavyweight contender.

Veteran fighter Laurent Dauthuille, a leading French middleweight, hammered out a 10-round decision over Norman Hayes of Boston in a bloody fight in Paris.

In West Hartlepool, England, Teddy Gardner, a tavern owner and European flyweight champion, won the British and Empire 112-pound titles by outpointing Terry Allen, former world flyweight king, in a 15-round bout. Gardner weighed 110 3-4 pounds to Allen's 111 1-2.

And in New York, Chico Vejar, 20-year-old welterweight from Stamford, Conn., yesterday was named February winner of the Hibock pro-athlete-of-the-year competition over basketballer Paul Arizin of Philadelphia Warriors and golfer Jack Burke, Jr., current leader of the winter golf caravan.

Edmonton Mercurys, Canada's world and Olympic hockey champions, last night whipped the United States Olympic hockey team 6-1 in a ragged game in London. The one-sided match was the first in the three club series for the Churchill Cup. Period scores were 3-0, 2-0, 1-1.

In Whitehorse, Y.T., hockey interest is at a fever pitch, but not over the stretch drive in the National Hockey League. The fight for the Johnson Trophy—"Stanley Cup of the Yukon"—holds the spotlight there. RCAF and army teams stationed there start a best-of-seven series for the trophy this week on an ice sheet laid annually in an air force hangar.

Eight Alberta centres have formed the Alberta Harness Racing Association, headed by secretary-manager Charles E. Parry of Lethbridge and district exhibition and rodeo, and will operate a circuit this year.

Even umpires take spring training. Warren Giles, president of the National League, returned to Cincinnati from Florida yesterday and among glowing reports on rookie players and attendance at exhibition baseball games interjected: "Our three new umpires, Tommy Gorman, Augie Guglielmo and Frank Secory, looked good in the games I saw them work."

Phillies Eddie Sawyer Tough Boss But Simon Legree Methods Pay Off

Clearwater, Fla., March 18 (AP)—Manager Eddie Sawyer of the Philadelphia Phillies is making Simon Legree look like a sissy, but it's bringing results.

Take the case of rookie pitcher Steve Ridzik, the most promising recruit in camp. He was 15 minutes late for bed one night. When young Steve arrived at the ball park the next day, a summons to appear before the skipper awaited him.

"You came in at 12.15 last night, didn't you?" Sawyer asked the pitcher.

"I was only a few minutes late, skipper," the kid explained.

"When I say 12 o'clock, I don't mean 12:01," Sawyer snapped. "Now pitch batting practice until I tell you to stop."

It Worked

Ridzik walked out to the mound and cut loose with a vicious fast ball. He had good hitters moving away from the plate. Sawyer watched with amusement.

"He wasn't angry at the batters" Eddie said. "He was angry at me, but he showed me the kind of pitching the scouts and the minor league managers said he was capable of."

Sawyer is determined that his 1952 spring training austerity program will be carried through to the limit. He feels that no wives, no automobiles, no dog races and all baseball will make the dull 1951 fifth place Phillies pennant winners or at least a first division entry in 1952.

St. Mike's Trim Teepees 3-1; Stratford Wins

(By The Canadian Press)

Toronto St. Michael's College Majors waited until last night to celebrate St. Patrick's day, but when they did, sure and it was enough to warm the cockles of your heart.

Despite the fact that they wore their customary double-blue uniforms and none of the traditional paddy green, the Irish gave St. Catharines fans a March 17 display befitting any of the sons of Erin. They dumped the Teepees 3-1 and deadlocked their best-of-five Ontario Hockey Association Junior A semi-finals at one game each.

The third game of this series is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens.

In the O.H.A. Senior A finals, Stratford Indians forged into a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven series with Owen Sound by trouncing the Mercurys 8-4 in Stratford. The fourth game is slated for Owen Sound Wednesday night.

The Northern Ontario Senior A finals got under way at Sault Ste. Marie last night with the Greyhounds edging Noranda Copper Kings 3-2 to take a one-game lead in the best-of-seven affair.

The second game is scheduled tonight in Sault Ste. Marie and then both teams move to Noranda for their next three games. The series winners will come south as Senior A representatives of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association in the Allan Cup hunt.

Tonight's other game will see Guelph Biltmores and Toronto Marlboros resume their best-of-seven O.H.A. Junior A semi-finals at Maple Leaf Gardens. The series is tied at two games each.

'Substantial Offer' To Yank Star Made by Riders

Chicago, March 18 (CP)—A substantial offer has been made to Johnny Karras, star Illinois halfback last season, to sign with Saskatchewan Rough Riders of the Western Canada Interprovincial Football Union.

Dr. Beattie Martin, vice-president of the Roughriders, made the disclosure here last night. He's in Chicago with Bert Neil, chairman of the team's booster club.

Martin indicated that the offer to Karras does not approach the $12,000 contract signed by Johnny Bright, Drake halfback, with Calgary Stampeders.

Martin said he is not too hopeful Karras will sign. Johnny, who has relatives in Regina, was drafted by the Chicago Cardinals and Walter Wolfner, Cards' managing director, said he had made a "very attractive" offer to the Illinois flash.

"The kids in the States are beginning to want too much," Martin said. "We don't want to start bidding against the National Football League teams. But why shouldn't we sign American boys? This country takes most of our star hockey players."

Martin and Neil plan to leave tomorrow for Waco, Tex., to talk with Jack Russell, an end, and Martin Ruby, a tackle. The pair left the New York Yanks for Canada last season and Martin said they have signed their 1952 contracts with the Regina club.

It has been reported that the Dallas Texans, new National League club, were hopeful of signing Russell and Ruby this season.

Buller, Kraftchek Lost to Rangers, And Last Hope for Playoffs Fades

By AL COLLETTI
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York, March 18—(CP)—The New York Rangers, who have only a straw-in-the-wind chance of making the Stanley Cup playoffs, have lost the services of defenceman Hy Buller and Steve Kraftcheck for their remaining three games.

Both were injured Sunday night in the Rangers' 4-2 loss at home to Toronto. Buller, one of the leading candidates for rookie-of-the-year honors, fractured a small bone in his left foot. Kraftcheck strained a ligament in his left ankle.

Buller's injury is a crippling blow to the Ragers who must win all three games to gain the fourth and final N. H. L. playoff berth, provided the red-hot Boston Bruins lose their three remaining games.

Almost a Cinch

The Bruins are solidly entrenched in fourth place, five points ahead of New York. They play Chicago's Black Hawks at home tonight and the Rangers here Wednesday night and wind up their schedule also at home against Toronto Sunday night.

Under the steady drive of coach Lynn Patrick, the Bruins have won four and tied one of their last five games, doing it the hard way. Their victims included first-place Detroit once and second-place Montreal twice.

Patrick, who coached the Rangers within one goal of the Stanley Cup against Detroit in 1949-50, has done wonders with the Bruins for the second season in a row. In 1950-51, when he took over the Boston helm, he beat out the Rangers for a playoff spot. And his Bruins need only one more win to make it two in a row.

As for the Rangers, they have collapsed in the stretch for the third straight year. Their pair of defeats to Toronto during the weekend made it seven losses in their last 10 games. Besides their game with Boston, the Rangers play the Red Wings in Detroit Thursday night and finish out their schedule against Chicago here Sunday night.

The loss of Buller and Kraftcheck leaves New York with four defencemen. Allan Stanley and Frank Eddolls are the only two who can be considered top calibre. The others are rookies Jim Ross and Jack Evans.

Buller was one of the few bright spots in the Ranger defence, second weakest in the league. He played in every game this season and scored 12 goals and had 23 assists for 35 points.

Only three Ranger forwards have outscored Buller, whose 35 points led the club record for a defenceman, set by Ott Heller in 1943-44.

Kraftcheck, 23-year-old native of Tintern, Ont., has been used more or less as a utility defenceman.

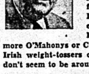
THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN



by Elmer Ferguson

Times change. Once the Irish ruled the prize-ring, but you don't see many Irish fighters, any more — no Ryans, no John L. Sullivans, no Terrible Terry McGoverns, no James J. Corbetts, no O'Briens, no Bould Michael McTigues. There are no more O'Mahonys or Caseys at the wrestling peak, and the great Irish weight-tossers of other days, the Flanagans and Ryans, don't seem to be around.

But the Irish are by no means out of top-flight sport. It may not have occurred to you, but the Irish come pretty close to holding top hand on the turf in this country. Ireland is a great horse-racing country. The Emerald Isle specializes in jumping horses and has sent many a winner to the most testing of all races, the Grand National steeplechase.

But right now, Irish-bred horses have played and are playing a big part in American racing. First there was the Irish-bred Noor that on four successive occasions, defeated America's greatest modern race-horse, the mighty Citation in race thrillers seldom equalled anywhere and in which world records were smashed or tied, while the pride of Kentucky was being humiliated. Now comes another of the Irish, Windy City II, to breeze by Calumet Farm's best three-year-olds as though they were tied.

This Irish-bred European juvenile champion of last year not only has won two stakes for three-year-olds this year, in America, beating Hill Gail and A Gleam — rated Calumet's best derby hopes at this time—but came from behind to win going away like a real standout.

His victory in the San Felipe handicap at Santa Anita at one mile and one-sixteenth — indicating his liking for distance, since he was increasing his lead as he passed under the wire — just about convinced turf experts that Gus Luellwitz's $165,000 purchase is a prize package. Windy may go to the post in the Kentucky Derby a hot favorite to win that big race.

In Europe, where Windy City was raced as a juvenile, his amazing speed won him the title of the champion two-year-old of England and Europe. His only defeat was an upset, something the same as once happened to Man O'War. Abroad, the only question about Windy was his ability to go the Derby route. So Ireland is by no means in sports eclipse. The Ould Sod carries on, as it has always done, in some division of sport.

"The Day" has been both good and bad for the sons of the Ould Sod. Most important fight in ring annals, staged on March 17th., took place in Carson City, Nevada, on March 17th., 1897. James J. Corbett, an Irish-American who had defeated the mighty John L. Sullivan to win the title, was matched with the Cornishman, lanky Bob Fitzsimmons. Corbett was the favorite, but was knocked out in the 14th. round with a blow that still lives in ring legend as the solar plexus punch.

But on March 17th., 1923 — and in Dublin City no less — Michael Francis McTigue of County Clare out-fought the Sengalese, Battling Siki in 20 torrid rounds and became the light-heavyweight champion of the world. You couldn't ask for a greater combination of Irish ring success than that, could you now?

Bancroft and District Concludes Highly Successful Hockey Season

Bancroft (Special) —All hockey leagues operating in North Hastings Community Centre completed their schedules when the final gong sounded in the public school league on Saturday morning. Fourteen teams and a hundred and eighty players made the local arena their home ice. During the season there were not any major accidents and only a couple of minors.

The following shows how everything ended:

Bancroft Pontiacs were at the top of the Hastings-Addington League at the conclusion of the regular schedule but lost to Madoc in the semi-finals. Tamworth and Madoc went on to play for the Tweed News Cup, the trophy that Sam Currie donated for the league champions. Bernie Shapiro and Don Tanner looked after the local entry.

The Mercurys, with Harold Watson as manager-coach, won the McGhee Trophy, for the championship of North Hastings, in a challenge game with Maynooth.

The Timbermen, run by Jack Stuckey, Whitney Martin and Geo. McKelvey, were knocked out by Madoc in an OMHA juvenile playdown.

Bancroft Midgets, handled by Jack Hattin and Milton McGhee, lost to Stirling in a two game goals to count OMHA playdowns.

The Rovers and the Trappers, the two local teams in the North Hastings Bantam Hockey League, went down in the semi-finals. Harold Watson, Lawrence Leedy, Jack Mahaffy and John Bleecker were in charge of these teams. The Wiggins Garage trophy for the league champs [illegible] Aces, with Bill Houle as coach and Clarence McCormack as manager.

Cyril Cutler's team, the Huskies won the championship of the Bancroft-Faraday School League in a two out of three series with Bob Delyea's team. Four teams played in this series, commonly called the Saturday morning league. The Jack Hood Shield goes to the winners for a year. J. W. C. Hutton and Harold Watson looked after this league.

Two Pee-Wee teams played a number of practice games and exhibitions with Coe Hill and Apsley. Watson and Hutton also handled these two.

North Hastings High School and Bancroft Public School had girls' teams that played a few exhibition games. Glenna Babcook was in charge of the public school team and Wayne Coe the high school team.

At present there is just one more question to settle and that is who will hold the Lions Trophy for the midget championship of North Hastings. As there was not a regular league this season the issue will have to be decided between Bancroft Midgets and Coe-Hill-Apsley Combines in one or more challenge games.

Last year Norman Brough of the Pontiacs won a trophy for the most valuable senior hockey player. Whether or not there will be a similar award this year is something in the rumor factory but who would or should get it is current gossip for the hot stove league.

Probably the busiest man, connected in any way with the 14 teams, was Harold Watson, the manager coach of the Mercurys, coach of the Rovers, manager-coach of the Pee-Wees, co-handler of the four elementary school teams and trainer of the Pontiacs.

In his spare time Harold, an employee of the Dept. of Lands and Forests, is a referee or linesman in all classes of hockey from senior to pee-wee. During the general skating periods he is often seen circling around the rink with some youngster who is learning to skate.

Unknown Hands Willie Hoppe First Defeat

San Francisco, March 18 (AP)—An unknown San Franciscan last night handed perennial champion Willie Hoppe his first defeat in three years in a world three-cushion billiard tournament.

Ray Kilgore, 40, a 10-point or 5-to-1 underdog defeated the 64-year-old Grey Eagle 50-47 in a tense 53 innings. He had to overcome both his own nervous pressure, which built up heavily toward the finish, and an extremely tight Hoppe defence.

The combination was so terrific that Kilgore scored only two points in a 12-inning stretch.

The loss dropped Hoppe into a 5-1 tie for first place with Kinrey Matsuyama of Tokyo. It was the Drexel Hill, Pa., cue star's first defeat in world tourney play since Joe Chamaco, 1939 king and three time runer-up dumped him in 1949.

McFater, Shade Waltz to Draw

Toronto, March 18—(CP)—Allan McFater, young Toronto lightweight, and Dave Shade of Detroit waltzed to a 10-round draw in the main bout of boxing card before about 2,500 bored fans here last night. McFater, at 142, had a 7¾-pound edge over the American.

McFater missed repeatedly with round-house rights and lefts and Shade hadn't enough zing in his punches to shake the 21-year-old Torontonian.

The crowd booed throughout.

The semi-final was the best on the five-fight card. Gordon Wallace of Brantford pounding out on eight-round decision over Fifield, Toronto. Wallace weighed 166½, Fifield 168.

The Toronto fighter was ahead on points for the first five rounds but Wallace who represented Canada in the 1948 summer Olympic games at London, connected with swinging lefts and rights in the sixth and seventh and gained the nod with a furious eight-round barrage.

L'il Arthur King Meets Pruden Mar. 24

Toronto, March 18 (CP)—Fitzie Pruden of St. Catharines, who has been doing most of his fighting in the United States, will meet Toronto's L'il Arthur King in a 10-round bout here March 24.

King, former British Empire lightweight champion who now is fighting out of Philadelphia, defeated Pruden in an action-packed bout here two months ago.

Remember When

(By The Canadian Press)

Nels Stewart scored his 300th goal in National Hockey League competition 14 years ago tonight, playing for New York Americans against New York Rangers. Stewart, star of Montreal Maroons and Boston Bruins before going to Americans, went on to compile a total of 323 goals which is still the NHL record.

HIGH HOPES

Port Elgin, N.B. (CP)— When the snowdrifts disappear in a few weeks Leslie Turner, eighth grade student, hopes to find the source of the gold nuggets that one of his ducks picked up recently. The nuggets were found while dressing the duck for the table, and Leslie figures there may be more where they came from.

LONG CONNECTION

Kaslo, B.C. (CP)—A 10,650 foot power span across Kootenay Lake, believed the longest of its type in the world, will soon be finished. Power lines carrying 170,000 volts from a hydro-electric plant at South Slocan to the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company operations at Kimberley will run from a 366-foot tower on the east side of the lake.

Records Broken In Mixed Commercial Loop

Records went by the boards in the mixed commercial bowling league last night.

Short Circuits rolled an impressive aggregate of 3742 to top the season's previous mark while Vince Sagriff of the same team took over the high triple record with a 940 (335, 289, 316).

Short Circuits game scores were 1222, 1222, 1298.

Last night's results were: Short Circuits (7) 3742, Bombers (0) 2950; Symons (7) 3315, Sun Rays (0) 2766; KVA's (7) 3259, Power Pins (0) 2446; Marketeers (7) 2753, Hy Rollers (0) 2517; Smasheroos (5) 2977; Jets (2) 2917; Live Wires (5) 2935, Egg Heads (2) 2419; High Liners (4) 2720, Whiz Bangs (3) 2763.

Sugar Ray Meets Rocky Graziano On April 16

Chicago, March 18 (CP)—The Illinois Athletic Commission yesterday approved a middleweight title bout between champion Ray Robinson and Rocky Graziano in Chicago April 16.

The commission sanctioned the match after a public hearing was called to air Graziano's alleged tie-up with an "undercover" manager Eddie Coco, who is appealing a murder conviction in Florida.

Graziano testified that he had an agreement with Coco ever since he started boxing professionally in 1943 and paid him 11 per cent of his purses until they broke off by mutual agreement last January.

Coco, convicted of murder in the gun slaying of a parking lot attendant early last year, is free on bond awaiting appeal.

The commission also approved a two-year contract between Graziano and his manager, Irving Cohen.

Pembroke Kings In Playdowns

Pembroke, March 18 (CP)—Citizens of this town of 11,159 population give Lumber Kings a civic send-off today when they leave for New Glasgow, N.S., on the trail of the Allan Cup.

Players making the trip include forwards Roy, Bruce and Fred Giesebrecht, three of five brothers all active in hockey, Ken Campbell, Jack Carthy, Jim Maxwell, Lionel Barber, Hub Anslow, Johnny Inglis, Joe Fitzpatrick and Johnny Choyce.

The defence lines also include a brother combination, playing-coach Cully Simon and his brother Thain, and Bob Bingley and Hal Meyer. Netminder Fred Murphy and sub-goalie Jacques Chartrand also will make the trip.

The entire club was honored at a luncheon yesterday and each member presented with out-size green bow ties in honor of St. Patrick's day.

Last night the town council turned down by a 7-4 vote a proposal to grant $1,000 toward the club's expenses.

Matinee Hockey Pays Off For Black Hawks

Chicago, March 18 (CP)—Sunday matinee hockey has given Chicago Black Hawks a lift at the box office this season.

Owner Bill Tobin said last night that 297,316 fans—an average of 8,494 a game—turned out in Chicago stadium for 35 home contests despite the team's miserable showing.

The figure includes the six experimental Sunday afternoon games which drew an average of 11,000.

Tobin left last night for western Canada to confer with scouts Tiny Thompson and Baldy Northcott. He said at least five potential rookie stars have been combed from amateur leagues in the search for talent.

Trudeau Motors Even Series With Westons

Displaying a neat brand of hockey, Trudeau Motors defeated Weston's Bread by an 8-3 score to even their finals series in the Owl Hockey League at one game each. The third and deciding game will be played next week.

Trudeaus took an early lead scoring three goals in the first ten minutes. The breadmen got one back but the garage boys roared back to make the count 7-1. Westons outscored the winners 2-1 from then on with the game ending at 8-3.

Jackson, top sniper for Weston's again paced the pack scoring all three goals. Milligan led the Trudeau offensive with three counters. Dewsbury and Cameron got 2 eacch with Bovay getting the other.

Referee Don Dolan and linesman Vern Cannon handed out a single penalty, that going to Westons.

BUILDING OR REMODELLING?
"THIS SIDING MAKES YOUR HOME BEAUTIFUL AND FIRE-SAFE"

Cedargrain Siding Shingles are another of the famous Johns-Manville asbestos-cement products. They can't burn, won't rot and never require painting to preserve them. (A big saving in upkeep, itself!) With the lovely new colours recently introduced, J-M research developed a smooth-surfaced shingle that retains the smart effect of deep graining. On old buildings or new, J-M Cedargrains combine attractive appearance with permanent sidewall protection.

For free literature on Cedargrains see your J-M dealer or write Canadian Johns-Manville, Dept. 31, 199 Bay St., Toronto.

Asbestos Achievements

TRANSITE
ASBESTOS-CEMENT PIPE

Transite is the efficient, practical pipe for all pressure lines, sewage disposal and drainage purposes. Non-metallic, it can't rust, won't rot or corrode. Factory-precisioned couplings assure permanently tight joints. This feature in Transite House Connection Pipe, for example, keeps out sewer-clogging roots.

J-M PACKINGS AND GASKETS

Through its research in asbestos, J-M has developed an almost endless variety of highly efficient industrial packings and gaskets. Asbestos has the natural toughness and ability to resist heat which makes it ideal in every way for this purpose.

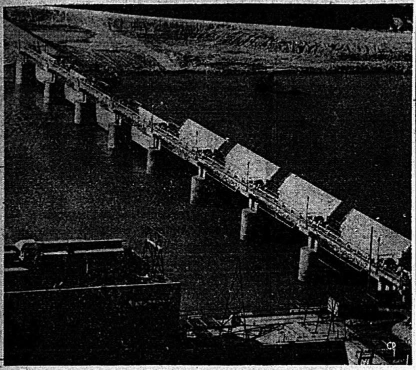
Brazilian Traction Dam



The recently-completed Santa Cecilia dam backs up the waters of the Paraiba River in Brazil. From here the water travels 15 miles and is raised up 150 feet to fill reservoirs which supply water to plants which generate electric power for Rio de Janeiro. The project to date has cost $51,000,000, and, including a new plant, will ultimately cost $91,000,000. It is the property of Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Co., Ltd., a Canadian Company which supplies 65 per cent of Brazil's electric power. —(CP Photo.)

Brazilian Traction Performs Gigantic Feat of Supplying Southern Brazil With Power

By FORBES RHUDE
(Canadian Press Business Editor)

The job of supplying electric power to southern Brazil is one of gigantic engineering feats, including the turning of rivers from their courses.

Without such undertakings, Brazil's two great cities, Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo, would have stopped in their tracks, instead of accomplishing their vast growth of recent years.

A party of visiting Canadians recently saw the inauguration of the latest of these schemes.

This one involved the damming of the Paraiba (pronounced Parry-ee-ba) River, and pumping of its water over a height of land so that, along with the water of a tributary, the Pirai (pronounced Peer-ah-ee), it goes into the power system which supplies Rio de Janeiro.

For the present, the new water supply should save Rio from the periodic power rationing which has resulted from a water shortage. Ultimately it will also supply a new plant which will add 440,000 horsepower to present capacity.

Expensive Project

Cost of the project to date is the equivalent of $51,000,000, and ultimate cost will be $91,000,000.

All this is the work of a Canadian Company, Brazilian Traction Light and Power Co., Ltd., with the close-coperation of the Brazilian government, and state and municipal authorities.

Dr. Joao Cleophas de Oliveira, Brazil's minister of Agriculture, expressed it as follows at the opening of the Paraiba-Pirai diversion (as translated from Portuguese):

"This is the crowning of the loyal collaboration between foreign capital or private enterprise —which showed audacity of conception, capacity of realization and confidence in the country—and the government, which, by fully understanding its mission, did not fail, as it could have failed, to assist and stimulate those who undertook to work usefully towards national progress."

And Henry Borden, president of Brazilian Traction, also speaking in Portuguese, said:

"I am filled with pride that your country and mine have been able to co-operate in conceiving, constructing and completing this tremendous development."

Decrees Recalled

Mr. Borden recalled the decrees of the president of Brazil, Dr. Getullio Vargas, and the legislation of the Brazilian Congress, "without which this great development could not have been carried out." Among other things, these had enabled the international bank for reconstruction and development to join in the project's financing.

Then, to the accompaniment of the music of a Brazilian military band, and with the flags of Brazil and Canada raised together, Dr. Alvaro de Souza Lima, Brazil's minister of Transport and Public Works, touched the button which set the project in motion.

In brief, the purpose of the Paraiba-Pirai project is to bring a sufficient supply of water to the Fontes power station, 60 miles northwest of Rio, present major station in the Rio system, and to a new underground station which is being built nearby.

The water has been made available by placing an 860-foot dam, the Santa Cecilia, across the Paraiba River, 15 miles from Fontes.

To illustrate the problems of power supply which have faced Brazilian Traction:

When it started operations in Brazil some 50 years ago, Rio de Janeiro had a population of about 700,000, compared with its present 2,500,000; and Sao Paulo had a population of about 300,000, compared with its present 2,250,000.

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, March 18 — (AP)— Sultry Lizabeth Scott has returned from a European jaunt and blimey if she doesn't think British men are top-notch, romantically speaking.

The actress was subject to some international wooing while touring Europe. She was escorted by English, French, Italian and Swiss men, and she decided that the English are the most adept in the matters of the heart.

"Englishmen are so youthful in their manner," she enthused. "It's not true that Englishmen are sober and unemotional all the time They have delightful senses of humor.

"And they can become quite poetic, too."

I asked if she implied that American men don't get poetic.

"Not as readily," she admitted. "But American men are able to get poetic over a girl if they really get serious about her. I have letters to prove it."

Miss Scott was in London several weeks making a picture with Paul Henreid.

She also did some touring on the continent, but her romantic findings were not quite so satisfactory.

"The Frenchman is wonderful in his suavity and charm," she remarked, "and is very quick with the compliments. But sometimes you wonder if perhaps this isn't a veneer. It wasn't encouraging to see how the French treat their wives. The women are held in very low regard. The man is king.

"The Italian is also full of charm . . . but seems cynical and pessimistic.

"As for the Swiss, he is very impressive. He is strong and silent and can say more with a few words than most nationalities can with sentences."

UNLOADED UNDER GUARD

Leghorn, Italy, March 18 — (AP) — Under the protective guns of 500 policemen, a cargo of U.S. army jeeps was unloaded yesterday from an American army transport. Communist-led dockworkers protested loudly. The dockers were protesting because the ship was berthed at a Leghorn commercial dock and the cargo discharged by non-communist stevedores under contract to the U.S. army supply base here.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars,

FOR WEDNESDAY, MARCH 19, 1952.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) —Not too friendly or generous for certain lines of endeavor; caution urged in important changes in business or method. Be keenly careful in procedure.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—No unfavorable aspects, but as day advances more sensible caution is stressed to avoid unnecessary errors, changes that could be costly. Plan and work cleverly for tomorrow to be more productive.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Slightly unfriendly for quick gains, for uncertain solutions to problems. Day beneficial if you think carefully before you act, and consider quality before quantity.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Control emotions and other unruly tendencies. Day does not sanction pettiness nor purely selfish desires. Good work in whatever is your line will reward.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Neither too helpful nor restricting inclinations. Be the careful judge as to how hard and fast you must work and what to tackle first. Stop to think first, and be better organized to achieve.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Mercury —indicates restrictions especially if you create, write; for contracts, agreements, etc.; in all mental tasks. Will probably fare better if you go slowly without anxiety.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Good rays linger from yesterday's aspects yet things call for discretion, wise judgment. Better to gain a little surely, than strike out for the unreasonable.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Too forceful an attitude not advisable unless as in the armed forces and rightly directed. A calm understanding manner your best help.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Clever, patient management—whether in trade, profession or as mechanic, no matter what your occupation—will keep you on safe path, give you clearer viewpoint. Have faith.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Caution moderation stressed to prevent making needless errors, hasty promises or agreements, adding needlessly to responsibilities, debts, etc. Good day to study, recheck.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Uranus, Saturn aspects stress need for steadiness of action, proper consistency of effort throughout month. Tendency is to rush some periods; then lag, change plans. Don't; be smooth.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Neither too restricting nor yet wholly friendly influences. Much depends upon your schedule, demands of your obligations. Be guided by your good sense. you should have constructive day.

YOU BORN TODAY have characteristics from both Pisces and Aries, as your Sun was leaving the former and entering the latter Sign at time of your birth. Great promise in this particular sector; pay heed to your unusual talents and capability. The patience of Pisces however is sharpened by the quickness of Aries, and by same token the gentleness of Pisces softens the frankness of Aries. Artistic, intuitive, imaginative. Birthdate: Gen'l Jos. W. Stillwell, U.S.; Wm. Jennings Bryan, churchman orator.

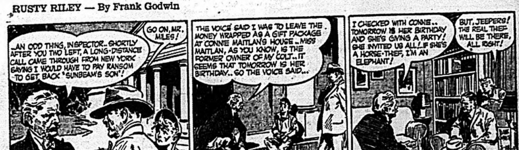
RUSTY RILEY — By Frank Godwin



...AN ODD THING, INSPECTOR.. SHORTLY AFTER YOU TWO LEFT, A LONG-DISTANCE CALL CAME THROUGH FROM NEW YORK SAYING I WOULD HAVE TO PAY RANSOM TO GET BACK 'SUNBEAM'S SON'!
GO ON, MR. MILES!
THE VOICE SAID I WAS TO LEAVE THE MONEY WRAPPED AS A GIFT PACKAGE AT CONNIE MAITLAN'S HOUSE .. MISS MAITLAN, AS YOU KNOW, IS THE FORMER OWNER OF MY COLT.. IT SEEMS THAT TOMORROW IS HER BIRTHDAY.. SO THE VOICE SAID...
I CHECKED WITH CONNIE.. TOMORROW IS HER BIRTHDAY AND SHE'S GIVING A PARTY! SHE INVITED US ALL!.. IF SHE'S A HORSE-THIEF, I'M AN ELEPHANT!
BUT, JEEPERS! THE REAL THIEF WILL BE THERE, ALL RIGHT!

WHY WE SAY

WHO SAID IT?
"Sour Grapes"
QUOTE OF THE WEEK

The fox said "sour grapes" in Aesop's fable, "The fox and the grapes." Mr. Fox made this remark when he found that the grapes he wanted were out of reach. The expression is used today to designated someone who is making up an excuse for not wanting something that he really desires.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma was looking at the movie page in the paper, saying to pop, Oh dear, I'd just love to see Marleen Foster in Weep No Less, but I know it's a lost cause before I even mention it, because you cant stand Marleen Foster's acting, and her sad pictures always depress you.

Well, I dont know, I beleeve in being broad minded, even about Marleen Foster, pop said. Maybe she's had an operation on her face. Maybe they've cut the nerves so she's able to express other emotions besides boredom he said, and ma said, She won a special award for being so wonderful as the lame gerl in The Heaviest Burden. Maybe you really would get to like her, William, if you overcame your predjudice, she said.

I dont want to be unfair to her, pop said. Perhaps this picture isn't quite so depressing. Perhaps she only loses her child, instead of her child and her husband and her good name. By gollies I'll take a chance. Call up and find out what time it comes on, he said, and ma said, I didn't meen tonite for land sakes. This is the evening you promised up and down and black and blue that you would paint the bathroom and save a painter's bill, she said.

Oh, really? I beleeve you're rite, pop said, and ma said, As if you did not remember.

My dear, you have no idea how lucky I feel at the prospect of not having to suffer through a Marleen Foster picture, pop said. Dont be serprised if you hear me whissling at my werk, he said.

I'll be serprised if I see you werking, ma said.

Which she didn't.

Nobody Loves Forever

By Margaretta Brucker

Lucy was different. She would come home from work and make a listless effort to eat her supper, help with the dishes as usual, and sit down with a book or her sewing. But her thoughts were not upon the book. She would drop the sewing in her lap and stare vacantly across the room at nothing in particular.

Her gray-blue eyes mirrored alarm when Jessica asked her one evening "what's wrong with you, Lucy?"

"Wrong?" She tried to speak briskly, picked up her sewing, a dress she was making for Betsy, and began to work with almost feverish activity. "What could be wrong," she demanded.

Mrs. Blake came in from the kitchen and sat down near them. She said "she's worn out waiting on Betsy. It isn't her place to take so much responsibility. When I had children—"

Lucy spoke mildly but firmly. "When you had children the situation was entirely different, Mother. You had a husband in the home who could help you."

Mrs. Blake paid no attention to her daughter but went on to eulogize Genevieve instead. How capable, such a good girl and so helpful. "I really don't know how I could have managed this past year without her," she observed; and, although she did not look up, Jessica felt her mother-in-law's hard eyes fastened accusingly upon her.

Finally, Mrs. Blake, receiving no response from Lucy, and no evidence that her baiting would bring a retort from Jessica, got up and returned to the kitchen.

Lucy dropped her sewing as the kitchen door closed behind her mother. "I wish Genevieve would not persist in coming here," she said. "She upsets Mother." She smiled faintly. "You have probably guessed that Genevieve wanted to marry Tom ever since they went to Sunday school together. Mrs. Miles and mother had no idea but that Tom and Genevieve would marry eventually."

"Maybe she still has hopes," remarked Jessica, tossing aside the paper. "Look—why does your mother hate me, Lucy?"

Lucy's work slid from her lap to the floor. She stooped and retrieved it, removed her thimble and stuck her needle into her thread before she answered. "Mother's bitter," she said slowly. "She's always been like that—hating someone. I think she despised my father. He liked to laugh, have fun. Mother taught us that pleasure was a sin. I grew up thinking of only one thing—what I must do or not do to go to heaven. Now I wonder—" Sheb roke off and her eyes shifted away from Jessica's as she went on hastily. "I shouldn't say that. I try to do what is right."

Jessica swung her chair about and caught Lucy's slender fingers. "You're too good Lu," she said impulsively. "You should have a life of your own, marry, have a husband."

The color flooded Lucy's delicate skin. "I'll never marry," she said bitterly. "I'll live here with mother until I'm pensioned. I'll be like those horrible old maids who become queer!" She covered her face with her hands.

She was crying. Lucy crying!

"You'll be nothing of the kind," Jessica assured her. "You're sweet and lovely, Lucy. All that stiffness is a sham. You're a little fraud, pretending you like to think of nothing but work. It would do you good to leave this town and go away from your mother. Really, I mean it. A change would do wonders for you. Buy some new clothes—remember you're young—find a boss who isn't a slave driver like Hugh Linton."

Lucy dabbed at her eyes, bit her lips. "I don't know why I went to pieces like that," she said apologetically. "Things haven't gone so smoothly at the office lately. I've been nervous and Hugh has been impatient with me—" She looked up startled. "I mean Mr. Linton. And I shouldn't criticize Mr. Linton he's been so generous to me always. . ." Her voice trailed off and again her face worked pitifully. "I'm ashamed of myself," she said angrily. "Please don't tell Mother, will you?"

"Of coursen ot," said Jessica. "But you work too hard. No man should expect his secretary to spend her evenings over a typewriter."

Shortly afterward Mrs. Blake returned, flashing a suspicious glance at Lucy. "Would you like to walk over to Genevieve's, Lucy," she asked, and see if she can help me tomorrow evening with my jelly? I've never seen a girl as capable as Genevieve."

She rambled on, but Jessica rose and said: "Want me to go with you, Lu?"

"Will you?"

When they were outside together walking down the street, Jessica took Lucy's arm. She said, "I want to tell you something. Something which may upset you, but I think you should know."

Lucy said "it's about David Gregory, isn't it?"

"He is in your office?"

"Yes. Of course, I seldom see him, for I'm in another office, but he has frequent conferences with Mr. Linton."

Lucy knew a David Jessica had never seen. Jessica thought of how little she knew of David except their meetings. She felt a stab of uneasiness. Once before she had been tricked by ardor and infatuation. Was she weak and starved for affection and consequently vulnerable when she had met David Gregory?

Jessica said slowly, "I'm going to marry David Gregory, Lucy."

Lucy did not answer immediately. When she did, her tone was troubled. "I can't believe you'll hurt Tom, Jessica."

"Someone must be hurt."

"Tom's the kindest man. He's gone through so much."

Jessica dropped Lucy's arm. "That's no argument," she said. "That's the argument everyone will use. In peacetime a woman and man who disagree and unhappy together feel that divorce is the only sensible method of solving their differences. Why should a uniform make a saint of any man or require his wife to lead an unhappy life because her husband was in danger? Tom will strip off that uniform and be the same man who went away."

"I don't think anyone will be the same when this war is over. I think it has changed and warped the views of everyone who has lived through it. I believe it has intensified emotions." She stopped suddenly, and Jessica guessed Lucy was embarrassed at her own words.

She laughed. "I never knew you to be so philosophical, Lucy. Maybe I misjudge you," she said teasingly. "Maybe you hide behind that placid face plenty of thoughts which would alarm your mother."

"Poor mother."

Jessica could not agree. Lucy was the person to pity. Lucy, who tonight showed the first indication of restlessness and rebellion against her lot. Maybe she was happier before I came, thought Jessica uneasily. Possibly I should leave her as she is and not tell her constantly that she should be different.

A day or two later, Lucy announced that she had a week's holiday and Mrs. Blake promptly filled every day with tasks which she had postponed for just such an opportunity. Lucy was up early, working doggedly outdoors and indoors dragging the last dead plants out of the garden patch under her mother's direction, scrubbing down the kitchen walls.

There was a peculiar obstinacy in her eyes as she worked. The outdoor work made her cheeks color brilliantly.

"You work like someone possessed," Jessica told her. "Not my idea of a holiday."

Lucy stripped off her work gloves. Her blond hair was a tangled mass about her thin cheeks. "I'm going to have a change," she said abruptly. "I'm going for an all-day hike on Saturday. Mother knows I won't be here to help then and she wants everything done before Tom returns."

"He may not return for weeks," said Jessica indifferently. "No reason to work yourself to death."

"Be good to Tom, won't you?" said Lucy unexpectedly.

"You know perfectly well what I plan to do," Jessica shot her a surprised glance.

Lucy pushed back her hair. She said "don't do anything until I come back? Promise?"

Jessica turned to regard her curiously. She put down the dish she was polishing. "What's on your mind exactly?" she asked. "Planning to take my advice and leave town suddenly?"

Her tone was teasing but Lucy's face clouded. "Don't say that."

"I believe you have some secret plan," said Jessica. "Look, I talk too much. I don't want to interfere in your life, Lucy."

But Lucy was gone and her mother stood staring hostilely at Jessica from the door into the dining room. "What were you saying to Lucy?" she demanded.

Jessica set down a glass, picked up another and polished it carefully. "Nothing."

Mrs. Blake advanced a step into the kitchen. "You don't fool me. You'd like to persuade Lucy to be a bad girl—yes, you would. I'm not blind."

Jessica carried the glasses across the kitchen and placed them on the shelf before she answered. Then she said quietly, "I feel sorry for Lucy."

"Why should you?"

"Because she never has any young life—or fun."

"I suppose you think that's all there is in life—fun!"

"I believe life is something more than dismal routine of duty and work, if you mean that. As for Lucy being a bad girl, no one could make her that. She's the best girl I've ever known — sweet and thoughtful. If it hadn't been for Lucy, I couldn't have stayed here" she ended, losing all control.

She whirled and faced the woman who stood staring at her with no softening in her pale eyes. "I'm not going to stay here much longer," announced Jessica. She whipped off her apron and hung it behind the kitchen door. "I'm going back to Kentucky to my father. I'm going back to where people are happy and don't interfere with the lives of others . . ."

"We'll see about that," said Mrs. Blake harshly. "We'll see what Tom has to say about dragging his child away from here and letting her grow up without a shred of discipline. If you want to go, I say good riddance to bad rubbish. You think you are better than Tom's family. Well, you aren't!"

SPECTACULAR FIRE CAUSES LOSS OF $350,000

Top-Level Govt. Officials Get New Posts in Reshuffle

P.M's Right-Hand Man Named Clerk Privy Council

Ottawa, March 19 — (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent's right-hand man has been named clerk of the Privy Council and secretary of the cabinet, one of the key jobs on Parliament Hill.

Appointment of J. W. Pickersgill, 46, a native of Winnipeg, to that $15,000-a-year post was announced today by the prime minister as part of a shuffle of top-level official figures.

Other changes:

1. A. D. P. Heeney, 50, undersecretary of state for external affairs, goes to the new full-time North Atlantic Council in Paris as ambassador and permanent representative.

2. L. Dana Wilgress, high commissioner in London, comes home to take Mr. Heeney's job.

3. Norman Robertson, 48, clerk of the Privy Council and cabinet secretary, goes back to London as high commissioner, a job he held from 1946 to 1949.

4. Pierre Dupuy, ambassador to the Netherlands, becomes ambassador to Italy.

Effective on Different Dates

The Heeney appointment is effective April 15, the Dupuy appointment, May 1, the others June 1.

It is expected that Mr. Pickersgill's job as special assistant to Mr. St. Laurent will end with him and that he will carry on in his new post a considerable portion of the work he has been doing.

He became special assistant in 1945 under the late Prime Minister Mackenzie King and stayed on when Mr. St. Laurent became prime minister in 1948.

It is likely that Pierre Asselin of Quebec City, Mr. St. Laurent's private secretary, will take up the old role of principal secretary and that the special assistant's post will lapse.

Mr. Pickersgill joined the Department of External Affairs in 1937 and went to the Prime Minister's office almost immediately. He formerly was on the staff of the University of Manitoba.

Important Post

The clerk of the Privy Council holds a post sometimes depicted as that of a deputy prime minister. Among other things he presides over a number of inter-departmental government committees and is a key co-ordinating figure in the affairs of state.

Mr. Heeney will be Canada's first ambassador to the new full-time N.A.T.O. Council, approved at Lisbon two months ago. His position will roughly parallel that of David Johnson, full-time representative at United Nations headquarters.

It makes him Canada's chief spokesman in pact matters abroad.

Mr. Robertson's return to diplomatic life is a big move for the department of External Affairs. The Prime Minister noted that Mr. Robertson gave up the London High Commissioner post in 1949 "at the express request" of Mr. St. Laurent himself and added:

"It was understood at the time that he would return to the (diplomatic) service in two or three years."

Mr. Robertson was External Affairs undersecretary from 1941 to 1946.

Mr. Wilgress, a senior trade official in government service for some years before he joined External Affairs, was ambassador to Moscow until 1949. He is an expert in N.A.T.O. matters.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, March 19 (CP) —Synopsis: Snow and rain which edged into Ontario Tuesday advanced eastward to cover the entire province overnight. This wet weather precedes a storm centre which has moved from Kansas to lower Michigan, and will proceed through central Ontario today. Slightly cooler weather will follow in its wake and the precipitation will cease.

Cloudy skies and near normal temperatures are expected for Thursday.

Eisenhower Wins Strong Backing In Minnesota

Minneapolis, March 19. (CP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower won strong backing in Tuesday's presidential primary in Minnesota—a state that was expected to give overwhelming support to its former Governor, Harold Stassen.

The vote count early today showed Eisenhower only 8,000 votes behind Stassen, an impressive performance for the General because his name was not even on the printed ballot and had to be written in by voters wanting to express a preference for him.

Forced off the ballot when his filing petition was found to be defective, Eisenhower had his name written in by 88,722 voters in 2,018 of the state's 3,769 precincts. Stassen, three times governor, polled 95,874 votes.

Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, who didn't bother to campaign what was considered a Stassen stronghold and whose name was not on the ballot, received 18,560 write-in votes.

On the Democratic ballot, Senator Hubert Humphrey, who has promised to turn his delegation over to President Truman if he decides to run again, polled 80,155 votes. Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee won 15,691 write-in votes; President Truman 2,858; Senator Richard Russell of Georgia 33 and Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, 18.

Quakes Shake Sicily and Korea

(By The Associated Press)

Earthquakes shook Sicily and central Korea today and a volcanic eruption pushed a mass of hot rock above the surface of the Pacific Ocean north of Manila. But in only one of the disturbances were there any casualties.

A powerful quake killed three and injured scores in the area around Mt. Etna in Sicily. Some walls were tumbled and widespread damage caused in the rich, intensively-cultivated area.

The Korean tremor was sharp in Seoul. It was felt at the United Nations Command's advance headquarters there, and rattled China. But no serious damage was reported.

A submarine volcano, sleeping for 90 years, pushed a mass of rock 250 feet above the Pacific's surface at a point 315 miles north of Manila in the Philippines. The sea bubbled and boiled about the base, and huge black boulders, some of them five storeys high, tumbled about. A 10,000-foot-high column of smoke and sulphurous steam towered above the scene.

Electrically-Operated Wrist Watch Keeps Almost Perfect Time

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

Chicago, March 19 (AP) —An electric wrist watch, hailed as keeping almost perfect time, was announced today.

It has a little electric motor, yet is no bigger than a conventional wind-up watch. It has a barely-audible tick, no mainspring, no winding mechanism.

A main secret is a battery smaller in diameter than a pencil which runs the motor for more than a year. Cost of a new battery probably will be less than 25 cents.

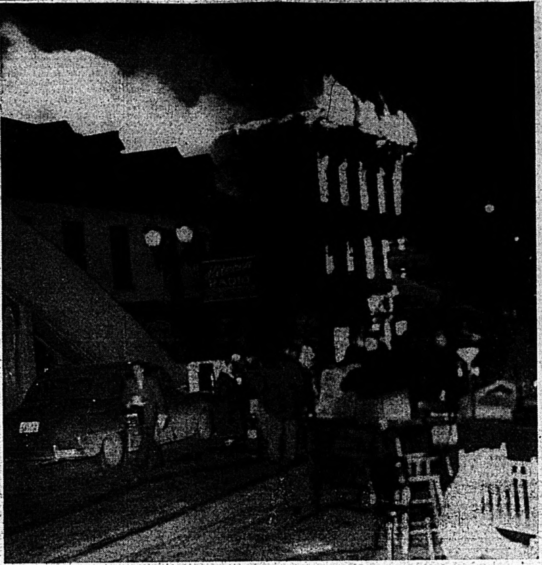
The battery delivers power at a constant rate. It takes only 1/100,000ths of a watt to run the watch.

The watch was demonstrated today at a press conference by Elgin National Watch Company. Only a laboratory model has been made, said president J. G. Shennan. Simultaneously in Paris, the Lip Watch Company of Besancon, France, announced an electric wrist watch. It differs in many mechanical and electrical respects, Shennan said.

It will cost more than ordinary watches for some years at least, Shennan said, but price was estimated.

The battery powers a single speed motor, replacing the usual mainspring and other parts.

Coils for the motor are only one-eighth of an inch in diameter, only 1/32nd of an inch long. They are wound with 3,000 turns of insulated copper, wire one-sixth as thick as human hair.



Two business blocks containing four stores and a taxi stand were completely destroyed and two others, including the Dominion Bank building, had top floors gutted in a spectacular early morning fire today which caused $350,000 damage in downtown Belleville. The picture shows the fire at its height as flames rolled high over doomed buildings. Furniture and other effects saved from the blaze are scattered in the foreground.

Seven Businesses Either Destroyed Or Badly Damaged

Four Blocks at Intersection Bridge and Front Affected

Damage estimated at close to $350,000 was caused last night and early today by a spectacular seven-hour fire, which either destroyed or damaged half a dozen buildings at the main intersection of the city.

Destroyed were two old three-storey buildings at the intersection of Front and Bridge Streets. The flames also ripped through the top stories of several other buildings and made six families homeless. Six or seven other families were forced to leave their homes because of dense smoke.

Seventy-five firemen from three brigades and led by Fire Chief Gerald Vance fought the fire, which broke out shortly after 11:30 last night and was only brought under control at six o'clock this morning.

None Seriously Injured

No one was seriously injured but Captain Joe Adams of the local fire brigade suffered a badly cut hand when struck by flying glass. Fire Chief Vance was overcome by smoke and over-exertion, while Ray Anderson was overcome by smoke, when he entered a store to save records.

Completely destroyed was the three-storey brick building on Bridge Street occupied by Checker Taxi, Weller's Flower Shop and Quinte Paint and Wallpaper.

On Front Street the building occupied by Stroud's china-ware store and Jack McNab's sports centre was also badly gutted with store stocks being almost a complete loss. Also suffering damage was Schryver's Drug Store, the Dominion Bank building directly on the corner which had the top storey gutted, and the Little Hardware building, also with the top floor damaged.

Six families living on the upper floors of the Bridge Street building occupied by Checker Taxi lost everything.

After the alarm was sounded members of the families were roused and hurried from the building.

Terry Donovan Gives Alarm

Terry Donovan, 26, Victoria Ave., was believed to have turned in the first alarm. He was taking his girl friend, Colleen Knott to her home over the Checker Taxi office, following a show.

As he said goodnight he noticed a fire out back and as he looked out he saw the flames leaping up the side of the building. He rushed back and gave the alarm and assisted in rousing other occupants of the building.

These included besides the Knott family, Mr. and Mrs. William Corrigan and their five-year-old daughter, Pansy; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dougherty and daughters, Lorraine, 5, and Barbara, 3; Mr. and Mrs. Ron Ormonde; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Soule and son, Russ, 7 years, and Mr. W. Simmon.

Three Others See Fire

Three other persons discovered the fire almost simultaneously with Mr. Donovan.

Formally Charged

Bowmanville, March 19. (CP) —Harold Deneau, a lanky, 16-year-old farmhand from Windsor, Ontario, Tuesday was formally charged with the bludgeon murder of Sidney Goff, 36, whose body was found Sunday in the barn of his father's farm.

Deneau, whom police found asleep Monday in a vacant house about two miles from the barn, was remanded in custody without plea until March 25.

The farm of Sidney Goff, Sr., is near Burketon, a community about 15 miles northwest of here and 12 miles north of Oshawa.

Police said the youth, a former inmate at Bowmanville Training School, had been released in Mr. Goff's charge.

Goff, who discovered his son's body when he struck it with a fork while clearing away the straw, said it was the policy of the family to hire boys from the Bowmanville School.

SAYS UNION IS RED

Toronto, March 19 — (CP) — The union of unemployed workers which has been given hearings here and in other municipal councils, was branded a communist instrument last night by Cleve Kidd, secretary of the Ontario Federation of Labor.

Immigrant German Family Huddled for Hours on Street When Fire Menaced Home

After living through Allied bombing raids during the war years, last night's fire was taken in stride by an immigrant German family who were forced out of their home by the spectacular blaze.

When the Front Street fire threatened to engulf the apartment over McFee's jewellery store where they have lived since before Christmas, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Quickert and their three young boys simply picked up their furniture and carried it to a place of safety.

When firemen brought the seven-hour blaze under control before it reached the apartment, the German family moved back in again.

But for several hours the family appeared desolate and friendless as in the fast falling snow the parents and children huddled together on furniture piled on the sidewalk. The two younger boys, Armin and Klaus, age 10 and 6, were taken home and put to bed by new-found friends. But the parents and 14-year-old Siegfried, refused any offer of shelter.

"We will be all right," assured the plucky mother as leaping flames died down. "In another hour or so we will be able to go back to our apartment."

The Quickerts came to the city shortly before Christmas after coming to Canada in October. When they arrived in Canada they had but $30 in their pockets. Since then they have bought and paid for the furniture which they carried from their apartment.

"This is nothing," they said of the fire. "Fires following the big bombing raids were something to see."

But even though their apartment was saved from the flames the Quickerts will not stay in their present quarters any longer than necessary. "We will move out just as soon as possible," the mother stated.

TRAPPING SEASON OPENS

Govt. Sustained On All Motions By Opposition

Ottawa, March 19. (CP)— The Commons concluded wide-ranging Throne-Speech debate by defeating the last of four opposition motions of non-confidence in the government.

The demand was made by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, who said that a "serious" situation faces this country unless markets can be found for Canadian production, including livestock and dairy products.

He spoke shortly before members voted 139 to 57 against a Social Credit motion criticizing the government for "failure" to provide "adequate" inducements for the expansion of food production and economic and orderly distribution of food surpluses.

Members adopted "on division" —without a recorded vote—the traditional main motion. It called for adoption of an address thanking the Governor-General for reading the Speech from the Throne at the opening of the new session Feb. 28 last.

During the 10-day debate, members rejected a Progressive Conservative motion criticizing the government for continuing to im-

By-Election in May

Kitchener, March 19 (CP) —A federal by-election in the riding of Waterloo North to fill the seat vacated by L. O. Breithaupt, now Ontario Lieutenant-Governor, will likely be held in May, political circles here say.

In expectation of the writ coming through before the end of the month, the Waterloo North Liberal Association is holding its annual meeting here Friday night. The meeting will be followed soon by a convention to name a candidate.

IMMOBILIZE DOG-CATCHERS

Vancouver — (CP) — Two of the Vancouver dog pound's three pick-up trucks were rendered immobile by thieves who stole tires and wheels from the vehicle. The thefts were accomplished after the attendant was called to answer a false report about a dead dog on the street.

Monkeys, Mice Survived 80-Mile Flight into Space Aboard Rocket

Washington, March 19. (AP)—A United States Air Force scientist told today of a rocket catapulted 80 miles into space with live monkeys and mice aboard.

It was a preliminary test aimed at learning eventually whether man can fly in outer space.

The mice are still living and propagating freely, the scientist said.

The five monkeys survived the actual flights but four of them were killed when parachutes carrying them back to earth failed. The fifth monkey landed all right but died of heat prostration in the New Mexico desert.

The account was told a meeting of the Aero-Medical Association by Dr. J. P Henry of the Aero-Medical Laboratory at Wright-Patterson Base, Dayton, Ohio.

Tests were designed to determine physical and psychological effects of being made "weightless" under certain conditions of extreme-altitude flight—a possible hazard that would face man in the regions of free space.

Dr. Henry said this "gravity-free" condition can be produced for several minutes as a rocket falls freely, with downward acceleration equalling the earth's gravity.

The monkeys and mice apparently got through it all right.

Dr. Henry told how the flights were made:

V-2 rockets reaching altitudes up to 80 miles, and smaller aerobee rockets with altitudes up to 40 miles were used in the tests at White Sands, N.M.

The monkeys "slept" through their 2,000-mile-an-hour ride, because they were anaesthetized with morphine. They were equipped with instruments for measuring pulse, breathing, heart action and blood pressure—and the information was radioed back to the earth during the flight.

The mice were not given morphine. Their chamber was equipped with a device in which they were free to run and jump—and their antics were being automatically photographed.

During the "weightless" stage of three minutes, the mice literally floated in their "cabin"—but after the descending nose reached a point where gravity again took over, the mice hopped around normally.

Estranged Husband Awarded $5,000

Toronto, March 19 —(CP) — A Supreme Court jury last night decided that William Rice, 63, was guilty of stealing the affections of Mrs. Lillian Corscadden, 50, and awarded damages of $5,000 to her estranged husband, George, 61.

Court costs, estimated at more than $1,000, were assessed against Rice, a widower and president of a Toronto dairy. The jury deliberated 7 1-2 hours.

"I hope you're happy with the money," Mrs. Corscadden said to her husband at the other side of the courtroom. Friends kept the two groups apart.

FACES ASSAULT CHARGE

Pittsburgh, March 19 (AP) —Ray Garlepy of the American Hockey League's Hershey Bears was arrested yesterday on an assault-and-battery warrant, the charge being filed by a fan who said Garlepy struck him during a game here Feb. 20.

CHECKER TAXI SECURES TEMPORARY QUARTERS

Following the disastrous fire of last night the Checker Taxi Cab Company have taken a temporary location at Bell's Service Station, directly opposite their former premises. The same telephone numbers will be used.

Cameron and Sprague have assumed temporary quarters at 185½ Front street. They may be reached by calling telephone numbers 32 or 33. Clients are assured that all documents are undamaged by fire.

Barn Destroyed After Grass Fire Out of Control

An early season grass fire which got out of control almost completely destroyed a small frame barn in Prince Edward County Tuesday afternoon and threatened the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Stan McFarland, Huff's Island.

Long grass about the farm building had caught fire and was out of control before it was noticed. Neighbors gathered and beat out the flames as they approached the farm house but the small barn caught fire and was badly damaged before it was extinguished.

The Belleville Fire Department was called and answered the alarm with two pumper trucks. Baled hay was stored in one end of the barn while the other end afforded shelter for the family cow. Fortunately the cow was out browsing in the nearby pasture.

Sparks from the burning barn were being blown directly toward the house and endangered the dwelling before it was completely extinguished.

Salvation Army Makes Appeal For Clothing

Major Herb Honeychurch of the Belleville Salvation Army Corps is broadcasting an appeal for articles of furniture and clothing. During recent weeks, several burned out families have appealed to the Army to assist them in getting re-established, and the result has been that stocks maintained to meet such emergencies have been depleted. To meet immediate requirements, donations of beds, tables, chairs, a stove, and miscellaneous articles of furniture are needed. These should be in useable condition, or easily repairable.

Children's clothing, and shoes are the paramount need, although adult clothing can be used also, to good advantage.

Citizens desiring to make donations of this kind can phone the office at the Citadel (4497) between 9 a.m., and 5 p.m. (noon hour excepted).

Forty Members Already Signed In Curling Club

Enthusiasm continued high with respect to establishing curling in this city. At a meeting in the City Hall on Tuesday evening, forty members signified their intention of curling for the two weeks, that have been allotted by the Memorial Arena Commission which will be the end of the hockey season. It is expected the curling will start about April 14.

A strong membership committee was formed headed by Ald. Claude D. Tice and anyone wishing to join should get in touch with Frank Domenico or Raymond Zufelt. Eight other members are on the committee, many of whom are located in the district surrounding the city. The Air Force station members promised at least 25 from Trenton.

D. A. MacKinnon was elected secretary-treasurer for the season and it is the intention of the club to hold a meeting immediately after curling ends to start preparation for the construction of a rink in the city. Mr. W. C. Gault, the president expressed his pleasure at the number signing up and was sure that at least 125 members could be secured. The club will hold open house on a couple of evenings to show residents what curling is and a couple of bonspiels will be played. Already shields and prizes have been donated.

Besides the number who signed up there are a number of requests for membership and in the next week a concerted drive will be made. The next meeting of the club will be held at the City Hall on Tuesday night, when final plans will be made.

RELEASED ON BAIL

Tehran, March 19. (CP)— An Iranian newspaper man who served as a correspondent for Reuters has been released on bail after two months in jail. Gegham Megerdichian is charged with sending out false news but has been too ill to stand trial. His bail was set at 500,000 rials, (about $10,000).

Annual Fire-Police Hockey Greeted by Record Crowd

Hockey games, clowns, skating artistry, presentations and gay music highlighted the third annual Fireman-Police hockey night in Memorial Arena, Tuesday evening.

From an entertainment and attendance point of view, it was by far, the most successful affair of its kind since the inception of the annual ice-battle.

Over 2,400 people cram-packed Memorial Arena. And it is estimated that one of the best financial returns ever accumulated through the police-firemen medium will accrue to the Shrine Club Crippled Children Fund.

It was a grand party. From the time the moppet peewee hockeyists faced-off to the crashing of the National Anthem by the famed Drum and Trumpet of the Royal Canadian Air Force, it was a sequence of enjoyable entertainment.

Piece de Resistance

The main feature of the evening, of course, was the title-roled piece-de-resistance the game between Sergeant R. H. Devereaux' policemen and Chief Gerald Vance's firemen.

It was clean, fast hockey. True the boys did not find their feet so well. The "cops" weren't so good in the "pinches" and the smoke-eaters were not so hot in the second period.

However, after a battling three-period game that saw the police rally strongly but fail a goal short, the Devereaux Devils went down to a 6-5 defeat before the Gerald Vance-Leo Culhane Smoke Devils. (And later events proved that these Smoke-Eaters lived up to their name. They played a grand battle in that joust with the fire demon after the fun was over.)

Firemen Take Lead

It looked like a free-and-easy win for the firemen after that first period. They rattled home four goals before the cops came back with a single to end the period.

But they did not reckon with the Devereaux Devils. Blimey, if they didn't roar back and score a couple before the smoke settled and the count was 4-3 going into the second heat.

And they looked good until halfway through the third period. They added a couple and then the pesky cops fired home two in 15 seconds to bring them with striking distance. With the score 6-5 the "cops" put on the pressure but alas and alack, "no soap". See the summary for the scoring.

Rangers Win

Now to get back to the other half of the entertainment, the Ranger squad won the Peewee Hockey league championship by a score of three to one, with Frank Howard snaring a couple, and Gordon Fuller getting the other. The Bruins' lone goal was scored by Elmer Alyea. Walter Bent refereed.

Another highlight was the presentation of trophies to the "most improved player" in each of the minor hockey league divisions.

To get back for a moment, the handsome Canadian Legion Trophy awarded to the peewee champions was presented by Canadian Legion president LeRoy Madden. With the president were Comrades Bill Bailey and Everett Liddle. Madden congratulated the winners and expressed the wish that both teams would be back again next year.

Other Highlights

There were several other highlights to the evening's fun. One that stood out was "The Sweetheart of the Shrine" pretty little Sharon Rushlow, who dropped the puck to start the Police-Fireman game.

Other presentations included those to the "most improved player," in each minor hockey division. These will be published later with records.

A delightful departure from the hockey atmosphere was the artistry of the attendant members of the Quinte Skating Club. Singles, doubles, waltzing and other numbers brought out the versatility of these artists. Clowns, thanks to Don and Billy Foster and Harold Foote, had the big crowd giggling all night.

Band Outstanding

One of the finest features of the evening was the splendid drum and trumpet band of the RCAF Station, Trenton, which dispensed martial and other rhythm between periods. The lads in blue, thanks to their commanding officer, Group Captain G. P. Dunlop, AFM, CD, did a grand job.

Shriner Charlie Cawker introduced Fire Chief Gerald Vance, Chief of Police Walter Probert and Inspector A. McDougall, Ontario Provincial Police, to the big audience. Harry Rollins represented the Belleville Hockey Association in lieu of president Jack Yanover.

The party wound up with a novelty race won by Shriner Boiler Lloyd, who took it sitting down.

Dr. R. T. Potter Stresses Need For Civic Defence

Speaking at the monthly dinner meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Men's Club Tuesday evening, Dr. R. T. Potter, stressed the need of adequate preparation well in advance, for civic defence in time of disaster. The speaker gave an outline of the history of civic defence organizations in England from their inception prior to World War II through their active part in the disastrous years which followed. Through this history the audience was well able to grasp the essentials of such organization and benefit by any mistakes and loopholes which came to light through active application of such service in England. The necessity of preparation and training well in advance of conflict or disaster was emphasized by Dr. Potter. He pointed out that many persons adopted the attitude that they shall be quite willing to offer their services if, and when, such services become a necessity, but hep roved that such volunteers were more of a hindrance than a help to civic defence when the organization became actively engaged. He also warned against the deduction that "it can't happen here," because it had been proven that regardless whether a community had been regarded as probable target area or not, enemy raids and bombing were often turned back from target areas and so dropped their bomb loads on any concentrated area so as to return to their home bases light.

The meeting was under the chairmanship of Don Sterling, president of the club.

Special musical numbers were very much enjoyed, when Stan Wiggins rendered two particularly well selected trumpet solos, accompanied at the piano by Phil Huddleston. This duo was introduced to the club by Jim Brisbin and thanked on behalf of the club for their program by Bill Cook.

Several numbers of group singing by the entire meeting were conducted by Mr. E. Sheppard, choirmaster at St. Andrew's.

Art Hill introduced the guest speaker of the evening by giving a brief biography of Dr. Potter and reminding the audience of the achievements of the speaker in the field of medicine, his association with the Canadian Army for six years during the last war, his civic services and honors, and his untiring interest in community developments.

Thanks to the speaker were expressed on behalf of the club by Mr. George Stokes.

Dinner was prepared and served by Mrs. Bell's group of the Women's Guild. Thanks to Mrs. Bell and her group was expressed by I. L. Moore.

The meeting was adjourned by the president following brief instructions regarding the forthcoming April meeting, which will be the last of the current season, and at which a slate of officers will be brought in for the next season.

NEW COURSE STARTED

Goderich, March 19 — (CP) — A new course in the safe and successful use of fire-arms and fishing equipment has been started by the Fish and Game Conservation Club. Speakers outlined the history of gun development and safety measures and told how to keep bait-casting line in the air and not around one's neck.

Outstanding Program to Feature Canadian Legion Trade Fair

The 2nd annual Industrial and Trade Fair, sponsored by Branch 99, Canadian Legion, gets underway on Thursday evening for three nights with a matinee performance scheduled for Saturday afternoon.

There will be a total of 22 exhibits by the merchants and dealers displaying automobiles, appliances, radio and television sets, household goods, building products, plumbing and heating supplies, farm equipment, cleaning products, marine hardware, sporting and leather goods.

This year some high grade out-of-town entertainment has been secured, the feature attraction on the first two nights being Hollywood's "Harmonica Bill" Russel, outstanding wizard on the harmonica.

Mr. Russell appeared for 12 years with the "Smiley" Burnett show of stage, screen and radio, and has made many television appearances.

On Saturday evening the stars of the show will be Professor Stanley and the Mystery Lady, who will mystify the audience with their internationally famous mental telepathy performances. This act has been shown in many parts of Canada and the United States, always receiving a good reception.

Dean Whalen will appear at every performance at the keyboard of the Hammond Organ and the Canadian Legion Boys' Choir together with other attractions will form a steady background for the top-flight performers.

A television set and many valuable door prizes are to be given away while many of the dealers will be featuring free gifts for visitors to their booths.

On Saturday afternoon there will be a sale of home cooking the proceeds of which will go toward the purchase of a television set for the men's section of the County Home for the Aged. This is a public service project that is being sponsored by the Canadian Legion.

The doors of the Armouries will open at 7.00 p. m. on Thursday and Friday evenings and at 3.00 p. m. on Saturday. All of those who attend are assured a good time.

Slippery Roads Cause of Many Minor Accidents

Slippery road conditions as result of snow covered highways slowed traffic in the Bay of Quinte district early today and were responsible for a series of minor accidents.

Three minor mishaps were reported to provincial police up until noon, two of them as result of cars sliding off the road. One accident occurred on 33 highway, a second near the Dutch Mill Inn near Trenton and the third on the Rednersville Road.

In the city a Canadian National Railways express truck went out of control on Station Street, when the driver applied his brakes and the truck skidded into a hydro pole breaking it off.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, March 19 (CP) — Prices declined steadily today in early afternoon stock market dealings.

Trading was active as oils continued to attract speculative interest. Industrial dealings spread slightly from leading issues and a few golds and metals drew interest. Volume for the first three hours was 2,210,000 shares.

Utilities, agricultures, foods and manufacturing companies led industrials lower with a scattered list of fractional declines. Papers, constructions, textiles and retail stores also weakened.

Base metal losses ranged from pennies to about 50 cents. Lake Dufault dropped about 40 cents in a turnover of more than 111,000 shares after yesterday's rapid climb. Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, International Nickel, Quemont and Waite Amulet slipped fractions.

Western oil losses outnumbered gains by more than three to one. Anglo-Canadian, Canadian Collieries, Dome Explorations, General Petroleum A, North Canadian, Britalta and United Oil dipped sharply.

Senior golds were weak as Dome, Kerr Addison and Lake Shore slipped fractions. Junior producers held gains and losses in balance but prospects and holding companies eased.

Alfred Loo, night despatcher for the burned out Checker Taxi company turned in the fire alarm. He happened to glance out the front window and saw reflections of the flames in a window across the street.

He picked up his phone to ring in the alarm and discovered it was dead, the wires apparently already having been burned off. He then radioed one of his drivers on the road who notified the fire department.

Saw Flames

Mr. J. B. Fralick, Sanford St., projectionist at a local theatre also saw the flames just at the same time as Mr. Loo while Mrs. Peter Pohren, tenant on the top floor above McFee's Jewellery Store, happened to glance out her back window as she went to bed shortly after 11:30 and saw "a big light" at the rear of the building on the corner.

Stan Wiggins, McDonald Gardens, with Mrs. Wiggins drove over the lower bridge shortly after 11.30 and noticed the flames at the rear of the Quinte Paint Shop. He stopped his car and assisted in rousing the tenants, many of whom were preparing for bed.

The fire apparently started either at the rear of the Quinte Paint Shop, or Stroud's China Shop as it was in this vicinity that the flames were first noticed.

Quickly dense columns of black smoke were rolling from the front of Stroud's store and from J. McNab's as well as from the Checker Taxi, and the Quinte Paint Store.

Leap 60 Feet in Air

For a time it appeared that firemen would bring the flames under control but shortly after midnight the fire swept through two business blocks to the roof. At the height of the fire the flames leaped 60 feet into the air over rooftops.

But before flames were visible in the upper storeys terrific air pressure was built up inside and glass was sent flying into the street forcing firemen to leap back for safety.

Across the street at Holway's garage willing helpers shoved cars to safety. Heat swept into the street driving back curious spectators.

Firemen were forced to attack the flames both from Bridge St. and Front St. and as the Stroud building broke into flame in the upper storeys and on the roof the fire department aerial ladder was brought into play.

Got into Bank's Roof

As fire spread through the paint shop into Weller's Flower shop and the taxi office on Bridge Street, firemen were also fighting the blaze as it ate into the Stroud building.

For a time it appeared that the Dominion Bank building directly on the corner would be saved but the flames got into the roof and ate their way down to the second storey.

Three times firemen thought they had the blaze under control and as many times it broke out again in adjoining rooftops. When the roof of the Little Hardware building caught afire tenants in buildings directly to the north were forced to flee.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Pohren carried out wearing apparel in suitcases as well as some household possessions.

Piled in Street

Across the hall Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Quickert, immigrants, recently from Germany, and their three small sons, also vacated their apartment with the assistance of volunteers all household and other possessions were lugged down the stairs and piled in doorway across the street.

Also forced to vacate as the flames ate their way gradually up Front Street was Mrs. John V. Cummins, over the Reward Shoe Store, and one other tenant.

It was the same story on Bridge Street. As flames swept through the doomed building occupied by Quinte Paint and Wallpaper, it seemed certain the business block on the river bank appeared doomed.

Volunteers quickly removed store stock from Hitchon's Radio shop, and from a Chinese laundry, while upstairs tenants also got ready to save their belongings.

Scattered Over Roadway

Stock from the radio store and the laundry was scattered over the lower bridge as stock was carried to safety.

Suddenly the street wall of the Checker Taxi building collapsed inward with a roar of rubble and hissing of flame. As the brick wall collapsed the flames were partially smothered. The west wall of the building remained standing for a few minutes blocking the heat and the building next to the river was saved.

Earlier when the blaze struck above the roof above the Stroud building flames roared high into the sky and excelsior from top floor warehouse streaked flaming into the air and was carried across the river.

Then at the height of the fire a flaming ember gave torch to a residence on Coleman Street across the river. Firemen raced to the scene and extinguished the flames.

Calls Put In

When the fire appeared to be getting out of control a call was put through to Trenton and fire engines from the town and from the Trenton Air Station raced to the aid of Belleville firemen. Their assistance was badly needed. At one time 32 lines of hose were pouring water into the flames in an effort to check their progress.

The fire was fought in three stages. First the Stroud building on Front St. and the brick building on Bridge Street housing Checker taxi went up in flames. As the fire here was brought under control the upper floor of the Dominion Bank building took fire. Then as this phase of the fire was controlled the roof of the Little Hardware store two business blocks up the street took fire. It was six a.m. and long after daylight when the fire was brought under control but at nine o'clock firemen were still pouring water into the upper storeys.

Some Firemen at Game

At the time the alarm was turned in city firemen had just finished playing the police a benefit hockey game for crippled children.

Soon every fireman on the department was fighting the fire with every piece of equipment in the city. Within an hour of the start of the blaze an estimated 2,000 persons were watching the spectacular blaze. They were held back by police, who blocked off the area and set up cordons to control the throng.

Before the heat and smoke became too dense firemen donned smoke masks and oxygen masks and worked in the ground floor of the buildings. Then they were forced back and had to fight the blaze from the street.

Saved Records

One fireman entered the McNab store and saved records, while J. D. Walton, manager of the Dominion Bank, entered the bank and saved papers in his desk and later said most other valuable papers were in the vault.

Over the bank were the offices of the Cameron and Sprague, solicitors and the Belleville Insurance Agency, while over Strouds and McNab's was the prudential Life office, the Retail Credit office and the Albert College Conservatory of Music, as well as a storeroom used by Mr. J. Blackburn, owner of the Stroud building. Offices in the Stroud building were gutted.

Alan Sprague, member of the Cameron and Sprague law firm, climbed a fireman's ladder through a window to save papers on his desk.

It was the third big fire which had swept through business blocks in downtown Belleville in the past year. Both the previous fires were on Front Street opposite Victoria Avenue.

Tired firemen almost beat by hours of lugging heavy hose were served coffee on the street by employees from a nearby restaurant.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, March 19 — (CP) — Trading was dull with cattle prices about steady at the Ontario stockyards today. Receipts: cattle 250; calves 70; hogs 300; sheep and lambs nil. The leftover from Wednesday was 500 cattle.

Good to choice weighty steers sold at $25.50-$26.50 with a few upward to $27. Common to medium light steers and heifers sold from $18-$24 with good heifers selling at $25-$25.50. Good cows were at $20-$21 with good to choice fed yearlings at $27-$28 and a few bulls from $15-$20.

Calves sold steady at $28-$30 for choice vealers and from $15-$25 for common to medium.

Hog prices were at $26 for Grade A with sows $15 dressed.

No sheep or lamb sales were reported.

GOVT. SUSTAINED

pose "excessive" taxes, for refusing to eliminate "waste and extravagance" and for "failing" to deal effectively with inflation with the high cost of living.

Also defeated was a C.C.F. motion criticizing the government for "failing" to introduce a national health insurance program at this session.

Second Motion Defeated

A second CCF motion, also defeated, called for establishment of a federal authority to control the prices and marketing of meat and dairy products during the emergency caused by the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan.

End of the debate cleared the way for tabling of the 1952-53 estimates of expenditures and for the consideration of legislation sponsored by the government and private members.

Finance Minister Abbott is expected to table the estimates today before debate is launched on bills and resolutions sponsored by private members.

In his speech, Mr. Drew said that to hear some members of the cabinet talk you would believe there are no major troubles facing Canada. They should come out of their "ministerial dreamland," he said, and drop their "attitude of unreality."

A serious situation existed with respect to trade. Grain was piling up in western Canada: livestock markets in the United States were closed because of the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease; the dairy industry was hit hard by Britain's dollar restrictions.

Canada should take the initiative and call a Commonwealth conference on trade. He agreed with Agriculture Minister Gardiner, who once had said that something should be done to make the Canadian dollar and the British pound interchangeable.

Mr. Drew criticized the government's policies of "overtaxation" and suggested relaxation of credit restrictions, causing a shut-down of production and unemployment. He asked that steps be taken to protect the Canadian textile industry.

John Blackmore (SC-Lethbridge) said Canada should advance credit to Britain at the rate of $1,000,000,000 a year to help her recover economic stability. A strong Britain and a strong Commonwealth were needed as a second line of defence behind the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) called for a clear-cut government statement of Canada's commitments in the new Atlantic pact military program. He said External Affairs Minister Pearson should take the House and the country into confidence and indicate Canada's undertakings in North Atlantic defence.

Only then, Mr. Knowles suggested, will parliament be able to determine how much Canada should spend for military preparedness and how much for economic aid to Europe.

H. O. White (PC-Middlesex East) suggested that too much emphasis has been put on the military aspects of NATO. More should be done to increase trade among the member nations.

EISENHOWER

Fifty-four votes were written in for "Douglas". This could be either Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas or Illinois Senator Paul H. Douglas.

Only Popularity Vote

Edward Slettedahl, St. Paul school teacher and Stassen's only opposition on the printed Republican ballot, got 17,612 votes.

Minnesota is one of 16 states in the U.S. which hold presidential primaries— popularity votes in which members of the two major political parties can indicate who they would prefer to see as president.

This is one of the few states where delegates selected to go to the national nominating conventions are bound to support their presidential aspirant until released by him or until his convention drops below 10 per cent.

There is no provision in the primary law for convention delegates to be chosen for write-in candidates. Thus, even if Eisenhower's vote total should be larger than Stassen's, it would not automatically mean that he would have any supporters among Minnesota delegates to the Republican nominating convention in Chicago in July.

Solar Cooker Used by Nehru

New Delhi, March 19. (Reuters) —Indian scientists have installed a solar cooker, powered entirely by the sun's rays, in Prime Minister Nehru's house. They say they expect to mass-produce them for about $10.

Nehru last night ate his first sun-cooked meal from the cooker, equivalent to a 300-watt electric stove. It consists of a four-foot, curved and polished aluminum bowl suspended over the cooking pot. It concentrates the sun's rays on a glass below the pot.

New Delhi has 270 days of sunshine a year.

The solar stove can be of special value in India as a fuel-saver. Peasants use valuable manure for fuel instead of fertilizer in the fields.

TIME FOR QUICK ACTION

Over near Shelburne, in Dufferin County, there is a sick bull. For several days, he refused to eat. He has since regained his appetite, but now he has blisters on his tongue and is frothing at the mouth — the ominous primary symptoms of foot and mouth disease.

Dr. William Moynihan, of Toronto, federal district veterinarian, said the bull's ailment "is definitely not foot and mouth disease." Dr. T. Childs, of Ottawa, veterinary director-general for the federal department of agriculture, apparently is not quite so sure. He said: "So far as we can tell, it is not foot and mouth disease." Dr. Childs stated that the farm had been quarantined, but added: "We always do that as a precautionary measure when we cannot make a definite diagnosis."

When foot and mouth disease broke out on the Regina plains, it will be recalled, a period of about three months elapsed between the time the disease was detected and the time when the slaughtering of the infected animals began. By that time, the disease had spread over a considerable area. It is now believed that the Saskatchewan outbreak has been isolated. But this is by no means certain.

The farmers and cattle breeders of Ontario will hope that there is no such shilly-shallying in connection with this possible outbreak of foot and mouth disease in Ontario as there was in Saskatchewan. If the veterinarians and bacteriologists employed by the federal government are unable to diagnose this Shelburne bull's ailment, the government of Ontario should immediately instruct its own department of agriculture to get busy. If the Ontario government has in its employ no veterinarians who are familiar with foot and mouth disease, (which is possible, since the ailment has been unknown hitherto in Ontario), the United States should be called upon for assistance. The Americans would not hesitate about providing such assistance. They would do so, if for no other reason, in order to prevent the possible spread of the malady to nearby parts of the United States.

LAMPORT PLANS CONFISCATION

The wave of bank robberies and other serious crimes that has swept across this country is bringing some strange repercussions in its train. The latest of these was the assertion, made Sunday night by Toronto's Mayor Allan Lamport, that he "is going to try to confiscate part of the recovered loot and give it to policemen and citizens injured in pursuit of bank bandits."

Some of the stolen money has been recovered and police believe they may locate more, as the leaders of one important robber band have been rounded up. Since $163,000 was taken from Toronto and district banks alone in the last fifteen months, Mayor Lamport is going to have a fair-sized sum to distribute to "policemen and citizens," provided, of course, that he succeeds in "confiscating" part of this money. Does Mayor Lamport believe that the higher authorities will allow him to "confiscate" money and distribute it among "policemen and citizens" whom he thinks should have it?

Mayor Lamport, according to the Globe and Mail, declared "the banks put dollars over human lives." Further, he charged, "the banks are careless and fail to guard their funds properly." The stolen money, he said, "was left by the banks lying loosely around, waiting to be picked up by gunmen."

Here is what L. G. Gillett, president of the Canadian Bankers Association, said when he learned of Mayor Lamport's suggestion: "As to the suggestion that any cash recovered as a result of recent arrests should not be returned to the owners, this hardly requires comment. It can only be regarded as a hastily-conceived and ill-considered statement, quite out of keeping with the character expected of the holder of an important public office and one that for all concerned should best be forgotten."

Mr. Gillett stated that the banks are not prepared to hire a private police force, which for Toronto alone would cost around $1,000,000 a year. He added: "It may be of interest to note that they (the banks) are paying the city (of Toronto) almost exactly $1,800,000 in business and property taxes, so that their contribution to the city's income is not inconsiderable."

About a week ago, Mayor Lamport asked Premier Leslie Frost to disburse $10,000,000 in "unconditional grants," in addition to the $9,000,000 which Toronto has already received this year in federal and provincial grants. Now, he says he is going to try to "confiscate" money owned by the banks, or entrusted to the banks by their clients.

If mayors are going to be given authority to confiscate and distribute at their will money or other property that has been stolen and recovered, a new and startling development will have been added to the unusual and disturbing times in which we live.

RESPONSIBILITY

Since there are some who cannot see,
And some there are who cannot hear,
As careful as they try to be,
They cannot know that danger's near.
'Tis we who drive should keep in mind
The grim afflictions of mankind.

There is so much we cannot know
But take for granted, all too late,
Expecting when the horn we blow
The stranger hearing it to wait.
We trusted to a warning clear,
Too late to learn he couldn't hear.

On us who drive must lie the blame.
On us the need for caution lies.
We should remember some are lame;
Some deaf, and some have sightless eyes.
Rather than find it out too late,
'Tis we should have the sense to wait.

WHITEWASH

When Billy Sunday was holding forth in this country some thirty years ago, a certain college professor decided that he would attend one of his evangelistic meetings. Billy had the reputation of putting on a good show, and this professor wanted to see how it was done. He had no religious interest whatsoever in what Sunday was trying to do and was ready to join with anyone in jeering the rough, forthright denouncer of sin.

But the professor got a surprise. He was in no way impressed by Sunday's spiritual message, but Billy did say one thing which stuck in the professor's mind and in fact changed his whole life. Said Billy: "What we need is not to be whitewashed but to be washed white." The very aptness of the expression intrigued the mind of the professor. He did not go down the sawdust trail but he left Billy's tabernacle in a thoughtful mood, and that thoughtful mood led him later to be a layman of considerable influence in his denomination.

We sometimes think that the term "whitewash" is only to be applied to politicians. In reality this word has a very significant place in Christian theology. Some people try to get whitewashed in the church just as others try to get whitewashed when an investigation of their record as public servants is under way.

Seventh Arrest Made

Washington, March 19. (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation announced Tuesday it has made a seventh arrest in the $1,500,000 Reno robbery. The agency also said it has recovered another $36,731 of the loot taken from L. V. Redfield.

Police said Benton Henry Robinson, 65, a handyman on a guest ranch near Reno, was taken into custody when agents found the $36,731 in his living quarters.

F.B.I. agents said that when they found the money, Robinson told them:

"You don't have to go any further. That's all Redfield money."

Police Seeking Couple

Port Colborne, March 19. (CP)—Police are seeking a Port Colborne woman and man missing since Friday night.

Elsie Hughes, 29, wife of Ernest Hughes, and mother of four children, and Charles James Rae, 33, have been missing since 11:30 p.m., Friday when they left a local hotel where they had been drinking with Mr. Hughes, police said.

Mrs. Hughes, apparently left to obtain groceries for a late snack. Rae accompanied her in her automobile and no sign has been seen of them or the car since.

Florida Holiday

By G. A. MORTON
(Managing Editor)

There is some doubt in our mind whether it is the sensible thing to write more about a trip to Florida. Before leaving in mid-February, a number of people expressed the hope we would give more of our impressions such as was done last year and which to our astonishment were received with a far greater response from readers than we believed possible. It was heartwarming to get so many voluntary messages from friends and strangers expressing the pleasure that had been derived from the articles. Such encouragement is a great stimulant and one is tempted to do another short series although there is some risk of repetition and inclusion of too much trivial information.

The reason for this feeling is that there is less to describe. Last year we did far more sightseeing while this year we rested more and confined our activities to the ordinary routine of every-day living. Nevertheless, it is exciting to travel to far-away places—even to those areas which are becoming more or less familiar now to us.

For awhile we toyed with the idea of visiting new scenes, but there is something about Florida that is hard to resist. Chiefly this is due to the fine weather and comparative ease with which it is reached. Also, the thought of once again visiting the sea shore and indulging in our favorite pastime of strolling along the splendid beaches is very hard to resist. There is a fascination about the constantly moving waters of the ocean which never palls on us. Some days the surf is high and turbulent while on others it is more like Lake Ontario on a quiet day. We like it best when the waves pound in on the shore in a white froth and a roar that is unlike any other sound in the world.

With these thoughts in mind we started out on a pleasant afternoon in mid-February and then, day by day, rapidly reached our destination at Miami. The trip itself was uneventful except for one incident which caused us much embarrassment and was not without some danger.

Coming to Southern Pines near evening we thought it would be a change to stop overnight at Pinehurst, a noted resort in North Carolina. After driving around Southern Pines a bit we headed for Pinehurst six miles away. Leaving one street we came out on another which almost immediately divided into two highways. The one on the right was marked, "Right—Highway 26". The left one was unmarked, but as it was going in the direction we wished we drove merrily along. In a minute or so loud honking of a car some distance on our right attracted our attention so we stopped. A woman driver was gesturing for us to come over to her road. In the meantime several cars whizzed by us going in the opposite direction so then we realized we were going the wrong way on a one-lane highway, the lanes separated by a boulevard of pine trees and shrubs. We had gone too far to go back, so proceeding gingerly, we drove on until an opening came in the trees then nipped over to the right road. During this time, our unknown friend had held up traffic behind her until we were safely over, then with a wave of her hand she continued her journey while we pulled over to one side to recover our composure and pride in our driving or rather what there was left of it.

It was fortunate for us there was no motorist overtaking another on a curve thinking the road would be clear, but it is an illustration of the care a driver should use at all times. We should have known that when the sign said "Right" it mean a division of the highway but as it seemed to veer in a direction which we did not intend to take there was a slight reason for our error. On the other hand, there should have been a "Do Not Enter" sign over the other laneway. Anyway we would like to have met our benefactor, but of course, did not have the opportunity.

There was not too much time to visit Pinehurst although the resort presented an inviting appearance. There are numerous hotels and inns mostly of frame construction and three excellent golf courses. There is none of the cheap honky-tonk type of building in sight with the result that the district resembles a splendid residential area with a wealth of pine, and holly trees. The latter retain their dark green leaves during the winter and the red berries add a touch of color to the dark background. Asking why all the holly trees did not have berries we were told that only the female tree bears the fruit. So here we have another example of nature favoring the female of the species when it comes to colorful raiment.

In addition to the above are magnolia trees which grow to huge sizes, keep their leaves all year round and bloom each season. The tulip magnolia of which there are a few in Belleville of course sheds its leaves like other deciduous trees. Boxwood adds much to the decorative arrangement around homes in all parts of the south eastern states. Because these trees and shrubs retain their green leaves all season the visitor assumes that he is in the warm belt. However, it can get rather cold with frost and some light snowfalls not being uncommon. We would say that our April weather would be approximately the same as Pinehurst during the winter months. And April can be a nice month some years.

We could well understand why Pinehurst is a favorite retreat for those desiring a restful holiday with golf, tennis, horse-back riding for the day and cards, stage plays and picture shows at night. The rates are on American plan and the meals we had were especially good with the price for room and meals being fairly reasonable considering the type of resort it is. Easter would be a very nice time of year to spend there.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Life is full of irony, especially for the comfortable and well-to-do. A man makes a pot of money; and the first thing his wife does is subscribe for those fat, glossy, heavy magazines that have to do with homes, furniture, interior decoration and beautiful sprawly country estates.

The next thing, they begin cruising around the perimeter of their native city—the city in which they encountered their good fortune—looking for an ideal site for a semi-rural retreat. It must be on or near a good road. A small woodsy hill is about perfect. If, from the hilltop, they can see the benign expanse of a golf links in the distance, no harm.

So they buy: and there, duly, appears a lovely low spacious bungalow, perhaps stone, perhaps beamy wood, looking aged and stately. It is bowered in trees; a shrub-screened drive leads into it, suggesting manorial acres behind and beyond; it is another beautiful subject for a four-page spread in one of the fat, glossy magazines dedicated to gracious living.

But hardly are they settled in it, barely have they held the first few housewarmings, and the evergreens have not quite lost their look of having been planted, before there can be seen, in the near distance, the bright granulations of a new housing subdivision, red, blue, green, pink. Afar, can be heard the champ and mutter of bulldozers. The good but little-used road past the semi-rural retreat begins to hum with traffic. In no time at all, baker's and grocer's trucks whistle by. South, east, north, west, in a matter of weeks, new housing projects leap from the earth about them.

It is all a part of their own prosperity, of course: but the well-to-do feel as awkward about it as though caught in formal dress and party gowns in a groceteria.

No Indication Of Disease Says Chief Veterinarian

Ottawa, March 19. (CP)— The government's chief veterinarian said Tuesday there is no indication of foot-and-mouth disease in a farm animal under observation near Shelburne, Ontario.

Dr. T. Childs, veterinary director-general in the Agriculture department, said the animal, a bull, has been under observation five days after coming down with an undiagnosed disease, with some symptoms similar to those of foot-and-mouth.

"But so far as we can tell, it is not foot-and-mouth," he said. "If it were, other animals in the herd (of 25) would have been infected by now."

Dr. Childs said the farm has been quarantined, adding that "we always do that as a precautionary measure when we cannot make a definite diagnosis."

He said no foot-and-mouth cases have been diagnosed in Ontario, and, so far as is known, the disease is still contained within the original quarantine area around Regina.

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Signed Letters, Not More Than One Page, or 100 Words Long, Pertaining to Personal Health and Hygiene, Not to Disease, Diagnosis or Treatment, Will be Answered by Dr. Brady if a Stamped, Self-Addressed Envelope is Enclosed, Etc.

FROM A SHILLING TO A FIN

A century ago when a shilling talked—12 1-2 cents, that was—the doctor not only labelled the trouble salt and rheum but probably gave the patient a supply of salve without extra charge. A little later, when almanacs attained wide circulation, it became known as tetter and it set the victim back four bits—50c, that was—to have it so called.

For some reason or other the name eczema ultimately became most popular—it means, says Webster, to boil out. What tetter means, who knows? Webster just loses one in the Old High German and Lithuanian woods.

After World War 1 a lot of doctors became specialists overnight—it was their only alternative to starting again from scratch to build a practice—and one of the tricks of the trade was calling eczema dermatitis at $5 and up.

Well, dermatitis means skin inflammation and it is at least as good as any other name, maybe worth the fancy price you Yankee Wiseacres pay for it.

I have open on my desks no less than seven authoritative medical textbooks, whose views or descriptions of eczema I am trying to digest. After an hour's study of the works of these dermatologists I'm not sure whether I feel more frustrated than nettled—probably nettled.

For the present perhaps I had better say no more about the skin specialists. Heaven knows I have few friends left in the profession.

One text book (Sutton) published 1937, says "the essential cause of eczema is unknown." Another (Pusey) published in 1917, gives two full pages of causes, constitutional and local, but says no more than Sutton says in seven words.

It remained for Brady (who else?) to give the world his monograph (and I'm not kidding) on Eczema, which elucidates the subject in the author's well known manner. If you want a copy of the monograph, all you have to do, as the television salesmen say, is (1) ask for it in writing and (2) inclose with your request a stamped envelope bearyour name and address. Mail your request, not to the publisher or the editor, but to the conductor of this column. You know hooey is. If you'd rather not mention the name just say "international quack" and your letter will come through, all right.

In the monograph there is a suggestion for which I am indebted, not to the medical authorities but to the numerous readers who have tried it and found it effective, namely, the practice of supplementing the ordinary diet with a suitable daily ration of calcium and vitamin D. This can do no harm in any case, and may prove effective in many cases of chronic eczema.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Childbirth After Forty

Please write about childbirth after forty. I am 41 and expecting. I'm scared to death. . .—(Mrs. M. R.)

Answer— These days, Ma'am, I'm lucky if I write that fresh air and sunshine are healthful for most persons and it is printed. Never mind your age. Can you roll a somersault? If you can, you need have no fear about childbirth. Send 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope for booklet Preparing for Maternity. The chapter "Her First at Forty" may help free you from the fishwives.

Oh, So

You state that cheese is a health food. Yet cheese contains calcium and calcium causes arteriosclerosis (hardening of arteries). Don't you think you should qualify. . . .?—(T. H. A.)

Answer—I said no other food better deserves the appelation 'health food" than cheese. The nation that "calcium causes arteriosclerosis" is silly. Most persons who suffer premature hardening of the arteries have worried along with calcium deficiency for many years.

Acne Pamphlet Helped

Your pamphlet on Acne did wonders for my 14-year-old son. The remedies suggested for blackheads and pimples cleared his face up perfectly. We are grateful. . . . (Mrs. W. W.)

Answer—And thank you for reporting. Pamphlet on Acne—Blackheads and Pimples—available to any reader who asks for it in writing (no clipping) and provides stamped, self-addressed envelope.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE WONDER OF COMMON THINGS

It's the simple pleasures in our everyday life that give to us our greatest joy, whether we take note of the fact or not. They come most naturally and are not primarily selective, as are so many that disappoint us.

Joseph Conrad, in commenting upon the literary style of W. H. Hudson, the naturalist, said that he wrote "as the grass grows." Others compared the look of this great writer to that of a great bird, so that he thought as a bird. It is easier to think that Hudson became a great writer because he lived such a free life, just like the birds and animals, and saw with those strange and penetrating eyes of his the wonder of common things.

As the Springtime approaches, every day I look out upon the lawn from my library window, and keep watching for the awakening in the green grass that has been taking its long Winter slumber. How drowsy it looks in March, but when it has been bathed by the rains of April, its hidden life springs to life under the warming and nourishment of the Springtime sunlight. It freshens as all nature awakes.

Every early Springtime flower becomes a harbinger of hope. The chemical processes of the earth get busy and all nature functions after its long rest. I like to walk over a path in the forest and take in my hands the accumulated pine needles that have long lost their life, but not their fragrance, and I like to tread upon their springy softness as I look with admiration upon the great trunks that reach into the blue of the sky.

There isn't a single stone that we may casually pick up along the shore of a stream or other body of water, or in fact from any spot upon this earth, without looking into a miracle of creation or geologic wonder. The tiniest insect displays in itself the wonder of common things. I once walked with a friend over his estate, and he pointed to the fallen cones from a pine tree, remarking: —"Aren't they beautiful!"

The more we pay attention to the wonder of common things, the more capable we become of appreciating the significance of all created things, whether great or small. Can any of us explain the cause of a baby's first smile?

Women's Activities

EVENING ASSOCIATION

The March meeting of the Evening Association of the United Church, Deseronto, was held at the home of Mrs. Gordon Burley. There was a good attendance and the president, Mrs. H. Aylsworth, presided.

Reports were given by the secretary-treasurer and conveners of the flowers and sick committees. The Association voted to hold a home-cooking sale in the vacant store on St. George St., on April 10. They also decided to cater for a wedding in June.

Mrs. L. E. Tunnicliffe contributed a piano solo; Sharon Burley a vocal solo and Mrs. Ross Sexsmith, a reading.

Mrs. Percy VanVlack delighted her audience with an informative and interesting account of her recent trip to Florida.

The hostess and her committee served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed.

BURR'S W.A.

Mrs. Don Osterhout was hostess for the March Burr's W.A. on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. S. Clark presided, with Mrs. A. Chase and Mrs. D. Osterhout taking the devotional period.

This being the anniversary month of the W.A., greetings from Mrs. H. Spencer and Mrs. R. Anderson absent members were received with much pleasure. All were delighted to hear from Mrs. B. Hough, who is improving from a long illness.

Business included final plans for the birthday tea to be held next week. The quarterly fee to the M. and M. Fund was paid. Membership fees and birthday dues were received.

Mrs. D. Harns favored with three short readings and Mrs. Fulford told an Irish joke.

Guests included, Mrs. Val Squire, Mrs. F. Purtelle, and Miss A. Richards.

Mrs. Don Parks invited the April meeting to her home.

SHANNONVILLE W.A.

The monthly meeting of the W.A. of Shannonville United Church was held at the home of the president, Mrs. K. R. Vivian on Thursday afternoon with 26 women in attendance. Mrs. Vivian welcomed the visitor and the members and gave a short reading on "Woman's Place in the Home, Church and Community".

"Home, church and school should work together to help the young to build Christian character," said Mrs. Vivian.

Mrs. Charles Kierl was in charge of the devotional, the theme of which was "The Church". This was followed by the singing of "The Church's One Foundation", with Mrs. L. W. Scott at the piano.

Mrs. Gerald Stratton read the Bible Lesson from Matthew 5, and Mrs. Asseltine, the devotional leaflet. Mrs. Sam Elliott also gave a helpful devotional reading.

Mrs. Gammon was thanked for making the holiday dime cards, by the president, and Mrs. Elliott for assisting Mrs. Gammon.

Dress Manufacturers Ask for Help

Milady's Bargain is Someone's Headache

Canadian dress manufacturers, stating their case at Ottawa, accuse U.S. firms of "dumping" their products on the Canadian market and ask that laws be enforced to protect the Canadian textile industry, now suffering a serious slump. Investigation showed that U.S. manufacturers were in the habit of transferring their goods to the Canadian market as soon as seasonal changes made the goods unmarketable in the U.S. The government would not label the action as "dumping" which implies selling surplus goods at an unreasonably low figure to freeze out competition. — Central Press Canadian.

Many Attend Robin Hood Cooking School at Collegiate

Last evening the home-makers of the city were pleased to welcome back Mrs. L. Ballantyne food expert and head of the Home Service Department of the Robin Hood Flour Mills, Limited, Toronto, and her assistant, Miss Jessie Nugent, gold medallist of the University of Toronto for 1951, in the cooking school sponsored by Y's Menettes, at the Collegiate Institute.

Mrs. Ballantyne was introduced by the president of the Y's Menettes, Mrs. Bryson Leslie, who in turn introduced her assistant, Miss Nugent, and the matter of ceremonies, Mr. Gerald Hyde, whose informal announcement of the lucky winners of the various prizes was quite refreshing, and naive. Mr. Linton Read presided at the console of the Hammond organ preceding the demonstrations.

Must be a Cook

If one may imitate an oft repeated phrase these days, it might be said that 'to enjoy cooking one must be one', and judging from the fine attendance, there are many cooks and many more would-be-cooks.

The stage had become a modern kitchen, housing glistening white cabinets, frigidaire, electric ranges, one a dream range with push buttons, washer, and chrome finished table and chairs, while tall standards of daffodils, snapdragons, pussy willow sprays and green leaves, added the beautiful to the practical.

Mrs. Ballantyne began her demonstration with a delightful supper dish, called "Wiener Delight," which coupled with biscuits, light as a zephyr, constituted a complete meal. This could be supplemented by the dainty raspberry tarts with their flaky crusts. Several other baking items were demonstrated as meringue shells, and the secret of good meringues was a slow oven 275 degrees, and the adding of one teaspoonful of sugar at a time, and after the hour baking, to allow to cool with the oven door open.

Another hint as to pastry was the perfect proportion of flour and fat, and the chilling of the mixture, which could be used as needed. This was a 'sure' for flaky pastry.

The supper dish recipe for "Wiener Delight" follows: one pound wieners, cut in half; one can of tomatoes or one tin of tomato soup; one small onion, chopped; one half cup of sugar, or if desired less sweet one quarter cup; one quarter cup chopped celery or pickle or green pepper; two tablespoons of velvet or Robin Hood flour mixed with one-quarter cup water.

Preparation

The method of preparation: cut wieners in halves, place in baking dish and pour over them the mixture made from the remainder of ingredients; bake one-half hour at 350 degrees, serve with biscuits using Easy-mix or other mixes.

A most delicious pudding, made a new way, was the gingerbread pudding, prepared by using one box of Robin Hood Gingerbread mix; one cup lukewarm water; one cup brown sugar; one-half cup crushed walnuts and one cup of boiling water.

Prepare as directed and sprinkle nuts and brown sugar on the batter, and over that pour the boiling water. This provides for the sauce which is found at the bottom of the dish. A most delightful pudding, one taste of which craves for more.

One of the highlights of the evening was the drawing of the lucky tickets which entitled the holder to either grocery bags, coca cola, baked goodies, and many other prizes including an electric tea kettle, and a mix master.

The cooking school will continue again this evening.

AUTHORIZE INVESTIGATION

Waterloo, March 19. (CP)—Waterloo township council last night authorized a complete investigation of the township police department.

Council would make no comment other than that the action was a ratification of a motion passed by police committee. T. H. Isley, chairman of the committee, said the nature of the investigation would not be revealed until township solicitor William Boos returned from Florida.

Coming Film Festival Has Large, Interesting Program

At a well attended meeting of the Belleville and District Film Council last week final arrangements were completed for the annual two-day film festival to be held in the auditorium of Queen Alexandra School on Friday and Saturday, 28th and 29th of this month.

The Film Festival, which consists entirely of the showing of outstanding films, offers an unusual chance for people to see the latest documentary release from many countries and film makers.

The entire serie of programs to be presented to the public, absolutely free of charge, is a community service rendered by the Belleville and District Film Council, assisted by local merchants and organizations.

Variety of Films

A variety of films will be shown at each of the three programs in the series, so that there will be something of particular interest in every program for each person in the audience. At each session, there will be at least seven films varying in length from ten minutes to a maximum of 45 minutes.

The film topics include music, religion, sports, travel, industry, arts and crafts, and an especial group of safety films supplied by courtesy of Benograph, Toronto. Each program is planned to run about two and a quarter hours.

The consistent high quality will be readily apparent in the group of 23 recent and carefully selected film titles to be shown. However, there are several of such especial interest that they should be mentioned:

Film Titles

"Festival of London," a crown film unit production of the 1951 Festival of Great Britain with its colorful exhibits, gay crowds and beautiful craftsmanship.

"The True Face of Japan," one of the modern age series made by J. Arthur Rank, shows the life and habits of the 80,000,000 Japanese people and their land of beauty.

"Stagecoach of the Stars" shows the development of the postal services of Canada from the stagecoach days to the present air travel.

"The Undefeated," the story of Joe Anderson, a young glider pilot who lost both his legs and the power of speech during the war, yet was determined to become an active member of the community. This with several other films is presented with the courtesy of the United Kingdom Information Office.

"Top of the World," is a spectacular film on skiing in the scenic country of Norway. Slalom, cross-country and ski jumping by Norway's top jumpers; where the 1952 Olympics took place, presented by courtesy of the Canadian Film Institute.

Tickets, free of charge, and further information may be obtained from Miss Olive Delaney, secretary - treasurer Belleville and District Film Council Corby public library, Belleville, or any member of the Belleville and District Film Council will be pleased to serve you in this way.

"IT'S A DELIGHTFUL PLACE TO SHOP"

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

wants to marry her serviceman now—he says no

ould you advise me to wait is boy and take the chance never having an opportunity belong to him at all, to insist being married now, or to call the whole deal?"

Of course the 21-year-old young man who asks this question is lking about a boy who is in rvice. Her question has become familiar one through the years ce the United States initiated draft program "way back en."

Her story is an equally famil- r one:

"I have been going with a boy o 21 for the past six years. We d planned to be married this ar, but now he has been called to the Marines for 2 years is stationed a long way from where I ve, and doesn't know when he ill be sent overseas.

"When he was last home on ave, we discussed our marriage while I want to marry now insists that we wait until he is out of service. I feel that he were sure of his love for e he would not consider delaying our wedding. He says he loves e too much to run the risk of aving me a widow or perhaps ming home to burden a wife ith a crippled husband. I say at I would rather be his widow han just the girl he left behind, nd that I would love him regard- es of what injury might befall im."

And then she puts the question uoted at the beginning of this olumn, adding: "It would be hard or me to call off the whole deal, oving him as much as I do."

Now since this problem is one with which so many girls have to ope today, it is probably a good hing to repeat, once in awhile, ome of the things to which they hould give due consideration.

f Both Agree

In general, my idea is that if a g man and a young woman ve known each other well for a easonable number of years—well enough to be as certain as is humanly possible that they want to marry eventually—it is fair enough for them to marry before the young man goes away. This is only true, however, provided both young people want the marriage at that time.

In cases like the one described in the letter, where the young man prefers to wait for one reason or another, I doubt if it is wise to try and talk him into marriage. For whatever the reason he may give, the fact remains that basically he feels just a little unsure of his own feelings and so is aware that those feelings might change entirely during his separation from the girl.

Moreover, he is just as aware that it's perfecty possible the girl's feeling might change, a situ[illegible] which has broken up any number of marriages between servicemen and the young wives they left behind.

It's very hard for anyone as sure as this girl is that she is in love, to realize the effect a long separation can have on emotions. Many young couples bear up well under such a separation. Others do not. If, therefore, one or the other wishes to wait awhile I'm inclined to believe he or she should not be pushed into marriage.

If this young woman loves her fiance as much as she thinks and insists she does, she should be able to wait for him. It will give her an opportunity to demonstrate both to the young man and to herself the true nature of her love for him.

Special-Purpose Menu

Meatless but mouth-watering.

Curried Eggs with Rice
Chopped Spinach
Cubed Turnip in Parsley Sauce
Celery Hearts
Ambrosia Crackers and Cheese
Coffee

DIRECTIONS

You know I'm your friend don't you? and when I tell you this is one for the files you find it extra-super? Here is a recipe for a simple thing like curried eggs that answers all your desires for a satisfying egg dish. Clip it and try it.

CURRIED EGGS WITH RICE

Hard cook 8 eggs in simmering water. Peel and slice 3 medium onions or 1 average-sized Bermuda onion. Cook in plenty of salted boiling water 1 1-2 or 2 cups long-grain rice. Cook the onions without browning in 2 or 3 tablespoons butter. Sprinkle them with 1 tablespoon flour mixed with 1 tablespoon curry powder. Add 2 cups good chicken stock or chicken broth diluted with water to make 2 cups. Season with salt and pepper. Cook gently until the onions are tender, then add 1 cup hot thick cream or top milk and the eggs peeled and quartered. Heat well in top of double boiler. (Do not boil over direct heat.) When rice is tender drain it and rinse it with boiling water. Shape it into a ring on a hot platter, pour curry mixture in centre. Garnished with parsley and served with chutney this is an elegant and sophisticated dish.

The turnip dish rates company too. Cube turnip in 3-8-inch cubes. Boil in salted water until tender. Drain. In top of double boiler melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Stir in 2 tablespoons flour then 1 cup boiling water or vegetable liquid (not turnip water—it's too strong). Add 1-4 to 1-2 cup chopped parsley, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper and if available 1-2 teaspoon MSG. Add drained turnips and mix and heat through.

AMBROSIA

There are many versions of this sunny dish—but all call for fresh grated raw cocoanut and since they are coming on the market now it is an ideal time for this recipe. Be sure to save the cocoanut milk when you crack the cocoanut, and be sure to pare off all of the brown skin. Grate the cocoanut on a grater not a shredder.

(1) Simplest versions is to pile sections of large oranges freed from membrane in stemmed glasses. Sprinkle with a little sugar, then pile with 2 or 3 tablespoons freshly shredded cocoanut. Chill.

(2) Mix drained canned crushed pineapple, half and half with fresh orange sections, freed of membrane, in stemmed glasses. Pile with cocoanut, and pour 2 or 3 tablespoons pineapple juice over. Chill.

(3) Use method for No. 2 but add sliced maraschino cherries and use cherry juice to pour over.

(4) Pineapple-Marshmallow Ambrosia: 1-4 lb. marshmallows, 1 cup cream whipped, 1 1-2 cups shredded pineapple or drained crushed canned pineapple, grated raw cocoanut. Cut each marshmallow with scissors dipped in hot water into quarters or eighths. Mix with the pineapple and chill. Just before serving sprinkle dish with grated cocoanut and top with the whipped cream. If this is done in either a large serving dish or individual glasses pretty garnish is a few carefully placed pieces of pineapple and slices of maraschino cherry.

Women's Activities

TABERNACLE E.A.

The members of Tabernacle Evening Auxiliary attended in a body the mid-week Lenten service held at St. Andrew's Church.

After the service, the members went to the home of Mrs. Rowley. Mrs. Cowles, the president, opened the business discussion. Several reports were given and plans for the next meeting were made.

Mrs. Stanton had charge of the study book chapter, "Rescue and Redemptive Work of the United Church." Mrs. Stanton was assisted by Mrs. Dougherty and Miss Horton.

At the close of this portion of the program refreshments in honor of St. Patrick's were served by the committee, and a social half hour enjoyed.

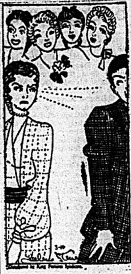
BEAUTY

HELEN JAMIESON

What do your eyes say?



3-19
Distributed by King Features Syndicate

Her eyes speak for her

The eyes can create an effect of beauty all by themselves, which quality places them above the other features of the face. Their charm lies not in color or shape, but in expressiveness. They reveal character more clearly than most of us realize. They tell tales; and those who are observing can read them like a book. We ask you, "What do your eyes say?"

Eyes can be warm or cold. When sweethearts exchange glances, the eyes send messages of love and adoration. The angry ill-natured woman will hand you a deep-freeze stare. There is no need of her saying anything. Her eyes speak for her.

Beware of shifty eyes. Something is going on in back of them, and it isn't nice. Akin to them are calculating eyes, whose owners are planning to get the best of somebody.

Note the eyes of the mother as she fondles her child. They speak pride and happiness. All of which should inspire every woman to make her eyes behave their prettiest. They should show animation, they should sparkle, they should smile. Then up goes the beauty rating like a thermometer in summer sunshine. No investment is entailed other than good nature.

Now let us consider eyes from the physical standpoint. Specialist are constantly being asked, "What shall I use in my eyes to keep them in a healthy condition?" The answer is, "Nothing, if they are normal." Under ordinary circumstances, the eye is a beautiful, self-lubricating, self-washing machine. Opening on the inner surface of the lids are little glands that secrete a small amount of oily substance.

With every movement of the lids some of that oil is carried across the surface of the cornea, preventing it from drying out. Whenever dust gets in the eyes the washing machine gets into action.

One should be alert to signs of impaired vision that reduces efficiency and sometimes has a deplorable effect upon the nervous system. Do your eyes tire after a short period of reading, or does the type blur? Do you have to bring the printed page closer than ten inches from your eyes? If so, it is time for you to hurry to an eye specialist.

The majority of women over forty should be wearing glasses. Many of these women are postponing the day because of vanity, and the penalty paid for vanity will appear in squint lines. One of the best rules for wrinkle proofing the tissues around your eyes is to eliminate eye strain.

16-year-old cousins to give joint birthday party

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My cousin, who lives in a suburb very near here, and I are having our 16th birthdays in the same week, the first week of May. Hers is on Tuesday of that week, and mine is on Thursday, and our mothers suggest we give a joint birthday party on Saturday afternoon of that week. (1) Would this be proper? (2) We would like to invite several mutual friends, and each of us wants to invite several friends that we don't both know. Before we buy the invitation-cards, we'd like your advice as to whether we should send separate invitations, or should we send the invitations together.— Amy and Deidre.

(1) Proper indeed, and a charming plan! I'm sure you'll have double fun at this double-party. (2) Since it is a joint birthday party, you should, I think, send all invitations in both names. (But I think you should each have your own birthday cake!)

Should she return his presents?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I just recently broke up with my boyfriend, and very many of my friends have suggested, or at least hinted, that I should give back to him the Christmas and birthday gifts that he gave me. The gifts were nothing personal, such as a ring or a hope chest. I feel that I don't have to give him back his gifts, as I do not want him to give back the Christmas and birthday gifts that I gave him. I have heard many people's side to my problem, but I would like very much to know what you think, Mrs. Beeckman.—Reader.

Since so many of your friends seem to be so very much concerned with your returning these presents, I find myself wondering if these present are not really quite "consequential". Else why all the concern about presents that were permissible for a girl to accept from a man friend on such occasions as Christmas and birthday? If the presents were really such things as books, records, perhaps a purse or something similar, it would not be necessary to return them.

Steam Baths Instead of Guns

German engineers who designed Hitler's guns and other machines of war now keep themselves occupied by designing gadgets of peace. This appliance, made in West Berlin, is a portable home Turkish bath. Milady just climbs into the oversize cylinder, turns on an infra-red lamp, watches a thermometer rise to 120 degrees before she shuts the heat off, and at the same time listens to the radio or telephones a friend. — Central Press Canadian.

Flier Jacqueline Cochran Says Women Can Always Outdo Men

Montreal. (CP) — Jacqueline Cochran, who climbed from a successful beauty parlor job to become one of the world's outstanding woman fliers, believes that "anything a man can do a woman can do better."

Miss Cochran was the only civilian woman to win the Distinguished Service Medal for her exploits in the Second World War. In 1938 she topped all pilots, men and women, to win the Bendix air race from Burbank, California, to Cleveland, Ohio.

In wartime she flew bomber planes across the Atlantic. Since then she has flown fighter planes and jets.

"Once over Indianapolis I was flying at 8,000 feet when the motor burst into flames just as I was starting a dive," she says. "I landed safely with blazing motor at 125 miles an hour. That was one time I was happy to step on solid ground again."

She won the Burke Harmon trophy as the world's outstanding woman flier in 1937, 1938 and 1939.

Looking back over her 20 years in the air she admits that she has had her share of close shaves, but still thinks that flying is wonderful."

On a recent visit to Montreal the famous flier was downhearted because she had to come here from New York by train—of all things. "It was the third time I've had to take a train in 18 years," she sighed.

LOGY, LISTLESS, OUT OF LOVE WITH LIFE?

Wouldn't you like to jump out of bed feeling fine?

Ends Career As Escort Of Deportees

Montreal, (CP) — Thirty-one years of service as a deportation officer have ended for Mrs. Eva Chevrier, of Montreal. She recently retired from the federal department of immigration.

As deportation officer she escorted women deportees to ships which would take them back to their homeland. Usually she had to bring them from far-flung parts of Canada.

Many of her charges were criminals or mental cases and while they were her responsibility she had to be with them constantly.

In some cases she was required to escort the deportee all the way home. One one occasion she accompained a deranged woman from Sudbury, Ont., to her home in Georgetown, British Guiana.

After Canada opened wide her doors to immigrants following the First World War, Mrs. Chevrier's department was kept busy. She remembers one whole month when she never slept in a bed.

"I am so used to sitting up nights that now I have trouble sleeping," she says.

While many of her charges were difficult, others had fallen into the 'undesirable' category through sheer bad luck or illness and personal sympthay for them made Mrs. Chevrier's job even more trying.

She first began the work in 1921 when her husband was still overseas with the armed forces. She has three children and five grandchildren.

Mrs. Gwen Pharis Ringwood Produces Successful Play With Alberta Background

By DON MATHESON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Edmonton (CP) — An Edmonton housewife has written a three-act comedy with an Alberta theme of oil and dinosaur bones. The "sold out" sign was hung up for all nine scheduled performances of "Widger's Way," by Gwen Pharis Ringwood, when it was produced at the Studio Theatre of the University of Alberta.

Mrs. Ringwood, mother of four young children, was commissioned to write the play by Robert Orchard, director of the theatre and assistant professor of drama at the university. He said he asked Mrs. Ringwood to write it because the art of the dramatist is not to create stories but to make them stage-worthy. Many great playwriters of the past had 'pinched great stories.'

Took Roman Plot

Working at home and writing "only in the morning," after she has popped her two youngest children into a nursery school, Mrs. Ringwood went away back for the skeleton of her plot. She took a work by the Roman dramatist Titus Maccius Plautus, born 254 B.C. The French playwright Moliere used the same play as the basis of his comedy, 'L'Avare,' or 'The Miser.'

Mrs. Ringwood turns the theme upside down, puts the action in an Alberta village, and uses Alberta characters, situations and "dramatic incident". Widger is a farmer who is none too successful until oil is found on his land.

Prof. Orchard said "Widger's Way" is "rich Canadian comedy".

"I read many Canadian scripts because it is our policy to stimulate Canadian playwrights where possible," he said. "But I find most of our Canadian plays are not stageworthy. They are not written by people who have the feeling of the stage, and they are not good stories."

Had Written Previously

He said he approached Mrs. Ringwood because she can write "plays for actors." She already had written nine one-act and three three-act plays and many short stories, and her work has been produced in Europe and the United States.

Mrs. Ringwood and the professor discussed the plot of Plautus' play in September. The first draft of "Widger's Way" was ready by November. Three more drafts followed, then the play went into six weeks of rehearsal, during which time it was constantly being rewritten.

"That's the inevitable result of this kind of work," said Prof. Orchard. "You're rehearsing a play as it is being written. It's one of the exacting and interesting things about it."

But Mrs. Ringwood isn't too sure.

"I don't think I'd like to do it again," she said. "It's too rushed." I'd like to take a year on the next one."

Women's Institute

ROSLIN W.I.

Roslin — The March meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joe Chisholm with fourteen ladies present. The president, Mrs. Slingerland, presided.

Several items of business were dealt with. Plans for the dinner in connection with the district project to be held in the hall on April 1st., were made. It was decided to send a delegate to the officers' conference in Guelph, April 30th., May 1st. and 2nd.

Conveners' reports were given on "Home Economics and Health" with a paper, "They Are Not Just Rags," given by Mrs. H. Sayers. "Public Relations and Community Activities" was given by Mrs. M. Fargey with an article "New Problem of Old Age."

The program opened with all singing "When Irish Eyes are Smiling." A paper on the motto, "Keep Fit, Keep Bright, Keep Going" was given by the leader, Miss Hazel Wilson.

A report of the Director of Women's Institute Branch and Home Economics Service, as prepared by Miss A. P. Lewis was given by Mrs. Don Chisholm.

During the social hour refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants.

TWEED

Tweed—Bill McGee accountant at the Royal York branch of the Bank of Montreal, Toronto, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. McGee last week.

Morris Sharp has left for Seven Islands, Quebec. He will be engaged there in construction work. He has been visiting with his mother, Mrs. David Owen in Campbellford.

Mr. Ralph Halligan and Sandy, of Kingston, and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fox, of Buffalo, N.Y., spent a recent weekend as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alley Dafoe.

A.F.-A.M. Banquet

The annual banquet of members of the Past Masters and Wardens Association of A.F. & A.M. of Prince Edward district was recently held in Tweed. Past Grand Master Prof. J. A. McCrae of Queen's University gave a fine address. His top'c "Masonic Education."

A total of 104 members were in attendance; chairman was president Arnold Gaebel, of Madoc, Ray Gunsolus was secretary. Past Master S. A. McCarey, of Tweed, was convener of the banquet.

Howard Gour.y, of Belleville, entertained at the piano with a male soloist from Belleville assisting.

L.S.C.K. "Bud" Gehan of H.M.C.S. "Naden", who has been home on sick leave has returned to Esquimalt, B.C., where he will take a special course.

Donald Martin R.R. 2, Tweed, who has been acting president of the Hastings Junior Farmers for the past six months was elected to the office at the annual meeting held recently at Stirling.

Miss Marie Duquette was presented recently with a travelling bag by 14 girl friends at the home of Miss Marilyn Countryman. Miss Duquette was employed in the office of Bob Collins for the past two years and is now working at the Belleville office since Mr. Collins' departure from Tweed.

With president Muriel Wood in charge, the regular monthly meeting of the Kinette Club was held at Braunley's Lodge. The play which the club is sponsoring will be presented in Tweed on April 21st. The nominating committee was appointed to draw up the slate of officers for next term.

Bridge and Euchre

Thirteen tables of euchre and four tables of bridge were played at the C.W.L. card party held last Wednesday. The winners for euchre were ladies', won by Mrs. Arthur Albert; men's, was won by Malika Cassidy; ladies' bridge, was won by Mrs. Fred Mitchell; men's, won by Mr. E. Wager. The door prize won by Mr. Malika Cassidy.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sedore will return to Tweed shortly and will occupy part of Bob Wood's residence on Jamieson Street. They have been making their home in Bancroft for the past two years.

Barry—To Sam and Theresa Barry (nee Trudeau) at Belleville General Hospital, a son, on Friday, March 7th.

Hunt—At Sulphide to Bernard and Helen Hunt, a son, Monday, March 10.

At the regular afternoon service of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church last Sunday, Mr. Williams and two other district representatives were present. Mr. Williams gave an excellent address on the work of the Gideons and the history of this organization.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Pack and family who occupied the Porritt home at Colborne and Spring Street have moved to Chapman. Mr. Pack who formerly was a member of the Tweed creamery staff was recently appointed cheese maker at Victoria Cheese Factory near Chapman.

The recent Red Cross appeal in this village and district on Tuesday was completed in one day with excellent results. The quota for Tweed and district was $1200, to date the donations amount to $941 with prospects of another $70 from the outside districts which are now being canvassed. However, more donations are expected and it is hoped Tweed will go over the top.

Home Purchased

Mrs. Lillie Perry of Cloyne, has purchased the fine home owned by Albert Maynes. The Maynes home situated on Victoria Street has been occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Bob White, the former is district representative of Canada Packers.

Mrs. Perry who disposed of her tourist business, Myers Cave Lodge, last year will take possession shortly. Mr. and Mrs. Maynes and Bob moved to Marmora over a year ago where they operate the Plaza theatre and the 5c to $1.00 store.

Albert Sherry and Leon Courneyea were the winners of hockey tickets, special prizes, of the draw sponsored by the Canadian Legion hockey club. The tickets included expenses to Toronto and railway fare to the recent Maple Leaf-Detroit Red Wing game.

A banquet will be held at Hotel Tweedsmuir on March 30th at 7.30 p.m. by Tweed council of the Knights of Columbus. There will be an exemplification of major degrees. A number of high ranking officers of the K. of C. from the entire district is expected.

Morris Graham, son of Reeve and Mrs. T. C. Graham who has been employed at the Prescott branch of the Bank of Montreal has been transferred to the Sudbury branch.

The guest speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Harmony club in St. John's United Church Sunday School rooms on Wednesday was Rev. ten Zythoff of Plainfield United Church.

His speech, "Holland Under Occupation" was listened to with rapt attention by the large group in attendance. He told of the actual experience and hardship of the Dutch people, and of being taken to Germany in the slave labor battalion, his escape and return to Holland. He has been in Canada for three and one-half months.

Open House

A large number of parents and friends of the children were present in the open house held in Tweed Consolidated School on Tuesday. Exhibits of the children's work in social studies were on display. Manual training, map reading, writing, art and other phases of the school program were on display in the various class rooms.

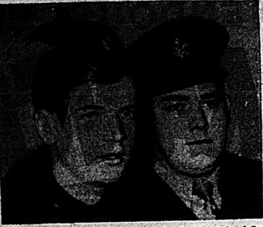
With the principal Mr. S. H. Connor acting as chairman a short program was given in one of the rooms.

Mr. G. W. Nelson, inspector of schools, who is inspector of Centre Hastings during Mr. A. W. McGuire's leave of absence spoke on some phases of school life.

Two excellent films were shown by Mr. A. W. Lemon, chief forester of Tweed branch of the Department of Lands and Forests. He first dealt with the salvage operations of valuable timber following the disastrous fire at Mississagi a few years ago. The second, an educational film on "Wild Life" in which three small bears were included.

Mr. Robt. E. Palmateer, chairman of the Board of Tweed Consolidated School and Mr. Frank Foster, board member spoke briefly.

17-Year-Old Charged With Murder



Harold Deneau, 17-year-old farmhand, left, in custody of Constable Jack McKendry, is charged with the murder of Sidney James Goff of Burketon, Ont. Deneau, an employee of Goff's who had come from the boys' school at Bowmanville, 12 miles away, was found in a vacant farmhouse a mile from where searchers found the body of Goff, a rope around his neck and his head battered with a blunt instrument. — Central Press Canadian.

Trenton Council to Prove Responsibility for Installing Sewer for Chemical Firm

Trenton (Special) — Council agreed as a whole to prove responsibility of installing a sewer into the Canadian Tar and Chemical property on Marmora Street.

The creosoting company had asked for immediate action and the matter was discussed by council last night.

Council claims that the Public Utilities Commission is responsible for the service. E. R. Smithrim, manager of the local utilities, disclaims liability.

Town solicitor Ramsay Park advised that the P.U.C. was obligated as long as the company could show that the sewer was needed for fire protection. The creosoting concern has agreed to pay half of the cost of laying the pipeline and installing a hydrant.

Burtt Disturbed

Councillor Ross Burtt seemed disturbed to the extent that he brought to the attention of his colleagues, that a fire breaking out among the treated poles would be serious. He was of the opinion that the P.U.C. was obliged to give the plant fire protection.

Acting Mayor Charles Allore backed his fellow councilmen and called for action. "I certainly think we should stand behind our industries," he commented.

The solicitor will write the P.U.C. manager requesting that the utilities meet the chemical company's demands.

Of the four applicants applying for the job of building inspector, William Anderson was hired at a salary of $1,040 per year. Two others, James F. Day and W. H. Turney, asked for $100 a month and Eddie Rutter wanted $125 a month.

Councillor Burtt moved that Anderson be appointed and Councillor Reg. Armstrong seconded the motion.

Acting Mayor Allore was firm when he suggested that a proper building code be drawn up either by the new building inspector or other parties. He proposed the code now in force by the city of Belleville or any other set-up that was not outdated.

Application made by Mrs. Gladys Willman, 97 Byron Street, for a location of a hot dog stand on her property was rejected without prejudice and on the principle that location of a stand would lower the value of residential property in the area. A petition signed by a number of Byron Street dwellers accompanied Mrs. Willman's application. A neighbor living across the street served notice on council that he would appeal his assessment if council granted a licence for the hot dog stand. He claimed the stand would decrease the value of his property.

Banfield Concerned

Councillor Norman Banfield, concerned about the danger of children falling into the harbor while playing around the partly sunken towing boat tied up at the government dock, suggested the town put up a snow fence around it. Councillor Burtt was quick to inform the council that the dock property belonged to the federal government and was under the jurisdiction of the parks board. Mr. Burtt prompted smiles from fellow councillors when he remarked: "The last time we tangled with the parks board it was disastrous". It was decided that council advise the parks board of the hazard.

The soliciter was requested to advise the four tenants of the old stone house on Ontario Street, that the building was condemned and they were living there at their own risk.

This action resulted from a report from councillor Burtt that stones were falling out of the walls, creating a peril to the inhabitants and responsibility to the town in case anyone was injured.

To Purchase Pump

Councillor Clifford Gunter was given the signal to purchase a $1,500 pump for the pumphouse at north Trenton. At present one pump is handling the entire load and if it should break down the results would be costly. The chairman of sanitation asked for an open drainage ditch for the Sidney Street housing area and investigation of the flooding problem on Water Street in north Trenton.

Council will ask Dominion Management Associates to correct a typographical error in the $2,000 survey purchased last July.

Council was told by W. H. Heaney and Son, plumbers, that covering of asbestos over the steam heating pipes in the town office would provide more heat and save money.

Placing of refuse cans with national advertising on them at various points in the town, is under consideration.

OBJECTIVE REACHED

Trenton (Special)—Red Cross officials announced today that the objective of $2,500 from collections in Trenton and outlying areas had been reached and there were still several places to hear from. The gross the canvass brought in amounted to $2,524 to date.

LADIES' NIGHT SUCCESS

Trenton (Special) — Trenton Legion's first ladies' night was an outstanding success, with nearly 100 attending. The function, held on the evening of St. Patrick's birthday was restricted to Legionnaires and their ladies and members of the Ladies' Auxiliary and their better halves.

Much of the credit goes to Legionnaire Bill Lawson and his committee.

"GHOST" ISSUE

Toronto, March 19 — (CP)—A "ghost" issue of the University of Toronto newspaper Varsity appeared on the campus yesterday, two weeks after publication of the daily paper was suspended because of a gag issue. This latest issue, without bylines or names of editors, was devoted mostly to comment on actions and reactions which followed publication of the controversial March 5 issue.

MOST NORTHERLY BANK

Regina, March 19 — (CP) — H. D. White will leave shortly to open what is believed Canada's most northerly bank and the only one-man branch of the Royal Bank of Canada. It will be at Port Radium in the Northwest Territories, 1,100 miles north of Edmonton.

Trenton Firemen Help to Fight Belleville Blaze

Trenton—(Special)—Old timers can't remember any other time the Trenton Fire Department went to the aid of their Belleville brothers.

Today half the strength of the local brigade is standing by in the hall on duty here in case any emergency arises. The other half is either fighting alongside Belleville firemen or resting at home after a hectic night battling the Bridge and Front streets conflagration in Belleville.

Those Trenton firemen to see action in Belleville so far include: Chief Harry Fillon, Gerald Lewis and volunteers Bob Mitts, Ernie Newton, Cecil Ellis, Charlie Drake, Jim Thompson, Frank Sager, Morris Mitts and Elmer Stacey.

A call from Belleville summoned the Trenton firefighters at 1.30 a.m. and in a few minutes they had covered the 10 miles and were ready to hook up their hoses and take their places with the Belleville firemen. The reflection in the sky was noticed soon after the local pumper reached the eastern limits of the town and grew brighter and brighter as the truck drew closer to Belleville.

Actually the Trenton brigade was repaying a favor extended by the Belleville department nearly 40 years ago when fire burned out the Sutcliffe dry goods store and the Haines shoe store and threatened the whole business section of Trenton before the First World War. At that time, the Trenton steam pumper broke down, recalled Fire Chief Harry Fillon and immediate relief was needed from Belleville.

In the last two months two disastrous fires have struck in the Trenton and Belleville area. The worst hit the RCAF repair depot across the road from Middleton Park housing area, causing $2,000,000 damage and loss to a huge aircraft hangar and valuable airplanes and equipment.

Only comparable disaster levelled the British Chemical plant here during World War I.

President Takes Command Of Democractic Drive After Bowing Out of Calif. Primary

Key West, Fla., March 19 (AP)—President Truman apparently has taken personal charge of future political strategy for himself and the Democratic party.

This impression arose from a series of conferences with Democratic National Chairman Frank E. McKinney which ended with one positive result:

McKinney, acting on Truman's orders, directed party officials in California to withdraw the president's name from that state's primary election June 3.

Regardless of whether Truman plans to seek re-election or not, he appears determined to take personal command of the situation and carry out his original intention—to stay out of all primaries. He has called presidential preferential primaries "eyewash."

This determination could not have been lessened any by the spectacular vote in New Hampshire primary by Tennessee's Senator Estes Kefauver, who grabbed all of the state's convention delegates away from the president.

Fifteen states, in addition to New Hampshire, have primaries in election years, enabling voters to namet heir own popular choices for president. In most cases the primaries are mere popularity contests and delegates to the national nominating conventions are not bound by the vote.

Ready For Moves

One thing appeared certain in the minds of the men near Truman—he is ready to make some drastic moves in the months before the Democratic National convention to regain prestige lost by his New Hampshire defeat.

Truman didn't want his name left on the ballot in New Hampshire. He didn't want to make a campaign until he had decided definitely whether to seek re-election. He is believed bitterly disappointed that his own judgment was swayed by New Hampshire Democratic leaders who persuaded him with McKinney's help to change his mind.

Meanwhile, the president made it clear again he has no intention of relieving Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe unless Eisenhower personally requests it.

The latest word from Eisenhower a letter made public by House Republicans in Washington yesterday, said "no other job of mission that I can discharge seems more important than the one in which I am now engaged." But he said he would "regularly re-examine" the situation.

'Mr. X' Married Recently in Africa

Merrickville, Ont., March 19. (CP)—Harry McLean, 67, eccentric Merrickville millionaire who earned the title of "Mr. X" for his spontaneous handing out of money, was married during a recent trip to South Africa, a business associate said today.

The friend, who declined to allow the use of his name, said only that the millionaire construction executive had married Margaret C. Fitzpatrick in a ceremony performed by a Roman Catholic priest.

Mr. McLean was identified some years ago as the mysterious "Mr. X" who became a noted figure for his habit of handing out currency and giving hundred-dollar tips to taxi drivers and others.

Merrickville is 40 miles south of Ottawa.

HIDDEN REFUGEE

Existence on Pitcairn Island of the mutineers from the Bounty was not discovered until 1808, or 18 years later.

14 IMPRISONED

Naples, Italy, March 19. (Reuters)—Fourteen British sailors from the liner Rusbotanic were imprisoned last night after a street brawl in which three local policemen were injured. Police said the sailors were singing in one of the main streets. The sailors attacked the policemen who were called to quiet them but were finally arrested.

MANY MOVIE FANS

Halifax — (CP) — A report by the Provincial Board of Censors showed more than 9,686,600 admissions were paid to the 79 movie theatres in Nova Scotia in 1950, more than 100,000 higher than the previous year. Figures for the part of last year indicated a continued increase.

AFRICAN LAKE

Lake Victoria in Uganda is the world's second-largest freshwater lake, exceeded only by Lake Superior.

Explosions Shake Trenton Cause Remains Mysterious

Trenton (Special) —Several shattering blasts rocked Trenton Tuesday afternoon, shaking foundations and rattling windows and dishes, particularly in the west end of the town. One woman, frightened by one of the explosions suffered a slight heart attack. Hundreds of other residents tensed when the reports resounded throughout the community.

Strangely, the source of the explosions has not been traced. Police figured workmen were blasting sewers in the south Dufferin St. area, but Jack Vanalstine, handling the job, reported his men did not use dynamite during the day.

Others placed the blame on the bombing range near Nicholson's island off Consecon, but a check revealed that no missiles were dropped in the afternoon. A town official was of the opinion that one of the construction firms at the air station set off the blasts. However, his belief was not varified today.

Meanwhile, a factory executive complained about the windows rattling in his office and housewives in the southwest section where disturbed when the sharpest report shook dishes on the shelves.

An air enthusiast suggested that the blasts could be supersonic shock waves set up by jet planes passing through the sound barrier. These blasts have been reported at North Bay, where jets are stationed and fly training practices.

THE LAST STAND

It is surely an astonishing oversight in the realm of social combat that no one—not even Emily Post—has dealt with the problem of how to get people to go home once you've deployed them as far as the hall.

Getting them that far is no trick. I find that if I yawn luxuriously or knead my eyes or make some remark about how late its getting or, in extreme cases, begin ostentatiously winding an alarm clock, they'll take the hint. It's very seldom I have to snarl "go home."

"Well, we really must be going," they say. Everyone gets up and makes for the hall. They get into their coats. They say the customary hypocrisies.

And nobody leaves.

I don't know what it is about the hall that gets people so loquacious. People who haven't done anything all night but sneeze and eat Cheezies will suddenly burst forth in a spate of anecdotes.

There is one particular friend who needs merely put a hand on the door-knob to be launched into a half dozen delayed-action stories.

I find myself standing on one foot, then the other, my face contorted into a mask of feigned interest, laughing at all the wrong places and occasionally murmuring, "Well, it was nice having you."

". . . and then the man on the desert island cried, 'There go my Sundays'!" a guest will shout, winding up some interminable story and wheezing with laughter.

"Well, it was nice having you," I mumble, putting my arm about him and guiding him gently toward the door.

"I must tell you the one about the Sheik and the prayer rug. ." the man will protest.

And I feel the glaze coming over my eyes again.

The hall does not seem to have the same immediate effect on the women. They stand around waiting for the males to finish their stories. That accomplished, everyone says goodnight for the seventh time. I open the door, shrinking back as a chill blast of air sweeps in upon us.

It is then that the women remember all the unfinished business of the evening.

There will be a luncheon date to be arranged, for example, and while I am swiftly developing a case of double pneumonia, the ladies will go into details that make the Panmunjom peace talks seem almost spontaneous.

It is a desperate time for me. I could close the door and thus lengthen my life. Ah, but if I close the door, that will start the men talking again, and it might be years before we ever got out of this wind-tunnel. I look at myself in the hall mirror and see the face of a man trapped and rapidly growing frantic.

It is in these times that my mind races about concocting wild schemes to clear the hall so that I may [illegible]le off to my Ovaltine and nembutal.

There was, for exampde, the diabolic plan I made for the interlocking system of doors. With three front doors, in layers, I reasoned, I could make the grand gesture of flinging open the portal, thus making my intention clear yet protecting myself from the weather. By the time I'd got to the third door the guests would be ready to hurl themselves out into the street.

I thought, too, of installing a button in the hall which I might press surreptitiously with the heel of my shoe. This would put on a record of a baby crying. "Oh," I would say, "I must go to baby" and, waving gaily, I would hurry off to bed.

But best of all I like to think, was the idea of the Vertical Bed in the hall itself! I could use this merely as a prop, glancing meaningfully at it from time to time, but if the guests persisted in hanging on I would stand there under the covers looking hard at them. That ought to do it.

I thought of a Horizontal Bed, but that wouldn't be polite.

MARSH HILL

Public School Holds Parents' Night

Marsh Hill—Parents night was held last Thursday evening at Marsh Hill School. The guests were welcomed by the teacher, Mrs. Good.

On the blackboards were samples of the senior grade's work. Hanging also were samples of the pupils' writing and art. Two senior boys had drawn pictures depicting the nursery rhymes, "Three Blind Mice," and "To Market to Buy a Fat Pig."

After the children sang "Good Evening to You" Douglas Brenton, who was chairman for the evening, welcomed the parents and friends on behalf of the pupils.

Two-Part Songs

The junior and senior pupils sang several songs, and the seniors also sang two-part and three part songs.

The junior group boys sang the hymn, "Jesus Loves Me," and the girls sang, "'God's Dark."

The pupils were accompanied at the piano by the music supervisor Miss Grace Pitman.

Marilyn Finkle and Wayne Campbell favored with piano solos.

Grades 1, 2, 3, gave examples of their memory work.

The Rhythm Band, who are playing from score, played a selection. They also showed how they had learned it.

Mrs. Good thanked everyone for coming and invited them to feel free to examine the pupils' books.

Mr. William Slater, chairman of the board, thanked Mrs. Good and the pupils for the fine program, stating that he was sure the pupils were doing fine work under the leadership of their teacher.

Two films were shown, "Mackenzie River Basin," and a health one "Stanley Takes a Ride".

Refreshments were served and the national anthem brought an interesting and educational evening to a close.

Plane Has 1,000 Raids Over Korea

A grand old girl is Miss Jacque II, as these veterans of the 136th U.S. Bomber Wing in Korea are ready to testify. Here they point with pride as they inspect the impressive record of the Thunderjet which recently completed its 364th combat sortie. Its 1,000th hour in the air was clocked off when Miss Jacque II completed a mission over Sinanju, in North Korea, and her crew believe it is a record for U.N. craft flying over Korea. — Central Press Canadian.

BEST O' LUCK YOUNKERS!

Tonight the junior Hawks stand on the threshold of the toughest test of their young hockey career. They trek to Barrie to take on the unknown quality of the Barrie Flyers junior "B" in the first of their home-and-home round-robin series. Much has been said anent the ability of the Hawks to "take" the Flyers. Be that as it may. That has been "malarkey" ever since Goliath figured that one-rounder with David was "in the bag". It was.

The Hawks left early this afternoon in fine fettle and fully confident they can take Hap Emms' "B" edition. They are in good shape and will be at full strength barring last-minute accidents. The Flyers will be back here on Friday night in the second tilt of the home-and-home series, and then for the Weston Dukes.

MISSION COMPLETED!

Turn on your air conditioner before you peruse this pair of columnar gems. They're from the Peterborough scribe whose informant apparently was not present or got his signals crossed. At least the "murder" is out and the Kawartha scribe admits that the Petes played the Links juniors solely on the say-so of the resident OHA executive, and because "they felt" they were entitled to junior help because they had some arrangement seven years ago.

Gem No. 1.—

"In Toronto Saturday aft, the OHA sub-committee checked into Belleville Hawks' protest on the Petes using several junior players recently. Jim Ellis and Baz Phelan represented the local club at the session. The OHA tossed out the protest, saying that the Petes had sponsored a junior hockey team here for a great many years and finally had given their junior franchise in 1945 to the Oddfellows. With the Oddfellows out of contention now, they felt that the Petes were entitled to bring some of them up to senior "B" ranks. It was admitted that Hawks had a point, but the Petes had acted in good faith by getting the okay on the juniors' use from Frank Buckland of the OHA".

Some time ago the bleat came out of Kingston because the Eagles default to Saco had left the New Memorial Centre "holding the bag" so to speak. Had sold oodles of tickets, advertising etc. Now the bleat emanates from the other set of columnar tonsils. Peterborough emits a loud squawk because the Eagles set back a playoff date saying they had an exhibition date with Cornwall. With the permission of the OHA prexy. Seems as how the Civic Arena lost a date, too. All of which may be poetic justice or "you hit me and I'll hit you". And it beats the old dickens how careful these boys are about getting OHA permission.

K'S PULL THE OLD STALL

"At a recent group meeting on playoffs, it was decided to start finals two days after the semi-finals were over. But Kingston has thrown a monkey-wrench into thisgs now by arranging an exhibition game tonight with Cornwall. Said they had the okay of Prexy Jack Roxburgh of the OHA, sort of to make up for the game they didn't play at home last Wednesday with Eaglex. A fine business, eh. It throws Civic Arena out of a playoff game this week."

However with Rodden playing the Sacs and Perdue tub-thumping for the Petes, they could set a tune to what appears to be the gist of the whole set-up.

Oh, what care we for rules or books
For to save our hockey necks,
Residing in our little towns
We've O. H. A. execs.

MINOR CHAMPIONSHIPS TOMORROW!

Tomorrow night the midget and juvenile championships for 1952 will be decided at Memorial Arena.

In the midget loop starting at seven o'clock the Quinte Battery faces Canadian Tire in the sudden-death battle.

At 8.30 the Glen Roys and Belleville Lock will clash for the juvenile title in another sudden-death affair.

All four teams have played topflight hockey during the season and are very evenly matched. The games tomorrow night should be productive of some outstanding hockey and the youngsters deserve a lot of public support. Drop in and see these stars of the future battle for their respective titles and trophies.

ON THE AIR!

The Belleville Hawks-Barrie Flyers junior "B" playoff game tonight will be broadcast over CJBQ starting at 9:30.

Boston Clinches Fourth Spot By Defeating Chicago 4-0; Schmidt Scores 200th Goal

By CRAIG SWAYZE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Last night was the biggest hockey night in Boston in years.

The Bruins not only downed Chicago Black Hawks 4-0 to clinch a berth in the 1952 Stanley Cup playoffs, but veteran team-captain Milt Schmidt scored his 200th National Hockey League goal, while Bobby Bauer—back in uniform after five years of retirement for a Schmidt-Dumart-Bauer appreciation night—notched one of his own.

The Boston victory hoisted the club safely into permanent possession of fourth place in the six-team league and scuttled any hope the fifth-place New Yorkers had of gaining a spot in the post-season eliminations.

Second Largest Crowd

The win increased Boston's margin over the New Yorkers to seven points and the Rangers have only three games to play.

A crowd of 12,658 fans—second largest in Boston this season—turned out to view the proceedings. They watched pre-game ceremonies when the famous trio who burned up the N. H. L. from 1936 to 1947 were presented with numerous gifts and then saw them share in all four of the Bruins' goals.

Schmidt banged in the game's second goal—his 200th in N. H. L. play—and assisted on all three of the others. Bauer notched the third marker and helped with Schmidt's while Dumart also gave Schmidt a helping hand on his.

Ed Kryzanowski netted Boston's first goal after Real Chevrefils clicked for the fourth Bruin marker. The shutout was Sugar Jim Henry's seventh of the season and the game, Boston's sixth straight without a loss.

In tallying his 200th goals on an eight-foot backhander that had goalie Harry Lumley fooled all the way, Schmidt became the fifth active N. H. L. player to reach the mark. The others are Dumart, Maurice Richard of Montreal, Max Bentley of Toronto and Bill Mosienko of Chicago.

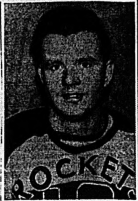
He received a tremendous ovation from the crowd for scoring the goal which brought to 525 the total production of the Kraut line—as the famous trio was affectionately known to the sporting world. Dumart has 202 goals while Bauer's single last night boosted his record to 123.

President Clarence Campbell opened the game by presenting the famous three with silver watches for "the outstanding service to hockey." Then Schmidt and Dumart received inscribed silver trays and Bauer, a silver pitcher from Boston's sports writers.

Even the children were in on the receiving line. Nancy and Milt Schmidt, Jr., and Bruce Dumart were given bicycles from Boston Garden ushers.

Among the other gifts received by the trio were movie cameras, radios, golf shoes, raincoats, silver fruit bowls, shirts, hats, jackets, cigaret lighters, groceries, record players and a six months supply of ice cream.

Two games are schedule in the N. H. L. tonight. Montreal Canadiens, a single point in front of the third-place Maple Leafs, move into Toronto for a game that could decide the runner-up spot, while the Bruins visit New York for a tilt with the Rangers.



COACH "RED" DORAN

Who leads his group champion Hawks into junior "B" action against the Barrie Flyers tonight in Barrie. "Red" is confident his charges will win but realizes that no hockey game is over until the last whistle blows. Barrie plays the return game here Friday night.

Gary Schreider Favored In Track Meet

Montreal, March 19 (CP)—Top-ranking juvenile stars entered in the 500-yard race at the Canadian Legion's eastern Canada indoor track championships Friday night will likely provide a wide-open tussle for the honors.

Laird Sloan of Montreal and Don Aitken, Gary Schreider and Kent Assam all of Toronto, are among the leading contenders.

Sloan, running for the Montreal track and field club, won the Canadian and Quebec trophies as the outstanding midget runner of 1951. He holds the eastern Canadian indoor 500-yard title in the midget division with the record time of 1.06.6.

Assam, from the Queen City Spikes Club, was second to Sloan in the event at last year's Legion meet.

Aitken holds the Canadian juvenile 880-yard record of 2:03.3. He ran second to Dick Harding of Ottawa Glebe Collegiate who won the 440-yard 1951 Canadian juvenile title in 52.4. Harding is running in the junior division this year.

Schreider, a clubmate of Aitken in the Toronto track club, won the junior 60 and 600-yard events at the recent Hamilton dash last summer.

Tacoma Rockets Tie With Royals

(By The Canadian Press)

Tacoma Rockets blew a three-goal lead last night and then had to rally to gain a 3-3 tie with New Westminster Royals in a Pacific Coast Hockey League game.

In other league contests Seattle Ironmen defeated Calgary Stampeders 6-5, Saskatoon whipped Edmonton Flyers 3-1 and Vancouver Canucks edged Victoria Cougars 3-2.

The one point for the Tacoma-New Westminster tie created a PCHL record for most points —89— scored in one season. The league-leading Royals also set the old mark, 88.

Tacoma marksmen were Mark Marquess, Wayne Brown, Barton [illegible] and Bill Davidson. Royals' goal-getters were Bob Love, Jake Forbes, Gordy Fashoway and Butch Houle.

Seattle's win moved them into fourth place, a point ahead of Edmonton. Ray Ceresino set the scoring pace with two goals and other Ironmen goals were by Bill Richardson, Stan Maxwell, Joe Bell and George Homenuke. Playing coach Hank Blade scored twice for Calgary while Archy Scott, Frank Ashworth and Bill Shvetz got the others.

Saskatoon consolidated its hold on second place. Bob Manso, Alex Kaleta and Johnny Chad were the scorers and the only Edmonton goal was by Colin Kilburn.

Vancouver practically assured themselves of the sixth and last playoff berth. Their marksmen were Ron Plumb, Larry Popein and Ed Leier. Cougars goals were by Bob Frampton and Andy Hebenton.

'Slim' Blackwell Not a No-Hitter Hopes He Never Gets One--Says He

Tampa, Fla., March 19 (AP) — Ewell (The Whip) Blackwell, one of the three active National League pitchers who have hurled no-hit, no-run games, hopes he never pitches another—so help him Hannah.

The lean, lanky, Cincinnati right-hander, who astounded the baseball world by reeling off 16 consecutive triumphs in 1947, blames all the bad luck that followed on the no-hitter he turned in that year.

After racking up 22 victories in '47, Blackie suffered arm trouble in '48 and his victory total dropped to seven. He underwent a kidney operation the following year and was able to win only five games.

No No-Hitters

Although Blackwell came back strong, winning 33 games during the next two seasons, he couldn't quite hit the 20 victory mark again.

"No more no-hitters for me if I can help it," moaned Blackie. "Call it superstition, if you like. But facts are facts. For 26 years I never had the slightest trouble with my kidneys. Then I pitch the no-hitter and that darn thing nearly kills me.

"If you don't think no-hitters bring nothing but grief, look at what happened to the other pitchers who have turned in hitless games in the last few years. Look what happened to poor Rex Barney. He's out of the league now and he's still a young fellow. Don Black was almost killed by a pitched ball and had to quit baseball. Bill McCahan, Dick Fowler and Ed Head came up with sore arms.

"The only fellows who haven't suffered after pitching a no-hitter were Bob Feller and Bob Lemon. Allie Reynolds pitched two of 'em last season. Let's see what he does in '52."

MUST PAY $1,500

Kingston, March 19 (CP) — The Ontario Municipal Board yesterday ruled that the township of Amherst Island must compensate Hugh Perry of nearby Napanee $1,500 for the portion of the Perry telephone system located on the island. It was expropriated by the township some time ago.

Although Mr. Perry contended that the system was worth $9,000, the municipal board ruled it had no value except for salvage and set the $1,500 figure.

CAMPBELLFORD

Midget Hockey Title Won By Campbellford

Campbellford, March 19. — The Campbellford O.H.M.A. Midget 'C' team captured the Ontario championship by defeating the Kincardine team 7 to 3 in the community centre here on Saturday night.

Fifteen hundred cheering fans watched the encounter, in which Campbellford emerged with a 12 to 9 lead on the round. This was the first time an eastern Ontario team has captured the honor. A presentation was made on the ice at the conclusion of the game, with Jack Christie of Toronto, secretary of the O.M.H.A., and Albert Watkins, O.M.H.A. convener of Peterborough, doing the honors. Captain Glen 'Buck' Wilson, of Campbellford, received the cup from Mr. Watkins. The cup, the R. W. Matchett Trophy, symbolizes the Ontario championship.

The local lads, coached by Howard Wilson, plowed six other teams under in the semi-finals to gain the chance at playing the Kincardine team. Norwood, Wellington, Stirling, Bobcaygeon, Richmond Hill, and finally Kincardine, in that order, bowed to defeat.

The game had fans on the edge of their seats, and those who could find standing room only, on their toes, throughout the entire 60 minutes.

Goalie Eddie West and Captain Glen Wilson were outstanding for the locals, while McKay in the Kincardine net was the most effective member of his team. The visitors were by far the cleanest and best bunch of sportsmen the local lads have had the opportunity to play against this season, and their brand of hockey is very similar to that of the Campbellford boys. Both teams work as a team, and team spirit is high.

At the end of the game, fans swarmed on the ice to congratulate the teams, who were already congratulating each other. Goalkeeper Eddie West of Campbellford was carried about the ice on the shoulders of his teammates.

Dr. W. W. Baker of the Campbellford Rotary Club, which sponsors the team, thanked the fans for their support throughout the season and thanked Coach Howard Wilson and manager Lloyd Taylor for their help in making the team champions.

Lineup:

Campbellford—Goal, Ed West; defence, Jim Baker, Jack Petherick; centre Jack Garvey; wings, Doug Dooher, Glen Wilson; alternates, Paul Girard, B. Potts, Bill Gibson, G. Ferguson, Paul Hendricks, Jason Field, David Ingram, J. Hagerman, Jack Holmes.

Sheet Metal Scores 6-4 Win Over Area G.

Advancing to a five-goal lead in the first two periods of play, Sheet Metal scored a 6-4 win over Area G in the first game of a best-of-three final series in the Northern Electric Hockey League.

The Sheet Metalmen took a 2-0 lead at the end of the first period, scored three more in the second without a reply, but were outscored 4-1 in the final frame. Their early game drive was enough to carry them through to a win however.

York and Bell paced the winner scoring three and two goals respectively, each adding an assist. Salter scored the other tally while assisting on one, Rossetti and Whalen each adding an assist.

Jones fired three third-period goals in a losing cause with Bone garnering the other one. Jones, Moore and Cornell each picked up an assist.

Whalen drew the only penalty in the tilt officiated by Peter Jones and Bob Hatfield.

Sheet Metal: Goal, Hughes; defence, York, Rosebush; centre, Rossetti; wings, Jewel, Wood. Subs Salter, Hatfield, Longhurst, Ruppel, Draycott, Whalen, Bell, Totten, Shore.

ONE DIVORCE IN SIX

London, March 19. (Reuters)—One in every six British marriages ends in divorce and nearly one in every six brides is pregnant on her weddng day, Joseph Brayshaw, general secretary of the National Marriage Guidance Council, said yesterday. Speaking on the stability of marriage, he said the main reason for the increasing number of marriage failures is that equality between men and women has wrecked the old-fashioned concept of marriage.

Boston Honors Great Kraut Line In Fine Ceremonial Display

Boston, March 19 — (AP) Milt Schmidt, Woody Dumart and little Bobby Bauer — Boston Bruins' great kraut line reunited for the first time since 1947 — were honored last night by 12,658 fans.

In ceremonies prior to the Bruins-Chicago Black Hawks game designated as "Schmidt - Dumart night," the trio received gifts from the fans, players, hockey writers and broadcasters, Garden management and Garden employees.

Schmidt and Dumart each were presented with substantial cheques from their thousands of rooters.

The famed line figured in all four goals the Bruins scored to clinch a playoff berth by beating the Black Hawks 4-0.

Schmidt Gets 200th

Schmidt tallied his 200th goal late in the second period on a close-up shot with Dumart and Bauer assisting. Schmidt assisted on three other goals, one of them by Bauer early in the third period.

The trio first played together in 1936 and became known as the kraut line, one of the National Hockey League's most famous forward lines. Bauer, who retired in 1947, rejoined his former teammates for last night's game.

Schmidt received a tremendous ovation from the crowd — second largest here this season — as he notched his double-century goal.

Tallies by Schmidt and Bauer brought the kraut line's total goals to 525. Schmidt has 200, Dumart 202 and Bauer 123.

Clarence Campbell, National Hockey League president, presented each of the trio silver watches for their outstanding service to hockey.

Walter A. Brown Bruins' president, presented sterling silver services to Schmidt and Dumart.

Schmidt and Dumart received inscribed silver trays and Bauer a silver pitcher from Tom Fitzgerald of the Boston Globe for the hockey writers and sportscasters.

The Garden Ushers Association gave bicycles to Nancy and Milt Schmidt, Jr., and Bruce Dumart.

Among other gifts received by the trio were movie cameras, trans-oceanic portable radios, golf shoes, raincoats, sterling silver fruit bowls, wool shirts, felt hats, golf jackets, six months supply of ice cream, cigaret lighter sets, cases of peanut butter and soap, and electric juke boxes each with 120 records.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

Burbank, Calif., March 19 (AP)—Speaking as one of the fairly modern generation who did not see Ty Cobb at his best and has never understood how it was possible for a ball player to run the bases the way they say Ty did, we are looking forward to this coming season with something more than normal curiosity.

The reason is that Rogers Hornsby says he has a man who is the closest thing to a throwback to Cobb he has seen, a fellow who will have permission to run almost as he pleases, and who will prove to a lot of skeptics brought up in the era of the rabbit ball that the old-timers aren't just dreaming.

If you've followed the sports pages at all this spring you know the player—Jim Rivera, a 30-year-old outfielder coming up to the St. Louis Browns from Seattle, where he helped Hornsby win a coast league flag last year with a .352 batting average and 33 stolen bases and just about every other honor that wasn't nailed down.

"He's the only player in the game today I'd pay my way into the park to see," Hornsby says seriously. "He's the only man since Cobb with the speed and the instinct to run a catcher and an infield crazy. He's a little tight now. He's been reading them clippings about himself. But wait until he settles down. He'll show you base-running like you never saw before.

"Maybe it doesn't make sense to you," Hornsby said, "but you'll see. Rivera will run, and he'll get away with it. What do you think they were using for throwing arms when Cobb was running?"

We said we often had wondered about that.

"Them catchers," Hornsby said, "could throw as good as any around today, and some of them a lot better. There was one rookie catcher, I remember, name of Kling. He told the newspaper boys that he was looking forward to seeing Cobb try to run against him. He was going to throw him out every time. Ty must've read it

(By The Canadian Press)

Joey Stelmach, who last year played shortstop for the Central Ontario Baseball League champions, Brockville Memos, has been signed by St. Thomas for its 1952 Intercounty Loop schedule.

St. Thomas manager Andy Hershock, who piloted the Brockville club in 1951, made the announcement yesterday. Stelmach served with the United States marines in the Pacific theatre during the Second World War and played semi-pro ball in his native Chicago before going to the marines.

As lead-off man with Brockville last year he batted .312 and was a defensive star all season.

Dates and venue of four top cycling events were announced yesterday by the Canadian Wheelmen's Association. They are: the Olympic trials May 3 at Victoriaville, Que.; The 50-mile Canadian race at Montreal Sept. 14; the Canadian track racing championships at Winnipeg, July 31 and Aug. 1 and the Canadian open 150-mile road race Aug. 4 from Winnipeg to Kenora.

Sammy Snead stroked a steady two-under-par 70 yesterday to grab the first-round lead in the 36-hole $10,000 Seminole pro-amateur golf tournament at Palm Beach, Fla. Tied for second in the field of 52 pros were Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., Henry Picard of Cleveland Johnny Palmer of Badin, S. C., and Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex. All had 71s.

Ria and Paul Falk, Germany's world and Olympic pairs figure skating champions, will leave by air Friday for the United States and Canada where they will give exhibitions. A tentative schedule calls for them to appear in St. Catharines April 24-26.

The Stratford Badminton Club for class "B" players, which usually draws players from every club in western Ontario, will be held March 26-30.

Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League overwhelmed Chatham Maroons of International Hockey League 10-2 in an exhibition game last night at Chatham. A capacity crowd of 2,860 turned out for the game staged in recognition of Rosy Stoddart, a former Red Wing, now owner and manager of the Maroons.

The New York State Athletic Commission yesterday returned a $4,611 purse to welterweight Lester Felton of Detroit and said it found "no evidence of collusion" in his poor fight with Johnny Saxton last Friday at Madison Square Garden. Bob Christenberry, commission chairman, said: "The boy just didn't have it."

The British Boxing Board of Control yesterday told Bruce Woodcock to forget about a boxing comeback. Woodcock retired in November, 1950, when he lost his British heavyweight title on a knockout to Jack Gardener. He had asked for a licence to resume boxing.

Teddy Gardner, 30-year-old pub owner at West Hartlepool, England, who added the British and British Empire flyweight crown to his European title Monday night now wants a crack at world champion, Dado Marino, he said yesterday. Gardner outpointed former world champion Terry Allen in 15 rounds Monday night.

Freebooter, winner of the 1950 Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree, England, will be entered in this year's race April 5 despite a recent injury, his owner Mrs. Lurline Brotherton, said yesterday.

Charles Ornstein of New York, chairman of the Olympic foods committee said yesterday 5000 loaves and 1,000 jelly doughnuts will be flown daily from Los Angeles to Helsinki, Finland, for the United States Olympic team during the games this summer. Ornstein said the food will be donated by a Los Angeles bakery which will also pay transportation costs.

The International Boxing Club yesterday signed middleweight Rocky Castellani of Lucerne, Pa., to meet the former National Boxing Association welterweight champion, Johnny Bratton of Chicago, in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden March 28. Castellani subs for undefeated Johnny Saxton, who has had two recent bouts.

Many of eastern Canada's most promising young middle-distance runners are entered in the junior mile in the eastern Canadian indoor championships at Montreal Friday night. Among them the Bill Taunton, Canadian junior three-mile champion and record-holder.

Hy Buller, rookie defenceman with New York Rangers, yesterday was unanimously chosen the National Hockey League club's most valuable player by the New York Hockey Writers' Association. He is the first rookie to win the award.

Jim Redding, 135½ of Cincinnati, O., last night knocked out Eddy Perron, 135½ of Hamilton, Ont., in the first round of a scheduled six-round boxing bout at Cincinnati.

Albert Factory Makes 177,822 Pounds of Cheese

Patrons of the Albert Cheese Factory in Tyendinaga township received $2.78 per cwt for their milk during the 1951 making season, it was shown in the factory's annual statement.

During the year the factory received 1,957,258 pounds of milk which was processed into 177,822 pounds of cheese selling for $59,485.43. Whey cream sales totalled $3,926.96 while Dominion premiums amounted to $2,586.36. Patrons received $54,810.31 for their milk.

Milk drawing cost $3,210.38, or 16.3 cents per cwt while the cheese maker received $4,623.29 for manufacturing cheese and $614 for separating.

Cheesemaker Alva McAllister had a high score for the year with 89 per cent of his cheese scoring 93 points and over. His average score for all cheese made during the year was 93.366.

William Walsh is president; James J. Meagher is secretary treasurer, and William Hanley is auditor.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The wobbliest bidding spot in bridge is in the seat opposite a defensive (simple overcall) suit bid of one. Rule tells what to do there. But even rule makes no promise of protection.

Without support for overcaller's suit, responder is out on a branch. If he bids his own suit, overcaller may have little or no help for it. If he passes, their pair may miss a game.

What is the reason for this? Overcaller shows no more than two high cards of which only one may be a sure. Thus, overcaller may take only one trick that will do responder any good.

This leads to the following understanding: If responder takes out to his own suit he expects partner to pass unless that party has support for responder's suit. They lack a fit.

Suppose south opens with a club and west simple overcalls with a diamond when east has this hand:

♠A Q J 2
♥Q 10 8 7 4

East will bid one of his two suits. With different lengths, he first bids the longer. His response to the simple overcall is one heart. It may be a good bid. He may be sorry it was not spades.

For all he knows his bid of one heart may be passed out. If it is his side might have done better with spades as trumps. But if he had bid spades, his side might have done better at hearts.

Other factors also enter into consideration. If opponents and your partner pass, your pair has no game. You will not get hurt at a bid of one heart. Not much to worry about.

If partner or opponents keep the bidding open you can still bid spades if it seems advisable. Or if opponents come in with a spade bid you are sitting pretty. Very pretty.

All of which simmers down to my opening thought: The seat across from simple overcaller is the wobbliest bidding spot in bridge.

AT THE BELLE — The goggle-eyed gob is Jerry Lewis, who stars with partner Dean Martin, Corinne Calvet and Marion Marshall in "Sailor Beware", the fastest, funniest, frothiest of the Martin and Lewis comedies, closing at the Belle tonight.

Biltmores Drub Marlboros 5-1 To Take Lead

There was no holding Guelph Biltmores last night as the New York Ranger farm club ran over Toronto Marlboros 5-1 right in Maple Leafs Gardens and took a 3-2 lead in their best-of-seven Ontario Hockey Association junior A semi-finals.

The Biltmores took a 1-0 lead in the closing minutes of the first period, held it through the middle session and then exploded with four straight goals after Marlies knotted the count early in the final stanza. Sixth game of the series is scheduled back in Guelph Friday night.

Two games were scheduled in Northern Ontario Hockey Association realms. In one, Noranda Copper Kings evened their best-of-seven senior A finals at Sault Ste. Marie with a 4-2 victory over the Greyhounds. In the other, South Porcupine Combines deadlocked their best-of-seven junior A finals by edging Sudbury Wolves 4-3 in Sudbury.

Sault Ste. Marie and Noranda resume their series in Noranda tonight while the juniors move to Timmins tomorrow night for a third clash.

Fowler Good With Athletics

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 19 (AP)—Philadelphia Athletics are hoping that pitcher Dick Fowler keeps right on going the way he started.

The big, likeable Toronto born righthander—bothered with injuries for the last few seasons—has always figured to be a top notch pitcher, if he could shake the injury jinx.

Yesterday he was supreme for three innings. Although the A's lost the ball game 3-1, to the Detroit Tigers, Fowler had the Tigers eating out of his hand. Only two men reached first and neither got any further.

Johnny Mayo Good With Phils

Clearwater, Fla., March 19 (AP) — If Johnny Mayo can hit with any consistency he will win the battle for the left field post on the Philadelphia Phillies hands down, observers believe.

Mayo, former Toronto centrefielder who has been up with the Phillies before on a look - see basis, appears to be winning the post right now because of superior fielding.

For instance, in yesterday's 2-1 exhibition victory over Washington Senators, Mayo backtracked to the left field wall, crashed into it, and held on to Julio Moreno's long drive.

Tommy Brown and Bill Nicholson are two of the others fighting for the job.

AT THE CAPITOL — Patricia Medina and John Sands, starring in "Aladdin and His Lamp," produced by Walter Wanger for Monogram, are seen as the beautiful princess and the daring pickpocket who brave dangers in quest of romance. The lavish production, filmed in Cinecolor, is at the Capitol Theatre, starting tonight. On the same program James Oliver Curwood's "Northwest Territory," starring Kirby Grant and Chinook the Wonder Dog. Both hits are first Belleville showings.

CANCELS VISIT

Edinburgh, March 19. (Reuters)—W. White Anderson, moderator of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland, has cancelled his visit to South Africa next month following reaffirmation of church opposition to the Malan government's racial segregation policy. The renewed statement of opposition to the Malan policy was made by the Edinburgh Presbytery, one of the ruling bodies of the church.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY, MARCH 20, 1952

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Fine aspects. Starting early and right. Don't over-reach; do things the sensible way. Study your outlook, choose important issues, follow through determinedly.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Inspiring rays for you clever natives. News of interest. All types of honest business, professional and personal matters have fresh advantages. Advance with faith.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Should be great day for you who sharpen up, quicken to openings; major issues. Trouble may be in taking on more than you can handle. Finish what you start, make that worth while.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Generous influences for rightly tenacious, sensitive folks. But curb impulsive desire to rush into things without proper study. You can turn in a fine day. Romance rates.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Good period for efficient salesmen. Labor and business should make appreciable advance with proper effort. Improvement in engineering, scientific research, personal affairs.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Several ways to make a good showing today if you are on the alert, ready really to take sensible advantages. Investments, real estate, contracting move forward; be wide-awake!

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—A wealth of opportunity for you now, turn your talents to matters you can handle, things that could give top returns where most needed. You should achieve objectives.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Favorable star configurations for worthy efforts. Don't let any good opportunity slip through your fingers by over-confidence or laxness. Give today the fullness of your clever mind.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Excellent possibilities for you foresighted, jovial ones. Mix business with some humor. You can direct ably and with good humor can have things much the way you'd like.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—No worrying or misgivings! What sikeeping you from better achievement if anything is? Ponder the significance of problems and blessings alike; then step out and work hard.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Go along without being too serious, too set in ideas and you should make fine strides today. Look for pleasant hours after having done your work well. Keep a happy outlook.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Times when many things seem to go wrong. Then we need steadiness, control of temper, quiet nerves—all vital to your advancement anyway. Have faith, keep head up.

YOU BORN TODAY: Are generally full of imagination. Have more ambition than the usual Piscean from the nearby Sign Aries. Can handle any type of activity or business when well trained. Bolster your initiative, never heed melancholy. You see things in businesslike maner, could succeed as manager, engineer, contractor, teacher, scientist, religious. Birthdate of: Henrik Ibsen, famed Norwegian dramatist, poet; Chas. W. Eliot, Amer. educator.

TENDER

File # 120-3-6-B-13-4/51
(D.N.D. (Non-Urban)

Construction of Sewers, Pumping Station Watermains, Road Sub-grade & Base Course at BARRIEFIELD, Ontario.

Sealed tenders plainly marked as to content and addressed to the undersigned will be received up to 2.00 p.m. E.S.T. Tuesday, April 8, 1952 for the performance of the following work: the construction of sewers, sewage pumping station, watermains, road sub-grade and base course at Barriefield, Ontario.

Specifications, plans and tender documents for this project may be obtained by prime contract tenderers at the address shown below. A deposit of $100.00 in the form of a cheque made payable to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation is required for each complete set of specifications, plans and documents. This deposit will be refunded if the documents are returned in good condition within seven days from the award of contract.

Each tender must be accompanied by a security deposit amounting to ten per cent (10%) of the total amount of the tender. The security deposit will be forfeited in the event the successful tenderer refuses to enter into the contract on the basis of his tender when called upon to do so. The security deposits of the unsuccessful tenderers will be returned.

A marked cheque on a chartered Canadian bank, made payable to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, or negotiable Dominion of Canada Bonds will be accepted as security deposit.

Sets of specifications, plans, etc., have been made available for the purpose of information to sub-contractors and material suppliers at the following locations: Kingston Builders' Exchange, 83 Clarence Street Kingston, Ontario, and at this office.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Why We Say--
"A HOLE IN THE WALL"
2-27

...A landmark

This expression, which aptly fits a small rundown hotel room today, was started by sailors. The original "hole in the wall" was a natural perforation at the southeast extremity of the island of Abaco, one of the Bahamas. It was used as a resting place as "a hole in the wall" might be today.

Taxpayers Register Protest

Canadians aren't alone in disliking tax time. But in the U.S. some taxpayers show their resentment in novel ways. These articles of clothing, examined by Congressmen Scudder and Werdel, were received by them by irate citizens to illustrate that they, the citizens, were taxed right down to their undergarments. — Central Press Canadian.

MADOC

Two Hundred Attend Monarch Cooking School; Many Turned Away

Madoc — The popularity of cooking schools was much in evidence on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of last week when over 200 women of Madoc and vicinity paid admission to attend the Monarch Cooking School held in the town hall. Many others were turned away for lack of accommodation.

The school was sponsored by Madoc Women's Institute, Miss Norma Tridsey, home economist, was in charge. The stage was set up as a modern kitchen, cupboards, electric stoves and refrigerator, many delectable dishes were demonstrated, pies, cakes, bread and buns and several savory meat dishes.

Reeve Jack Kincaid was master of ceremonies and Mrs. Kernahan was assistant hostess.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. George Duffin and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Munro, Smiths Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fox, of Bloomfield, visited their aunt, Mrs. J. McCaffrey and other relatives in Madoc on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Lucas and Linda, of Belleville, visited relatives in Madoc on Sunday.

Miss Anne Nickle, of Peterborough, spent the weekend at her home in Madoc.

Mr. Ross Fleming, of Peterborough, spent the weekend at his home in Madoc.

Miss Shelton, of Toronto, spent the weekend with her mother and sister, Mrs. Shelton and Mrs. Atkinson.

Mrs. A. May and children returned to her home in Toronto after spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Cochran.

Quirt McKinney Makes Speech At Campbellford

Campbellford.— The regular meeting of the Home and School Association was held in the music room of the public school. Mrs. Newman, president, welcomed the speaker, Quirt McKinney, of the Peterborough Normal school, also the second company of Girl Guides.

Motions were made to donate $10 to the Red Cross and to hold a cooking sale and afternoon tea, March 29. Mrs. Newman named a nomination committee of Mrs. D. Meyers, Mrs. J. West and Mrs. O. Rannie.

The Girl Guides, under the direction of Mrs. Ken Pryke, sang some camp songs, gave the Guide promise and the Guide law. Patrol Leader Gayle Meyers sang "Bluebird of Happiness".

Mrs. Bailey's class won the attendance prize, and Sid Hopping presented the Board of Education cup to Sandra McDonald, who won second prize in the oratorical contest at Brighton.

The association is sending a delegate to the Home and School convention in Toronto during the Easter week.

Miss Redner introduced Mr. McKinney, who spoke on the use of audio-visual aides in the classroom of which there are three kinds — projectors, stereographs and lantern slides. He stressed that there must be trained people to teach the pupils by this method. He also said that the record player is the greatest audio-visual aide now used in the classroom. The use of the audio-visual aide helps the student to learn more, to learn faster and to remember longer. It also tends to give more interest to a given subject. Mr. McKinney then showed a picture on Switzerland to demonstrate how visual aides are used.

Biggest Robbery Ready for Court

U.S. police are ready to go to court on the $1,500,000 robbery of Reno millionaire Redfield. Mrs. Leona Mae Gordano, above, was arrested after trying to pass a $1,000 bill at a Reno gambling house. And Mrs. Jeanne D'Arc Michaud, native of St. Agathe, Que., was arrested while carrying $50,000 in bonds and cash. — Central Press Canadian.

Irish Celebrate Saint's Birthday At Frankford

Frankford — Frankford went Irish Monday night, as the St. Francis parish presented an "Irish concert" in the community hall. Bert Carter was master of ceremonies, and welcomed the crowd. Roman Catholic and Protestant folk celebrated the saint's birthday together.

An outstanding program featured such artists as "The Quintones," barber shop quartet par excellence from Belleville, the McPartlin brothers, piano duo from Trenton, the Houlahan sisters from Codrington, with their dance arrangements and vocal offerings; Rosanne McEvoy, six-year-old soloist from Belleville, Mrs. Prudholm of Frankford at the piano, seven-year-old Peter Horacica from Frankford, presiding at the piano, and a vocal solo by Bert Carter himself. Following the music, members of the Catholic Young People put on a play, "Rumors Wanted" under the direction of Mrs. Patricia Bennett.

Besides being a financial success, the evening provided excellent entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmott Carter called on their son, Tommy, who is a patient in Trenton Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Edith Sine is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Creaser of Hillside visited Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Powell and other friends Monday and Tuesday.

Gene Lohnes called on George Turner in Oshawa Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Mikel spent Saturday in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Madill were in Toronto on Saturday.

LONELY PUPS

Montreal — (CP) — One of the strongest requests received by the student placement service of McGill University was for a "baby sitter — to watch three cocker spaniel pups, three nights a week. The owners explained they lived in an apartment house and if the dogs were left alone they started howling, disturbing other tenants. Sitters were supplied at 40 cents an hour.

FRANKFORD

Police Recover Stolen Lantern

Frankford.—During the heavy rains of a week ago, a culvert on the road going beyond North Trent Street, was almost washed out. Driving was treacherous, and without warning, a car would be upon it before the driver realized the danger. The county supplied a lantern, and one of the citizens attended to putting it out each night and taking it in the next morning.

This week, the lantern disappeared. Constable McGeachy was called. McGeachy worked on the theory that there is only one person in Frankford stupid enough to steal a thing like that", and proceeded to call on said suspect. The lantern was tucked away under the porch of the house, and has been returned to its place.

MARMORA

Marmora.—Miss Dorothy Forestell, Reg.N., of Kingston, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Forestell.

Nobody Loves Forever

By Margaretta Brucker

The next day brought a letter from Jessica's father. He was eager to see his grandchild. He regretted his past harshness and said that the war years had given him a deeper understanding of the value of family relationships. He asked her to visit him in Kentucky.

A flood of homesickness swept Jessica. Her father would like David she thought. He would help her to get a divorce.

She managed to get Lucy alone that evening and again thought that Lucy looked careworn and weary. The shadow on her face deepened as she listened.

"You'll come back?" she asked.

"No, I'm never coming back."

"And Tom?"

"If he wants to see me, he may come to Kentucky and talk things over."

"What things?"

"A divorce."

Lucy made no comment. She turned and walked away, and the door into the kitchen closed behind her.

Why should I feel ashamed? thought Jessica angrily, as she ran upstairs to put Betsy to bed. How soon could she leave? She calculated rapidly. She would go downtown today and buy her ticket. She would have to travel on a day coach. She remembered her disgust upon that other trip which had brought her to Akron. This would be different. She would be returning to her home, her home at least until David brought her to the home he made for her.

The day after she was in a fever of anticipation, sorting clothes and packing.

She congratulated herself that an all-day missionary meeting kept Mrs. Blake away from the house that day. I won't tell her yet thought Jessica. This is only Thursday. I'll leave Sunday morning while she's at church and let Lucy break the news to her. She decided to explain her plan to Lucy, but Lucy worked that night and was gone when Jessica came down for a late breakfast on Friday morning. She smothered a growing sense of guilt. I'm a coward, she told herself. I should tell Mrs. Blake myself now.

Later, Jessica locked herself in her bedroom and completed her preparations. She must tell David and wire her father.

"Jessica," her mother-in-law's harsh voice soared up the staircase. "I want you to go to the store."

This would be her opportunity to call David, thought Jessica. She hurried downstairs and was out of the house five minutes later, clutching her coat about her, battling the wind which howled around corners and swept down the street, raising a cloud of dust. Overhead, fast skudding clouds travelled across a cold November sky.

Jessica was breathless when she entered the small grocery. Hastily she consulted the list Mrs. Blake had thrust in her hand—raisins, nuts and spices. More preparation for Tom's return.

Her high spirits suddenly evaporated. Tom. How little thought she gave to Tom. What a ghastly homecoming his would be when he arrived and found that his wife and child had left him.

It's my life, she thought defiantly. Am I going to weaken now?

The clerks were busy and she stepped to the rear of the store and asked to use the telephone. An instant later she heard David's deep reassuring voice.

"I'm going back to Kentucky, David," she said.

"That's fine," David approved. He said he would be at the station Sunday morning to see her off. He planned to come to Kentucky the next weekend to meet her father and explain his plans for their future.

Jessica said, "I can't believe it." She gave a sigh.

"You will. Happy?"

Of course she was happy. She put back the receiver and turned to see Doris standing at a little distance.

She joined Doris and said, "I'm leaving Akron."

"When?"

"Sunday." She explained her plan.

Doris listened with no expression on her face.

"Bill's home," she said. "We did the town last night and I'm a wreck today. Maybe I can keep that guy at home tonight. I'm having pot roast and pumpkin pie, and everything he likes best." She smiled happily.

Doris was too absorbed in Bill's return to bother about her affairs thought Jessica with relief. Then Doris said "a man who's been overseas deserves the best, I say." Her tone was significant.

"You mean that I should stay at home until Tom returns, don't you?" demanded Jessica.

"I can't make your decisions for you," said Doris briefly. Then, unexpectedly, "have you seen David Gregory?"

"He'll be at the station."

Doris said "oh," and turned her back and motioned to a clerk, moved away and left Jessica standing by herself, angry and hurt.

She filled the grocery order and walked home alone, not waiting for Doris, unwilling to listen to her hints that a woman's first duty was to her husband. That was all right for Doris. She didn't have to live with a mother-in-law who hated and despised her.

Jessica took her purchases to the kitchen and found Betsy perched on a chair beside the table with an apron tied about her neck and a smudge of flour on the end of her snub nose.

"I'm helping she said proudly, displaying a grubby bit of dough. "For daddy." She indicated the pan beside her.

Jessica tossed the bag of groceries on the table and swept Betsy off the chair. "You'll be sick," she scolded. "It's time for your nap." She swept a sobbing Betsy from the room.

Would this day never end and the next pass so that she could get away and leave behind this feeling of uncertainty and apprehension? Nothing could happen now to change her plans, nothing should, she determined as she stripped clothes from a weeping baby.

"We're going away," she whispered coaxingly.

Betsy said "don't want to go away," and wailed and refused to be comforted.

In Jessica's thoughts she anticipated the day when she could divorce Betsy from the subtle influence which her grandmother exercised upon her. "Daddy"—just a word to Betsy, which would soon be forgotten, but which in the meantime could annoy and irritate Jessica to the point of hysterics.

Saturday was a busy day with last-minute preparations. Lucy went off with a hurried explanation that she had a date with some girls at the Y. Jessica was too absorbed in her own plans to have any interest in the other girls, but before Lucy left Jessica drew her inside her room and said goodbye, thanked her for her kindnesses and then as a last-minute thought "try to make Tom understand, Lucy."

"Tom will never understand," said Lucy bitterly.

There were tears in Lucy's eyes as she turned and left the room hastily.

For the rest of the day Jessica tried to recapture the high spirits of the day when her father's letter came. She was going home, she assured herself. She remembered how she had longed for this moment, and now it was here.

Mrs. Blake showed no interest in her movements. She seemed lost in thoughts of her own, slipping in and out of the house, prowling up and downstairs, in and out of Lucy's room. Later refusing to eat her supper, going off again in spite of Jessica's remark that a storm seemed imminent.

Finally the old house was quiet except for the wind outside which shook the house and rattled the shutters. When Jessica went to bed a cold moon rode high in the sky. Against it the skeleton branches of trees stretched black and bare and writhed in the wind. Wind. It made her nervous and kept her wide-awake for hours. Then she dozed, and awoke startled by a sharp peal of thunder.

Down the hall a door swung shut with a bang. Rain lashed the windows. Jessica grabbed a robe and went out into the hall and listened.

Had Mrs. Blake come home?

She tiptoed down the hall past Lucy's door, which stood ajar, and opened her mother-in-law's door and peeped inside.

A flash of lightning revealed the bed smooth and unoccupied. The curtains blew straight out and Jessica crossed the room to close the window.

A sound rose above the roar of the wind and the slashing rain. The siren, high and shrill! A wild wail carried on the wind. The fire siren, repeating over and over, its blast of warning.

Fire! Jessica leaned out of the window, with the rain and wind tearing at her hair as she listened. Fire! Was Mrs. Blake out in this storm and would she rush off to the fire when she heard the siren?

Surely not. She must have been caught in the storm and spent the night with friends.

She wished Lucy were at home. Jessica closed the window and looped back the soaking curtains. Lucy would be out in the storm, too. Possibly there were shelters for hikers in the hills beyond. Akron.

She returned to her own room to find Betsy sitting up, frightened and sobbing. Jessica lifted her out of her crib and into her own bed where they snuggled down close together.

"Just a storm darling," she told the baby.

Through the closed window she heard the siren again; faint but shrill and persistent. Again she slid out of bed and went to the window and lifted it. The rain had ceased. The air was damp and chill. In the distance bells clanged and cars swept down the street The blackness of the night was pierced by a dull glow on the horizon and against it the bare trees were silhouetted darkly.

Fire, a bad one. Where was Mrs. Blake? thought Jessica uneasily.

Lights sprang up in Doris' bungalow across the way and she saw Doris and her husband standing together on the steps.

She ran downstairs, clutching her robe about her, opened the front door and called "where's the fire?"

Doris pointed toward the glow. "Way downtown," she shouted.

Silly to worry about a woman who had an obsession for fires, but now she could understand Lucy's uneasiness for her mother. Mrs. Blake meant nothing to her, and yet. . .

I'll make hot coffee, Jessica decided. She'll be drenched if she comes back.

If she comes back. Her own words terrified her. Why shouldn't she come back? What could happen to her?

Abbott Estimates Govt. Expenditures At Five Billion

National Defence to Absorb Over Half Proposed Cost

Ottawa, March 20 (CP) —Federal government expenditures may reach the unprecedented peacetime total of $5,000,000,000.

Finance Minister Abbott yesterday tabled in the Commons the annual estimates of expenditures for government departments. They totalled $4,335,796,809—up 16 percent from last year—but he said they will be increased later.

Defence estimates of $2,106,000,000 including $324,000,000 in mutual aid to Atlantic pact Allies accounted for almost half of the proposed expenditures.

However, it was a small —$500,000—item in the estimates of the transport department which possibly more than any other stressed the uneasiness of the international situation.

Government officials said the money will be used to start equipping all Canadian deep-sea and coastal ships to combat underwater mines and to carry defensive guns.

To Equip Ships

Approximately 150 vessels will be rigged with wartime "degaussing" gear against magnetic mines and strengthened to carry gun platforms, at the expense of the federal treasury.

Officials said it has been decided to adopt the defensive measures for all Canadian vessels in the coastal and deep-sea trades, to get the jump on an enemy making a sneak magnetic-mine attack such as hit Allied merchant ships hard during the Second World War.

The degaussing gear— named after the inventor, Degausse — consists of cables running around the outside of a ship's hull and neutralizing the steel hull's magnetirm that would normally touch off a magnetic mine close to it.

Mr. Abbott said the 1952-53 estimates of $4,335,796,809 are not strictly comparable with estimates of $3,730,587,837 for the current year ending March 31.

In three weeks—on Tuesday, April 8 at 8 p.m. EST—Mr. Abbott will bring down his budget and tell Canadians how he proposes to raise the revenue to cover the expenditures. Prime Minister St. Laurent has already stated that no substantial tax reductions can be expected as long as the international situation remains as it is.

Expenditures Jump

The $2,106,000 defence expenditures, included $759,000,000 for the air force, $268,000,000 for the navy and $532,000,000 for the army.

Mr. Abbott said another $45,000,000 to be spent on such things as atomic energy might be included in the defence estimate.

Civil defence expenditures will jump 50 percent to $6,508,000 from $4,196,000, but still will be considerably less than one per cent of the total defence outlay.

Estimate of the Veterans Department was boosted to $228,000,000 from $213,000,000 largely due to increased pensions.

Payment of $40-a-month pensions to all Canadians 70 and over largely was responsible for increasing non-defence expenditures to $2,249,796,809 from $2,002,587,837. The pensions, inaugurated Jan. 1 last, are expected to cost $322,000,000 in 1952-83.

Public works estimates were $8,199,758 higher at $107,405,728 but Mr. Abbott said the government is continuing its poilicy of curtailing construction projects during the defence emergency.

SEVEN DOORS FOR U.N.

On Friday the weather will be a little warmer with sunshine in most regions.

TRUMAN, WILSON TO CONFER ON WAGE DISPUTE

Chairman Feinsinger Seized by Illness

Washington, March 20 (AP) — President Truman summoned defence mobilizer Charles E. Wilson to Key West, Fla., today to discuss the steel wage dispute, after wage board deliberations were halted by the physical collapse of the board chairman.

Nathan P. Feinsinger, chairman of the wage stabilization board who has been working night and day in an effort to avert a strike set for midnight Sunday, keeled over about 6.30 a.m. EST.

A doctor said Feinsinger collapsed from fatigue, and the board recessed until 2 p.m. The unexpected delay posed a serious problem, in view of the imminence of the strike deadline.

Will Review Issues

Andrew Berding, Wilson's public relations chief, said Wilson had been called by President Truman to go over all the issues bearing on the threatened strike by 650,000 men of the United Steelworkers' Union (CIO).

Philip Murray, union chief and president of the CIO met during the morning with his 36-man executive board in what Murray described as a purely informal session.

Murray's 170 man wage policy committee was here for a scheduled afternoon meeting to act on a request to postpone the threatened strike at least until April 8.

Neither industry nor labor members could agree during an all night meeting to a public member proposal straddling the problem.

The deadlock threatened to upset the W.S.B.'s time schedule designed to deliver a "package" solution in the complex steel labor dispute in time to avoid a strike set for midnight Sunday.

The union had been asking for a total of a 15-cent boost in wage rates, now estimated to average about $1.80 an hour, along with numerous side benefits. The total cost of this to employers is estimated at 35 cents an hour or more.

Industry members of the board were known to be willing to accept a contract cost boost of 13.7 cents hourly.

TOO MANY ACCIDENTS

Toronto, March 20 (CP)—Three hundred bones for which conpensation is paid are broken in Ontario every day, E. E. Sparrow, chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board, said yesterday in an address. "We have got to do a better job in accident prevention. The 210,000 accidents we will have in 1952 are too many."

HARMONY SHATTERED

London, Ont., March 20 (CP) —Family harmony was shattered in a Wolfe Street home when the husband came home late. Police said hubbie struck a discordant note when he tried to slip in a window without waking his wife and trod on an accordion. The wife awoke, called police.

Reasons of Cycles Have Been Found And Show How Figures Can Fool Us

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

Ithaca, N. Y., March 20—(AP) —A mathematical reason for cycles has been found at Cornell University and it shows how figures can fool us.

Scientists found that numbers, chosen by pure chance, have cycles of their own—meaning highs and lows—like the cycles in the stock markets, sunspots, animal and tree growth cycles.

Cycles have puzzled scientists because no matter at what activity they looked—human, animal, vegetable or nature herself—everything seems to run in cycles. Once every so often there is apt to be a repeat of something that happened before.

Dr. Lamont C. Cole, associate professor of zoology, looked to see whether numbers themselves might show cycles. Acting on a suggestion published by Dr. Pontus Palmgren, of the University of Helsingfors, Finland, he used numbers from 0 to 9999.

These numbers were set down in series, each number chosen by chance. The series was scanned for highs and lows. A high was a larger number appearing between two lower numbers. A low was a middle number smaller than those on each side.

Result: There were definite cycles. The highs appeared at the rate of once in each three sets of numbers. So did the lows.

Both the peaks and lows appeared about as often as they show in studies of other cycles.

These random numbers were amazingly similar to nine famous cycles which has been attributed to sunspots. These are growth of Douglas fir trees, hemlock trees, English partridges and six species of animals.

The number cycle missed only for the Canadian lynx which has a reproductive cycle of about six years.

Highlights of Budget Speech

Toronto, March 20 — (CP) — Highlights of Premier Frost's budget speech in the Ontario Legislature:

Payment by the province and its Hydro-Electric Power Commission of municipal taxes on their business and administrative offices.

Surplus of $896,000 on ordinary account for the fiscal year ending next March 31, compared with estimate a year ago of $598,000—the ninth consecutive surplus since Mr. Frost took office in 1943.

Surplus on current account for the coming fiscal year estimated at $88,000.

No new taxes and no increases in tax rates.

"Slight reductions" in race track and corporations taxes.

Gross revenue this year topping $300,000,000 for the first time in Ontario history.

Payments to mining municipalities to be boosted next year by $480,000 under a new formula of grants.

Total grants to municipalities next year of $118,600,000 — about one-third of the province's ordinary and capital expenses.

A total of $10,000,000 budgeted next year for various housing projects.

Special grants totalling $5,750,000 to teaching hospitals for improvement of facilities and equipment.

Special capital grants of $2,300,000 to universities above maintenance grants of $5,687,000.

Payment of $3 per pupil for free text books extended to grades IX and X.

Crown corporations to make loans for rural home construction and to young farmers to help them establish their own farms.

Nearly $16,000,000 to be spent in the coming year on conservation, compared with more than $13,000,000 this year.

Extension of rural hydro to 25,795 new customers.

Ontario, Ottawa May Spend $40,000,000 on Housing In Year Beginning April 1

Toronto, March 20 (CP)—Expenditures on housing in Ontario by the federal and provincial governments may total $40,000,000 in the fiscal year starting April 1, Premier Frost told the Ontario legislature today in his budget speech.

The premier, announcing that $10,000,000 is budgeted by the province for housing projects, said the federal government is a 75-per-cent partner in many of the projects.

"It will be seen that this can involve an expenditure of more than $40,000,000 next year if such a vast sum can be expended in view of the many involvements, including availability of land, shortages of labor and material and the requirements of private industry in house and other construction work."

Decrease Unavoidable

A decrease in completions of new housing in 1952 is "unavoidable," unless conditions change drastically. Tighter credit restrictions and a higher interest rate were major factors in the decrease.

Ontario was urging the federal government to ease restrictions on private building by reducing down payments and allotting materials in cases of shortage. "That, in our belief, is the method by which to get the greatest number of units constructed."

Mr. Frost referred to the "many-sided approach" to the housing problem contained in legislation introduced yesterday. New measures included: Extension and simplification of land assembly plans, the new principle of gearing taxes to rentals, broad power of land expropriation for house-building, redevelopment of deteriorated areas in municipalities, and a crown corporation to loan money for building in rural areas.

Success Claimed

Present measures for providing serviced land for housing in co-operation with municipalities were "meeting with real success," and the government felt the plan would be "greatly extended."

The rental housing plan, begun last June with federal and municipal partnership, was still not fully developed.

"This type of housing is new to our people as well as to ourselves and to the municipalities," the premier said. "Authorities have to be set up. Experience has to be gained, but this plan will prove a very useful auxiliary to providing houses for that segment of our population which is interested in rental units."

A bill introduced yesterday for loans to young farmers to help them acquire their own farms had a bearing on rural housing. In the first year of the plan, organization would have to be set up and $1,000,000 was being provided as a start for the crown corporation which will make the loans.

DUNBAR OPPOSES EXPROPRIATION INDUSTRIAL LAND

Two Clauses in Kingston Special Bill Deleted

Toronto, March 20 — (CP) — Two clauses of the city of Kingston's special bill were deleted today by the Ontario Legislature's special bills committee.

Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar opposed one clause permitting the city to expropriate land to prepare industrial sites.

Mr. Dunbar assured him that ment was opposed to municipalities "buying land for $10,000 and selling it for 50 cents."

Hugh Gibson, city solicitor, said the city didn't intend to by-pass ratepayers. It wanted to provide a revolving fund, under which money from sales of the industrial sites would be used to buy more land.

Mr. Dundas assured him that the Municipal Act now provides for such a revolving fund.

Mr. Gibson then said he was willing to have the section deleted.

Second Section Dropped

A second section permitting the city to control trailer camps was dropped because such control is provided under general government legislation in a bill now before the legislature.

The Kingston bill, as amended, will permit the city to charge a sewer rental rate, based on the amount of water used by homes and industries.

Mr. Gibson said the city is trying to clean up the waterfront, where 75 to 100 places were dumping sewage.

A further section will permit the city to order removal of condemned buildings unless alterations can be made to make them safe.

The city will also be empowered to require houses to be connected with a sewer, if the land fronts on a sewer, within two years after construction of the sewer.

The bill also confirms the annexation orders joining Portsmouth village and parts of Kingston township to the city.

Frank Hull Heads Ont. Red Cross

Toronto, March 20 (CP) —Frank Hull of Toronto, yesterday was elected president of the Ontario division Red Cross in annual meeting here.

Other officers include: president-elect, S. H. Young, Toronto; vice-presidents, Alan L. Ambrose, Hamilton; Mrs. J. C. Fraser, Scarboro; W. M. Hargraft, Toronto; John L. Lang, Sault Ste. Marie; Col. J. W. Langmuir, Brockville; Air Marshal G. O. Johnston, Ottawa; G. H. Thompson, Peterborough.

Leslie G. Mills of Toronto is immediate past president.

Deputy Sheriff Believes Mrs. Lemay Was Victim of An Act of Violence

Key West, Fla., March 20 — (CP) — Deputy Sheriff James O. Barker said today he believes that Mrs. Huguette Lemay, missing Montreal beauty, "was the victim of an act of violence."

Barker presented "new evidence to a Monroe County grand jury investigating the case of the 21-year-old blonde who vanished while fishing with her husband in the Florida Keys Jan. 4.

He was the first of several witnesses to appear before the jury. whose proceedings are held in camera.

"I can't reveal what we've discovered at this stage," Barker said when he came out of the jury room.

"But you can quote me as saying what I've said several times before that it is my opinion Mrs. Lemay is dead and that she was the victim of an act of violence."

Barker, who has headed the investigation, said Frank P. Weber, former Monroe County chief deputy sheriff would be among the witnesses testifying at the afternoon session.

Others scheduled to testify include Dr. Dolphe Perron of Valleyfield, Quebec, and Alfred Quenneville, retired chief of the Quebec provincial police, in the area for the last 10 days working on the case.

Barker had "no comment" today on a report that a blood-stained robe found under a bridge on the Tamiami Trail might be introduced as evidence that Mrs. Lemay was murdered.

Ontario Budget Contains No New Tax Proposals

Gas and Motor Licences Brought in $92,030,000

Toronto, March 20 — (CP) — The Ontario government will break long-established tradition by paying municipal taxes on its business and administrative offices in some 300 Ontario centres, Premier Frost announced today.

The premier, who is also provincial treasurer, said in his annual budget address to the Ontario legislature that the publicly-owned Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario and municipal commissions also will pay municipal taxes on their lands and buildings. He estimated the cost to the province at $2,000,000 with a similar amount for hydro.

The $2,000,000 cost ranked low among the expenditures included in Ontario's first $300,000,000 budget. But, in a press conference, the premier said it made Ontario the first province in Canada to

In the 17,000-word address, the premier announced the ninth consecutive surplus on ordinary account since he became treasurer in 1943. In the fiscal year ending March 31 the surplus will be $896,000 after applying an extra $18,000,000 to debt retirement and payment of supplementary grants totalling $11,550,000—$7,250,000 to hospitals, $2,300,000 to universities, $1,000,000 for housing and 1,000,000 to the province's superannuation fund for school teachers.

Net Debt Higher

The actual surplus compared with a forecast of $598,000 a year ago. It is offset by an increase of $47,707,481 in the net debt which now stands at $569,257,645 compared with $521,550,164 a year ago. The current-account surplus for the next fiscal year is estimated at $88,000.

The budget contained no new taxes nor increases in existing rates. It made two tax changes. Depreciation allowances for corporation taxes are being changed to bring them into line with the federal income tax act. The race-track pari-mutuel tax is being cut. The tax plus the track share of all betting pools will be a constant 17 percent. Last year it was 19 percent. The tax ranges from eight to 12 percent of the betting pool, depending on its size. Last year the range was from 10 to 14 percent.

Booming business skyrocketed the province's income and spending far beyond Mr. Frost's estimates of a year ago. He forecast gross revenue of $265,980,000 for the fiscal year ending next March 31. Today, he said the figure would be $304,966,000 (based on 10 months actual and two months estimated), largest in the province's history.

Biggest boost came in corporation taxes which produced $90,000,000, up $18,500,000 from the estimate. Highways revenue (from gasoline tax and motor vehicle licences) was up $5,000,000 to $92,030,000. Succession duties of $19,500,000 were up $4,000,000. Liquor profits at $42,000,000 were $3,000,000 more than the estimate.

Expenses Up

Gross ordinary expenditure of $304,070,000 compared with an estimate of $265,382,000. Biggest boost was in sinking fund payments for debt retirement — $25,276,000 compared with an estimate of $7,276,000. Health expenditures were $7,201,000 over the estimate, highways $6,267,000 and education $4,617,000.

LICENCE BUREAU A BUSY PLACE

"Just like a madhouse," said red Symons in describing the activities of those seeking owners and drivers permits before the deadline closes tonight at midnight. Mr. Symons stated that 0 per cent of the licences have been issued and the last ten per cent are the ones that are causing the jam. For the convenience of those seeking licences the office of the issuer was open all Wednesday afternoon but the office will be closed at the regular time this afternoon. Mr. Symons stated the store was full and they were lined up from door to door practically all day.

COOKING SCHOOL SOUVENIRS

At the recent cooking school held at the Collegiate, approximately 128 persons carried home tangible evidences of this appreciable event. The outsanding prizes being electric tea kettles won by Mrs. Gordon Davies, 153 Victoria Avenue, and Mrs. D. Latchford, of Cannifton; and the mixmaster by Miss Betra Fairman, of 80 Highland Avenue.

Prizes were also given to the mother of the largest family, of a bag of flour and five pounds of baking powder, as well as to the five mothers of twins, of two boxes of baby food and plastic ware.

The bride of the month was presented with a box of flavorings and cake mix, and little eight-year-old Laura Ann Woods, received a loaf dish in oven ware and a package of cake mix to start her on the way to being a future good cook.

To Speak To RCAF Wing

The speaker at tonight's meeting of the R.C.A.F. Association No. 418, Belleville wing, is to be Wing Commander H. W. Lupton, A.F.C. His subject will be "Jets."

Wing Commander Lupton was born and raised in Regina. For a time he was employed by the Regina Leader-Post as an accountant. He joined the R.C.A.F. in 1940 and was trained at Toronto, Windsor Mills and Dunnville, Ont., becoming a pilot in 1941.

He was trained as a flying instructor at Trenton and afterwards instructed at Yorkton, Sask., and other flying training schools. He was in Britain from 1947 to 1949, at the Hullavington flying training school. as a tutor and later as officer commanding the special projects squadron.

He now heads the service training branch at training command headquarters.

REFUSE EDUCATION CUT

Brantford, March 20 (CP) — A city council request for a cut in the board of education's estimated expenditures for 1952 was rejected last night by the board.

Trustee Elmer Davies said only repairs and maintenance costs could be trimmed and these now are just two per cent of the budget.

Repairs and maintenance "have too often been the goat for economy's sake," added trustee W. J .McCormack.

A. Gordon Nairn, director of agencies for the Prudential Insurance Company of America. Mr. Nairn is a native of Montreal. He graduated from McGill University with high honors in arts and law, and did post-graduate work under the famous Stephen Leacock. He also studied in Europe.

Mr. Nairn, who is to address the Belleville Sales and Advertising Club on Friday, has been with Prudential for over sixteen years. The subject of his address is to be "The Anatomy of a Salesman."

Will Receive Donations For Fire Victims

The St. John Ambulance Brigade will accept donations for the victims of the recent fire at their booth at the Canadian Legion Trade Fair now in progress in the Bridge Street Armouries, Mrs. Grace McLuskie said today.

Contributions of food, canned goods, clothing, cooking utensils, bedding, etc., will be gratefully received.

The Trade Fair lasts through Saturday, March 22nd.

Red Cross Will Aid Fire Victims

The Belleville Red Cross stepped into the breach today in offering assistance to the six families who lost their homes and all household and personal possesions in Tuesday night's fire which caused heavy loss in the downtown district of the city.

The six families concerned who suffered the misfortune were asked to meet with Red Cross committee at the city hall. The immediate requirements of the families were listed by chairman of the meeting Harry Rollins.

Families with children were asked to meet with Red Cross representatives at the parish hall where the kiddies could be outfitted with clothing.

Attending the meeting along with Red Cross representatives were Major H. Honeychurch of the Salvation Army, Rev. J. J. Buckley of St. Michael's Church, and Mayor A. M. Haig.

Mayor Haig expressed his appreciation to Red Cross representatives for calling the meeting. He noted that a survey made yesterday revealed the situation was much better than might have been expected. He said the Red Cross had made a fine gesture in offering assistance and expressed his sincere regret for those suffering the loss of homes and possessions.

Accommodation for the burned out families was found to be the most pressing need and everything possible will be done to secure the families suitable living quarters as soon as possible.

The Salvation Army through a radio appeal made yesterday by Major Honeychurch, collected a quantity of good clothing which will be turned over to the families who lost their personal effects.

TO PROBE COMMIES

Montreal, March 20 (CP) — The Montreal police department has been ordered to investigate possible communist affiliations and leanings among the city's 11,075 permanent and auxiliary employees.

Firefighters Kept Busy On Minor Runs

Still "cleaning up" after one of the worst fires in the city's history, the local fire department were out on minor runs yesterday and today.

Yesterday afternoon firemen were called to a tenement building on Dundas Street East, where hot pipes had set fire to a partition. The trouble was noticed by an elderly tenant who turned in the alarm. Firemen were quickly on the scene and put out the fire. Only early discovery prevented what might have turned out to be another bad fire, it was stated.

This morning firemen were called as a precautionary measure to 85 South Front Street, where burning embers from a paper fire were endangering nearby buildings.

Also this morning firemen acted in the role of rescuers when they were called to Purdy Street to take someone's pet cat out of a tree where it had been chased by the neighbor's dog.

Obituary

MRS. ISABELLA McNAIR (Trenton)

Mrs. Isabella McNair, of 43 Queen Street, Trenton, died at her home last Friday, in her 89th year. Mrs. McNair, who had been ill several months, was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ewing. She was a native of Westport, but had lived in Tweed before moving to Trenton 43 years ago. She attended school in Westport and Athens. She was a member of King Street United Church and of its Woman's Association.

Surviving her, besides her husband, N. J. McNair, are a sister, Mrs. T. R. Preston, Brockville, and several nieces and nephews.

The funeral was held last Tuesday from the family residence. The officiating clergyman was Rev. George Minielly.

Pallbearers were: Donald Brick, Ralph Weaver, John Bristow, Mac Van Luven, Grant Goodsell and Robert Gamble.

Interment was at Belleville mausoleum.

Thieves Get $150 From Drug Store

Smashing open the front door, thieves last night broke into Latimer's Drug Store on Front St., and stole approximately $150 from the safe, police reported today.

Patrol officers discovered the forced door while making their regular rounds and found that pressure had been applied to the door forcing the lock. The money taken had been placed in the safe for the night. The safe door was the type which opened with a key.

Police reported that apparently nothing else in the store had been interfered with.

Noted Orchestra to Give Concert in City

The new Little Orchestra Society of New York, which has become so popular there that the public pays to attend its dress rehearsals, will visit Belleville in its first extensive tour this season. The notable young aggregation, under the direction of Thomas Scherman, will present an unusual program in the Collegiate Auditorium on Friday, March 21st, under the auspices of the Belleville Community Concert Association in its third program of the 1951-52 series.

From its first season of 16 concerts in the New York area in 1947, the Little Orchestra played 50 there last year with a brilliant post season of performances of opera in concert form which enlisted the talents of an array of artists from the Metropolitan Opera.

The Little Orchestra comes here at the conclusion of the first half of its New York season. There the concerts in Town Hall have played to standing room only. So great has been public interest in this orchestra and programs that its dress rehearsals were opened to audiences for the first time last season. *

High School Area Committee To Investigate New Policy Of Collegiate Dues Payment

The question of whether collegiate requisition payments are to be made as required or at the year end will be decided by a special committee appointed from the Bay of Quinte High School area members.

Until the information of the new high school area last autumn, payments had been made as required but with the entry of rural municipalities into the area there is objection to this policy. The municipalities of Thurlow, Tyendinaga and Ameliasburg wish to make payments at the year end following collection of taxes.

If this policy is adopted by the area board it would mean money would have to be borrowed for operation of the collegiate until payment of taxes in the fall. Committee members to investigate all phases of the matter and report to the board are chairman Harold Seldon, members C. Barber, A. C. Campbell and R. O. Dulmage, secretary.

Lengthy Meeting

The monthly meeting of the high school area board held Wednesday evening was a lengthy affair and did not break up until one o'clock this morning. Considable detail business was transacted.

With the view of possible erection of a new school, board members will meet with architects at the board room on Wednesday, March 26th. At that time architects will be permitted to present tentative plans for a new school building.

High school students from the rural areas will be released from classes after May 23rd for home farms only, it was decided. Release for farm work must be by recommendation of the school principal. Also fourth year students may take jobs in industry on approval of the principal and providing their academic standing is satisfactory.

For the first year at the collegiate revenue from auditorium rentals will be kept separate from the general school fund and a committee of C. Barber, Wm. Baldwin, Miss Josephine Tickell and J. Sproule, was appointed to administer distribution and make recommendation to the board.

Night Classes Close

Night school classes at the collegiate will be closed out on Mar. 30th with the exception of classes for new Canadians. Classes for new Canadians are well attended with half of the total being Dutch. There are ten nationalities represented including Dutch, with one or more Chinese, Austrians, French, German, Norwegians, Greeks, Hungarians, Russians, Ukrainians and Yugoslavians.

An increase in the number of students taking drafting at the school will result in one class being moved to the basement, while an increase of an estimated 120 students next September is expected to result in part of the auditorium being used as classroom space.

The board recommended that letters go out to all operators of buses drawing students to school to observe strictly all safety regulations.

Both gymnasium floors at the school will be resanded with the secretary being authorized to ask for prices. Local telephones will be installed in the cafeteria and in the guidance director's office. To provide for the increased number of students next year 120 new desks were recommended purchased.

A committee of Miss J. Tickell, George Wishart and William Baldwin was named to work with Principal G. E. Currie regarding the purchase of text books for Grade 9 and 10. A grant of $3 per pupil average attendance to be received from the Department of Education will be used to purchase the books recommended.

Order Equipment

Other equipment ordered purchased included typewriters and typewriter desks, drafting stools, machine shop lathe, teachers' desks, sewing machine, electric hand-saw and grinder and motor for the woodworking department and a 400-egg incubator for the agricultural class.

The resignation of Miss Marion Gerow as secretary in the principal's office was accepted with Mrs. Gordon Parkhurst named as her successor.

The board also accepted the resignation of Herbert Gough, commercial teacher, who is going to Hamilton. Linton Read was named head of the English department, effective in September, 1952. Miss Nellie Merry will continue as English teacher and be head of the Library.

Permanent contracts were recommended for the following teachers on the probationary staff —Ernest Tindale, in the collegiate department and Miss J. Naismith, Miss M. Shields, Gordon Kerr and J. Snetsinger, for the vocational department.

Planning Board Presents Plan For Approval

Members of the Belleville Suburban Planning Board, representing the city, the township of Sidney and the township of Thurlow, met in the board room of the Chamber of Commerce offices on Monday night under the chairmanship of J. J. Trudeau.

Representatives included J. T. Ransom, Ald. E. G. Porter, Reeve Lee Grills, H. Wright, B. Harder, Reeve Fred Mitchell and D. Atkins.

The meeting was called for the purpose of presenting a master street plan for the city and district which had been given the tentative approval of the Department of Planning and Development of the Province of Ontario.

The plan was shown to all of the members and explanations of the areas and roadways to be planned which would come under the jurisdiction of this group were made. It would insure proper width for future development and extension of existing streets. This plan, which extends into both townships for some distance beyond the city limits, is to be presented to the respective councils for their approval.

"Planning of this nature", an official said, "builds a better community in that it avoids small individual plans; it builds a standard process of extension and makes for uniformity because the plan holds good in both townships."

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, March 20—(CP)—Stock market prices showed little trend today in listless afternoon trading.

Activity slackened as industrial-dealings shrank to selected leading issues and few golds, oils or metals showed large turnovers. Volume for the first three hours was 1.596,000 shares.

Banks and miscellaneous issues posted a siim majority of advances to take over as industrials strongest' sections. Papers, utilities, constructions, refining oils and manufacturing companies held gains and losses in balance but steels and retail stores dipped.

Base Metals leaders were mixed but lower-priced issues showed a majority of penny declines. Barvue, Hellens, United Asbestos, Normetal, Quebec Copper and Yukeno eased. Golden Manitou and Quebec Manitou turned upward.

Western oils made little headway. Anglo-Canadian, Britalta, Charter Oil, Gas Explorations, Punch Petroleum and Trans Empire strengthened while Canadian Atlantic, Central-Leduc, Del-Rio, North Canadian and United Oil weakened.

Senior Golds were firm. Lamaque, Malartic and Teck Hughes pushed higher. Secondary issues wavered irregularly.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, March 20. (CP)—Cattle prices were about steady on the small supply at the Ontario stockyards today. Receipts. cattle 30; calves 10; hogs 90; no sheep or lambs. The leftover from Wednesday was 225 cattle.

Good to choice weighty steers sold at $25-$26 with common to medium heifers $20-$23 and good cows at $19-$20.

A few medium calves sold at $25.

Hog prices were at $26 for Grade A with sows $15 dressed.

No sheep or lambs sales reported.

Bayview Public School Opened By G. Duffin, Ontario Dept.

Mr. Gordon L. Duffin, B.A., M. Ed, representing the Minister of Education officially opened and named School No. 20 in the South Thurlow School Area as the Bayview Public School at a public meeting held in the school, Wednesday evening. Other dignitaries present included Mr. Norman G. S. Ingram of Toronto and Mrs. Jean Watson of Innerkip representing the Ontario School Trustees' and Ratepayers' Association. Mr. Ingram brought greetings from his organization and introduced Mrs. Watson who gave a delightful appreciation of poet Robert Burns.

The meeting which was under the chairmanship of Mr. Arnold Mitchell, opened with the singing of "Land of Hope and Glory" by the senior pupils of the school under the capable direction of music supervisor Mrs. Bernice Parrott. School Inspector R. H. Macklem then introduced the distinguished visitors and teaching staff.

In his opening remarks chairman Arnold Mitchell referred to the high cost of education and paid tribute to the efficient teachers who were helping to turn out pupils who would be a credit to their community and to the country.

Five Basic Issues

In his address Mr. G. L. Duffin, assistant superintendent of elementary education for Ontario said that in education there were five basic things which he compared to the five fingers on his hand. The first was knowledge, the basic skills in reading, writing and arithmetic, etc which the new Minister of Education felt were very important. The second was health and growth which was certainly present in Ontario, as there were 30,000 additional pupils entering the schools next year requiring 1,000 additional teachers.

Need Wealth and Training

The third need in life was wealth and the training needed to get it. Beauty of life and character was also to be included and the whole was to be cemented together and advanced by co-operation. Mr. Duffin concluded his remarks by these words, "In the name of Dr. Dunlop the Minister of Education, I name this school the Bayview Public School to promote the intellectual, physical and moral welfare of the children who attend it."

A vote of thanks to Mr. Duffin was moved by Mr. Milton Blakley, Principal of Bayview School.

Mrs. E. Rutherford, Vice-Regent of the St. Julien Chapter, I.O.D.E. accompanied by Mrs. A. V. Daniel presented a beautiful union jack and patriotic calendars to chairman Mitchell who accepted these gifts on behalf of the school and expressed the hope that the flag would never cease to fly.

The musical numbers in addition to the opening chorus included a guitar selection "It is No Secret" by June Reid and Harold Wood under the direction of Mrs. E. Burtt, teacher of No. 1 school. Miss Verna Sine's pupils. Norman and Allen Stoliker of No. 3 school sang a duet "O Danny Boy." Donna McCormick, Mary Craig, Marilyn Stanley, Betty and Eugene McGrath and Margaret Thompson sang "The Bluebells of Scotland" under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Kerr of school No. 4. One of the highlights of the evening was an accordian solo by Mr. Alfred Uetz who came from Switzerland only two months ago.

The program included brief remarks by the distinguished visitors present including His Honor, the Warden of Hastings County, Lee Grills, L. A. Kells, superintendent of the Belleville public schools, Fred Mitchell, reeve of Thurlow township, Deputy Reeve Cecil, Ketcheson, Councillors Harry Pound and Jack Armstrong. The trustees who spoke briefly were vice chairman Harry O'Neill, who expressed regret that past chairman Clifford Reid who had worked hard for the new two room addition was unavoidably absent, trustee Harry Grills, and trustee George Weymark. Douglas Atkins who has been a trustee since the Area was formed thanked Mr Duffin and others, who had helped to make the evening a success. Brief remarks by Harold Cameron, secretary treasurer of the board, and by teachers, Miss Doris Ames and Mrs. Hildred Lodgen and the singing of God Save the Queen brought the ceremony to a close.

Eisenhower Hints He'll Enter Election Battle

Supreme Headquarters, Allied Power, Europe, March 30—(AP)—General Eisenhower said today "the mounting numbers of my fellow-citizens who are voting to make me the Republicon nominee" for president may cause hi mto change his mind about refusing actively to seek the nomination.

He issued a short informal statement at his headquarters in response to requests by reporters for comment on the Minnesota primary election Tuesday, in which more than 100,000 voters wrote in his name in the Republican preferential primary.

The statement said:

"The mounting numbers of my fellow citizens who are voting to make me the Republican nominee are forcing me to re-ex a-mine my personal position and past decision."

Eisenhower issued his statement a few hours after two developments—Senator Robert A. Taft withdrew from the New Jersey preferential primary, and President Truman said Eisenhowre is at liberty to return home any time the general deems it safe and proper.

Kingston Board Blacklisted By Federation

Kingston, March 20 — (CP) — Blacklisting of the Kingston Board of Education by the Ontario Secondary School Teachers Federation was revealed today. It arises from a stalemate in salary negotiations in which the federation has been acting for teachers of Kingston Collegiate and Vocational Institute.

The teachers' decision was reported to the board meeting in committee of the whole last night when a letter was read from S. G. B. Roblin, general secretary of the federation, and in a bulletin being sent to all federation members.

The bulletin says the board's final offer in salary negotiations ($200 across the board, which went into effect Jan. 1) is unsatisfactory to the federation and to the K.C.V.I. teachers who asked for $500.

Deadline Approaches

Toronto, March 20 — (CP) — As the deadline approached for obtaining 1952 automobile licences and drivers' permits, thousands of motorists today swamped 200 offices throughout Ontario.

Recently an extension was granted to give motorists until midnight tonight to obtain the permits and the licences.

FIREMEN DO GOOD JOB

Once again, the city of Belleville has been the victim serious fire. Fortunately, no lives were lost, but the operty damage has been estimated at $350,000. Besides, n businesses and several families have been rendered meless. It is fortunate also that the injuries suffered by eral members of the fire department were only compar- ely slight.

The Belleville firemen deserve commendation for dling the fire so well and preventing a much greater . The fire departments of Trenton and of R.C.A.F. ion Trenton, are similarly deserving of commendation the very valuable assistance which they gave in bring- the blaze under control.

Belleville has had several such fires in recent years. every one of these cases, the Belleville firemen "came ough" with all the efficiency that anyone could have ected of them.

WELFARE STATE DISTRUSTED

Out in northwestern Alberta, near the British Col- bia boundary, there is a tribe of Cree Indians which has ined a certain stubborn individualism and independ- e which many Indians, as well as many palefaces, seem have lost. These Indians are known as the John hiese Indians, because their chief's name is John Chiese. The tribe is believed to number about 100 mem- s, but no one knows its exact size, because efforts to a census among them have proved fruitless. There is death registration among them and no birth registra- n.

They have refused to settle on the reservation set de for them. They have refused to accept baby bonuses. ey have no legal trap lines, like other Indian tribes. erever they go, they are trespassers in the eyes of the ; also, according to employees of the department of ian affairs, the band has no legal existence.

Strangely enough, these Indians get along all right h the paleface farmers, hunters and trappers with om they come in contact. They have, seemingly, no tility to the white man as such; their antipathy is re- ved for the emissaries of Ottawa who want to control m, regiment them, regulate their comings and goings, corral them on a reservation.

The existence of the John O'Chiese Indians came to when a recent attempt was made to enforce the re- d Indian Act, one of the terms of which is that all ians had to be enumerated by the end of March. Thus by pretences of ignorance, by evasive answers and by er subterfuges they have succeeded in baffling the rep- ntatives of the department of Indian affairs who have to deal with them.

Perhaps the Ottawa government, in its own interests, ld be just as well advised to leave the John O'Chiese ians to their own devices and desist from its efforts to lize them. If their past and present attitude toward cialdom can be taken as an indication of what they ld be like if they are enfranchised, they are all likely become reactionary Tories. Their example might even ve contagious.

In any event, the John O'Chiese Indians seem to ow instinctively what many literate and allegedly well- ormed white men have not yet learned — that the wel- e state takes more than it gives.

"TREMENDOUSLY WASTEFUL"

As part of the mutual aid program, the United States shipping to Great Britain 1,000,000 tons of steel. But United States itself, in spite of its vast production, is ort of steel and is importing 1,000,000 tons of steel from gium.

The New York Times has consulted people whom it cribes as "qualified steel experts" about this remark- le double shipment of steel across the Atlantic Ocean. e "qualified steel experts" say that the Belgian steel uld be sold to Britain as cheaply as the American steel n be delivered there — about $145 per metric ton.

The reason that the steel has to be shipped back and th in this manner, it appears, is because of certain reg- tions about the spending of mutual aid funds laid wn by the United States government.

The experts told the New York Times that this method supplying steel shortages is "tremendously wasteful," the people who are formulating the policies of the ited States seem to care nothing about waste, tremend- s or otherwise.

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

GENIUS AND DILIGENCE

A college professor with whom I recently had conversation declared that college grades are not primarily a matter of high mental endowment but rather a matter of diligence. He said that young men and women of mediocre ability could go about as high in class marks as they want to go, depending entirely upon how much they are willing to work. Also he made the statement that some of the finest minds he has ever come in contact with are always dragging bottom and stand in imminent danger of flunking out.

Then I recalled that a young man of my acquaintance with an IQ of 165 plus was getting a "D" average in the university and had every member of the faculty down on him. He was a genius, but he wasn't a worker.

Looking back over 30, 40 or 50 years, most of us would have to testify to the superiority of diligence over genius. Personally, among my friends and acquaintances, I have known only two men who were in the genius class, and neither of these made a success of his life.

A worker is an honest person and, say what you will, honesty of purpose at last comes to its well-merited reward. The world admires the flashy genius and the fourflusher, but destiny usually lays her hand upon the shoulder of the honest, diligent worker.

Florida Holiday

By G. A. MORTON
(Managing Editor)

Readers who followed our articles of last year will recall mention of the fine example of courtesy extended to us by the manager of a large garage at Durham, N.C. In appreciation of his kindness we brought him a gift of some choice Belleville cheese and were fortunate in finding him in. He is D. E. Deichmann of the Uzzle Motor Company. It was very pleasant to renew our acquaintance for he recalled the incident immediately after we met.

Later he insisted on showing us Duke University which is really the showplace of Durham. The university takes its name from James Buchanan Duke, philanthropist, who gave $125,000,000 as an endowment to found the institution. A large portion of this was used for construction of buildings, and the balance invested for their maintenance and staff salaries. Twenty per cent of the income is returned each year to the endowment fund which provision was a remarkable case of foresight. The fortune of the Duke family was founded on tobacco and today about 12,000 people are employed in the Durham factories producing tobacco products, chiefly cigarettes.

Enrolment exceeds 4,500 students and the faculty staff members number about 500. The physical plant consists of fifty buildings, all of native stone and a 35,000-seat stadium. The campus and buildings presented a most attractive sight. Broad, winding streets, thousands of trees and shrubs and the stone buildings of Gothic architecture combine to present a view of never-ending delight. Homes for some of the faculty are built on the campus. No wonder Mr. Deichmann is proud of this fine asset to his city.

He told us the campus comprises 8,500 acres, 5,000 of which are used by the School of Forestry. There is as well the Duke Hospital associated with the Medical School, one of the most noted in the south. However the show place of the campus is the Chapel, which contains a 50-bell carillon and 7,791-pipe organ. The Chapel is really a cathedral in architecture and size with beautiful stained glass windows, lace-like wood carving and a wealth of stone carving. Skilled artisans were brought over from Italy for much of this work which took several years to complete. The building is set at one end of a long quadrangle, flanked on each side by university buildings and facing a fine sweep of green lawn.

It would have been pleasant to have spent more time on this tour, but we only had time for a quick walk inside the Chapel. It is not so large as the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York City, but is every bit as rich in appointment and attention to detail. Unfortunately the day was cloudy and the windows did not show up to advantage. It would have been something to remember to have been able to attend a service and heard that fine pipe organ and carillon. We might add that the services are undenominational.

Part of the original research on the atomic bomb was done by Duke University scientists and one of the leaders in this group was a college class mate of Mr. Deichmann's. He was known to his friends by some such nickname as "Goofus" although we do not recall that is correct term. Mr. Deichmann said using this nickname for an outstanding scientist when they met appealed to his sense of the ridiculous. The only times his friend showed any embarrassment were when he was introduced to a group of strangers and the term was used during the conversation by those whom he knew well. Apparently those living in the rarer atmosphere of higher learning suffer just the same as the rest of us on occasion.

During our trip around the university, we had noticed how green the grass was on many parts of the lawn which was rather surprising when one considered that the weather was too cold for growth. In fact this green grass is to be seen all through the Carolinas and deceives the visitor into believing that the climate is warmer than it appears. However, this is a device in common usage through the south. In the Autumn, numerous owners of properties plant rye grass seed in the lawn. This produces a tough winter covering pleasing to the eye because it retains its color for many months. In the Spring this is replaced by another type of grass which lives through the summer and must be replaced in the Fall.

Ten miles from Durham is the large University of North Carolina which the traveller sees proceeding south on Highway 15 from Durham. This is also beautifully situated and has an extensive campus with splendid buildings. There is another large university in Durham for Negroes so that the city is well supplied with higher sources of education. Mr. Deichmann commented that that was one of his reasons for coming to the city. He has five children and he thought that if they did not get a good education then it would be no fault of their parents.

It was with considerable reluctance we departed from Durham and said au revoir to one of the city's best boosters. We had spent a most pleasant hour or so there and some time it would be pleasant to return for a longer visit. Had we not had trouble with our car the year before it is doubtful if we ever would have seen much of Durham. Indeed, it is an ill wind that blows no one good.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

There must be some affinity between heavy industry and dogs. A casual observer cannot help but be struck by the number and variety of dogs to be seen in cities like Windsor, Ont., and Pittsburgh Pa., as compared with what are to be seen in less industrialized cities. On the royal tour last fall, in Windsor, Ont., dogs just about stole the show. When the royal couple arrived at the riverside platform for their official welcome to the city and their view of the Detroit skyline, a small nondescript dog that had been eagerly trying to figure out what all the excitement was about managed to find out just in time. It got into the procession and marched across the gangway onto the beflowered platform immediately ahead of the royal couple.

For the remainder of the day, dogs got into the act at every turn. They dodged across streets just under the wheels of the processional cars. They ran alongside. They joined their barks to the cheers along every street. Newsmen agreed that nowhere along the royal route across Canada were so many dogs of all breeds to be seen as in Windsor. It is a dog lover's city.

It may be that men who work in factories all day long, especially in the more massive and less human surroundings of heavy industry, are more inclined than the average man to love the company of a small, irresponsible, unmechanized creature such as a dog. It is the antithesis of the mechanized. To come home sore and weary after a day spent amid the clangor and glare of an automobile foundry and be met half way up the street by a hilarious, joyous bounding ball of living flesh that looks to you as the biggest thing in the world must have a powerful psychological effect upon your stunned and baffled human spirit.

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Signed Letters, Not More Than One Page, or 100 Words Long, Pertaining to Personal Health and Hygiene, Not to Disease, Diagnosis or Treatment, Will be Answered by Dr. Brady if a Stamped, Self-Addressed Envelope is Enclosed, Etc.

CATCH 'EM YOUNG

Hi ya, old fogies! Still dodging drafts and keeping your feet dry and preserving your sweet innocence of conversation spray, the same as in 1852?

In the third bag of mail the other day — the truck dumped five bags here that day — we found the letter of the month. In the hope that it may provoke some of you Yankee wiseacres—Yankee, any resident of North America; wiseacre, one who knows a lot about hygiene and pathology that isn't so — into thinking — if you are still capable of it — I'll print the letter here. In appreciation I am sending the author of the letter the complete works—A Lot of Little Lessons in the Ways of Health—autographed by the living, at any rate still breathing conductor of this column. (Editor of that funny paper in northern Minnesota please take notice)

Dear Dr. Brady:

How I wish you could see my little girl, almost two, raised according to the Brady Baby Book. No colic. No teething troubles. Never has had a physic. She hates hats or caps and never wears any. She usually has fewer clothes than the neighbors' children, loves to play in the wet grass with cans of water, even on cold days. She has had c-r-i twice in her life, both times obviously caught from people. She has never really been sick. We can't thank you enough.

Yours sincerely,

You can't, eh? Ma'am, your letter is the finest thing that has happened to me in a month of holidays. It will be something good to remember when the constant pressure of the interests gets me down.

The Brady Baby Book, for which send 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope, is one of the twenty-three Little Lessons which make up the complete works.

The trick specialists who infest Yankeeland today will — well, they already hate my internal organs anyway — but I dare say this baby book has saved many young parents the $10 or $20 or $30 a month they might otherwise have contributed to some bumptious "specialist" for the information and advice they get in the booklet for two bits and, meanie that I am, a properly stamped, self-addressed envelope.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Cheese Every Day

Is cheese fattening? I am fond of all kinds of cheese, from cottage to Limburger, but my friends warn me that it is sure to put on poundage and so help me - - - (D.K.)

Answer — No. The basic or model health diet, on which you may pattern your own diet to suit your individual requirements (see menu on p. 49 of booklet The 7 Keys to Vite) includes a daily ration of cheese. Which kind doesn't matter — whichever you like. For the booklet send 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ask in Writing, Not With Clipping

Some readers just will not understand. When we had disposed of yesterday's mail there remained the following unidentified items: (1) Nineteen stamped envelopes bearing such addresses as "City" — if mailed these come back stamped Returned for Better Address or Unknown or No Such Address. (2) A handful of clippings of items from my column marked with ink or pencil — by whom there is no way of knowing. (3) An armful of letters more than 100 words in length or letters dealing with individual cases or asking for medical opinion, diagnosis or treatment. (4) Three perfectly good U.S. quarters. I keep telling you - - - Well, shall we dance? (Ol' Crab Brady)

At Least 200

For my science class at ——— High I'd like to know whether there are people who do not have to brush their teeth because their teeth are so sound. (Frances).

Answer — Yes at least 200 men, women and children of American, English, Scandinavian, Portuguese, Italian, Dutch origin who live on unrefined, natural food on the wee volcanic island of Tristan da Cunha, one of three specks on the globe half way from Montevideo to Capetown in the South Atlantic. They do not brush their teeth and they have the finest teeth of any civilized people.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

WANTS

We all have wants. It's a kind of disease! Yet it is not to be sneered at. The poor man has more of these wants than the rich man, and each one is tinted with a dream or embellished with imagination. The poor man has to work to satisfy his wants, but the rich man knows he can buy most of his, thus missing the enjoyment after the want has been fulfilled.

The late Logan Pearsall Smith once said this: — "There are two things to aim at in life: first, to get what you want; and after that to enjoy it. Only the wisest of mankind achieve the second." The wealthier a man gets the fewer are his wants, but the poorer a man is the greater is his accumulation of wants!

In early life our wants are legion. In later life, however, we come to realize how superfluous most of these wants would have been if gained. Of what value is wealth, if after attaining it you have ill health and are unloved? Only in the enjoyment of an achieved want can one be happy, as Smith has so well said.

Most of our wants are short lived. This is well for then we can get the thrill out of new ones! Our wants at forty are not the wants we had in mind at twenty. It's the strife we endure in the pursuit of a want that makes us appreciate and enjoy it when that want has been satisfied.

Nothing is more natural than for us all to have these wants. They begin in childhood. Their very change and replacements are good for us. Perhaps the greatest of all wants is the one to want to be useful. We can do without so many wants when we know we are helping to supply the wants of others, adding to their happiness, and trying to help lessen their fears.

Too many wants are apt to leave us cold and lonely. When we think of the multitude of blessings that are ours, our wants lose their value and are easily discarded. There is sure to come a time with us all when our wants will wither away and the enjoyment in all that has given us happiness will illuminate our memory.

WEDDINGS

STEACY—JOHNSTON

A very pretty wedding ceremony took place on Saturday afternoon, March 15th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernal Steacy, Mount Pleasant-Rawdon, when Grace Agnes Johnston, of Peterborough, became the bride of Albert Henry Steacy, of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernal Steacy. The Reverend H. C. Secker, rector of St. John's Church of England, Stirling, officiated beneath a cascade of pink and white streamers.

The wedding music was provided by Miss Betty McConnell, of Mount Pleasant. Previous to the ceremony, Mrs. Eric Summers, of Mount Pleasant, sang, "O Promise Me," and during the signing of the register, "I Love You Truly."

The bride was charming in her floor-length gown of white satin with bouffant skirt deeply embroidered with seed pearls. The fitted bodice was of nylon lace ending in points below the waistline. Her three-quarter length veil of appliqued nylon tulle was held in place by a matching shirred headdress in halo effect and she carried a cascade bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Mrs. Richard Gifford, of Oshawa, was matron of honor, attired in pale blue satin with fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. She wore a matching headdress trimmed with white flowers, and carried a nosegay of pink rosebuds.

Miss Ruth Dunham, of Mount Pleasant-Rawdon, was bridesmaid, gowned in pale blue net over satin with embroidered bouffant skirt. She wore a matching headdress and carried a nosegay of pink rosebuds.

Miss Linda Summers, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Summers, of Mount Pleasant-Rawdon, was flower girl, demure in her floor-length frock of pink organza and matching headdress. She carried a nosegay of pink and white petals tied with satin ribbon streamers decorated with sprigs of lily-of-the-valley. Mr. Richard Gifford, of Oshawa, was groomsman.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party journeyed to Campbellford where photographs were taken, later returning to the home where the wedding reception was held. The bridegroom's mother, attired in a gown of flowered sheer, with white straw headdress and corsage of pink roses, received the guests. The bride's table was decorated with a three-tier wedding cake which was later cut in traditional style by the bride and bridegroom. The buffet luncheon was served by Mrs. Cyrus Summers, Mrs. Carl Dunham and Miss Marie Simpson, all of Mount Pleasant.

For travelling to Ottawa and points east, the bride chose a wine gabardine two-piece suit with navy accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

Out-of-town guests were present from Binghampton, N.Y., Lyndhurst, Ont., Seeley's Bay, Forfar and Oshawa.

BASKET PLANT BURNS

Grimsby, Ont., March 20 (CP) —The Farrell basket factory was destroyed by fire early today. Loss was estimated at upwards of $250,000.

About 500,000 baskets, ready for the 1952 fruit season, were burned.

The firm is a branch of Canadian Wood Products Limited.

While firemen fought the blaze, police diverted traffic on highway 8 around the fire scene, about 12 miles east of Hamilton.

Mrs. T.R. Dolan Gives W.C.A. Annual Report

The 72nd annual meeting of the Women's Christian Association was held on Monday in the board room of the Belleville General Hospital with Mrs. A. E. Purdy presiding. The Reverend Duncan McTavish opened the meeting.

The annual report was given by Mrs. T. R. Dolan; Mrs. E. Hickey reported on the auditing of the books, which had been complete, by a chartered accountant, and Mrs. Thompson, chairman of the Welfare Board, reported on the Corby Order. This board also sent gifts to the home for the aged, who are now living at the County Home. The St. Julien Chapter I.O.D.E. made a donation to these old folks at Christmas time.

Annual Report

In her report Mrs. Dolan stated that in December of 1951, a meeting had been called to discuss the disposal of the Corby Order—whereby fuel is sent to needy families at Christmas.

The chairman and members of the Welfare Board of the W.C.A. are to be congratulated on the efficient manner in which this work was done during the past year. The W.C.A. again appointed Mrs. W. C. Mikel and Mr. H. Legate as their representatives to the Board of the Belleville General Hospital for the coming year, and acknowledges with gratitude a legacy of $2250 from the estate of the late Miss Ida M. Jack.

Survey Made

A personal survey was made by this group and 39 families benefited from the legacy of the late Senator Corby. During the past year a valued and loyal friend of the W.C.A. Mrs. Hyslop, left the services of the hospital, and to whom, a presentation was made by the association in appreciation of past services, of an engraved, silver rose bowl.

The W.C.A. expresses appreciation to Mrs. W. C. Mikel and to Mr. Legate for their continued service on the Board of Governors of the Belleville General Hospital as its representatives. It is also with deep regret that the association notes the death of Mr. Wakefield, former administrator of the hospital.

Officers Elected

The following W.C.A. officers have been appointed for the ensuing year: honorary presidents, Mrs. W. C. Mikel, Mrs. J. R. Abrams and Mrs. Lillian Morden; president, Mr . A. E. Purdy; 1st vice president, Mrs. H. Thompson; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. N. Edwards; 3rd vice-president, Miss Norma Clarke; treasurer, Mrs. E. Hickey; recording secretary, Mrs. T. R. Dolan; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. E. Marsh; custodians, Mrs. W. C. Mikel and Mrs. A. E. Purdy.

Welfare Board: chairman, Mrs. H. Thompson, Miss Norma Clarke, Mrs. R. M. Carmichael, Mrs. J. C. Marsh and Mrs. Jack Marshall.

Trustees: Mesdames W. C. Mikel, H. A. Thompson, E. Hickey, C. W. Burr, J. E. Marsh, G. H. French, F. S. Wilson, T. Y. Wills, R. M. Carmichael, E. Thomas, D. L. Fleming, H. Alford, A. E. Purdy, N. E. Edwards, T. R. Dolan, J. Marshall, P. H. Wills, H. A. Singer, J. Hawkins, D. Rowe, R. A. Elliott, S. E. Morton and Miss Norma Clarke.

Miss Dorothy Connor, V. O. N. Reports for Month of February

The regular meeting of the local branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses was held in the Y.M.C.A. on Monday evening with the president, Mr. E. E. Follwell, presiding.

Reports were received from the secretary, Mrs. S. E. Morton and from the treasurer, Mr. Harold A. Parker. It was decided to hold "Tag Day" on May 31st. The president also referred to the loss of a valued board member, Mr. H. W. Wakefield, who had taken such a keen interest in V.O.N. affairs and whose loss will be keenly felt by the organization.

February Report

The report of the nurse-in-charge for February, Miss Dorothy Connor, was received: during the month of February, 280 visits were made to a total of 78 patients, 4 of the patients receiving care were admitted in February. This is eight admissions less than a year ago when an epidemic of 'flu was prevalent.

The visit of Miss Pibus, national supervisor to this branch, in February, was most timely as the V.O.N. makes a start on their program for the year. While Miss Pibus was in the city, the hospital was visited to review with Miss Potts, director of nursing, and Mr. Wakefield, the newly set-up referral system and the plans for undergraduate affiliation.

Field Experience

The V.O.N. has been asked to give field experience to two students from the University of Toronto, one for the month of April and the other for the month of May.

As a part of their course in public health nursing at the university, the nurses receive field experience with a voluntary organization such as the V.O.N. as well as the official agency. One of the policies of the V.O.N. organization is assisting in the education and training of nurses in public health nursing.

Assistance has been given the local department of health at St. Michael's Academy, Holy Rosary School, and the Child Health Centre. One of the visits was to Cannifton public school.

Praise Tendered

A word of praise goes to the publicity committee and to Mr. Stovin in particular for all the work done on publicity during V.O.N. week.

The plans for publicity and interest shown by the board received most favorable comment from Miss Pibus, the national supervisor. Several of the V.O.N. patients and acquaintances mentioned that they had seen and heard a great deal, lately, regarding the V.O.N.

Mrs. A.D. Runnalls Celebrates Her 88th Anniversary

The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Runnalls, Springbrook, was the scene of a happy occasion last Friday evening, when friends and relatives gathered to celebrate the 88th birthday of Mrs. Runnalls.

During the evening a program of readings and songs was enjoyed.

Mrs. Runnalls was the recipient of many personal gifts and two lovely birthday cakes, also during the day, she received a shower of lovely cards from her neighbors and the Springbrook W.A. of which she is a member and which she greatly apprpeciated.

Mrs. Runnalls is exceptionally active, considering her years and thoroughly enjoyed the meeting with friends at her home. She took part in all the activities of the evening.

To conclude a pleasant evening refreshments were served and all departed wishing Mrs. Runnalls many returns of her birthday.

Women's Institute

QUINTE W.I.

Mrs. Kenneth York, matron of the Hastings County Home was hostess to the members of Quinte Women's Institute at their recent meeting tendering a cordial welcome to all. There were about 75 members and friends present.

As the members and friends were conducted through the new Home, Mrs. York pointed out the new and modern devices in the kitchen and laundry, also mentioning the many comforts for the aged.

Following the tour of inspection, the meeting opened in the usual manner, with Mrs. Jack Parrott at the piano.

Mrs. Myrtle Greatrix gave a fine talk on the motto: "A tree grows broader as it grows older," and in like manner, so do people, said the speaker. She also gave a reading, entitled, "Life is Good."

Mrs. Harry Grills thanked Mrs. York for her kind hospitality and the kitchen staff for their assistance.

After the close of the meeting bounteous refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants.

Mrs. F. Wilson, Mrs. Denton Address Carmel W.M.S.

The March meeting of Carmel W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. F. Hicks with 16 members and five visitors present.

The president Mrs. M. Ross, gave the worship service with Mrs. J. Paterson reading the Scripture lesson. Mrs. F. Hicks gave a reading on Christian Stewardship and Mrs. Paterson reported on temperance.

During the business period, Miss M. Hicks was appointed delegate to attend the Belleville Presbyterial in Grace United Church, Trenton, on March 27. It was decided to have a pot luck dinner and quilting at Mrs. G. Moorman's next week. Mrs. E. Dafoe rendered a solo.

Guest Speakers

The president introduced the guests, Mrs. F. Wilson, vice president of Belleville presbyterial, and Mrs. Denton, of Belleville, who spoke on W.M.S. work and its needs for missionary work and givings of which every church woman should be a member; both addresses were interesting.

Rev. W. R. Merrick gave an outline of the training school being built.

Mrs. J. Homan, group leader, took charge and gave a chapter of the study book with Mrs. F. Hicks and Mrs. Porter giving readings.

A vote of thanks was given Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Denton on their encouraging missionary addresses and the meeting was closed by Mr. Merrick.

The hostess served refreshments, assisted by her three daughters, Miss M. Hicks, Mrs. E. Dafoe and Mrs. C. Barlow, and a social half hour enjoyed by all.

Latter Day Saints' Relief Society Holds Birthday Party

On Tuesday evening the Belleville Branch of the Relief Society of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints held a delightful St. Patrick's Day party at the home of Miss M. Barnum, Everett Street.

The Women's Relief Society was organized by the Prophet Joseph Smith, in Illinois on March 17, 1842. Its purposes include benevolent, cultural and educational activities. This, the 110th anniversary of the society was held here in the form of a birthday party.

Program

Mrs. W. B. Vandervoort conducted the program as follows:

An address "The Relief Society" by Miss M. Barnum. A sing-song of popular and Irish songs, conducted by Elder Jan G. Dame and Miss Marion Vandervoort, accompanied on the piano by Elder Keith A. Moore. A reading "The J'iner," by Mrs. T. E. Lee; piano solo, Polonaise in A major by Chopin, Elder Keith A. Moore; a duet, "My Irish Cinderella," Mrs. Roy Bennett and Miss Laura Hutchinson; a trio, "Peggy O'Neill," Mrs. Roy Bennett, Miss Laura Hutchinson and Miss Marion Vandervoort.

A recreational period featuring Irish games and contests was conducted by Elder Dame.

Refreshments including a birthday cake were served by Mrs. A. Willis and Mrs. W. Wardhaugh bringing to a close an enjoyable evening.

ADVERTISING COST LOW

Hamilton, March 20 (AP)—The cost of newspaper advertising compared with an increase of more than a 100 percent in newspaper production in the last 10 years, is low, A. G. Muir, general manager of the Hamilton Spectator, said here Tuesday night. He pointed out that newspaper circulation over the same period had increased tremendously, giving wider coverage.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Here is married loneliness

I'd hate to try and guess how many women there are who would describe themselves exactly the same way as the one in the letter I am about to quote describes herself. Without trying to estimate their possible number, I can only say that every mail brings me letters voicing the same despairing cry which wells up out of the first paragraph of the following:

"You may think this is a strange letter, but I have no one else with who mto discuss my problem. The fact of the matter is that, although I am a married woman with two children, I am probably the loneliest woman in the world.

"I am 20 years old and my husband is 24. Despite his age, he has no sense of responsibility whatever. He has told me many times that his mother is closer to him than I am. He not only goes to see her every Sunday, but twice during each week. When he comes home from visiting her, he is particularly cold and nasty toward me.

"I could somehow manage to stand this if he was companionable when at home, but he isn't. Night after night when he comes home from work, he eats his dinner in complete silence, then reads until he falls asleep. Never at any time does he carry on a conversation with me, and if I try to start one ,he ignores me and just keep on reading."

"One of the strangest things in the relationship between my husband and myself is that he insists on taking me out every Saturday night. Frankly, I think it would be better if he didn't, because instead of being happy interludes in an otherwise dull life, these Saturday nights are actually miserable.

"He always takes me to 'dine and dance' places and then just sits. He doesn't speak to me all evening, but looks around and watches every move I make. He never dances with me, and if any of our friends comes over and asks me to dance, he glowers and forbids it. Even if they come over just for a little conversation, he is rude and ill-mannered until they leave, and after they have left, he always has something nasty to say about them.

"What does one do when one's husband never smiles, never cooperates in trying to bring any happiness into the lives of wife or children, and always lookse and acts as though something were preying on his mind? We have been married three years, and I have spent those entire three years in trying to understand him, but to no avail. Please tell me, what do I do now?"

Mental Bluebeard

How this young wife has managed to put up with such a situation as long as three years is beyond me. Obviously, she was no more than 17 when she married this mental Bluebeard who is engaged in slowly murdering her youth, her love and all her natural enthusiasms. The years between 17 and 20, it is hardly necessary to point out, should be years of gayety, of joyous companionship with others of the same age, of lively interests and good times. To have been forced to live in an atmosphere where all these normal things must slowly have suffocated to death must have been like being confined in a place stricken by a plague which was gradually killing off, one by one, all other human beings.

It seems to me curious that this girl should have had no forewarning of what life might be like witht the man she married. For it hardly seems possible that these anti-social characteristics of his could have made their appearance only after she became his wife. The only logical explanation would seem to be that, like many another girl in love, she was aware of these undesirable qualities of his but confidently believed that marriage would work miracles and make him into the kind of husband she had always dreamed about.

Be that as it may, the day is certainly long over-due when she should have begun to take steps toward her own salvation.

How is she to do this?

Well, if a husband lies down on the job he assumed of his own free will when he married—that of seeing to it that his wife has a happy life,—there is only one thing she can do about it. That is, she will have to create her own happy life, or, let's say, as happy a life as possible under the circumstances.

It's not too easy, when the wife is a mother with two children to look after, for her to go out and find herself some interesting activities outside her home. But it can be done, if she has sufficient desire and sufficient initiative to do it! There are ways of making friends with other young mothers and joining in good times with them. Some organization, uch as the Y.W.C.A., for instance, often have mothers' clubs, where arrangements are made to take care of children while the mothers are busy with their own activities. This young woman lives in a large city; I suggest she investigate this through the local Y. She may well, too, find someone thre who could talk her while problem over with her and help her with other suggestions.

On Sundays, when her husband goes to visit his mother, she should take the children and go somewhere, too. It wouldn't be a bad idea, either, if now and then he happened to get home ahead of her and did a little wondering about where she was. And she might also occasionally come down in the evening when he sat reading, all ready to go out, and tell him that since he is going to be at home to take care of the children, she is going to the movies with friends.

If she pursues such a program systematically, holding to it quietly but firml yand avoiding quarrels, in time the Sphinx to whom she is married may come to life. Whatever may come of it, it will be all to the good that she has shown him he has a thinking, feeling woman for a wife, not a soul-less puppet that moves only at its master's bidding.

Food for Thought

Like to Try Your Hand At Italian Ravioli?

In on Italian restaurant we paid $1.85 each for a ravioli dinner. The service was perfect, of course. The flavor was unexpectedly good. But I thought as I was tasting it that it actually was a most economical dish if it were made at home.

I have never given you a ravioli recipe before, but I hope you will clip this for it is a new venture and will open up a new field of cookery for most of you. Ravioli is a macaroni-type paste, but thin and delicate, shaped like a pocket-book about 3x2 nches, and filled with a meat and vegetable or cheese and vegetable filling and served with a rich tomato sauce.

It is delicious and I am sure that several of you who have written to me for other types of national dishes will snap it up and clip it out. The recipe is long and I will not have space to repeat it so here's your chance. . .

ITALIAN RAVIOLI PASTE

One and one-half teaspoons melted shortening, 1-2 teaspoon salt, yolk of 1 egg slightly beaten, 1-2 cup lukewarm water, about 2 cups sifted bread flour—or enough to make a medium thick dough that is not sticky. Add to the melted shortening the salt, egg yolk and water. Mix, then beat in the sifted flour a little at a time. (It must be bread flour.) Turn out on floured board and knead for a few minutes untile the dough is smooth and does not stick to the board. Cover with a bowl and allow to stand for 30 minutes at room temperature. Roll out into an oblong about 16x18 inches. Brush half of the oblong with beaten egg white.

Arrange about 1 1-2 teaspoons of filling (see below) at even intervals on the brushed side of the dough, having a generous 1-inch space between each little mound of filling. Cover with other half of dough. Press dough down between each filling, starting at centre to exclude air. Now with a pastry wheel or sharp knife cut out each square, then press down edges to seal them. Be sure they are sealed—the egg white facilitates this. Place on lightly floured wax paper, cover and let stand 1 hour. Turn them over once during this time.

When time comes to cook them lower them gently in rapidly boiling salted water, cover with towel and boil gently about 20 minutes. If you have rolled the odugh out to a 16x18 inch rectangle it is thin and 20 minutes is long enough. If one of them shows signs of breaking before this immediately remove them with a perforated egg lifter, letting them drain on it before placing on serving plates— this means only once handling them. Serve about 6 or 8 to each plate. Cover with Tomato Sauce, and sprinkle thickly with grated Parmesan or old cheddar cheese.

FILLING FOR RAVIOLI

One-half pound freshly ground meat—beef, veal, lamb or chicken or leftover meat, 1-4 cup chopped cooked spinach, 1-4 cup chopped parsley, 1-2 teaspoon salt, shake of nutmeg and cayenne pepper, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1 small clove of garlic finely chopped, 1 small onion finely chopped, 1 tablespoon grated old cheese, 1 small egg or 1 large egg yolk. If fresh meat is used fry it in 2 tablespoons butter for 5 minutes first, then add ingredientse except egg. Fry gently for about 7 or 8 minutes stirring. Remove from heat anod stir in egg. Cool. Use as is or put through food chopper. The Italians mince it very finely. If it is too dry you may add another egg yolk.

If interested readers would like me to give them other ravioli fillings they should write to me.

TOMATO SAUCE

(For ravioli and other Italian dishes.)

Two 6-ounce tins Italian-style tomato paste, 1 28-oz tin tomatoes, 2 tablespoons olive or salad oil, 1-4 cup chopped onions, 1 small clove garlic finely chopped, 1-4 cup chopped celery, 1 1-4 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1-4 teaspoon each nutmeg, pepper, oregano (not essential), 1-4 cup chopped parsley, 1-4 cup grated cheese, 1-4 teaspoon baking soda. Saute the onions, garlic and celery in the oil slowly for five minutes. Cut up the canned tomatoes and add them and the tomato paste. Add all the ingredients except soda and simmer covered for one hour. Add baking soda during last ten minutes. (This sauce may be used for cooking Italian Meat Balls.)

Let me know if you like this Italian dish. I will give you others if it proves as popular with you as it did with me.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Kate Greenaway frock most picturesque for flower girl

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

For my wedding in June, I am to wear my mother's wedding dress of very heavy ivory-colored satin, princess design. I have already chosen the dresses of my maid of honor and bridesmaids, aquamarine taffeta; violvet-color half-hats; and I would like to have them carry pink roses, perhaps Talisman roses. I have a very beautiful and "picturesque" little niece, who is also my goddaughter, and I want her to be my flower girl. What would you suggest as her costume?—Rita M.

For a picturesque little flower girl no type of dress is so charmingly picturesque as a long Kate Greenaway frock. And for a beautiful little girl no shade is more alluring, I think, than pale, pale pink. Pale pink taffeta would be lovely, with perhaps a matching pink bonnet or demure small hat. And I suggest she carry a small, pert, old-fashioned bouquet of pink rosebuds, perhaps Talisman rosebuds combined with a few small white flowers, or perhaps a few violets, to pick up the violet color of your attendants' hats.

When she introduces a boy to her father

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Just how should I introduce a boy-friend to my father?—Jenette.

This is a simple, correct form: "Father, this is Tom Hall".

New Type British Furniture Can be Moved Easily; Women Viewers Pleased

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London (CP) — Sideboards and wardrobes that can be moved at the touch of a finger made the biggest hit with women viewers at a furniture exhibition in London's Earl's Court district.

These mobile furnishings are balanced on an undercarriage with hidden wheels that lock and unlock at a touch. This enables heavy furniture to be shifted with ease.

And prices have fallen. Now it is possible to furnish a two room apartment with kitchen, in simple price-controlled furniture, for less than £100. Such furniture, which consisted for so long of insipid white woods, now can be obtained in fine empire grains as well as birch, sycamore, mahogany and walnut.

Ingenious Ideas

Ingenious ideas included one for old folks — a chair with almost upright back, the wooden arms of which curve upwards to knobs that give leverage when you stand up.

Space-saving and double-purpose furniture dominated most exhibition stands. Special pieces designed for bachelors included a small settee, bureau and armchair — all with a difference. The settee turns into a comfortable divan bed, the back and one side of the bureau pull out to become a fair-sized dining table, one arm of the chair pulls out to expose a storage drawer beneath the seat. The entire suite costs only £58.

For cramped married quarters there are divan beds with attached shelves and bookcases resting on panelled supports that contain a linen drawer. Dining room tables have reversible tops that form an ironing board and a baby's cot-cum-play-pen can be folded in the middle and wheeled about.

Old Contreversy

This year's exhibitors came to grips with the old controversy on old and new designs by giving a 50-50 play both to contemporary lines and period reproductions. They find that contemporary styles go down well with women in the south, while north country folk prefer "the trimmed stuff."

From women viewers came one age-old grievance. They say men are better catered for in wardrobe design. Moderately priced designs for men have sock drawers, tie and trouser rails and the usual wardrobe space. Women are expected to content themselves with dress space and a deep bottom drawer that generally shortens the wardrobe space and results in articles bunching at the bottom.

And, say the women, manufacturers are still out-dated in drawer necessities. Instead of giving six shallow drawers to a chest they persist in three or more deep ones. Deep drawers, say the ladies, should have gone out with the Victorian wedding habit of "a dozen of everything."

ENFORCED STAY

Montreal — (CP) —A Yugoslav immigrant arrested here said he didn't like Canada and wanted to go back home. The man however was given a jail sentence of three weeks for stealing small articles from a department store.

FISH INDUSTRY BOOM

Selkirk, Man. — (CP) — Old documents found when the community hall here was torn down showed the great advance in commercial fishing on Lake Winnipeg. In 1890 the total catch was valued at $5,183. The 1950-51 commercial catch was valued at $1,059,000.

Cosmetics for Sensitive Skin

Cream can be the success formula for sensitive skin if it's used properly. Apply it at bedtime, leave it on overnight.

By HELEN FOLLETT

ONE minor but maddening beauty grief is the sensitive skin. It's a favorite topic of conversation for the victim; she seems to think it gives her a sort of standing among those who wail about pulchritude worries. She can't use soap, she sobs, and a chilly breeze makes her face red. She just can't live with it, that's what!

No matter what kind of powder she uses, it goes on in patches, refuses to settle down to a smooth surface. As for rouge, the drugstore blush advertises itself like a neon sign.

The Right Cosmetics

Tut, tut for her! Things aren't that bad. She hasn't found the right cosmetics. A sensitive skin needs a cream that carries healing qualities, one that will soothe disturbed surfaces. Maybe she has the right cream but doesn't use enough of it. The more a cream is patted into the flesh, the more effective it is. A light film, soon removed with tissues, doesn't have a chance to do much. She should apply a heavy cream at bedtime, take at least five minutes to force it into the skin and to start blood streams hopping and skipping. She should let it remain on over night.

Dry air in the home may have a bad effect upon the sensitive skin. If there are radiators in the house, they should be equipped with water containers. The air will pick up the moisture quickly. In excessively dry climates, many women have complexion troubles because skin surfaces get rough and flake.

Find Your Soap

Every woman should experiment with soaps until she finds one that her complexion will accept. While all toilet soaps are excellent these days, better than they have ever been, there is a difference between them. A really bland soap should be acceptable to both dry and oily skins. It should fluff quickly into a thick suds; if it doesn't, the chances are you will not get your face really clean. Use cream beforehand to remove make-up, more cream afterward to overcome the drying effect of soap.

FAMOUS BASTION

The Rock of Gibraltar, guarding the Atlantic entrance to the Mediterranean, has been a British possession since 1713.

DANGEROUS SPORT

Between 1935 and 1951, more than 1,100 persons died in the Swiss Alps while mountain-climbing or hiking.

Eight Canadian Girls to Serve With Red Cross

Toronto, March 17 — (CP) — Eight Canadian girls will set out for Japan next month to become the first Canadian Red Cross welfare team to serve with Canadian forces in Japan and perhaps in Korea.

The girls are between the ages of 25 and 35 and more than half of them bilingual. Gertrude Trottier of Alexandria, one of the team, has also added Polish to her stock of languages and is looking forward to picking up the Japanese language.

Harold H. Leather, chairman of the Red Cross national executive said the team was recruited at the request of the Department of National Defence. The girls will be attached to the Commonwealth Leave Centre in Tokyo and to the Commonwealth Hospital at Kure.

"Their concern will be for canteen work, welfare cases, hospital visits and all the thousand and one problems a soldier carries into battle with him," said Mr. Leather.

The girls have had previous experience in the armed forces or in overseas Red Cross hospitals. Their civilian jobs, from librarian to hospital visitors, had one thing in common — they dealt directly with the public.

The girls will take a two-week course under Professor Charles E. Hendry of the University of Toronto School of Social Work to prepare them for their work in Japan.

Ruth Doern of Winnipeg, a graduate of the School of Social Work here, heads the team. Other members are June Watson, Toronto; Eleanor Dundas, Ottawa; Sheila Douglas, Ottawa; Miss Trottier, Simone Masson, Montreal; Annette LaBrie, Quebec City; and Virginia Cook, Calgary.

The girls will fly to Japan and are allowed only 64 pounds of luggage for the trip. A trunkful each will follow by ship but they have been warned not to expect them for about two months.

"We're thanking out lucky stars that nylon lingerie has been invented," commented Miss Dundas.

WRONG KIND

Guelph, Ont. — (CP) — After Tom Warren shot a four - legged intruder in his barnyard he skinned the animal with the intention of collecting a wolf bounty. He was exhibiting the skin when it was identified as that of a big dog missing from a nearby farm.

FOR NEXT CHRISTMAS

Aylmer, Ont. — (CP) — Experts at the provincial forestry station at St. Williams are working with federal foresters to improve the quality of Scottish pine, grown for Christmas trees in Ontario. The experiments are aimed at improving the color and branching.

eligious Beliefs Still Persist mong People of Russia espite Anti-God Propaganda

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

ligion seems to die hard ong the Russian people, in ite of the "anti-God" teaching Soviet schools. Communist rty leaders are much concerned out what they refer to as enacious survivals of the past. a article appearing in Pravda, e editor replies to a number of tters from readers on the subct. One reader said he could uite understand how elderly eople believe in God and perorm religious rites "by force of abit, because they received heir education before the revlution. "But, " the reader coninued, "we have occasion to eet individual boys and girls ho have grown up and been ducated just like all our young eople, but who have religious rejudices and believe in some ort of 'spirit' believe in 'fate.' Where do they get these beliefs?

[illegible]his reply, the editor points [illegible] that "Russian society is not et finally purged of survivals, raditions and customs of the ast," and these are assimilated y some young people who are aught to reject them.

They must accept the achievement of Soviet science' nd its" reports on the structure f the universe, on the origin of ife on the earth, on the origin of an and other themes . . . Boys nd girls should be told of the armfulness of religious prejudices; a scientific, materialist utlook should be fostered in hem. " In other words, young Comunists must not think for hem selves. Science is to take the lace of religion and a materialist utlook is to eliminate all thought f " some sort of spirit."

BIG UNDERTAKING

That is quite an undertaking. Even the most advanced scientists to[illegible]y are finding it more difficult [illegible]aintain a materialist outlook upon the universe and the multifarious forms of life on this planet. Try as they will, they cannot get away from the thought of "some sort of spirit" operating through it all. Soviet scientists themselves, who are claimed to be surperior to all other, have the same difficulty. They accept the theory of evolution as mechanical process, but the question of "origins" stumps them. A Moscow literary journal recently published an article entitled "It is Time for Science to Solve the Problems of the Earth's Origin." The writer of the article tells of a conference of the U. S. S. R. Academy of. Sciences on the problems of the cosmogony of the solar system." Academician O. Yu. Shmit, the chief speaker, claimed to have solved the problem of the origin of the earth and o[illegible]r planets. In brief, his theory [illegible] that the planets originated in a "swarm of minute particles surrounding the sun." These particles were not gas, but "solid specks of dust, and the simplest laws of dynamics " formed them into planets.

OVER -SIMPLIFICATION

That is simple enough, but it is an over--simplification and does not go far enough back to solve the problems of origin-it does not explain the origin of the "laws of dynamics, " which were the the creative factors in the process.

Once your admit ,there are laws governing tthe universe you go beyond the material and are faced with the fact and the presence of " some sort of spirit. "Laws are not material things, they imply a mind, a will and a purpose-a law-maker and sustainer.

Religion was recently defined by W. J. Brown as "the relation ship in which a man conceives himself to stand to the Universe and the Power behind it. From this will flow his estimate of the significance of human life, his conception of his relationship to his fellow-man, and to society as a whole. " That is worth thinking about. It not only raises the question of "some sort of spirit" in the universe, but also of moral law in the human relationship. It is that law which Soviet rulers wish to ignore and avoid by their materialist outlook and anti-God teaching. We have seen the effects of this in their unscrupulous actions and their utter lack of common ethics in international relationss. It is also displayed in their ruthless treatment of their own people. But their materialist and godless outlook can only lead them and the Russian people in the end to anarchy. There are moral laws, which are just as dynamic as those which formed and sustain the universe, and it is only by obedience to those moral laws and the Spirit behind them that society or the society of nations can live together in good will and peace.

SHANNONVILLE

TRINITY CHURCH W.G.

Shannonville—Trinity Church Women's Guild met at the home of Mrs. J. Kent on Thursday evening with 21 members and two visitors present. The president, Mrs. S. Fitzgerald, opened the meeting, and asked for a minute's silence in respect to the past president, Mrs. A. Mark.

After the usual business was transacted, Mrs. H. Wright of Belleville, introduced Mrs. E Hickey, president of the Parish Guild of Christ Church, Belleville, who gave an interesting address to the members and urged them to carry on the good work.

Mrs. T. Whittle and Mrs. H. Houston expressed their thanks to Mrs. Hickey for coming to attend their meeting and for the many ideas as to financing; to which Mrs. Hickey replied, saying it was a pleasure to meet with the Guild members. She extended an invitation to meet with their Parish Guild at a future date.

After Rev. L. A. Page closed the meeting, a social time was spent together anr refreshments were served.

PRODUCTION UP

London, March 19. (Reuters)—British coal production and export are up this year. The ministry of Fuel announced the total output for the first 11 weeks of 1952 was 49,253,700 tons—425,100 more than in the same period of 1951. During the first 10 weeks of the year 1,709,000 tons of coal were exported compared with 1,010,000 a year ago.

McCormick in Dispute in Ottawa

In Ottawa, Admiral Lynde D. McCormick, supreme NATO naval commander, is greeted by Gen. Charles Foulkes, chairman of the Canadian chiefs of staff. McCormick and External Affairs Minister Lester Pearson expressed different views on the scope of the NATO naval security area with McCormick, stating his command extends below the Tropic of Cancer. He would welcome, he said, any Canadian units to his command. — Central Press Canadian.

OUR TOWN

BY JACK SCOTT

LOOK AHEAD

Day by day life is becoming more complicated and living, becomes simpler and simpler. Things are handier to open, easier to eat, lighter a carry, quicker and quieter.

Everything is getting smaller except taxes and the false bosom.

Our newspapers and magazines are coming in handier pre-digested packages, two of them now so small that they may be held in the palm, the pages turned delicately with tweezers.

Apartments and homes are being squeezed into the completely functional design which means that you may brush your teeth (with a preparation containing Chlorophyll and fluorine) with one hand and cook a chicken (boned, deflavored and canned) with the other.

The trend in automobiles is to the baby-buggy type and more and more midget cars may be seen on the streets, the people crouched and jack-knifed in them, peering up into the faces of pedestrians.

Just around the corner is the day when life will become a complete digest and we will all be happy little gnomes swallowing cellophane-wrapped pills and killing each other with tiny little bullets.

Lost Art

The hamburger, once a noble form of fodder, continues its decline. What was once the 10-cent joy has now become the 25-cent disillusionment.

A dozen years ago the hamburger was a commodity of dependability, a simple, unchanging repast composed of three delightful ingredients: a generous disc of lacerated beef, thick, pungent slice of Spanish onion, tender bun.

Look at the poor thing now, if you can bear it, and you'll find the most monstrous combination of assorted vegetables and leftovers.

First comes a paper-thin wafer of meat, almost invisible under a microscope. Over this is hastily lain a limp covering of tired lettuce, a frightening green concoction apparently composed of grass, kelp and turpentine, a soggy strip of pale tomato, a liberal dash of relish and, finally, a glob of yellow mustard.

The "chef" (almost always a backward teen-age girl with one eye on True Confessions) leans heavily on this awful mixture to give it consistency and passes it on to the innocent victim, let the tomato fall where it may.

Mean Kids

Sunday is a day we share at our Offhand Manor with a horde of kids from all over the neighborhood. It's always a little shocking, observing these rites, to realize that kids can be just as nasty as adults—and maybe a little more so.

Yesterday I chanced to be an unseen spectator at an encounter between two little boys, on the one side, and one little girl on the other—just about an even match.

One little boy was whispering to the other, "Give it to her, Freddie. Go ahead, give it to her". He was clearly suggesting that Freddie administer a punch in the nose.

"I heard that," the little girl said coldly and with a look of hatred that startled me. "Just you try it and you'll see."

The boy named Freddie advanced a step. "You wanna get hurt?" he demanded.

"Just you try it," said the little girl.

The dialogue went on for several minutes until finally the two little boys stalked off. Then the little girl called after them, "Freddie has pimples! Freddie has pimples!"

The incident was charged with such chilled and heartless malice that it astounded me when, later in the afternoon, they were playing a game in which, somehow, Freddie and the little girl were Mr. and Mrs.

I suppose it's all a kind of training.

Checked Out

Filled with a sense of high resolve and dull apprehension, I took the car into the garage for a "tune-up" last week then marched down to the doctor's office for a check-up of my own.

The mechanic lifted the hood, listened attentively for knocks and suspicious murmurs, put her up on the hoist, took a look at the working parts underneath, drained the oil, adjusted the timing. (Whatever that means.)

The doctor, meanwhile, was going through pretty much the same routine with me, thumping his knuckles up and down my back, tuning in with his stethescope for any knocks and murmurs, and deciding it wouldn't do the engine any harm at all to cut down to 10 cigarettes a day.

Both of us are going fine at the moment, making most of the hills in high, and working about as well as the model and horsepower will allow.

I have an almost childish faith in mechanics and medical men and will have so long as we are both running.

Skinny men, women gain 5, 10, 15 lbs.
Get New Pep, Vim, Vigor

What a thrill. Bony limbs fill out; ugly hollows fill up; neck no longer scrawny; body loses half-starved, sickly "bean-pole" look. Thousands of girls, women, men, who never could gain before, are now proud of shapely, healthy-looking bodies. They thank the special vigor-building, flesh-building tonic, Ostrex. Its tonics, stimulants, invigorators, iron, vitamin B_1, calcium, enrich blood, improve appetite and digestion so food gives you more strength and nourishment; put flesh on bare bones. Don't fear getting too fat. Stop when you've gained the 5, 10, 15 or 20 lbs. you need for normal weight. Costs little. New "get acquainted" size only 60c. Noronic Claims 'Forever Barred'

Cleveland, March 20. (AP) — New claims in the burning of the luxury cruiser Noronic at Toronto in 1949 are "forever barred" by a ruling federal Judge Paul Jones made yesterday. All of 575 claims filed since the disaster, which cost 119 lives, are to be settled for a total of $2,150,000.

The Canadian Steamship Lines, Ltd., owner of the Noronic, has deposited that amount in notes with the Federal Reserve bank here.

Hearings by a referee are expected to start next month and last into next year before awards are determined. Originally the 575 claims filed asked nearly $19,000,000.

Television To be Used For Teaching

London. (CP)—Pupils in 12 London schools will get their lessons by television during May.

Every school-day for one month the children will see and hear teachers over a special closed circuit which ordinary viewers will be unable to pick up. The pupils will be between 11 and 16 years of age.

Each age group will receive 20 TV lessons. Inspectors of the schools broadcasting council will periodically test the classes' reaction.

Science lessons now are being planned. Other subjects will include geography, history and current affairs. The new plans are supervised by George Barnes, British Broadcasting Corporation's director of television.

For many years the BBC has given a wide range of radio lessons daily to schools all over the country. The new plans are expected to expand rapidly if they prove successful.

Egyptian Rioters Receive Jail Sentences

Suggest Federal Grants To Equalize Educational Opportunities for Children

Ottawa, March 20. (CP)—Federal grants to equalize educational opportunities for Canada's children were suggested yesterday as the Commons turned to the study of private members' resolutions.

In debate a motion by R. R. Knight (CCF—Saskatoon), a former school teacher, asking the federal government to consider making financial grants to the provinces as a means of "expanding and equalizing educational opportunity."

The resolution, generally accepted by those who spoke, still was under discussion when the House rose and now goes to the bottom of the list of private resolution, but may come up later in the session.

Estimates Tabled

The only piece of government business in a day given over to private members was the tabling by Finance Minister Abbott of estimates showing the government expects to spend $4,335,796,809 in the 1952-53 fiscal year, more than ever before in a peacetime year. Mr. Abbott indicated the figure may go as high as $5,000,000,000. The 1951-52 estimated totalled $3,730,587,837.

Mr. Knight, introducing his motion, stressed the critical problems facing Canada's educational authorities and quoted estimates that a shortage of 25,000 teachers may develop by 1952.

The demands of the people for the education of children no longer could be met by municipalities or the provinces. Costs were running ahead of revenues. The federal government should come to their aid with unconditional grants.

All children should "enjoy a degree of equality of opportunity, irrespective of geographical position and the country of their parents, or of their economic status."

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, endorsed the motion, but suggested the federal government could best assist the provinces by vacating their tax fields and allowing them to take the full benefit of possible revenues.

If federal grants were the answer to the problem, they should go directly to the provincial departments of Education and not to the educational institutions themselves. The federal government should not interfere with education, an exclusive provincial field under the Constitution.

He warned that the possibility exists that education, through lack of money, mght "fall away" to the point where it would be difficult to give children even basic learning.

Jean Francois Pouliot (L—Temiscouata) disagreed with the proposal for federal grants, and suggested the provinces now have more tax revenue and are better able to help their schools. The provinces should be "supreme" in education.

Dr. Pierre F. Gauthier (L—Portneuf) agreed there was a need for assistance to the provinces, not only for students but also for teachers. If the provinces wanted assistance, they should enter into agreements with the federal government to cover the distribution of funds granted.

Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton) said the problem is "to harmonize the constitutional position with the constitutional distribution of revenues." Provincial jurisdiction over education must be strictly respected. Any federal assistance must be based on agreements.

F. D. Shaw (S.C.—Red Deer) suggested the grants should be unconditional. The Social Credit group would oppose grants with conditions attached. He always was "shocked" when he realized teachers could earn more money as common laborers.

N.Z. Not Trying To Break Canadian Market

Seigniory Club, Que., March 20 (CP)—New Zealand farmers are not trying to break the Canadian dairy market, the Dominion's high commissioner said yesterday.

T. C. A. Hislop told the wind-up session of the three-day National Dairy Council meeting that "cut-throat" competition with Canadian farmers in the Canadian market is the last thing New Zealand wants.

Mr. Hislop's remarks apparently were a reply to an earlier address by Gilbert McMillan, president of the Dairy Farmers of Canada, who said the Canadian government was open to "severe criticism" for not taking action to ban dairy imports.

FEWER PEOPLE

The Dominion of Pakistan has a population of 75,000,000, compared to 361,000,000 for the Republic of India.

Frost Reduces Betting Taxes

Toronto, March 20 (CP) —Premier Frost took note of the plight of the two-buck bettor today and gave him a chance at slightly bigger returns in the 1952 racing season.

In his budget speech in the Ontario legislature, the premier announced that the race-track pari-mutuel tax was being reduced so that the tax, plus the track's share of each betting pool, would be 17 percent. Last year it was 19 percent.

The tax reduction ranges from one-fifth to one-seventh. The new rate starts at eight percent on the first $20,000 bet on a race and moves up to 12 percent on everything over $50,000. Last year the range was from 10 to 14 percent.

The change means that $83 of every $100 wagered at pari-mutuels will be distributed to the bettors. Last year they got back $81.

At a pre-budget press conference Mr. Frost said the aim was to cut down illegal bookmaking.

Full Moon Blamed for Plenty

Timmins, March 20 (CP)—An officer on the police force here says that the best time to get a haircut is in the period of the waning moon.

The officer, whose name was withheld under a police ruling that officers may not be quoted in public statements, said yesterday human hair will not grow as rapidly as usual if it is cut now.

The moon was full March 11 and declined to its last quarter March 18.

About a year ago, the officer came up from a study of police records with the statement that crime and accidents double at the time of the full moon and fall off as it wanes.

SPRING STARTS TODAY

Toronto, March 20 (CP) —Spring officially arrived today at 11.14 a.m. when the sun entered the sign of Aries, thus heralding the vernal equinox. Spring falls on March 20 this year because it is leap year.

Patrons Service Own Automobiles In Novel Garage

Montreal — (CP) — Peter Staruch recently opened a new "Do It Yourself Garage" here and he says he has discovered more potential mechanics than you can shake a stick at.

The owner of the novel repair shop is a lanky ex-farmer who got used to repairing his own vehicles while working on his father's farm.

The garage is a paradise for people who like to tinker with their cars — they can wallow in greases and oil for only a fraction of the cost of having mechanics do the work at a conventional garage or service station.

Pete borrowed the idea of the garage from articles on the activities of two Chicago men who set up auto stalls, handed out tools and advice, and allowed car owners to rip their cars apart for the love of it.

All you pay for in the "Do It Yourself Garage" is the space your car occupies. With space for 15 to 20 cars depending on what make and model they are, Pete is now taking advance reservations.

For $2.75 a day — of 14 hours —customers draw a stall, light extensions and a box of tools. If they need jacks or other equipment all they have to do is yell.

The garage owner stocks some auto accessories but only as an extra service for his customers.

"I couldn't possibly have enough stock here to satisfy everyone because there are too many models to look after," he says.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, MARCH 20, 1952

Ontario Government Presents Legislation Intended to Better Both Urban, Rural Housing

Toronto, March 20 —(CP) — Legislation aimed at both rural and urban housing problems was introduced in the Ontario Legislature yesterday.

The proposals are in four related bills, introduced by Development Minister Griesinger and Public Works Minister Thomas.

Premier Frost, also provincial treasurer, brings down his 10th budget today.

The way for the budget was paved by completion of the Throne-Speech debate which has continued intermittently since the session opened Feb. 21.

A Liberal motion of non-confidence was defeated 76 to 10.

Legislation which would increase the pay of every private member, cabinet ministers and the speaker was also introduced in the busy afternoon session.

The housing legislation was termed a "comprehensive and several-pronged attack" on housing problems by Mr. Griesinger, who introduced three of the bills.

The fourth bill, introduced by Mr. Thomas, would set up a $10,000,000 Crown corporation, "the Ontario Junior Farmer Establishment Loan Corporation," to make loans of up to $15,000 for a maximum of 25 years. The loans will help young farmers buy farms, erect farm homes and buildings, buy livestock and do anything else approved by the corporation.

Griesinger Explains

The measures make a considerable change in rental-housing-project proposals under which the federal, provincial and municipal governments shared costs. Mr. Griesinger said some municipalities, although their share was only 7½ per cent, feared operative losses and also feared that rents, which had been based on a full recovery of costs, were too high.

The province, under the new scheme, is prepared to take over the municipal share and assume a full 25 per cent of the cost. The federal government has shared 75 per cent in the plans.

Municipalities will be asked to accept "something less than" the full taxes on the property because the federal and provincial cial governments are prepared to "relate rents to income, subject to a rental floor which will limit any losses to be borne by the two governments."

Also included in the measures is legislation to permit expropriation of land for subdividing and servicing, to allow industries to eiter as partners in housing developments, especially in small municipalities and to enable larger municipalities to re-develop deteriorated slum areas for both housing and industry.

Aid For Young Farmers

Rural mortgage loans and junior farmers assistance are in two related bills. The first will set up a Crown corporation to make first mortgage loans under the National Housing Act on residential property in rural communities. It is aimed at filling a gap in financing not carried by normal loan companies.

To qualify, young men must be trained and able farmers between 21 and 35 years of age, resident of Ontario for three years and intend to farm on a full-time basis.

The loans will be up to 80 percent of the value of the security, with a top level of $15,000, secured by a first mortgage on the land. Interest rates will be at current levels.

The salary increases for members were recommended by a special legislature committee last year and delayed to this session, following the general elections in November.

Members' pay will be raised $900 a year to $2,600 and they will receive a mileage allowance of 10 cents a mile for four trips a year between their homes and Toronto.

Cabinet ministers will resume their statutory salary of $10,000 which has been voluntarily reduced to $8,000 since the depression year of 1934. The premier will also draw his full salary of $14,000 instead of the $11,995 paid since then. The speaker will be given a $500 raise in his allowance to $3,000 and an expense allowance of $2,000 yearly.

ennedy Introduces Bills

Agriculture Minister Kennedy al- introduced two important bills. ne will give province perman- t power to ban shipments of cat- e from any diseased area. It ems from the recent ban on shipment of western livestock follow- g the outbreak of foot-and-mouth sease in Saskatchewan. The se- ond bill will permit the Ontario ilk Control Board to define all asses of milk sold in terms of itterfat and solids content. It will ake legal the present sale of skim ilk.

A demand that the government accept a share of responsibility for relief of unemployed persons who are able to work was voiced by opposition Leader Farquahar Oliver.

He accused the government of refusing all responsibility for unemployment relief by claiming it was a federal government problem.

The defeated Liberal motion said the government had failed to assure municipalities immediate financial assistance pending the report of the provincial-municipal committee studying financial relations, had failed to increase education grants in the face of rising costs, had no plan to remedy "obvious defect" in Labor legislation and had not implemented any of the recommendations of the select committee on conservation.

A CCF sub-amendment to the motion was defeated on a voice vote.

The CCF motion charged the government had "failed to supplement the inadequate pensions" paid to old-age pensioners or to provide relief for unemployed "who are at present in serious need."

Truce Talkers Agree on Ten Ports of Entry

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

Munsan, Korea, March 20. (AP) —Negotiators cleared away roadblock to a Korean armistice today by agreeing on 10 ports of entry through which troops and supplies will move during a truce.

Three major issues remain to be settled: communist nomination of Soviet Russia to a neutral inspection commission; Allied demand for a ban on military airfield construction, and the U.N. request for voluntary repatriation of war prisoners.

Staff officers wrangling over prisoner exchange made no apparent headway toward breaking the repatriation deadlock. The communists answered seven questions asked by the U.N. command Monday. But Allied negotiators said the replies failed to show how the reds' latest exchange plan could end the stalemate.

Col. Andrew J. Kinney said it probably would take a day or two to iron out mechanical details" on the ports of entry agreement.

During an armistice each side would send troops and supplies into Korea through the ten designated ports of entry—five on either side of the battle line.

B.C. First to Ease Embargo In Saskatchewan Outbreak

(By The Canadian Press)

Relaxation of an embargo on prairie meat and livestock by British Columbia Wednesday was the first break in a wall of such bans which hemmed in prairie cattle since foot - and - mouth disease broke out in southern Saskatchewan.

Instead of an outright embargo, British Columbia, faced with the possibility of meat shortages, will allow in prairie cattle and meat certified healthy by federal inspectors. Permits will be issued by the B. C. Agriculture Department.

The province's action apparently was the first result of the federal agriculture department's campaign for lowering of interprovincial barriers imposed because of the Saskatchewan outbreak.

An embargo on livestock, animal products, hay and straw was put on by the United States shortly after the disease was discovered in the Regina area. Four provinces followed with bans of varying intensity.

When British Columbia, Manitoba, Quebec and Nova Scotia put on embargoes, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said federal control measures were sufficient.

Three Weeks Negotiation

For almost three weeks, negotiations went on between federal and provincial officials. Mr. Gardiner took the matter up with Manitoba. He said Wednesday night "we hope that province soon will follow" the B. C. example.

In Winnipeg Premier Campbell said Manitoba was "giving every consideration" to lifting its embargo. But he said all the provinces should act at the same time.

"As far as we're concerned, the east is more important than the west because that's where most of our livestock moves," he said.

Quebec was the only other province with a strict embargo on prairie meat and cattle. It admits both under permit of its agriculture department. The Nova Scotia ban concerns horses since cattle are imported only rarely.

Nothing indicated that Quebec planned to change its system. Some livestock already has moved from Ontario to Quebec. Premier Duplessis said twice before that the ban will go if a better means of protecting the province's livestock and public health is found.

Nova Scotia's ban likely will come off next week as scheduled. The ban was put on for a three-week period March 5. It was aimed at imports of work horses from the affected area.

Alberta livestock dealers were ready for the British Columbia announcement, made in the legislature by Agriculture Minister Bowman.

Shippers will have cattle ready to move out of Edmonton Thursday night. They expected no difficulty in getting certificates that the cattle are disease-free. Federal authorities maintained right along that Alberta cattle had a clean bill of health.

Mr. Gardiner said in connection with movements of cattle to British Columbia that "everything possible will be done to see that only cattle which could not possibly have been infected go into B.C. They will come from areas well away from the foot-and-mouth area and will come nowhere near it in transit."

FIGURED BICYCLE SAFER

Coffeyville, Kas., March 19 — (AP) — A drunk bicyclist, arrested by police here, told officers he previously had been arrested for driving an automobile while intoxicated and figured the bicycle was a safer method of transportation. He was fined $10 yesterday for being drunk. Driving while intoxicated carries a fine of $100.

Senator Davies Sails for Home

Liverpool, England, March 20 —(Reuters)—Senator W. Rupert Davies, president of the Kingston Whig-Standard, sailed yesterday for Canada aboard the Empress of Canada.

Davies recently ended his year as high sheriff of Montgomeryshire, Wales. Among his luggage are his formal robes of office and a film record of the ceremonies in which he participated. A native of Welshpool, Senator Davies is the first Welsh-Canadian to be elevated to the office, instituted in 1541 by King Henry VIII.

One of his duties as sheriff was to proclaim throughout the county the accession of Queen Elizabeth II.

"During the last five years," he said, "the British treasury must have benefited by about $150,000 which I brought over for holidays—bringing my family with me—and for my year of office."

Two Skating Stars On Same Show

Vancouver, March 20—(CP)—Barbara Ann Scott and Andra McLaughlin both skated last night at the opening of the Vancouver skating club's annual ice show.

Andra got her picture on the program cover—it was printed some time ago—and Barbara Ann got the star billing.

Miss Scott, who yesterday replaced the 17-year-old American as the headliner of the two-night show, broke down and wept yesterday and said: "I did not want to hurt anyone."

Andra's mother had said the young skater, who appears with Barbara Ann in Miss Scott's touring U. S. show, was "sick with shock" at her replacement.

But on the ice—at least—both were smiling. Earlier, Barbara Ann had said: "I gave up my holidays and came here as a special favor for my old instructor, Otto Gold. But I'll go home if my being here causes so much trouble."

Just Learned About Banks

Palo Grezeno, 67-year-old Italian laborer of Seattle, Wash., is trying to get back to his native Naples and the wife he hasn't seen in 40 years. Arriving in New York, he went to the railway baggage room and tried to check himself as baggage even though he had $22,000 in bills — his life's savings. Taken to the Italian consul by patrolman Herbert Agnell, Grezeno turned over his fortune after much assurance that it would be deposited to his credit in an Italian bank. Here Mr. Grezeno puts his cash — $22,000 of it — into coffee bags under the watchful eye of Agnell. — Central Press Canadian.

Horsemeat Firm Charged Cruelty

Quebec, March 20 (CP)—A Boston horsemeat firm, charged with cruelty to animals, said yesterday it was told by a veterinarian to leave horses out in a field during cold weather to keep them healthy.

Superior Packers, Ltd., operating a slaughterhouse at nearby St. Louise de Pintendre, is charged with "maliciously, cruelly and without necessity having maltreated, abused and abandoned horses, causing them undue sufferings." The plant manufactures dog food.

American Sabres Down 5 MIG's, Damage Others

Seoul, Korea, March 20. (AP) —American Sabres shot down five communist MIG-15s and damaged five others today, bringing their two-day score to six red jets downed and 12 damaged.

The jets damaged yesterday include a new "type 15" communist plane, "a funny-looking bird" rarely seen over Korea.

It was a high-wing version of the familiar Russian-type MIG-15.

A Fifth Air Force spokesman said the high-wing jets rarely have been seen. This was the first reported hit.

The spokesman said it appeared to be more efficient at lower altitudes than the low, swept-wing MIG-15. But it seemed to be about 50 miles an hour slower. It is about two feet longer and had a two-foot wider wing span than the MIG-15.

On the ground, briefing officers reported light red probing thrusts on the western and eastern fronts late last night and early today.

Three brief red attacks, supported by artillery, were knocked back northwest of Korangpo in the west.

Two smaller probes were made south of Kosong at the eastern anchor of the 155 mile front.

This is in the sector where warships have been hammering red front line positions around the clock.

DEPOSIT BOX STOLEN

New York, March 19 — (AP)— A safety deposit box used for storing guests' valuables was stolen yesterday from Park Avenue's Hotel Ambassador with $17,900 in gems and cash. Mrs. Maureen Talbot, of London, England, was listed as owner of the four pieces of jewelry, valued at $13,300, and currency totalling $4,600.

Prince Edward Makes Grants To Institutions

Picton.—Grants totalling $6.150 were made by Prince Edward County Council yesterday. These included $1,400 to the federation of Agriculture, $500 to the Agricultural representative, $50 each to Demorestville and Milford fairs $1,500 to Salvation Army, $200 to the St. John Ambulance Association, $250 each to Bloomfield, Institute for the Blind, $500 to Huff's $400 to the Canadian National Institute for theBlind, $300 to Huff's Island bridge, $200 to County Women's Institutes, $50 to Prince Edward Cheesemakers, $400 to Canadian Red Cross.

In order to come up to regulations, Council sanctioned hiring of an extra turnkey at the county jail. Reeve H. S. Colliver objected to the province making demands when the county is paying [illegible]0 per cent of the cost of the jail. A motion was passed asking the province to pay 70 per cent of the cost of maintenance of the county jail.

Ponder Bridge To Join Hastings, Prince Edward

Picton.—A committee to meet with Hastings County Council to discuss the proposed causeway connecting Prince Edward County at Cronk's ferry and Hastings County at Deseronto was named yesterday by Prince Edward County Council. Local members are Warden Calvin Hughes, Reeves James Clemenson, Harold Barker, H. S. Colliver, Carson Scott, and road superintendent, Roy Preston.

Both counties have endorsed investigation in principle and the location of a bridge at that point. As a result of a survey, a tentative estimate on an approximation basis, is as follows: causeway, $270,000; steel swing bridge, $70,000. Since water is shallow at this point, it was said that the major portion of the bridge will be causeway or fill, leaving only a central portion over the navigation channel to be a steel swing bridge.

Of the causeway section of the bridge, the cost is subject to 80 per cent payment of cost by the province. This would leave ten per cent to be paid by each county.

Engineer Preston pointed out that the steel swing bridge is the concern of the transport department of the federal government and it is a matter of agreement as to whether the federal authorities would agree to a low level swing bridge steel-centre section as compared to a high level bridge. There is nothing definite in regards to federal action on this matter and the committee will seek action.

Hey, Joey, Here's A Pal of Yours

London, March 20 — (Reuters) — Dirty little boys have a champion.

Dr. C. Leonard Williams, skin specialist and Minister of Health for the Essex county town of Barking, says one wash a day is sufficient for any child.

He explained in a report:

"As soon as children get a little grimy, mothers rush them off to a washbowl and give them a good going over with soap and water, taking not only the dirt but the natural oils from the skin.

The skin becomes like blotting paper so that they are grubby again in no time. The oils in the skin are natural germ killers."

MANY BLIND

An estimate of the total blind population of the world in 1952 placed the figure at a minimum of 7,000,000.

ONTARIO BUDGET

For the coming year, the premier forecast ordinary expenditure of $304,208,000 and revenue of $304,296,000. Biggest single spending department would be education — $72,418,000. Most revenue would come from the provincial treasurer's department — $161,124,000 with the biggest sources corporations tax of $89,000,000 and liquor profits of $36.000,000.

The highways department stood out as the biggest single spending and money-raising department. Its revenue for the next fiscal year was forecast at $96,030,000 with $75,000,000 of that from gasoline tax. Its spending was placed at $99,000,000 — $45,000,000 for capital works and $54,000,000 on current account.

Grants Boosted

The premier, in the longest budget speech of his 10 since 1943, spoke at length on aid for municipalities. In the new fiscal year, total grants to municipalities were estimated at $118,600,000, an increase of some $19,000.000 over the present year.

Education accounted for the biggest share. Grants were being increased by $6,600,00 to $55,400,000.

Total grants to municipalities now represented about one-third of the ordinary and capital budget of the province and formed a major part of increases in expenditures in recent years.

Deficits would increase the net debt. The government had avoided deficits. It had nine consecutive surpluses since it took office— a record for Ontario.

"How well we were able to control our net debt is shown by the fact that on March 31, 1940, it stood at $507,200,000 and on March 31, 1951, at $521,600,000. In the first 40 years of the century when our population was much smaller, approximately $500,000,000 was added to our net debt; in the next 11 years only $14,400,000."

In 1940, net debt was nearly six times the province's ordinary revenue. In 1951, it was less than twice as much. The purchasing value of the dollar also was less.

Grants to Hospitals

The premier proposed immediate grants—from this year's revenue—to hospitals and universities. Biggest was $3,000,000 to the Toronto General Hospital—which the province agreed to pay during the hospital's successful campaign for $16,000,000. Another was for $1,200,000 balance of a grant to the new cancer institute at Wellesley Hospital in Toronto.

Other grants, to teaching hospitals were: Ottawa General $250,000; Ottawa Civic, $150,000; Kingston General, $275,000; Kingston Hotel Dieu, $125,000; London Victoria, $300,000; London St. Joseph's, $100,000: Toronto St. Michael's and Toronto Western, $175,000 apiece.

Another grant of $1,500,000 would be divided among all general hospitals of the province for maintenance costs.

In addition to previous grants of $5,700,000 to universities, the premier proposed capital grants of $2,300,000; University of Toronto, $900,000; Queen's $400,000; University of Western Ontario, $400,000; University of Ottawa Medical Faculty, $250,000; Hamilton College of McMaster University, $250,000; Carleton College, Ottawa, $100,000.

Other supplementary grants, to come from this year's revenue, included $1,000,000 to be placed to the credit of the Ontario Housing Corporation and $1,000,000 to the teachers' superannuation fund.

The premier announced a change in the method of grants to northern Ontario mining municipalities which would provide a total of $1,300,000 in the new fiscal year, an increase of about $480,000. Some 25 municipalities were affected and none would receive less than in the last year.

The grants to the mining municipalities would be made on a complicated formula which took in such factors as residence of miners, profits of mines within municipal limits, the municipal tax rate and assumed assessment value of homes of miners. Precise figures were not available but it was estimated that Sudbury would receive an additional $130,000, Teck township (Kirkland Lake) $55,000 and Timmins $90,000. These three are the largest of the mining centres.

Outlines New Policy

Outlining the new—and radical—policy of payment of municipal taxes on provincially-owned property, Mr. Frost said the province would pay the levy for general purposes, including local improvements. Valuation for assessment purposes would be the same as other municipal affairs and each municipality would have the right to appeal to the Ontario Municipal Board.

Taxes would not be paid on Crown and forest lands, educational institutions, hospital or charitable institutions, park or fish hatcheries except for local improvements in certain cases. It would apply to administrative and business offices. With hydro, it would apply to business offices and establishments but not to plants and transmission lines. The Municipal Act would be amended to permit tax payments by local utilities of lands and buildings.

The premier defended his government's policy of applying current surpluses to debt retirement. In his first budget speech of 1944, he set out on a policy of retirement of the net debt in 50 years.

Housing Projects

For the new fiscal year, the budget included $10,000,000 for various types of housing projects. Most of these would be carried out in partnership with the federal government which would contribute 75 per cent of the cost, thus making some $40,000,000 available for housing in the next year.

The province planned an eight-point approach to the housing problem: (1) extension and simplification of land assembly plans; (2) introduction of the principle of taxes geared to rentals; (3) broad expropriation powers; (4) powers to acquire lands within municipalities for re-development in deteriorated areas; (5) industrial participation (in areas where new industries locate); (6) rural housing; (7) establishment of young farmers on the land; (8) a crown corporation to serve as a lending institution under the National Housing Act in rural areas.

The rental housing plan launched last June for 5,000 units, with provision for expanion to 25,000, had made great progress. The Premier commended the federal government for its partnership. Projects had been started at St. Thomas, Windsor, Hamilton, Fort William, Prescott, Brockville, Guelph and Trenton. Negotiations were under way with North Bay, Peterborough, Port Arthur, Stratford, Sault Ste. Marie and other centres.

To assist young farmers get on the land, a junior farmers establishment loan corporation would make loans to farmers between the ages of 21 to 35, up to 80 per cent of the value of the assets with a ceiling of $15,000. The budget provided $1,000,000 to launch the corporation.

Obtained Greater Revenue

On Dominion-Provincial relations, the Premier said the province got more revenue from its tax fields than if it had accepted the Dominion offer of fixed grants. Since 1947-48, when the Dominion first made its offer, the province had collected $77,903,000 more than it would have received in grants.

Although the province had prepared its budget for the new year "none of this precludes the possibility of. . .entering into an agreement or agreements on tax matters."

The province had reached friendly agreements with the Dominion on a number of major subjects—old age pensions, housing, the St. Lawrence seaway and power development, the Niagara treaty, .the Trans-Canada highway.

"I have said before—and this applies as well to taxation agreements as to nything else—that an agreement which is not good for all parties is not a good agreement. It must be fair and must protect the interests of all. It must be a Canadian approach, brought about by men of goodwill. The federal offers have not been made in a take-it-or-leave-it attitude and our position is similar."

BIBLE PRINT STARTS

New York, March 20 — (AP)—The printing of 1,000,000 copies of a revised standard version of the Bible began yesterday. Officials of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States of America said it was one of the biggest projects in book publishing history. The object is to present the Bible in clearer language than the King James version.

roposed New Subsidy On ail Traffic Could Mean rop in Freight Rates

tawa, March 20 (CP) A proed new subsidy on rail traffic ning across Northern Ontario ld mean reductions up to five ent in freight rates on goods ving between eastern and west- Canada.

is move largely would eliminthe latest general rate increase 1-2 percent granted by the rd of Transport Commissioners winter. Western recipients of ds from the east would be the est beneficiaries.

nalysis of exhibits shubmitted subsidy hearing before the d has said it will try to work a compromise, which may ad the contribution around ly.

the full authorized amount of 0,000 a year is paid out from treasury and applied by way percentage decrease, it would to about five percent on Canadian National Railways traffic and ewhat less on the heavier vol- of Canadian Pacific railway ht subject to it.

ould the subsidy be used to own tolls on the basis of cents 100 pounds, it would mean an age drop of $2.03 a ton on freight, and again a little less PR hauls.

Types of Goods

e figures take into account types of goods moving ben east and west over the Nor- Ontario "Bridge" region. do not include export grain, held at low rate levels by the w's Nest Pass" statute. Extions are the already protectrain traffic will not be further ced.

hether or not the full amount of subsidy authorized by parlialast year will be employed is problematical. By the legislathe subsidy is supposed to r maintenance of Northern On- "trackage" of the two big ays over a 550-mile stretch up 7,000,000.

raight track maintenance falls iderably short of that figure. ing interpretations place it where between $4,470,000 and 0,000. But the west generally parliament intended the full 0,000 should be spent, and it s to see a wide interpretation "trackage" costs.

ags Large that interpretation is given by board and the whole $7,000,000 ent, the savings in freight tolls d run up to more than $1,000,- year for some of the western provinces.

Taking the precentage-reduction method sought by all the western provinces except Manitoba, it would mean a yearly saving of $1,126,000 in freight on goods shipped into and out of British Columbia on the CNR lines. The CPR does not have a breakdown of the effect of reductions, but they would be roughly comparable.

Also on the CNR there would be these reductions on other provinces' traffic: Alberta $924,000; Manitoba, $818,000; Saskatchewan $516,000.

Using Manitoba's cents-per-100-pounds system of reductions, Manitoba would come out ahead on CNR traffic with a saving of just about an even $1,000,000. For the other western provinces, the figures would be: British Columbia, $981,000; Alberta $729,000; Saskatchewan $482,000.

ASKS SPECIAL REQUEST

London, March 18. (Reuters)—Sir Walter Monckton, Labor Minister, has asked Britain's employers to consider introducing special hours and working conditions so that old people can carry on working after the normal retirement age of 65. In a pamphlet he asks for co-operation in carrying out the government's policy of creating the right conditions for older people to help solve the country's labor shortage.

Former Servants Under Questioning

Detroit, March 19 (AP) —Three former house servants of a wealthy lumber dealer who "didn't trust banks" were questioned today in the disappearance of close to $1,000,000 in securities from his home.

A strong box containing non-negotiable stocks and bonds was taken from its hiding place under a closet shelf in the suburban home of Melvin Gutherie, 52.

Actual cash in the box was about $500, Gutherie told police. He said he had kept his securities in the box after his bank crashed in the depression.

Gutherie said the thief would find it almost impossible to convert the securities into cash.

Held without charge for questioning were Thomas Hill, 40, a former handyman for the family, his wife, Delia, 38, and John W. Jackson, a truck driver.

All denied any knowledge of the robbery.

Stabilization Board Trying To Settle Strike

Washington, March 20 — (AP) — The 18-member wage stabilization board goes into a maratnon session today to frame recommendations for settling the big steel labor dispute.

The board, having already rejected an offer from its industry members to give the C. I. O. steelworkers a 13.7 - cents-an-hour boost in pay and other benefits, raced against time.

A walkout of 650,000 workers in the United States basic steel industry is threatened for midnight Sunday.

C. I. O. President Philip Murray, head of the United Steelworkers of America, waiting to see the W. S. B.'s proposed solution before advising his 170-member policy committee at a meeting here tomorrow whether to postpone the walkout.

A steel strike would be "a first class national disaster," the defence production administrator, Manly Fleischmann, said yesterday. He said it would seriously impair the atomic energy and munitions program.

The W. S. B. has asked for a strike postponement at least until April 8 to give the industry and union time to bargain on the basis of the board's findings.

A few firms, including U. S. Steel Corp. and Jones and Laughlin, said they might have to start closing down some complex operations tonight to prepare for a Sunday night strike. Generally the industry apparently was gambling against an imminent walkout, delaying shutdowns until the last moment.

In the connection, a high government official told reporters privately that President Truman opposes any "trick move, to boost steel prices to offset higher wages, fearing it will break "the dikes against inflation."

The government appeared to be ready to allow a $2 increase in steel prices, now at about $110 a ton. But this would cover only costs to mid-1951 and steelmakers contend it would fail to compensate for new wage increases.

The steelworkers, now averaging just under $2 an hour earnings including overtime, want an 18 1-2-cent hourly boost plus a batch of other contract improvements.

Believes Russians Have H-Bomb Ready

Bruno Pontecorvo

K. De Courcy

In Augusta, Fla., Kenneth de Courcy, who accurately forecast a previous Russian detonation of the atom bomb, says that the Soviet will make a test of a hydrogen bomb in July of this year. Manufacture of the bomb, he says, is under the direction of Bruno Pontecorvo, the Italian physicist who worked at Britain's Harwell atom plant. — Central Press Canadian.

Phenolic Plastics Subject of Talk To Kiwanians

In addressing the Kiwanis Club on Tuesday, W. A. Campbell, sales development manager of the Bakelite Company of Canada, explained some of the newer developments in phenolic plastics.

Mr. Campbell used polyethylene, phenolic foam and phenolic resin as three examples of the latest developments in that field.

He compared the printing industry and its connection with plastics, comparing the medium of producing printing plates and reviewing the process of plates from their original form to the most recent plastic achievements. "Plastics," he said, "give more accuracy and fidelity."

Phenolic resin, a binder for sand molds, was explained in detail by Mr. Campbell, who stated that with its use, when an object is removed from the mold, no finishing is need nor is the sand burned.

"Phenolic foam," the speaker added, "is a fifty percent better insulator than glass wool, previously recognized as the best type of insulator." He illustrated the substance and its uses, explaining that it weighs approximately five ounces per cubic foot and is used extensively for shipping objects to cut postal expenses and breakages.

Makes Finished Product

Mr. Campbell illustrated the making of phenolic foam by mixing an acid and a catalyst until they foamed up into the finished product.

The speaker was introduced by Kiwanian W. Anderson while the expression of appreciation was made by Lawrence Kells.

President Harold Carruthers welcomed Cliff Baragar, Don Stanton and Len Fozard back to the Kiwanis Club after their holidays in Florida.

A. S. Robb presented the original charter for the 1st Belleville Boy Scouts troop to Bill Riley who accepted on behalf of the Boy Scout organization.

Group singing was carried out under the leadership of Vic White with Phil Huddleston accompanying at the piano.

The attendance prize, donated by George Hosang, was won by Dorland Houston.

Brockville, March 19 (CP) — Members of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire here are celebrating their chapter's 50th anniversary. The local organization is named after General Sir Isaac Brock who asked that Brockville be named after him when he stopped here on his way to Queenston Heights where he was killed in a battle of the war of 1812.

Says Fewer Milk Deliveries Would Reduce Costs

Seigniory Club, Que., March 20 — (CP) — Canadians can save money on milk by reducing home deliveries, a United States dairy executive told the National Dairy Council.

Richard J. Werner of Washington said the system of every-other-day deliveries has been tried out in many parts of the U.S. with marked success.

"The new streamlined method of delivering milk helps keep your milk bill down by cutting distribution costs, vehicle-mileage, gasoline consumption and man-hours," the assistant executive director of the U.S. Milk Foundation told the council's annual meeting yesterday.

"As a result of this new method of delivering milk a more efficient and improved service for consumers is maintained. But the consumer is not the only one who saves by every-other-day deliveries.

"It has given your route salesman better working conditions. It has reduced his hours and improved his earnings."

Mr. Werner quoted the U.S. agriculture department as saying: "The single most important adjustment in the direction of lower costs for milk that has taken place is the general shift from daily to alternate-day delivery."

Chicago White Sox Has Infield With Distinct International Flavor

Pasadena, Calif., March 20 (AP) — The final decisions remain to be made but it appears that Manager Paul Richards is molding a solid infield for the Chicago White Sox — and one with a distinct international flavor.

The Sox infield was pretty well set from last year when the club came to Pasadena this spring, with the one hole at third base.

Eddie Robinson, a good long ball hitter, is set at first, and so is the keystone combination of shortstop Chico Carresquel and second baseman Nelson Fox.

The newcomer is Hector Rodriguez, the rookie of the year with Montreal in the International League last year.

International Flavor

The international flavor, which extends into left field and the pitchers' box, goes like this:

The international flavor, which extends into left field and the pitchers' box, goes like this:

Carresquel is from Venezuela, and his rookie understudy, Guillermo Miranda, is from Cuba. Rodriguez and the now famed left fielder, Orestes Minoso, are also from Cuba, along with Luis Aloma, the ace relief pitcher.

Fox is from St. Thomas, Pa., and Robinson lives in Baltimore and his birthplace was Paris, Paris, Tex., that is.

Richards has been using Rodriguez, Cuban, regularly all spring in the exhibitions. He must pass a thorough test before anyone will call him the 1952 third baseman.

The 31-year-old Rodrigues, long a star in Caribbean baseball before trying the American brand of organized ball last year, hits the ball well, and his fielding more often than not has been exceptional.

Several times he has demonstrated in exhibition games what his friend, Minoso, claimed when he came to Pasadena — that he can throw from almost any position. There was one throw in particular that caught the eyes of the onlookers in one game — the bare hand catch of a swinging bunt down the third base line and the following throw for the out.

Seattle Takes Fourth Spot

(By The Canadian Press)

Seattle Ironmen nailed down fourth place in the Pacific Coast Hockey Loop last night, edging out the Flyers 5-4 in Edmonton. In the only othe P. C. H. L. game Tacoma Rockets downed the league-leading New Westminster Royals 4-1 in Tacoma.

Seattle scorers were Bill Richardson and John Bailey each with two goals, and Stan Maxwell, Motto McLean, Bert Giesebrecht, Colin Kilburn and Ching Johnson potted the Edmonton goals.

In Tacoma two outbreaks of fighting delayed the game for a time. Early in the first period, Delmonte of Tacoma and Royals' Butch Houle mixed it up. Later in the same period Delmonte again participated in a brief squabble with Cabana of New Westminster.

Bart Bradley, Doug Adam, Butch Delmonte and Wingy Johnston provided goals for the Ironmen in Tacoma. Gerry Cabana netted the only Royal goal.

Sport in Brief

(By The Canadian Press)

Sammy Snead turned on the steam in the final nine holes yesterday to win the pro division of the $10,000 Seminole golf tournament at Palm Beach, Fla.

The West Virginia slugger's 36-hole total of 138, six under par for the 7,000-yard course, gave him an easy six-stroke victory over a field of 50 other pros and won him first money — $1,800.

Johnny Palmer of Badin, S. C., had forged a stroke ahead of Snead at the 27-hole point, 105 to 106.

The threat goaded Sammy into action and he covered the last nine in 32, leaving Palmer far behind as the Carolinian flopped to a 39 on the home stretch.

The Royal Ascot, Britain's three-day racing meet where the grey top hat and the tailed morning suit are as necessary as a gate ticket, is likely to stay royal this year. Yesterday in London it was announced that vouchers to the royal enclosure on the course should be made as soon as possible, which means that preparations from Ascot week, a highlight of the London society season, have begun.

Court circles in London believe Queen Elizabeth, a keen race-goer, will attend.

Carlton Oval was picked yesterday in Melbourne as a site for the 1956 Olympic games. The site still must be approved by the Olympic committee. It had been expected Melbourne might have to give up the games because the Melbourne cricket grounds were not available.

England stunned the United States Olympic hockey team yesterday in London by spurting for nine goals in the final period to trounce the American 11-2. The upset knocked the Americans out of contention for the Churchill Cup and set England against Canada, defending cup holders and Olympic champions, for the title today at Wembley Stadium.

Fifty-two horses from the original entry list of 84, including two former winners, were left yesterday in the Grand National steeplechase, world famous jumping event at Aintree April 5. The final acceptance list for the four miles and 856 yards race includes one United States-owned horse.

In Paris, Ky., yesterday, Hill Prince, whose turf winnings total $422,140, was retired to A. B. Hancock's Clairborne Farm to stand at stud. Already his book is full for two years.

The Buenos Aires sports weekly, La Cancha, suggested yesterday that a monument should be erected to those "crazy English" who introduced soccer to Argentina at the close of last century. Soccer now is the national sport of Argentina.

The New York State senate sent Governor Tom Dewey a bill yesterday in Albany that would require fight promoters to provide insurance for boxers on their cards.

In Johnstown, Pa., the Eastern Hockey League game between Johnstown and Springfield last night was postponed because there weren't enough uniforms to go around. On their arrival, Springfield players learned their equipment had gone on to Pittsburgh. The game was rescheduled for tonight.

Mayor Allan Lamport of Toronto leaves today for Fort Lauderdale, Fla., to visit Toronto Maple Leafs' baseball training camp as a guest of the International League club. Said he: "We've cleaned up a few things around Toronto and we want our ball players to clean up in the International League."

The new, 1952 Monarch four-door shown above, is one of a wide range of new models starting to appear in Ford-Monarch showrooms across Canada. A new model, the Monterey (hard-top convertible) has been introduced into the line this year and is available in a special selection of colors and interior trims. The Monarch's improved 125-h.p. V8 engine is more powerful than ever before, and the cars also incorporate many new developments for driver convenience, passenger comfort and easy handling.

Bombs Wreck Negro Homes

Following the bombing of homes occupied by Negro and Mexican families in a predominantly white district of Los Angeles, policeman B. J. Bundo checks wreckage in the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Bailey. Before the Bailey family moved in, the owner of the property reported to police he had received threatening letters. — Central Press Canadian.

Woman Leaves Estate Of Nearly $100,000,000

New York, March 20 — (AP) — Mrs. Sylvia Wilks, one of the world's richest women, left an estate worth nearly $100,000,000, it was revealed yesterday in a court accounting. Her will was drawn in 1928 and she stored it in a cabinet with four cakes of soap. The eccentric Mrs. Wilks died Feb. 4, 1951, at the age of 80. She left most of her wealth to 63 charitable institutions.

Stratford Trims Mercurys 4-3; St. Michaels Win

(By The Canadian Press)

The first shutout of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A playoffs was marked up last night in Toronto.

With a 4-0 victory over St. Catharines Teepees, Toronto St. Michael's took a 2-1 lead in their best-of-five semi-final series. To stay in the series, Teepees must win when St. Mikes visit St. Catharines Thursday night.

Owen Sound Mercurys in the senior A finals are in a similarly tight spot. Last night Stratford Indians beat the Mercs 4-3 to move into a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven series.

The fifth game of the series will be played in Stratford Friday and an Indian win would give Stratford the title. The Mercurys defeat last night was in Owen Sound.

Dinny Flanagan scored the winning goal for Stratford with less than three minutes to go in the third period. Other Indian goals were scored by George Aitken with two and Bill McCombs with one.

The Mercs placed one goal in each period: Andy Grant in the first, Tommy Burlington in second and Jack White in the third.

Neither team scored in the first period in Toronto. The first goal was scored by St. Mike's Marc Reaume and Art Clune, Billy Lee and Mike Ratchford took the rest.

Shields Quits As Captain Davis Cup Team

New York, March 20 (AP)— Frank Shields, after one year at the helm, bowed out of the 1952 Davis Cup picture last night. He announced he would not be able to continue as captain of the United States team.

Shields, whose squad dropped a 3-2 decision to Australia in the challenge round last December said:

"I've business commitments and recently added to my investments. It was a matter of weighing one against the other . . ."

Shields caused a storm within the ranks of the United States Lawn Tennis Association when he selected veteran Ted Scroeder over young Dick Savitt to face the Aussies.

When the team was in Australia, Savitt blasted Shields publicly for not naming him to play Frank Sedgman, Ken McGregor and Co. when the U.S.L.T.A. held its annual meeting two months ago. Shields let loose with a barrage against Savitt.

Canada to Meet 'Canada' For Churchill Cup

London, March 20 — (CP)—It was a straight case of Canada vs Canada today for the Churchill Cup.

Actually the official billing for tonight's deciding game is Canada vs. England, but the "English" team has exactly one native son, defenceman Arthur Green.

The rest are Canadians, drawn from teams in the English National League.

The Churchill Cup, first awarded last year by the British Prime Minister, goes to the winner of a triangular series between England, Canada and United States. The "England" team beat the U.S. 11-2 last night and will meet Canada, represented by the Olympic champion Edmonton Mercurys, in tonight's final match at Wembley Stadium.

RESTS ON INDIVIDUAL

Toronto, March 20 (CP) —Dr. R. K. Magee, chairman of the Ontario Medical Association's Committee on Cancer, says that the early suspicion of cancer rests as a personal responsibility on the individual. In the current issue of the Ontario Medical Review, he says that public education is necessary to show every individual the early danger signals of cancer and persuade him to report it for treatment.

Junior Hawks Triumph Over Barrie 3-2 In First Game Round Robin

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

ONE UP!

The junior Hawks blazing back with that ole third-period drive defeated the Barrie Flyers in Barrie last night before a crowd that didn't pay for the lights. The younkers leg-weary from a 180-mile bus jaunt could not find their sea-legs in the first two periods but struck some of their stride in the final heat to score the winner and hold off the Barrie threat for the bacon. According to city editor Claude Tice, who covered the tilt the officiating could have been a lot better with some borderline sentences handed out and some more or less glaring offences ignored.

Barrie has a strong young team and are not out of the woods yet by a long shot. While the odds favor the Hawks to take the home-and-home series in two straight tomorrow night, they should not slack the pace for anything can happen in a hockey game.

Billy Strahan was the hero of the piece slashing home a goal in the first period and locking the door with a beauty in the final frame. Jacklin and Lalande turned in another of their sparkling efforts while Don Barclay pulled off some spectacular saves. The whole team played heads-up hockey despite the tiring ride and are confident they can win the series here tomorrow night.

VISITOR IN TOWN

Andy Herschok, fiery coach of the 1951 Brockville Memos, COBL champions dropped off for a brief visit on Tuesday evening. Andy who recently signed a contract to coach the St. Thomas entry in the powerful Intercounty League divulged a bit of a secret when he told us he would like to come to Belleville in a baseball capacity. In fact he said he even made the powers-that-be here an offer. Andy should make good in the Intercounty. He has had plenty of experience and is a fighting coach as a lot of Belleville fans know. He is taking Kapuschuk, (remember), Andy Galan and Stelmach former Brockville Memos with him to St. Thomas for a tryout. Three sweet ballplayers who should make the Intercounty grade.

MINOR TITLES TONIGHT

The championships of the midget and juvenile divisions of the Belleville Hockey Association will be decided in Memorial Arena tonight. Glen Roys and Belleville Locks will clash in the juvenile section while Quinte Battery and Canadian Tire teams joust in the midget playoff. All four squads have played consistently good hockey throughout the schedule and with the respective league titles at stake tonight, there should be some fast and furious puckchasing dished up. First game gets under way at seven o'clock.

PETES TAKE FIRST

Peterborough Petes took the first game of their best-of-seven group championship playoffs from the Kingston Sacs last night but they did it the hard way. It was left to a junior player Bill Stewart to assume the hero role. He fired home the winner in the overtime period after the teams had battled to a four-all tie in regulation time. About 1500 fans saw the tilt in Civic Arena, Peterborough. Sammy Mulholland scored a brace for the Sacs while the Petes goals were distributed. The teams play the second game in Kingston Saturday night.

Not Remember Striking Fan

Pittsburgh, March 20 (AP)—Ray Gariepy of the American Hockey League's Hershey Bears testified before an alderman last night that he does not remember hitting a fan during a Pittsburgh-Hershey game here Feb. 10.

Gariepy, native of Toronto, pleaded innocent to a charge of assault and battery laid by Peter Meshanko, an auto dealer. Meshanko claims Gariepy leaned out of the penalty box and hit him after he objected to the player's swearing because women were nearby.

"I certainly don't recall hitting anyone," Gariepy told Alderman V. Omar Hysong.

Hysong reserved decision for five days. Gariepy is free on the $1,000 bond he posted after he was arrested Tuesday.

Bozeman Leads Chess Tournament

San Francisco, March 20 (AP)—Veteran Jay Bozeman, of Vallejo, Calif., took the lead for the world three-cushion billiards championship last night when he defeated the Japanese woman star, Miss Masako Katsura of Tokyo, 50-8 in 52 innings.

It gave Bozeman six victories and two defeats, putting him ahead of defending champion Willie Hoppe and the top Japanese challenger, Kinrey Matsuyama, tied with five wins and two losses.

Both Hoppe and Matsuyama were victims of giant - killer Ray Kilgore of San Francisco. Earlier Kilgore chalked up a tournament record high run of 11 in defeating Matsuyama, the 10-time former champion of Japan, 50-47 in 52 innings. Earlier Kilgore toppled Hoppe 50-47 in 53 innings.

Bozeman's win over Miss Katsura was the most one-sided in the tournament. It bettered his own previous record win of 50-20 in 23 innings over Irving Crane, Binghampton, N.S.

Strahan Gets Winner in 3rd After Mates Trail Twice; Second Game Here Friday

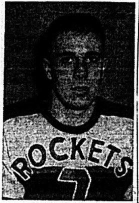
BY C. D. T.

Barrie (Special) — The Belleville Hawklets won a place in the finals of the round robin series the hard way by defeating the Berrie Colts in the first game of that series in Barrie on Wednesday night by a score of 3-2, the periods being 1-1 and 2-2. You cannot get a closer hockey game than that and taking everything into consideration that winners were lucky to emerge on the right side of the score sheet. The return game will be played in the Memorial Arena on Friday night and you will be treated to a high calibre of the winter pastime.

The Barrie Colts are no push-overs. They have size, a sound defence and a systematic style of play, that keeps the rubber advancing most of the contest. They have their stylists and scorers in Turnbull and a hefty defence in McMurray, Reid and Brennan. The Hawks have played better games this winter but they have always managed to win the key games in their fight to the top. It is a long trip to Barrie and the boys did not untrack themselves until the final ten minutes of the pastime but they also managed to hold themselves together before that time under the constant pressure of a well-drilled squad.

BILLY STRAHAN

. . . Scores Winner



BOB WILSON

. . . Bruises and Bumps

Front Line Good

Thanks to the brilliant front line of Lalande, Strahan and Jacklin, backed by the penalty-killing duo of DeGray and Doran and excellent goaltending by Barclay, especially in the first frame the boys brought home the bacon in that all-important game. It was not a love fest by any means and the storm brewed most of the evening and broke out in full force in the third canto and the game finished with only three men a side. The officiating was not good but that is only the opinion of the writer. The game could easily have got out of hand, so rugged was the checking and it was only due to the laxity of the officials in the early stages of the pastime.

Certainly the Barrie and district fans do not support their teams like they do down in this neck of the woods. There were not more than 300 fans on hand, when the game got underway. It was explained that the fans did not think their team was an equal match of the Hawks and also they see so much junior "A" hockey that this class of hockey does not appeal but those who stayed away missed a tidy struggle. Despite the lack of poor attendance there were a number of scouts in the woods. Three members of the Weston Dukes were on hand and during the night took copious notes on both squads. Bob Wilson, chief eastern scout of Black Hawks and "Red" Hamill, coach of the Galt junior "A" team were present and added their encouragement.

A Beautiful Rink

Barrie has a beautiful rink with an ice surface the same width as the Memorial Arena but 10 feet shorter in length but the seating capacity has been extended with an extensive face-lifting job.. There are several canteens in the building and spacious aisles for crowd to move back and forth. The ice was in excellent condition and kept to that, high level by flooding between periods. For the game itself Belleville was outplayed in the first frame although they emerged with a tie, had a slight edge in the second although the score was again tied and a distinct edge both in territorial and defensive play in the third frame and gathered the extra goal to come home winners.

Shone in First

As was said before Barclay was Barrie club pressed in the first outstanding all during the piece but shone particularly, when the frame and the Hawks had not found their skating legs. The winners were in coninuous hot water with constant pressure being maintained by Barrie and helped along by three penalties. While shorthanded DeGray and Doran held the fort and were backed up by sound defence and Barclay. Turnbull, who incidentally was a thorn in the side of the Hawks all night broke the scoring ice shortly before the 15-minute mark when he beat Barclay all alone after a series of plays. He slammed home a rebound from Kirk. The Hawks immediately took the offensive and one second before the period ended Strahan beat Cuculich with a high drive to the top corner on a beautiful passing play with Lalande and Jacklin.

In this period Doran got the gate twice for boarding and each time danger was thwarted by a well-managed defence. Wilson went away and then Doran and DeGray took over to hold the fort. In the second frame, Turnbull combined with Kaupinnen to put the Colts in the lead and nine minutes later, Jacklin finished off a splendid rushing play by completely fooling Cuculich. There was only one penalty in this heat, McMurray being chased for boarding but the Hawks could not penetrate the tight defence set up. At the 15.50 mark after many beautiful rushes were made by both teams, Strahan took Jacklin's pass on the fly and the Barrie goalie had no chance.

Hectic Five Minutes

Then came a hectic five minutes. All the feuds that had been brewing in the pastime broke out and generally the penalties came in pairs. Turnbull and Munroe went away for roughing and Barclay took on Edwards and both were given the heaveho with Jacklin serving the time for the goalie. As has been said before Barclay stood out in the win with Strahan, Lalande and Jacklin supplying the punch up front. Both DeGray and Doran were robbed on a couple of occasions. Green, Wilson and Mason supplied solid work behind the blueline, while Gilmour, Houle and Therrien went well when used.

Cuculich was a standout for the losers. He was a cool customer, has a good pair of hands and is given good protection by three rugged defencemen. Turnbull, as has been said before, sparked the team's drive and secured both goals. He is on the small side, but is a good puck manipulator and has a tricky shot. His linemates, Kirk and Kaupinnen look the best of the rest. The game on Friday night at the arena will be a smart game as the Barrie team is not outclassed by any means and the Hawks will have to go all out to maintain their winning margin.

Lineups:

Belleville: Goal, Barclay; defence Wilson and Green; centre Lalande; wings Jacklin and Strahan; subs Munroe, DeGray, Doran, Gilmour, Houle, Carey, Therrien and Mason.

Barrie: Goal Cuculich;; defence McMurray and Reid; centre Turnbull; wings Kirk and Kaupinnen; subs, Graham, Miller, Long, Edwards, Don Coulson, Doug Coulson, Brennan, Chazzet.

Referees: Rusty Waters, Collingwood; Lorne Hammond, Orillia.

Canadiens Trounce Leafs 3-0; Almost Clinch Second Position; Rangers Triumph Over Bruins

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal Canadiens apparently aren't a bit afraid of those big bad Boston Bruins.

The Canadiens are practically assured of a semi-final spot against Boston—who defeated them twice last weekend—when they walloped Toronto Maple Leafs 3-0 before a sell-out 14,581 National Hockey League crowd at Toronto last night. The loss just about condemned the Leafs to face the league champion Detroit Red Wings in the other semi-final.

Leafs now have a 74 point-total against Montreal's 77.

In the other game of the night, New York Rangers whipped the fourth-place Bruins 6-4. Boston, with nothing to lose, rested their three top scorers—Milt Schmidt, Dave Creighton and Johnny Peirson.

Leafs Floundered

The game at Toronto, billed as the big one with Leafs only one point behind Dick Irvin's second-place crew and each with two games left, didn't live up to advance notices. Leafs floundered around all night and Canadiens, working on a 2-0 first-period lead, checked and bounced them almost to a standstill.

Apart from some fairly-stiff bodychecking and the odd near-fight, the fans had little to get excited about. A total of only 28 stops—13 by Canadiens' Gerry McNeil and 15 by Leafs' Al Rollins—told the story of the 60-minute what-was-it.

But there's still hope that the two clubs will change places—and semi-final partners. Canadiens have a weekend double-header with Detroit coming up and the leafs meet the tail-end Chicago Black Hawks at Toronto Saturday and wind up the schedule Sunday at Boston.

One loss for the Leafs and they're in with the Wings. A Montreal tie and a Toronto loss or one victory for Canadiens and the Habitants tangle with Bruins.

Toronto fans gave their club the razzberry last night as the blue and white club skated onto the ice for the third period. And the way they played the boos were deserved.

For minutes at a time they couldn't carry the puck past the Montreal blue-line and they blew the few scoring chances they had with poor shooting, bad passing or just sloppy play. Canadiens outskated them and were content to ease off after Boom Boom Geoffrion and Butch Bouchard sent them into their first-period lead.

Maurice Richard, sun-tanned and full of bounce after a long stint of Florida sunshine, scored the third Canadien goal midway through the second period. He roared in almost on top of Rollins to take a pass from Elmer Lach and beat the Toronto goalkeeper cleanly.

Butch Bouchard, one of the best men on the ice, combined with Billy Reay to set up Geoffrion's goal at 6.22 of the opening session and then at 13.58 bulled his way along the left boards, cut in at the Toronto defence and scored when his foot-high drive found an opening of about six inches between Rollins and the post.

Canadiens had six penalties called against them compared to Toronto's three.

Only five penalties were called in the game at New York which saw Rangers switch goalkeepers. They brought up Lorne Anderson to tend the nets, replacing Emile (The Cat) Francis who was sent back to Cincinnati Mohawks, currently in the American Hockey League playoffs.

The six goals scored also eclipsed by six the highest previous New York total for a season, 177, set in 1941-42.

Centre Paul Ronty scored two for the Blueshirts with singles going to Wally Hergesheimer, Gaye Stewart, Allan Stanley and Frank Eddolls, George Sullivan contributed two for the Bruins, the others scored by Ed Sandford and Real Chevrefils.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

Los Angeles, March 20 (AP)—You'll never in your life meet a group of finer, more intelligent men than the estimable gentlemen who run the Pacific Coast League.

In only one respect, in fact, can President Clarence Roland and the bright young men who surround him be diagnosed as slightly on the eccentric side. They think they are going to be a major league.

We all know, of course, that the Coast League is not going to become a third major league. There are so many reasons, including a shortage of big league players and a construction of ball parks in this territory. The biggest one is that the men who own the present 16 big league clubs do not desire a third major league.

Of course, the large leagues do not come right out and tell their bemused friends on the coast. They smile behind their hands and utter the usual platitudes about a step in the right direction and how everybody has to make a start some time. Maybe the coast leagues are not entirely taken in by the double talk, but something seems to impel them to keep on getting their brains knocked out.

It was amusing to watch the by-play at the last meeting of the two factions here. The big leaguers ate Rowland's food and drank his beverages and said jovially that everything was hunky-dory and that the coast boys were the salt of the earth.

Then the big shots, loaded with free coast league nourishment repaired to their meeting room and quietly gave the coast league the business. They made out an exhibition schedule for next spring in which they scrupulously will refrain as requested, from playing each other in the coast league parks. Also, as a sort of afterthought, they will almost completely cease to play games against coast league clubs anywhere.

A perusal of this spring's schedule shows the big league teams would have played 33 games against coast league opposition if it hadn't rained. The schedule for next spring hasn't been completed, but as of the moment we understand it contains only three exhibitions with the coast leaguers, all in the San Francisco bay area and at Sacramento. Los Angeles, which is supposed to have fostered the exclusion act, will be bypassed completely.

In brief, the men who dream of becoming a third big league now merely have succeeded in cutting themselves off from playing with the major leagues at all, the very last thing in the world they wanted to do.

U. A. W. WINS VOTE

Fort William, March 20 (CP)—The United Auto Workers (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) last night defeated the International Association of Machinists (A. F. L.) in a certification vote at the Canadian Car and Foundry aircraft plant. The vote was 925 for the U. A. W. and 230 for the machinists.

The machinists have been the bargaining agent for several years and the U. A. W. began its organizing campaign about six months ago as part of a drive in the Canadian aircraft industry.

Memorial Cup Hunt Under Way In Maritimes

Ottawa, March 20 — (CP)—The hunt for the Memorial Cup got under way here last night and Eastview St. Charles took an early lead with a 6-1 victory over Halifax St. Mary's.

The Ottawa and district champions go into Saturday's second game of the best-of-five series with a one-game advantage in the eastern quarter-finals.

Strange ice and the long trip appeared to have put Coach Marty Barry's Halifax squad off the pace. They were unable to get rolling and St. Charles' 3-0 lead in the opening period was never in danger.

Eastview split two goals with the visitors in the second stanza and hammered in two more in the third.

Don Davidson was the big gun for Eastview, scoring two goals. Singles came from Don McDonald, Kenny Blondon, Gerry Moore and Rheal Charlebois. Orin Carver scored the lone Halifax counter.

Goalie Bob Cashen of Halifax was the busiest man on the ice, being called on to make 30 stops to 16 for Eastview's Roly Sarault.

Fuzzy-Wuzzies Best Ball Players In World

Washington, March 20 — (AP) — The hassle Ty Cobb started when he said modern ball players aren't as good as the old timers produced some unexpected results today.

The National Geographic Society got into the act, pointing to what is said are the most amazing ball players in the world: the fuzzy-wuzzies of Africa.

Cobb, immortal hitting star of the first quarter of the century, said last week only Stan Musial and Phil Rizzuto would rank with the all-time greats.

"Obviously," the society said, "Cobb hasn't analyzed all the ball players in the world."

The fuzzy-wuzzies, who live on rocky desert land near the Red Sea, settle their minor squabbles by throwing rocks at each other. Everything goes — curves, sliders, fork balls, palm balls, fast balls.

Each man takes his position inside a small circle marked in the sand. The circles, some yards apart, contain big piles of stones, each about the size of a baseball. The umpire signals and the two men start pitching.

Under the rules, they may dodge or catch the flying stones. If you leave you're circle, you're a coward.

These fuzzy-wuzzies have developed the art of throwing to such a high degree, the Society said, that they are able to nail a fleeing mountain goat with a stone and kill it.

It's against the rules to kill the umpire.

Boston Braves Have Strong Team But Need Help at Shortstop Spot

By JOE REICHLER

Bradenton, Fla., March 20 — (AP) — Boston's youth-infused Braves appear to have strengthened themselves in several positions but not where they need help the most—at shortstop.

The Braves, fourth-place finishers for the last three years, have one of the league's better pitching staffs headed by Warren Spahn. They own a solid experienced outfield composed of Sid Gordon, Sam Jethroe and Willard Marshall. They have some good long-ball hitters in Earl Torgeson, Bob Elliott and Walker Cooper. And they boast as fine a rookie batch as seen in any camp.

But unless manager Tommy Holmes can come up with a suitable shortstop replacement for the departed Buddy Kerr, the Braves' hopes of improving their position seems slim.

"The infield is our biggest problem," admitted Holmes.

Rookie Impresses

Of the four different keystone combination tried by Holmes, shortstop Jack Cusick and second baseman Billy Reed have attracted the most attention. Cusick, who came to Boston from Chicago Cubs for outfielder Bob Addis last October, is one of those "good-field, no-hit" players. Jack batted only .176 in 65 games last year.

Reed, a rookie from Milwaukee, has impressed with his fielding finesse, poise and stickwork. He batted .312 and set an American Association fielding record for second baseman last season.

Except for three outfield positions and three pitching spots, Holmes is undecided on his regular line-up.

The call to service for April 7 induction of sophomore southpaw Chet Nichols will hurt, but Holmes still regards his pitching staff as one of the best in the league. Spahn (22-14), Vern Bickford (11-9) and Matt Surkont (12-16) comprise a solid trio. Leading candidates for the fourth starting job include Gene Conley (20-9 at Hartford), Ernie Johnson (15-4 at Milwaukee), Murray Wall (15-5 at Milwaukee) and holdovers Jim Wilson and Dave Cole.

Gordon (.287), Jethroe (.280) and Marshall (.281) are certain to open the season in the outfield.

Ebba St. Claire (.282) has the edge over Cooper (313) as the No. 1 catcher.

MARMORA

Marmora Trims Havelock 8-5 In Finals Opener

Marmora — Marmora T.V.L. team are one up in their semi-final games with Havelock by virtue of their 8-5 victory on their own ice on Tuesday evening. Play was fast throughout on what might be termed fair ice. Half way through the third period, Hamilton received a match misconduct for molesting a referee.

Play was halted for a short time in the first period as Mrs. Percy Gray, wife of Major Gray received a cut in the forehead as the puck struck her necessitating six stitches to close the wound.

For the winners Jones and Stewart were most successful, the former scoring three goals one unassisted and the other two on Stewart's assists. Stewart's two counters came on Mantle's assists. Havelock's goals were divided amongst their players for whom Hamilton, Wellshaw, Caravaggio, McIndoe and Berardo stood out. Both goalies turned in good games with Killian having a little edge over his rival. The fourth game will be played in Havelock on Friday evening and is sure to be another keen tussle. More than nine hundred spectators witnessed this third game of the series.

Teams:

Havelock: Goal, Bradley; defence, Anderson, Berardo; centre, Reid; wings, Wellshaw, Crowder; alternates, Eakins, Caravaggio, McIndoe, Hamilton, Laing, Berwick, Wilson.

Marmora: Goal, Killian; defence, Maynes, Gray; centre, Forestell; wings, Lavender, Trumble; alternates, Stewart, Jones, Mantle, Kerr, Brown, Darrah, Doyle, Smith.

Referees: D. Barrett, Belleville, R. Fitzpatrick, Belleville.

Prior to the start of the game, President Art Duncan of the Trent Valley League presented the William Goodfellow trophy to captain K. Anderson of the Havelock team, champions of the northern section and the W. A. Fraser trophy to Capt. K. Trumble of the Marmora team champions of the central section.

South correctly opens with a bid of one club. West correctly simple overcalls with one diamond. North correctly passes. East correctly bids one heart What does south do now?

Except that his club is rebiddable, south had a minnie opening. To bid two clubs he must raise the partnership number. And he lacks a sixth trick for such an increase.

With both opponent suits stopped, south might bid one notrump. This would not raise the number. Or he could double for takeout and order partner to bid. Or he could pass. Which is best?

My choice would be for one no-trump. But I would not try to argue you out of a pass or takeout double. Without seeing the other hands, either may be good with such a hand.

Assume that south bids one notrump. West may as well crawl into a shell for the present. The heart bid by his partner was no bargain. No use sticking his neck out unnecessarily. He should pass.

East should step in here with a bid of two spades, Having bid a heart before he will advise partner his hearts are longer than his spades. It is information west may need to know.

If the spade bid finds west with a bit of support they can be in good shape. If the spade bid is doubled by opponents, west has a choice that will decide where they should land

Where do we go from here? Make up your mind for us.

Warm Weather Ushers in Spring

Toronto, March 20 (CP) — The temperature rose to 10 degrees above the average as spring arrived here today. The weatherman said it will probably be warmer tomorrow. Temperature was 43 degrees.

Throughout, Ontario spring was ushered in at 11:14 a.m, Amid generally cloudy skies. Sunshine was expected tomorrow.

Weather officials said spring came a day early this year because of the extra leap year day in February.

Organizations Divided On Moose Question

Toronto, March 20 (CP)—Two organizations are divided on their opinions of, an open moose hunting season in northern Ontario.

In a brief presented yesterday to the legislature's fish and game committee the Northern Ontario Outfitters' Association asked that controlled moose hunting, except in congested areas, permitted "by a system of zoning, with an allocation of a limited number of licences to each zone according to the estimated moose population."

The Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters said in another brief that moose have not increased enough to warrant an open season in the area south of the northern-most trans-continental railway line.

The area north of the line was opened to resident hunters last year for the first time in several years. The Outfitters' Association, however, asked that the opening date be advanced to Oct 1, instead of Nov. 15, and that the season open Oct. 15 south of the line.

Len Hughes of North Bay, association president, said last year's opening was too late, for lakes were frozen and hunters could not get the carcasses out of the woods.

The Anglers and Hunters Federation, represented by President Ken Clarke of Kingston, also urged that intoxicated hunters handling fire-arms be subject to the same penalties as drunk drivers.

Deer hunting with dogs was another subject on which the Federation and the Outfitters' Association differed.

Ermine and White Tie Crowd Will Attend Oscars Presentation

By JAMES BACON

Hollywood, March 20. (AP)—Anybody who is anybody in movieland will be present tonight for the 24th annual Academy awards —except some of the people voted most likely to win.

At least 12 of the 25 top-nominees won't be on hand. Vivien Leigh and Marlon Brando, likely choices for the coveted top actress and actor Oscars, are out of town.

Both were nominated for roles they first played on the stage in "Streetcar Named Desire".

Humphrey Bogart, Shelley Winters, Jane Wyman and Eleanor Parker will be in the audience at the RKO Pantages Theatre.

Katharine Hepburn, Bogart's co-star in "African Queen", is en route to London and won't be among those present. Montgomery Clift of "Place in the Sun" will be the only other top male star present. Frederic March of "Death of a Salesman" could be another sentimental choice.

Three-Time Winner

A victory for him would make him the only three-time winner. He's in New York. Arthur Kennedy (Bright Victory) is in Jamaica.

In the supporting actor class, Karl Malden of "Streetcar" is the choice of most experts. He, too, is repeating his stage job. Kevin McCarthy of "Salesman", Leo Genn and Peter "Nero" Ustinov of "Quo Vadis" and Gig Young, the alcoholic of "Come Fill The Cup" make it anybody's race. Ustinov, home in England, is the only absentee.

Worst attendance record of the night will go to the supporting actress nominee. All five are in New York.

Lee Grant, the shoplifter of "Detective Story" was the choice of The Associated Press critics poll but Joan Blondell of "Blue Veil" stacks up as the sentimental choice. Mildred Dunnock ("Salesman"), Kim Hunter ("Streetcar") and Thelma Ritter ("The Mating Season") could easily win.

Closest battle is between "Streetcar" and "Place in the Sun" for the best picture sweepstakes.

The nearest thing to a sure bet is George Stevens for the best direction. His "Sun" was tabbed a director's picture from the start. He'll be there, as will Willie Wyler ("Detective Story"), Vincente Minelli ("American") and Elia Kazan ("Streetcar"). John Huston of "African Queen" will be the only absentee.

An ermined and white-tied crowd of 2,812 movieland elite will watch the show at $6 to $12 a seat.

French Village To be Razed

Tignes, France, March 20 (AP) —The resistance leaders of the villages of Tignes sadly conceded defeat yesterday and most of the 400 inhabitants began to pack their belongings.

In a few weeks the village will razed and buried by a 600-foot deep reservoir of the largest hydro-electrict power station in western Europe.

Acting Mayor Justin Raymond and his friends at first had said they would defy the government's evacuation order until they either received what they considered adequate compensation or were removed by force.

COASTAL FEATURE

Mount Carmel, an 18-mile range of hills in Palestine, is the only promontory on the Palestine coast.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars,

FOR FRIDAY, MARCH 21, 1952

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—"A little with contentment is great gain" fits this period. Apply pressure in certain instances only. There are profits to be had in useful innovations and sound investments.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Most activities already started or planned should move along smoothly under careful management. Real estate, investments, hotels, restaurants, all can show some gains.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Day can be most satisfying if you are true to your best self and handle issues wisely. Take care of duties promptly. Take some time out for health and church.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Your day's chart much like Gemini. Outlook benefic in business and personal affairs. Heart interests, marriage, comestic, social matters well sponsored, but all ask your earnest effort.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Make good use of your time and experience. Aspects favorable for manufacturing, banking, needed construction and professional work. Inclinations generous; use all rightly.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Most pleasant and gainful advantages for you keen, down-to-earth natives. Be not over-serious. Cheerful attitude important, Cooperate, mix, and help others, all in even tenor.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Read Leo today; similar aspects. Formulate plans thoughtfully. Your situation may differ according to your work and activities. Start early to earn your share of good things.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., several benefic configurations favor practical matters, sound business interests. No day for wild schemes, carelessness about health. Avoid extremes.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Hold tight rein on emotions. Refuse to be inveigled into unpleasant discussions. Don't start anything you don't want. Be ready to take your share of good and bad with a smile.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Gains in most substantial industries; in mechanics and financial endeavors managed with a conscience. Have regard for others and they will be the same to you. Fine outlook.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Some personal wishes may have to bow to others' ideas and projects for general good. Advantages lie in smooth cooperation with associates, superiors. Study leads to gains.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — With progressive line of thought, endeavor and constructive outlook, your action should lead to splendid results. Domesticity, romance, artistic matters generally highly favored now.

YOU BORN TODAY have fine ability for a happy life ahead. Seek education, and hold to your religion and principles at all times. You have diversified talent, are generally conservative; these will put you in line for success, worth-while commendation. Are devoted to high ideal but often lack the grit to follow through to the high success you could have. Require incentive. Birthdate: Johann S. Bach, great composer; Sidney Arnold Franklin, movie director.

Egg-Market Pl
Branded Racket,
Wildcat Scheme

Brantford, March 20 — (CP)— An egg-marketing plan propos by the Ontario Federation of A riculture was branded a rack and a wildcat scheme by a mee ing here yesterday of Brant cou ty poultrymen.

Frank Ellis of Woodstock, pr sident of the Oxford County Fe eration of Agriculture, said: "Th scheme will make suckers out us."

He referred to the Ontario Fe eration's proposal to collect o cent a dozen from all produce who use egg-grading stations u til $2,000,000 has been raised, bo row an additional $16,000,0 through banks and purchase plus eggs in Ontario, Sask wan, Manitoba and Alberta f storage and later resale.

"The (Ontario) Federation pr poses to hire a man who kno enough to buy eggs when they' at a low price and to sell the when they're at a higher pric Mr. Ellis said, "Such a man ju doesn't exist."

A vote on the proposal by O tario producers is expected to taken during Easter week.

In Ontario, if poultrymen vote the scheme in, an eight-man boa would have the legal power set prices, control production a grant licences to egg-grading s tions.

Mystery Malady Hits U.S. Navy

A masked medical corpsman waits on the dock at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, as one of seven men stricken with a mysterious illness is lowered from a U.S. transport. The malady, it was reported, resembles diphtheria. The vessel's doctor and three members of the medical department were among those stricken while the ship was at sea bound for the Far East. The transport has been ordered quarantined. — Central Press Canadian.

ARENA PROFIT-MAKER

Sudbury, March 19 (CP) —Sudbury's new $1,500,000 arena is proving to be a profit-maker in less than three months' operation.

An audited report to city council last night showed a net revenue of $16,355 from November 21 to January 31. Receipts during the period were $74,431, mostly from hockey.

60,000 SETS IN USE

Moscow, March 19 (AP)—Pravda reported today that about 60,000 television sets are in use in Moscow. The communist party organ said the number includes 35,650 installed during 1951 and another 8,000 during the first two months this year. Television stations also are in operation in Kiev and Leningrad.

WOMAN RECOVERING

Guelph, March 19 (CP)—An alert telephone operator, noticing a telephone receiver off the hook, notified police. When police reached the residence they found an elderly lady had been suddenly taken ill and tried to use the telephone but succeeded only in knocking it off the hook. She now is recovering.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma was opening her mail at breakfist saying to pop, I'm dissappointed, William, there's not even an advertizement from a travel bewro amung my letters.

Why should there be for Peet sake? pop said, and ma said, Because last nite I had the most vivid dreem about taking a voyage around the werld, and I know it had some significance in actual life, it was just too real to of been an empty dreem. I know it had something to do with some kind of a trip that's waiting for me in the cards of Fate, she said.

Ma being a grate beleever in dreems, especially her own, and pop said, Watch out for loose rugs and stray pieces of soap, we dont want you taking any unexpected trips of that nature.

William, you wouldn't beleeve how vivid it was, ma said, I I was the best cook in the werld, she said, and pop said, I've often told you that, my dear, that was no idle dreem. We haven't had liver and onions for quite a while, come to think of it, he said.

I can recall every detail, that's how vivid it was, ma said. I was appointed to make this voyage around the werld to pin the Mrs. Potts Meddle of Honor on the most famous chef of every country for some special dish that he was noted for. I even remember the very names of the dishes. For instance in France it was frogs legs a la Burgundy Bullyvard de Paree. And in Russia it was stuffed caviar with vodka sauce under glass, and in Spane it was saffron pie with fandangoes, and so 4th and so on. It just had to meen something. William, the least we can do is take a little trip up to the Avenue and try that new resterant for dinner tonite, she said.

Yee gods, it's a woman's werld, I hope they dont have paper naokins, pop said.

And he kissed her goodbye and left for his office.

FRANKFORD

Frankford—The Woman's Association of the Frankford United Church, held their regular monthly meeting in the Rose-Lowery Hall, Thursday afternoon, with 22 members and 11 visitors present.

The worship topic was "Christian Living in the Church". The president, Mrs. Arnold Stickle, gave an inspirational comment on the topic. Members were asked to read the fifth, sixth, and seventh chapters of St. Matthew before the next meeting.

The Scripture reading, Matthew 5:1-20 was given by Mrs. Bonisteel.

A number of business items were dealt with. It was announced that there would be a quilting at Mrs. Frank Rabel's home on March 25. All ladies are invited to attend.

The program was under the direction of the December group. It consisted of a reading by Mrs. Finnigan, "I've Never Been to Ireland"; Mrs. Walter Morrow sang two solos, still keeping in the Irish spirit, "Little Annie Rooney" and "Irish Eyes Are Smiling". Mrs. Terry gave a reading, and Mrs. Martin favored with a piano solo. Mrs. Bert Bush read a poem, to close the program.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Bonisteel, Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Mallory.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Kleinsteuber, of The Sandbanks, visited Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Smith, on Thursday.

All are sorry to hear of the illness of Mrs. Mary Patrick, of Mill Street, who is a patient in Trenton Hospital. Everyone wishes her a speedy recovery.

Rev. and Mrs. Robert Casement of Kingston, visited relatives in Frankford this week.

The Frankford Boy Scouts held their weekly meeting Friday eve, with a good turnout. A period of recreation was enjoyed, followed by instruction in semaphore, and other Scout work. Plans were discussed for the camp trip this coming summer, and preparations are being made to have the best camp yet this year.

The Frankford Boy Scouts were out again Saturday gathering paper for their collection. The paper is being stored until the market becomes a little more attractive than at present. The Scouts are grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Baker for their kindness in allowing them to use their barn for storage. With the funds received from the paper, the boys hope to purchase a couple of new tents. The Scouts have also received a new shipment of every-day greeting cards and writing paper, with which they hope to raise additional funds.

Masonic Dance

The annual Masonic dance and banquet for Franck Lodge No. 127, was held Friday evening in the Community Hall, with approximately 165 couples present. A splendid evening of dancing was enjoyed with musical stylings by the Commodores of Belleville, providing excellent music.

The Worshipful Master Harder Bonisteel, welcomed everyone present, guests being in attendance from Wooler, Frankford, Trenton, Belleville, Smithfield, Campbellford, Ottawa and Toronto.

At midnight, a luncheon was served, which left nothing to be desired. The hall was gaily decorated in Irish Green for the occasion. The dance, planned for St. Valentine's Week, had been postponed in respect for the death of the late King.

Canadian Sought by French Police

French police are looking for Lorne Rutherford, a Canadian of no known address, who is wanted for questioning in connection with the murder of Bernard Rosselin, 32, a magistrate of Chalon-sur-Saone, in southeastern France. Rosselin was found dead in his apartment with his arms and legs bound with electric wire. Rutherford is reportedly somewhere in Paris, and French police expect to find him shortly. — Central Press Canadian.

Nobody Loves Forever

By Margaretta Brucker

Jessica went to the kitchen and put on the coffee pot. A step on the porch sent her rushing back to the front door.

Doris, in pajamas, with a man's coat bundled about her, her auburn hair wet and disheveled. "Lord what a wind," she cried. "Bill's gone. He went downtown to see what's happened. A man came along and told him it was in one of those old hotels on Main Street."

"I'm afraid Mrs. Blake is at the fire," said Jessica, measuring coffee. "I thought she might come home wet through."

"I could drink a cup of coffee," said Doris. "Where's Lucy?"

"Gone off on a Y hike, I think."

"You're not sure?"

Jessica looked at her. "Why do you say that?"

Doris shrugged. "No reason. I just wondered. Thought she might help find her mother."

She gulped down a cup of coffee and a little later went off promising to return if she heard anything further about the fire.

Jessica could not understand the panic which sent her back and forth from the kitchen to the living room windows after Doris left, the apprehension which grew as the minutes passed, the relief when she heard a car stop outside the house. Someone had brought Mrs. Blake home.

She ran out to the hall, flung open the front door and saw a man mount the steps.

"People named Blake live here?" the man asked.

Jessica nodded. Her anxious glancet ravelled past him to the car at the curb. He said bluntly, "got a woman out there in the car. We identified her by a letter in her purse. Why should an old woman visit a fire? She acts like she'd had a fit or something."

He went down the steps and came back carrying a limp figure. "Where'll I put her, miss?"

Jessica found her voice. "In here." She led him into the living room and he put Mrs. Blake down on the sofa. "You're in a fix, for I don't know where you'll get a doctor," he said. "Everyone's at the fire. It's something awful down there. Regular inferno."

"Thanks for bringing her home" Jessica murmured.

"Don't mention it. I think she'll come out of it after a while. Better call someone to help you."

He left her alone with Mrs. Blake lying queer and still, her face ghastly pale where it wasn't streaked with smoke. Her hands were livid with burns and her grey hair wet and wispy about her shoulders.

She's lost her mind, thought Jessica wildly. What shall I do?

Doris. She would call Doris.

Doris came and brought her husband with her. Bill was a heavy-set man with thick-black eyebrows and a shrewd red face. "Looks like she has had a stroke," he told Jessica. "I'll try to find a doctor."

He left. It was half an hour before he returned, but he brought a doctor with him.

The doctor wore no hat. He had a cut on one cheek, and his clothes smelled of smoke. He hurriedly examined the woman on the sofa.

"Shock," he said. "Might be a stroke. She may be like this for hours, maybe longer. I'll try to call again in an hour or two. Just watch her. How did she happen to be at the fire?" He lifted one scarred hand gently.

"She's a firebug," said Doris, bluntly. "She never misses a fire. [illegible] as though she rushed right into it."

[illegible] people back," said the [illegible].

After he left, Doris said, "Bill was there. He said it was awful. A lot of people were trapped and the elevator jammed."

"The men who take girls to those dumps are heels," said Doris' husband. "They sneaked out and saved themselves and left the girls to get out alone. There are a couple of bad cases. One died while they were bringing her out and a couple more are unidentified."

Jessica said "I can't imagine—"

Doris exchanged a glance with her husband. "Bill's leave is up tomorrow," she said. "We've got to go."

Jessica went to the door with them, then returned to the living room to watch beside her mother-in-law. One hour passed . . .two . . . soon the doctor would return. Once she thought she heard the siren again. A few cars passed.

It was very still in the house, a horrifying stillness which wrapped the room where she sat, tense and rigid, listening for the doctor.

Then she heard a car far down the street. She was on her feet and at the door, gazing at the approaching lights as they came nearer.

She was weak with relief when the car stopped.

"Doctor," she cried and left the hall and went out on the porch. "Oh, I'm so glad . . ."

Her voice died away.

The car was a taxi. The doctor had come in his own car before. She watched a man swing out of the car and pause for a moment in the shadow of the trees which lined the sidewalk. She waited, feeling an odd sense of panic as he emerged from the shadow and came directly up the front walk toward her. She gave a little gasp as a shaft of light from the open hall door fell upon the tall,' advancing figure.

He wasn't the doctor. She felt her knees weak as water beneath her and the blood pounding dizzily in her reeling head as she retreated, one step at a time toward the hall behind her.

It can't be, she though wildly. It can't be!

The man spoke her name. "Jess!"

She could not answer but only stared blankly at Tom Blake as he strode through the door toward her.

This was Tom Blake, her husband, returned from overseas. This was the man she had married in a moment of mad infatuation and now planned to leave. Over and over again Jessica had rehearsed to herself just what she would say or do should Tom return before she could leave Akron. Now, after the first moment of shock at his appearance, she forgot everything else in the wild relief that she was no longer alone. Tom was here to share her anxiety, and, with this in mind, she seized his hand and drew him toward the living room, trying hysterically to explain just what had happened: the storm, the fire, and her own fright when his mother did not come home, her terror when a stranger brought Mrs. Blake back with her face smoke-blackened and her hands scarred and burned.

Tom uttered an exclamation of alarm as he bent over the prostrate figure on the living room sofa. Had she called a doctor?

Jessica nodded. She told Tom of the doctor's visit, what he had said and his promise to return soon that when she had heard the taxi she had hoped it might be the doctor—

Tom interrupted. "Where's Lucy?"

He looked bewildered and unable to grasp the fact that his mother lay still and inert before him.

"Lucy went off this morning on a Y hike. She'll be back tomorrow afternoon."

"We'll have to locate her at once," said Tom. "She will know how this happened and just what to do."

Yes. Lucy would know. Lucy would be gentle and capable. Lucy would comfort Tom.

Jessica found herself awkward and ill at ease in Tom's presence. For the moment he was too absorbed in his mother to attach any significance to her lack of demonstration. Thankfully she heard a car stop outside and a little latter the doctor appeared. Now she had an interval to pull herself together, to escape Tom's notice, to slip about following the doctor's direction's while Tom and the doctor discussed Mrs. Blake's condition in low, serious tones.

Tom inquired, "will she recover?"

The doctor could not tell. There might be no immediate change, and again Mrs. Blake might regain consciousness any minute. She must be watched constantly. The attack seemed to be the result of a severe shock.

He turned to Jessica. "Did she know anyone injured at the fire?"

"Of course not" Tom said. "Fires are an obsession with my mother and always have been. For years my sister and I tried to persuade her to remain quietly at home, but in spite of everything we could say she would slip off, even at night."

"This will be her last trip," said the doctor bluntly.

He described the fire and talked at length about the downtown tragedy. He repeated what Doris' husband had said, that many were trapped in the burning building and others taken to hospitals still unidentified. He was stern in his judgment of the men who had run away and left the girls they had been with to face a tragic death.

He rambled on as he snapped shut his case and picked up his overcoat, but Tom only half listened, with no interest in the fire concerned only about his mother.

"What's the worst that can happen?"

The doctor hesitated. "The worst. She may be paralyzed for the rest of her life, son," he answered finally.

Tom uttered a sharp exclamation of disbelief.

The doctor said "we can hope."

Hope, thought Jessica bleakly. What hope would there be for anyone, if his diagnosis should prove correct? Paralyzed! Impossible to imagine an active person like Mrs. Blake helpless and unable to move. Frightening to think of the future which this threat offered Lucy and Tom. Who would take care of a helpless invalid?

I will not, she told herself passionately, maintaining self-control with an effort.

She was glad when the doctor suggested that Tom carry his mother upstairs to her own room.

Jessica ran ahead to prepare the room, pulled down shades and opened the smooth bed all the time dreading the moment when the doctor would leave and she would be alone with Tom. Would she let pity weaken her resolve? Would Tom continue to be too absorbed in his mother's illness to show any real interest in her for the present? If only she need say nothing to hurt him until Lucy came to be with him.

Mrs. Blake lay like a corpse on the bed, her bandaged hands still and motionless on the cover, her face as pale as death, her closed eyes sunken and dark-circled.

Would she die?

No. She would not die, thought Jessica bitterfly. She would live, and through this tragic illness, reach out and control the future as she had the past, reach out and destroy Jessica's own hope of happiness. She wanted to cry out from sheer exhaustion and despair. "What's wrong Jess?" Tom's voice was gentle.

"I'm tired," she said and moved toward the doorway.

"Of course. Go to bed and get some rest. I'll stay with mother."

Jessica paused uncertainly. "You'll call if you need me?"

"I'll call if I need you." He sat down beside his mother's bed. He made no move to touch her as she passed him. He seemed lost in some gloomy reverie of his own, and her last glimpse of Tom, as she looked back from the hall, showed him with his head buried in his hands.

U.S. Courts Try Spys in Austria

Two camera-shy defendants in a series of trials which opened recently in the United States civil affairs court at Salzburg, Austria, hide their faces as they appeared in court to testify during trial of a co-defendant. Brunette "Mata Hari" Margarete Reyzek, Czech-born defendant, left, is charged with spying on behalf of communist Czechoslovakia in the U.S. zone of Austria, but intelligence agents claim she headed a spy ring that sppread over nearly all Western Europe. Agnes Von Heyne, right, German-born co-defendant, covers her face in the courtroom during a statment before the court which opened the trial against co-defendant Heinz Von Silomon. — Central Press Canadian.

"Would Lie Awake Till All Hours Of The Night

This Man Says Nerves Kept Him from Getting Proper Sleep. Was Rundown and Suffered from Stomach Disorders, Headache, Backache — Tells How Syntona Helped Him.

"Before I began taking Syntona I used to lie awake all hours of the night, but I have this grand medicine to thank for my relief and now I'm like a different person," said Mr. Walter Perrin, of 13 MacNab Street, Hamilton, Ontario, in a recent interview.

"Just seemed that I couldn't get to sleep, but would roll and toss thinking about everything under the sun. This condition weakened me and I commenced to suffer a lot with my health in general.

"My stomach became upset and got so that everything I ate caused indigestion and gas pressed around my heart. My bowels were constipated and I'd often get bad headaches and had no appetite. All the time I suffered with a dull aching pain in my back and my nerves were all on edge.

"I read how Syntona was helping a lot of other people right here in town ,and although I had tried different other things without relief I started taking this medicine. It was only a short time when I felt better and with this encouragement I kept on taking it. Now you wouldn't think I am the same person. First of all my nerves are much better so I have no trouble at all getting to sleep at night. I feel stronger, my bowels are regular, appetite is improved greatly and I no longer suffer from stomach upset, headache, or backache."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville at DOLAN THE DRUGGIST. Find out how it can help you, too.

Ridgway States Russia Greatest Problem to Japan

Huge Military Forces Massed at Two Points

Tokyo, March 22—(Saturday)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said Friday Japan's "greatest problem" is the threat of strong Russian military forces already assembled north of this island country.

The supreme allied commander told a group of Japanese newspaper executives the Russians have completed the stationing of strong forces "including many fighter planes" at two points facing Japan.

One massing point was given as near Vladivostok, the big port and base in the Siberian maritime province. The other was on southern Sakhalin, formerly held by the Japanese. Sakhalin lies north of Japan.

General "Not Upset"

The editors said Ridgway assured them he was "not upset" by unfavorable comment on some Japanese on the Japan-U. S. security pact.

Ridgway was quoted as saying the purpose of the Russian concentration was to generate fear but adding that when fear is not enough the communists use power.

The general then referred editors to the case of China, where the communists have organized a powerful military machine. Yet 30 years ago China had no real military force.

Ridgway said there was evidence of the same methods in Japan. He pointed to communist influence in labor unions, to red infiltration into various organs of public opinion, and to the party cells organized for violence.

Build Up Organization

Ridgway said the communists by these methods succeeded in building up the equivalent of a military organization.

"The sole purpose," Ridgway concluded, "of maintaining American garrison forces in Japan is nothing more nor less than to check the Russian threat to Japan."

One of the newspapers, Yomiuri, in its story of the interview, quoted Ridgway as saying Russia has 5,000 modern jet planes in the Far East and is in position to "exhibit their military power."

13 to 18 Red Jets Downed, Damaged In Long Battle

Seoul, Korea, March 21 (AP)—American Sabre pilots destroyed or damaged 13 to 18 red jets in a series of fights Thursday climaxed by the longest battle in jet history.

Darkening skies prevented exact assessment of results of a 40-minute dogfight over North Korea. But pilots of F-86 Sabre jets said they damaged at least three MIG-15s and possibly eight.

In two earlier engagements Thursday the Sabres reported they shot down five MIGs and damaged five.

In the 40-minute battle 28 Sabres tangled with 40 MIGs in a fight running over 70 miles from Einahju to the Yalu River border with Manchuria. The longest previous jet battle lasted 35 minutes.

The fight brought the Sabres' three-day record to at least 31 and possibly 36 red jets hit, including 11 shot down.

The air force said the bag of red planes now stands at 232 destroyed, 9 probably destroyed and 462 damaged—a total of 697.

Marine pilots also set a record with 726 sorties. They dropped tons of bombs and napalm on a sprawling red supply area near Karhwa.

Carrier-based planes scored 138 rail cuts along the north Korean east coast.

Off the west coast, aircraft from the British carrier Glory attacked sampans, buildings, rail lines and gun positions.

Surface vessels stood off both coasts of Korea and hammered red targets ashore.

Ground action was light with small, sporadic fights flaring across the peninsula.

Pair Arrested After Wild Chase

Hamilton, March 21. (CP)—Police fired 15 shots in a wild chase on district highways early today after a three-ton truck carrying a stolen safe. No one was injured.

The truck was finally forced off the road near the intersection of No. 20 and No. 53 highways.

Police arrested two men in the truck. A third escaped across deserted fields.

Robert Smethurst, 24, and Frank Paulick, 19, were remanded one week in magistrate's court today on charges of shopbreaking and theft, and truck theft.

The safe contained $10.

SUSPEND COMMUNICATIONS

Athens, March 21 — (AP) — Transport and communications were suspended in Salonika yesterday as workers staged a 24-hour general strike. Shopkeepers closed their stores in sympathy. The workers said they are protesting failure of the government to check the rising cost of living and increased unemployment in the northern provinces.

WILL TEST NEW DRUG

Toronto, March 21 — (CP) — Ontario will take part in tests on a new anti-tuberculosis drug which gained world-wide interest when results of early tests were announced recently from a New York hospital.

Samples of the drug — isonicotinic acid hydrazide—will arrive here soon but will be used in a limited basis because its long-term effects have not yet been established.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, March 21 (CP)—Synopsis: A weak weather disturbance gave Ontario cloudy skies overnight and a few showers along the lower lakes this morning. With the passage of this disturbance eastward skies are clearing giving promise of sunshine for southern Ontario today.

Overcast conditions and snowflurries will continue in northern regions during the day.

A new disturbance now developing in Texas will bring general cloudiness and some rain to Ontario Saturday.

WILL LEND CARRIER

Melbourne, Australia, March 21 — (Reuters) — Britain has agreed to lend the 13,190-ton aircraft carrier Vengeance to the Australian navy, Premier Robert Menzies announced today. The Vengeance is expected to reach Australia early in 1953 and will remain until replaced by the new Australian carrier Melbourne, now undergoing modifications.

CUT OFF ALL HER HAIR

Los Angeles — March 21 (AP) — Auburn-haired Rosalie Bruce, 24, a model, won a divorce yesterday after she testified her husband "tied and gagged me and cut all of the hair off my head." Rosalie's waist-length hair was her pride and joy but she said her husband, Edward Lee Bruce, 29, was "tired of other guys making a play" for her.

THROWN FROM HORSE

Colombo, Ceylon, March 21 — (AP) — Premier D. S. Senanayake, 68, was thrown from a bolting horse today and seriously injured. Doctors said he suffered a brain concussion. He still was unconscious four hours after the accident. Senanayake, a keen horseman, had been taking a morning ride in a Colombo park.

Bachelors Do Not Live As Long As Married Men Says Trade Paper

London — (CP) — For long life, men — get married.

"Bachelors do not live as long as married men, are more prone to gastric ulcers and fail to stand up as well to a financial crisis," said a 35-year-old bachelor, Dr. Philip Tynan, writing in the trade paper, Family Doctor.

Gastric trouble is known to the medical profession as the bachelor's bane — or frying-pan ulcers, said Tynan.

Lightheartedly probing the reasons why men want to stay single, Tynan gives a few examples:

The man in a rut who does not know he is in one and thinks if he marries he will be.

The man who never gets anyone quite good enough, and the one who is never quite good enough for anyone.

"Bachelors are not women-haters," the doctor writes. "Many enjoy feminine company so much they don't want to spoil their appreciation by marrying any of them."

And the doctor? "I am a bachelor only by chance," he said. "I've been engaged twice."

PRIVATE MOTION ON EDUCATION 'TALKED OUT'

Drew Calls for Parley To Readjust Tax Fields

Ottawa, March 21. (CP)—The question of giving Canada's children a better chance to obtain an education ran into a constitutional sidetrack in the Commons yesterday.

In a debate that waxed more academic than practical, government and opposition members tossed the question back and forth across the floor for six hours. When the debate ended, their opinions were as wide apart as ever.

The discussion arose on a private resolution by R. R. Knight (CCF—Saskatoon) urging the federal government to consider making grants to the provinces as a means of "expanding and equalizing" educational opportunities across Canada.

The motion was "talked out"—parliamentary device for making sure it does not reach, perhaps, an embarrassing vote. It had been debated two days, Wednesday and Thursday.

Government members, led by Justice Minister Garson, contended the government should supervise the spending of such grants and that would be an interference with the provinces' constitutional authority over education.

Opposition members, agreed the provinces must remain supreme in that field, but suggested the federal authority could make grants without influencing their expenditure.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader and former Ontario Minister of Education, called for a federal-provincial conference to readjust tax fields to provide the provinces with more money for education.

Fifty Employees Of Transportation System Strike

Sydney, N.S., March 21 (CP) — Drivers and mechanics of the Sydney and Whitney Pier Bus Company, rejected a compromise wage offer, failed to report for work today and left this city of 35,000 without public transportation.

Fifty employees, 30 of them drivers, rejected a recommendation that the strike, originally scheduled for midnight, be postponed for 24 hours.

The postponement would have given time for talks on a compromise wage increase of 15 cents an hour—10 cents higher than previously offered by the company.

The union asked a 30-cent hourly boost, which would have made the basic rate $1.25. They also asked a guaranteed work week of 54 hours.

Youths Rewarded For Honesty

Toronto, March 21 — (CP) Two Toronto youths who found a duffle bag containing $350 in Lake Ontario Feb. 23 and turned it over to police were given gold watches by the Bank of Montreal last night. They are Hugh Forbes, 15, and Martin Wiles, 14.

The bag, with a name stencilled on it, led to the arrest of three men who have been charged with robbing the bank of about $36,000.

Political Plans of President More Clouded As a Result Of Rebuke to Party Chairman

Washington, March 21 (CP)—President Truman's 1952 political plans were more clouded than ever today as a result of his public rebuke of Democratic party chairman Frank McKinney.

Whatever else may be deduced from the President's press conference at Key West, Fla., vacation headquarters yesterday, Truman left three things clear:

1. He still is considering seeking another term.

2. He still considers himself the boss of the party and isn't letting anyone else speak for him.

3. He will make his decision and his announcement in his own good time despite pressure from Democrats for an early statement.

McKinney had told reporters he believed Korean developments would play a paramount part in whether the President would seek re-election. He said he didn't think Truman would run again if the Korean war were settled soon.

Asked about this, the President declared that Korea does not enter into United States politics at all. It had no bearing on what he would decide to do. Truman also reiterated that he would decide when to make an announcement of his plans. McKinney had said he expected a decision before May 15.

While Truman dropped no hint of his plans, there was plenty of speculation from other sources.

Senator Clinton Anderson of New Mexico, Secretary of Agriculture in Truman's cabinet from 1945-48, told a reporter he believes Truman will run for re-election.

Despite the President's denial, he sided with McKinney's belief that Korea would have a bearing on Truman's decision.

"I believe if we could achieve peace the president would not run," Anderson said. "But we are not going to have complete peace by July. The President will be asked by the Democratic convention to run again and he will heed the convention's plea."

In the Republican political camp, the top matters were still whether Gen. Dwight Eisenhower would return before the party convention in July to campaign actively for the presidential nomination.

Pleased by the number of votes he received in preferential primaries in New Hampshire and Minnesota, Eisenhower issued a statement from his headquarters in Paris yesterday saying:

"The mounting numbers of my fellow citizens who are voting to make me the Republican nominee are forcing me to re-examine my personal position and past decision."

In Key West, President Truman said earlier that Eisenhower, Supreme commander of North Atlantic pact forces in Europe, was at liberty to return to the U.S. any time he deemed it safe and proper.

Another development in the Republican picture was the decision by Senator Robert Taft to withdraw his name from the New Jersey primary. Taft dropped out with a hotly-worded statement to Governor Alfred Driscoll accusing him of having "broken his word" to remain publicly neutral and of having lined up the state Republican organization behind Eisenhower.

Chicago Publisher Critical Of Customs Delay at Gander

Chicago, March 21 (CP) — The Chicago Tribune quotes its editor and publisher, Col. R. R. McCormick, as complaining strenuously about a customs delay at Newfoundland's Gander airport. But it says his landing there yesterday was not on the flight plan of the pilot flying McCormick's personal plane.

McCormick said his first difficulty with customs authorities during a 20,000-mile trip came when the plane was held up at Gander for 4½ hours. His newspaper adds, however, that Canadian authorities were ready to clear the plane quickly at Newfoundland's Stephenville airport but the plane landed at Gander instead.

In a story datelined Baie Comeau, Que., the newspaper says McCormick and his party of 10 landed at Gander yesterday after visits to South America, Africa and Europe.

Delayed Over Four Hours

It quotes him as saying "we were detained 4½ hours by the moronic customs officers and torpid baggage handlers," and it attributes to him some criticism of Newfoundlanders.

The story adds:

"The sting of this treatment, however, was largely removed when it was learned that the flight plan called for a landing at nearby Stephenville. There, Canadian authorities had arranged for all courtesy facilities in cleasing the ship for a Canadian stopover. When the plane landed at Gander at 3 a.m. no one authorized to speed clearance could be contacted."

McCormick was quoted as saying on reaching Baie Comeau where he has newsprint interests:

"I didn't mind the wait so much for myself but I felt very sorry for the crew. They had been on the job for more than 10 hours when we got there, and needed some sleep; then the 4 1-2 hours wait there, and another three hours flying to here from Gander, is too much."

The Tribune story adds: "ironically enough . . . the first difficulties with customs authorities . . . were encountered after reaching the American continent. After a 9 1-2 hour flight from the Azores to Gander, Nfld., the customs authorities there held up the plane for 4 1-2 hours while the 11 passengers and crew went through the most rigorous customs and immigration controls."

The newspaper then adds that it was learned later the Canadian authorities were ready at Stepuhenville, about 200 airline miles from Gander, to extend every courtesy to the publisher and his party.

The newspaper quotes McCormick as saying when the plane reached Mont Joli, Que. yesterday:

"Our transoceanic hegira has come to an end. We were detained at Gander 4 1-2 hours by the moronic customs officers and torpid baggage handlers and another half

Declares War On Filthy Literature

Ottawa, March 21 — (CP) — The member of parliament who inspired the ban on crime comics in Canada gave notice to the commons today that he is going to war against "filthy literature."

E. D. Fulton (PC — Kamloops) placed on the Commons order paper notice of a resolution calling for appointment of a joint Senate-Commons committee to study measures for dealing with "the growing volume of filthy literature circulating in Canada."

The notice said he thought this could be done "without improperly restricting the freedom of the press or of genuine literature or artistic expressions."

Mr. Fulton succeeded a couple of years ago in winning parliamentary approval of a private bill to ban crime comics in Canada.

Priest Leaves Fortune to Pope

Perugia, Italy, March 21. — (Reuters)—Don Attilio Bellachioma, 75-year-old priest who went mad after winning 40,000,000 lire (about $64,000) in a lottery and died in a mental hospital, left his entire fortune to Pope Pius. The priest won the lottery last summer. Hounded for months by hundreds of self-styled relatives, he died three months ago. His will was found last night in a pile of papers.

36 Persons Injured

Rio de Janeiro, March 21 (Reuters)—A passenger train crashed into a standing work train on the Leopoldina railway near here this morning, injuring 36 persons.

No deaths were reported, but some of the injured were in serious condition.

Preliminary reports said a passenger train with wooden coaches coming from Caxias ran into a stationary train carrying railway workmen at Triagem, a few miles outside Rio. The accident was believed caused by fog.

It was the fourth rail accident in Brazil in recent months.

On March 5 Brazil's worst rail disaster took 119 lives with nearly 300 persons injured.

On March 12, 33 were killed and more than 40 injured when a truck carrying refugees from Brazil's northeast drought areas collided with a bus on the road between Salvador and Euclides da Cunha.

On Dec. 18, last year 53 were killed in a passenger train derailment near Fortaleza.

ALL 10 ABOARD BELIEVED DEAD IN PLANE CRASH

Craft Plunges Into Gulf After Take-off

Corpus Christie, Tex., March 21—(AP) — A four-engined United States navy plane with 10 men aboard crashed on a take-off early today and a navy spokesman said all aboard were believed dead.

The plane, leaving the naval air station on a routine training flight to Alameda, Calif., went into the Gulf of Mexico less than a mile off shore.

All crash boats of the station and several planes searched the area, near Demit Island, but more than an hour after the plane hit the water no survivors had been found.

The 10 men aboard included four officers, two aviation cadets and four enlisted men.

R. M. McDonald, at the Alameda naval air station, said he heard the plane very low over his residence. He said he went to the window and saw the aircraft in what appeared to be a slight climb. "All four engines seemed to be missing fire," he said.

Colored People Most Happy Over Decision

Capetown, South Africa, March 21 (Reuters)—The Colored Peoples' National Union declared here today that "much deep animosity against Europeans has been lifted" by yesterday's supreme court decision ruling against separate representation for white and colored citizens.

The union—with 13,000 members—said in a statement that "anxiety felt by thousands of colored people that their franchise rights were to be whittled away" had been relieved.

The organization aims to safeguard rights of persons of mixed and Negro blood throughout South Africa.

Yesterday's court ruling threw out legislation which struck colored voters from the regular lists and permitted them to vote only for special representatives.

On learning of the decision, Premier Malan hastily summoned his cabinet and later told the house of assembly that the ruling created an "intolerable" situation and that the government will "take the necessary steps" to end it. Presumably Malan would like to pass legislation forbidding the courts from ruling on acts of parliament. However, he would encounter difficulty in doing this because his supporters in parliament haven't the strength to provide him with the necessary two-thirds majority for changing the constitution.

JUMPS FROM TANKER

Miami, Fla., March 21 — (AP) — A 33-year-old man suffering from delirium and hallucinations jumped overboard from a tanker yesterday off the Florida east coast and was presumed drowned. Coast Guard air-sea rescue headquarters said the man plunged from the Standard Oil tanker Esso Linden.

Experts Disturbed by Sloppy Language of Modern Youth

Montreal, March 21. —(CP)—High school teachers and university professors are losing out to the movies and comic books, radio and television in their campaign for better speech and writing, says a Montreal authority.

Prof. George L. Duthie, professor of English at McGill University, said the passion for movies and radio and a growing aversion to reading has produced a generation of students who find it increasingly difficult to speak and write with enough accuracy to meet modern requirements.

The professor, who has been studying the reading and writing habits of some 800 first-year students at the university, is concerned about the added effect of television on literacy, added to the impact of movies, comic books and radio. Television, he says, constitutes a distinct threat to the ability to read and write in a lucid fashion.

He has been disappointed in the language and writing of the students in first-year English courses. 'I believe that good reading habits are the foundation of speaking and writing ability," he said.

"If a boy or girl is encouraged to read, beginning about the age of seven, and if that boy or girl maintains the habit, then there will be little or no difficulty later on in life."

The time element in reading at an early age is not so important as "reading for its own sake, reading for recreation," he said. It was important to learn to like good reading. Possibly one hour's reading a day might be considered a minimum requirement.

As to the effects of neglect of reading, he pointed to the results of a test on first-year students designed to show whether they were capable of "mechanically accurate" writing. "Over 26 per cent failed the test completely, while many others very nearly failed," he said.

The condition was not peculiar to Canada. Similar findings had been obtained in other parts of the English-speaking world.

Prof. Duthie said perhaps the pendulum had swung too far away from classroom work to "making school fun."

Threat of Steel Strike Removed, Offer Accepted

17½ Cent an Hour Wage Boost is Govt. Proposal

Washington, March 21 — (CP) —A strike of 650,000 steelworkers in the United States, scheduled for this weekend, was postponed at least until April 8 when the union voted early today to accept a government pay boost proposal.

Whether the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) will be called out in April depends on the steel industry reaction to the recommendations.

The steelworkers jubilantly approved a wage stabilization board plan for settling the dispute which has been going on since last November.

Voted by public and labor members over stiff industry objections, it calls for a three-instalment pay boost that will eentually total 17½ cents an hour, plus other concessions including the union shop.

The union had asked for 18½ cent hourly pay boosts with other concessions estimated to bring the overall increased costs to around 35 cents an hour.

Steel companies gave no immediate reaction to the plan, promising to do so later today. But the W.S.B. industry members earlier denounced the proposal as unfair and inflationary.

Fourth Delay in Plans

Steelworkers President Philip Murray, announcing his fourth delay in strike plans, called for renewed negotiations starting Monday with steel companies here and at Pittsburgh. Murray said if no settlement with steel firms is reached by April 4, the unions will give 96 hours notice and strike April 8.

Thus if the industry refuses to go along with the W.S.B. recommendations, an eventual strike appears inevitable. The steel firms have claimed all along they can grant no wage boosts unless they get compensating price increases.

Steelmakers have said an expected $2-a-ton additional price allowance is too little to cover anticipated extra labor costs.

Steelworkers now have average earnings including overtime of close to $2 an hour. Their pay rates average about $1.81 an hour, ranging from a $1.31 to about $2.50.

The W.S.B. proposal calls for 12 1-2 cents hourly dated back to last Jan. 1, an extra 2 1-2 cent rise effective next July 1, and another 2 1-2 cent boost on Jan. 1, 1953. This would all become part of an 18-month contract.

The proposal calls also for improved vacation, shift, holiday and Sunday pay improvements. The board disallowed many union demands outright, and recommended futures bargaining on others.

It recommended against the union's longtime guaranteed wage demand, but suggested continuing industry-union dickering on the idea with a view toward reaching agreement on it in a subsequent contract.

The board's public-labor majority favoring the union shop arrangement—which would require all employees of steel firms to be union members and pay union dues — drew angry protests from board industry members.

"In recommending that the union's demand for a union shop be granted," the industry member statement said "the board has prejudged an issue which belongs in the field of collective bargaining, has greatly increased the potentiality of industrial strife, and has invited other labor unions to bring this issue to the board.

Red Negotiators Believed Ready To Compromise

Munsan, Korea, March 21 (AP)—Communist truce negotiators indicated today they may be ready to compromise on the deadlocked issue of exchanging prisoners of war.

The reds submitted a formal two sentence version of their march 5 plan for trading prisoners. It made no mention of voluntary repatriation, the only important issue blocking agreement.

There is "absolutely nothing new" in the communist proposal, said Brig.-Gen. William Nuckols, U.N. spokesman.

On the surface, he said, it does nothing to break the deadlock over whether prisoners should have the right to choose whether they are to be repatriated.

However, other observers interpreted what the communist proposal did not say as significant. They said the reds may want to compromise, but are not ready to say how.

The reds suggested that negotiations proceed on the basis of prisoner rosters exchanged Dec. 18. Under the communist plan the U.N. command would return 132,472 and the communists 11,559.

A second group of staff officers working on truce supervision exchanged maps of ten ports of entry through which troops and supplies will move into Korea during an armistice.

The communist maps failed to show exact areas in which neutral inspection teams would be allowed to operate. But the reds promised to draw in the necessary details overnight.

MOIRA RIVER OPEN TO RAILWAY BRIDGE

The Moira River is now open to the Canadian Pacific Railway bridge, thanks to the mild weather of the past few days.

Rain was instrumental in the breaking up of the icefield north of the bridge. Open water is now apparent for some distance into the bay.

THIEVES THWARTED IN AN ATTEMPT TO GAIN ENTRY

Thieves were thwarted last night in an attempt to gain entry to the store and office of Bill Deline on Coleman Street, it is believed by city police.

During the night patrol officers found a panel broken in the door of the store and said it appeared as though an attempt had been made to gain entry, but apparently had been scared away before they were successful.

SUSPENDED SENTENCES FOR ONE YEAR GIVEN

Suspended sentences for one year with payment of court costs, was the penalty handed out to two West Belleville residents who appeared on theft charges in magistrate's court before Magistrate T. Y. Wills.

The two men, Ernest Dunlay and Gilbert Loveless, Sidney St., pleaded guilty to the theft of a battery from the Canadian Tire Company at their store on Moira Street. Court costs of $21.80 each were ordered paid by the magistrate.

Safe Driving Awards Made To 26 Drivers

Twenty six drivers of the Brewers' Warehousing Company received safe driving awards and bonus cheques from the company at the annual safety night banquet held in the Queen's Hotel this week. Company drivers were present from Belleville, Peterborough, Kingston, Oshawa, Napanee, Lindsay, Cobourg, Port Hope, Whitby and Trenton.

Heading the list of drivers to receive awards was B. Cunningham of Cobourg with 11 years accident-free driving to his credit. The awards ranged down to drivers with one year driving without accident.

The new district manager F. L. "Ted" Jones, recently appointed from Ottawa to Belleville and District 6, was introduced to the drivers by Norman Garbutt. Mr. Jones then presented the accident free drivers with Ontario Safety League badges and bonus cheques. He congratulated the drivers and expressed the hope that more drivers would be eligible next year. Mr. Jones succeeds Murray Davis, who has transferred to Hamilton.

"Smooth Road Ahead" a safety driving film supplied by Supertest Petroleum was shown by Ernie West, Brewers' Warehousing Company's director of safe driving.

In the following discussion Mr. West pointed to the tremendous increase in vehicle registrations in Ontario and to the alarming increase of motor accidents. He emphasized that drivers should always be in complete control of their vehicles and should always respect the rights of other vehicles and pedestrians. In brief they should be "safe-driver-conscious" at all times.

Following is the list of accident free drivers receiving awards:—

Eleven year winner — Mr. B. Cunningham, Cobourg.

Six years—W. Johnson, Napanee; J. Bowins, Lindsay.

Five years—C. Saville, Lindsay.

Four years—G. Devolin, Belleville, W. Fitzgibbon, Belleville; H. Campney, Napanee, H. Dumbleton, Kingston, G. Thomas, Port Hope, D. Whiting, Equipment Service Division.

Three years—L. Goyer, Belleville, P. Jones, Trenton, G. Chambers, Lindsay, J. Kolynko, Oshawa, F. Dorie, Peterborough, M. Thomas, Port Hope.

Two years—F. Steele, Kingston, V. Taillon, Kingston, H. Weber, Kingston, O. Curtis, Peterborough.

One year—H. Ashton, Belleville, F. High, Belleville, R. Smith, Kingston, E. Cooney, Peterborough, H. Ferguson, Equipment Service Division.

Obituary

MRS. BERT RICHARDS

Mrs. Bert Richards, a former resident of this community, died suddenly at her home in Toronto, on Friday.

She is survived by four daughters, Olive, (Mrs. May) of Belleville; Nora, (Mrs. J. B. Morgan) of Toronto; Jean, (Mrs. W. Rudd), Toronto, and Helen (Mrs. K. C. Robinson), of Kapuskasing. Her husband and daughter, Mabel, predeceased her some years ago.

The funeral was held in the Wooler United Church at three o'clock, Monday afternoon with Rev. W. G. Fletcher conducting the service. Burial took place in the family plot in the Friends' Cemetery.

The bearers were, Jack May, Lorne Richards, Carman Richards, Jim Putnam, Arthur Putnam and Wilbur McColl.

The many floral tributes from Toronto and local friends bore silent tribute to the esteem in which Mrs. Richards was held.

Feast of Naw-Ruz Celebrated At Shannonville

The Feast of Naw-Ruz, the New Year of the Baha'i calendar, was celebrated on the evening of March 20th by the Baha'i community of Belleville with a gathering held at the home of J. Loft, Shannonville. Twenty guests sat down to a dinner prepared by the Shannonville community and joined in the reading of selected Scriptures.

Mr. B. Curtis, the guest speaker, stated that the Baha'i World Faith is one of the most recent of the revealed religions of the world, and has followers in over one hundred countries, with international headquarters in Haifa, Israel. The feast of Naw-Ruz marks the beginning of the Baha'i year and is celebrated as the time of renewal of spiritual vigor. The teachings of the founder of the faith, Baha'u'llah, mark the springtime of a new spiritual consciousness in the world.

"Baha'is believe that their prophet provides the key to a new concept of world unity based on a common standard—the spiritual brotherhood of man," said Mr. Curtis. "Lasting peace and security can only be achieved when each individual realizes and accepts his responsibility to society. The Baha'i teachings outline a world standard of education giving a sound basis for individual and group moral behavior and provide a blueprint for a supranational government based on the oneness of mankind and the oneness of religion."

Mr. Roger White, chairman of the local Baha'i group, introduced the speaker.

Robert Wartman Exonerated In Motor Accident Death Of Robert Allan McLeod

Trenton (Special)— A coroner's jury last night found that Robert Allan McLeod, 78, died of injuries received in an accident with a car Feb. 7th., but attached no blame to the driver, Robert Wartman, Napanee. McLeod died in the Trenton Memorial Hospital, February 23.

Dr. Lucke, pathologist from the Belleville General Hospital, testified that a post mortem examination revealed recent scalp injuries, several fractured ribs, hemorrhaging in chest and bruises. He found a formation of a big blood clot in the right thigh and several pieces from the clot passing through the heart into the lungs had caused death.

Dr. J. V. Byrne of Trenton who attended the injured man at the scene, recalled that McLeod made progress in hospital and he had considered letting him go home when he took a turn for the worse and became very ill.

Driver of the car, Robert Wartman, remembered seeing the man just as his car hit him. He figured the impact threw the victim about eight feet. He told the jury he applied his brakes immediately on sighting the man. Ken Johnson, Napanee, riding in the car with Wartman, said he did not see the man in front of the car, as he was talking with occupants of the back seat. He remembered stopping with a jolt that threw him up against the dash.

Constable Allan Ormshaw investigated the accident, which happened at Dundas-Ontario Sts. at 7 p.m. It was dark at the time and the constable testified the pavement was dry and the weather good.

He said there were skid marks of 39 feet from the back wheel of the car Wartman was driving.

The victim was walking from the south side of Dundas Street to the north side. Melville Leland, driving his car west and about to make the turn to Ontario Street, said he saw McLeod turn his head and look to the west but that he never looked to the east as he walked across the road. A young sea cadet related how he saw McLeod flying through the air and car come to an abrupt stop. He told of watching McLeod walking across the street with his head down.

Coroner Dr. E. A. McQuade presided. Members of jury were: Robert Cretney (foreman), Lloyd Weese, Scott Ament and N. Bingeman.

Trenton Worried About Salvaging Ship Wauketa

Trenton (Special) —Trenton officials are worried they may have a big salvage job on their hands in raising the sunken "Wauketa" which went down while tied up at her winter berth at the government dock here last week. It is believed that frost shifted the bottom planking of the ancient 85-foot towing boat, causing a leak which sent the bow of the vessel to the bottom first.

Most of the ship's deck is awash and waves are lapping around the cabin windows as honeycombed ice still holds the hull imprisoned against the wharf.

Yesterday secretary of the Parks Board, O. G. "Buster" Alyea asked police to order the owner to lift the boat and move it away from the dock area. But police first will have to find the owner, who left town without leaving a forwarding address.

After spending 14 years hauling barges filled with nepheline ore on Stoney Lake, near Peterborough, a government inspector condemned the Wauketa on reaching here following an uneventful trip down through the Trent canal system. The owner who intended putting the vessel into a ferrying service on upper lakes, was compelled to abandoned his ship here.

Sandwiches Distributed

Trenton (Special) —Through Lt. Phil Gardiner of the Salvation Army a large box of sandwiches from the women of the Progressive Conservative club of Trenton was distributed yesterday among the less fortunate families of the town.

Parker Elected

Trenton (Special)—At a meeting of board of directors of the Trenton Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday night Fred Parker was elected president for the next term. Tom Holmes was made vice-president and Ezra Smith was re-appointed manager.

Children Entertained

Trenton (Special) —Six philanthropic citizens took it upon themselves on Tuesday night to entertain 34 children and gave them a night out at the hockey match between the police and firemen at Belleville. A local bus transported the group to the Belleville arena and return. Each child was provided with refreshments at the game and on the trip home. Those giving their time included: Reg. Terrill, Bruce Terrill, Harold Campbell, Charlie Thurston, Webb Taylor and Lt. Phil Gardiner of the Salvation Army.

Mrs. Walt Wins Prize

Trenton — Success crowned the Progressive Conservative Women's euchre and dance in the CPR recreation hall on Wednesday night. Winner of the door prize was Mrs. E. Walt who collected a heaping basket of groceries on ticket No. 13. Euchre winners were: Mrs. Webb, Mrs. Marry Cotton, Mrs. Mabel English, Mrs. Bert Strong, Mildred Shoniker and W. Scarlett.

Sandwiches, cake and coffee were served under the supervision of Mrs. Peggy Frauts, Mrs. Mary Lewere, Mrs. K. Fuller and Mrs. Geo. Kellar. Mrs. Harold Stinson was in charge of the kitchen. After the lunch there was dancing until one a.m.

Coalition Govt. Falls Apart Over Price of Butter

Helsinki, Finland, March 21.—(AP)—The Coalition government of Premier Urho Kekkonen fell apart today over the price of butter and the premier submitted his resignation to President Juho Paasikivi.

Inflation has been plaguing this next-door neighbor of Russia. Kekkonen, leader of the Agrarian party, has been premier since March, 1950. The present cabinet, the third under Kekkonen, took office in September, 1951, pledged to right rising prices.

Kekkonen said he was "fed up" with discontent and repeated attacks from his own group. Reliable sources said he would not consent to head a fourth cabinet and had recommended to the president that Taavid Velhula, the party's parliamentary leader, be named premier.

Today's split came when Kehkonen and the seven cabinet members of his party voted against a slash in the price of butter but failed to obtain a majority.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, March 21 (CP) —Strong mid-session support today pushed the stock exchange's western oil index to the highest level in its 15-year history. Industrials, golds and base metals made little headway.

In western oils Western Ashley was a standout as it climbed pennies in a turnover of about 175,000 shares. Gains ranged from pennies to about 75 cents.

Calgary and Edmonton, Canadian Atlantic, General Petroleum A. Model Oil,. New British Dominions, Pacific Petroleum, Sapphire, Trend Petroleum and United Oils climbed strongly.

Refining oils and retail stores posted a scattered list of fractional advances to form industrials' strongest sections. Steels and liquors also drew firm support but textiles manufacturing companies and miscellaneous issues slipped.

Base metals were mixed as Coldstream Copper, Estella, Mindamar, Hellens and Quemont strengthened while Falconbridge, Quebec Manitou and United Asbestos weakened.

Senior golds were firm. Hollinger, Lamaque and Teck Hughes turned upward. Secondary issues showed little trend.

Obituary

MRS. ALICE MAUDE GREATRIX
(Hamburg, N.Y.)

A resident of Hamburg, N.Y., for the past 35 years, Mrs. Alice Maude Greatrix, died at her residence on Thursday, March 20, following an illness of some time. She was in her 81st year.

Formerly a resident of Tyendinaga township, Mrs. Greatrix was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Elmy and was predeceased by her husband, Henry Greatrix. She was a member of the United Church.

Surviving is one daughter, Olive, and two sons, Bert and Gordon, all of Buffalo, N.Y. Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Allan MacDonald of Shannonville; Mrs. Nellie Drummond of Consecon, and two brothers, George Elmy of Consecon, and John Elmy of Saskatchewan.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, the funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

MURDERERS EXECUTED

Guatemala, March 21—(AP)—5 murderers were executed by firing squads yesterday before a crowd of 15,000. The five were condemned for slaughtering a family with machetes during a robbery.

New Clerk of Privy Council

J. W. Pickersgill, 46, special assistant to Prime Minister St. Laurent, has been named Clerk of the Privy Council and Secretary of the Cabinet. His appointment to the $15,000-a-year post is effective June 1. Excellent Program Exhibits Feature Legion Trade Fair

The Trade and Idustrial Fair, sponsored by the Canadian Legion opened a three-night engagement at the Armouries on Thursday night with a splendid crowd and a fine program on the stage. The armouries is beautifully decorated for the occasion and the members of the Legion have arranged every comfort for their guests. The fair is primarily to assist others and the money obtained will go to worthwhile projects of the Legion, one being the purchase of a television set for the men's section of the Hastings County Home.

A program of outstanding merit has been arranged for each evening of the show, while on Saturday night the drawings will take place for the several prizes donated by the various exhibitors. The merchants and manufacturers have combined with the Legion to offer to the public the latest in all types of home equipment and comfort for them on the road through the automobile. Harmonica Bill Russell virtuoso on the mouth organ, and recently returned from entertaining the United States troops in Korea, gave an outstanding performance of classical and popular music. This young man has been heard on practically every radio network and should be heard personally. He will be the stage attraction again tonight, while on Saturday night, Stanley and the Mysterious Lady will give their performance.

Boys' Choir Excellent

The boys' choir of the Legion under the direction of Wally Bent also assisted in the program and they received a well merited round of applause in their several numbers. The stage is tastefully decorated and although the seating capacity around it is limited, the floor was packed to capacity for the show.

The 23 merchants, who are exhibiting their wares to the public, have gone to great pains to show their products to the best advantage. The armouries is a riot of color with streamers and flags hanging from every corner.

Elliott Motors are displaying a 1952 model Buick sedan, a Pontiac sedan and a G.M.C. truck. Close by is the exhibit of the West End Motors, who are showing a Studebaker eight and six sedan with a Studebaker truck in the light panel style. Nearby is the booth of the Beaver Lumber Company showing tile, roofing, plaster lath and all the other gadgets needed to make the perfect

WINTERS EARNS COMMENDATION

Hon. R. H. Winters, minister of resources and development, announced in the House of Commons that a special parliamentary committee was going to be set up during the current session to conduct an investigation into the National Film Board. Mr. Winters and his cabinet associates deserve to be highly commended for this action. It is all the more praiseworthy in view of the facts that the decision to launch this probe was apparently made by Mr. Winters himself and that the National Film Board is under the control, or is supposed to be under the control, of Mr. Winters's department.

But the credit for instituting this investigation should not go entirely to Mr. Winters. In fact, in announcing that it would be made, he stated that both G. W. Fraser, (P. C., Peterborough West), and C. C. F. Leader M. J. Coldwell had asked for it. Mr. Winters did not mention George White, (P. C., Hastings-Peterborough), but he might have done so. Mr. White, over a long period of time, has been probably the most outspoken critic of the National Film Board.

In its last annual report, that for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1951, the film board showed a total income of $3,051,178. But of this income, $2,307,804 was a direct grant from the public treasury. Of the remainder, $500,000 was from sale of films to government departments and $242,523 from other sources.

The foregoing figures are worthy of a little study. They show, that, of a total income of about $3,000,000, more than two thirds was a direct gift from the government — that is, from the taxpayers of Canada. Of the remaining income, $500,000 was from orders placed by the government itself — in effect, another donation from the taxpayers of Canada. Only $242,523, of considerably less than ten per cent, was genuinely earned from selling prints and renting films in the competitive market.

In late 1949, the Department of National Defence stopped using the film board for the filming of secret subjects. There was then a screening by the film board "of a very few employees about whose trustworthiness the board was unable to feel any definite assurance." Just how successful this screening process was we do not know, nor are we aware whether the Department of National Defence has since seen fit to entrust film board employees with work on confidential subjects connected with national defence.

In its heyday during the war, the National Film Board had 787 employees. Last year, it had a total of 533, but even that number is probably about 533 too many.

The National Film Board has never been backward about asking the government to give it more money to spend, nor about seeking permission to extend, in various directions, the scope of what it calls its "work."

In a brief which it submitted to the Massey Commission on Arts, Letters and Sciences, the National Film Board also asked that it be given more financial assistance, permission to extend its activities, and that it be set up as a crown corporation.

Commercial photographers have complained, many times, that the National Film Board, employing the ample funds placed at its disposal by the government, was using its preferred position to take work away from them by doing such work at less than cost. This is perhaps the most serious indictment that has been filed against the film board and the one which, in our opinion, should be probed most searchingly by the parliamentary committee.

Outside the House of Commons, Mr. Winters told newspaper correspondents that the parliamentary committee which is going to scrutinize the National Film Board will consist of about 25 members and will have the power to call as witnesses not only film board employees but other persons, as it sees fit. It is to be hoped that these 25 parliamentarians conduct their inquiry most thoroughly and that it is given the widest possible publicity.

THE SAME OLD STORY

From New York City comes word that the municipally-operated transportation system is going to have a deficit of about $67,000,000 during the 1952-1953 fiscal year.

Even a fare rise from the present 10 cents to 15 cents would cover only between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 of this deficit. To make the system self-supporting, a 25-cent fare would be required. But those responsible for operating the system are unwilling to impose any fare increases, because they fear such action would cause a drastic decrease in business and consequently in revenues.

Some of the publicly-owned outfits seem to be tarred with the same stick — their income never seems to equal their outgo. The only exceptions are those which have a monopoly and are thus in a position to charge whatever price they like for whatever service they may provide.

GARDEN THOUGHT

The garden would be bleak and bare
Without the ones who give it care.
Look round about where'er you pass
And note the lawns with richest grass
And dwelling there, till light grows dim,
Are those who weed and keep them trim.

That God needs men is plainly shown.
He cannot do the work alone.
The loveliest flowers that He has made
Require the care of rake and spade
And water when the earth is dried,
Which men and women must provide.

It must be God has sent us here
The tangled wilderness to clear;
To turn the soil and plant the seed
And give to them the care they need.
And, it may be that wars will cease
When men have built the road to peace.

The story of St. Paul's conversion to Christianity at the gates of Damascus is well known to every Bible reader. Paul carried with him a commission from the high priest of Jerusalem to arrest and bring to severe punishment all Christians found in Damascus. Amid a miracle light, he heard the voice of Jesus summoning him from the work of persecution to the work of mercy and teaching. The words were "Arise . . . for to this end have I appeared unto thee to appoint thee a minister and a witness both of the things wherein thou has seen me and of the things wherein I will appear unto thee."

Paul started out with a commission from an earthly official to destroy; en route he received the highest commission from nigh heaven to go forth and serve. After that, the persecutor became an apostle. He who had believed he could beat evil — or what he believed was evil — out of men with a club now gave his life to leading men to God, along the glorious highway of love.

We all carry two commissions in our hearts — one from Satan himself to do evil and the other from God—to do good. The glory of Paul was that he was not disobedient to the heavenly vision. He gave up the lower commission to accept the higher.

How will you use your life? To which commission are you responding?

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

EVERY DAY A MIRACLE:

I have troubles, sorrows, disappointments, regrets and misgivings just like everyone else, but the longer I live the more thrilled I am to be alive as I awake in the morning, for every day is a miracle to me.

Also I note miracles all about me as I step out into the fresh air of each day. I never cease to wonder! This morning, when I first looked out from my bedroom window I noted a white crystal world from the night's snowfall. So beautiful, so full of magic. And every inch of that snowfall made up of billions of perfect crystals. Why did Nature go to such infinite pains, for only the elect would ever give it a thought.

All life is made up of designs — every flower, every tree, every cloud, and every sunset. Even the blade of grass is perfect in its own, simple design. Take the human body, what a marvel of construction — every single organ serving every other one, so that if one fails to work perfectly the entire body is affected. There is a unity in nature that few of us ever think about. If there were perfect unity among peoples, the fear of war and tragedy would be of no account to us.

Miracles are forever being celebrated in the bowels of the earth. Thus it is that we have our coal, oil, gold, silver, diamonds, rubies, and an endless number of useful metals and precious stones. More and more, science is translating miracles to us.

And what a miracle is the working of the human mind! Just think of the variety of triumphs that the mind has brought about since man's first day upon this earth. One long series of miracles performed. And what a miracle it is that not a single face, or a single mind is exactly alike. There is similarity and that is all. We are only alike enough to make each other interesting and intriguing. The miracle is that we get along with one another as well as we do!

Each one of us has within us the power to perform miracles — a kind word has often done it. Encouragement to someone when most needed, or merely a smile can turn the trick!

Florida Holiday

By G. A. MORTON
(Managing Editor.)

It was with considerable anticipation we arrived at our destination at Biscayne Key Villas southeast of Miami and where we had stayed last year. The management had sent word of the numerous changes which had been completed, but we were unprepared for the extensive expansion which had been made. Not only had the number of villas been doubled, but there had been added a pitch-and-putt golf course of eight holes set on the ocean front between the two groups of buildings. A number of palm trees had been retained and these along with scarlet-flowered hibiscus bushes planted in just the right places plus the smooth, green, northern grass added tremendously to the beauty of the whole site.

The golf course is a miniature form of the popular sport complete with sand traps and bunkers and is played with two clubs, chiefly a niblick and putter. We had never seen this type of course before but its advantages are many, chief of which are its accessibility, not much time needed to make the round and novices can also get considerable pleasure from the game without too much instruction. Tennis courts are available, too, for those who like more active sports.

Our time was spent chiefly basking in the sun, walking on the excellent sand beach, visiting the stores in the city and some sightseeing. South of the villas about two miles on the beach stands an old lighthouse which has an interesting history. Built in 1826, it was used in those early days as a lookout tower as a guard against Seminole Indians who were not on friendly terms with the settlers who lived on the island rather than the mainland. A small unit of soldiers was also stationed there as protection for the little colony.

Some years after it was built when the lighthouse was in charge of a white keeper and a Negro helper, who in his youth had been a chief in Africa before being seized and brought to America as a slave, a band of Indians slipped over and attacked the lookout tower. They set fire inside the base of the structure with the result the Negro was fatally injured and the white man was near the end of his tether before the soldiers arrived to scatter the Indians. During the First World War the U.S. army or coast guard bricked up the structure over the original stonework, but the native stone can be seen in a couple of places where the brick has fallen out. Last year a cement retaining wall was built on the seaward side to protect the old structure from erosion from the waves. The lighthouse has not been used for many years and so is standing there a relic of the days when life was hard and not without danger.

The weather in some parts of Florida during the time of our visit and earlier was somewhat cool, windy and otherwise disappointing to travellers from the north. We met with some of this on the return trip for at Daytona Beach about two hundred miles north of Miami we went back to the clothing we find comfortable in Canada. However, at Miami and south of the city, it was warm and sunny every day with the temperature in the day running between 70 and 82 degrees. For consistent pleasant living for the northerner who is seeking summer weather during a short trip south, we do not believe any place can surpass Miami and perhaps as far north as Palm Beach. Nor is there a more beautiful city to be seen anywhere on the continent. The views from the causeways leading to Miami Beach and the Rickenbacker causeway to Biscayne Key are something to remember whether seen during the day or night. The pattern of flashing colored lights reflected in the water at night is indescribably beautiful. It is a fairyland come to life and the view was always freshly lovely no matter how often we saw it.

Those seeking diversion at night were provided with a wide selection by the night clubs and luxury hotels of Miami Beach. Plenty of big names in the entertainment world and top bands were widely featured and the only thing needed by the visitor was a well-filled purse and a willingness to forget the cost. These places were enjoying much prosperity during the latter part of February so it was reported in the press. We did not visit the night spots, for to our mind, it was enough just to be in Florida for a holiday and with that we were more than content.

As an example of visitors reaching the warm weather and just wanting to do nothing else than enjoy the simple life we like to think of one well-known Belleville couple who registered at an excellent hotel on north Miami Beach and then for three days did little except sit in the sun and rest. No sight-seeing or trips downtown and then at the end of the three days headed north for the trip home. Of course there was plenty to see around the hotel including fine displays of the latest in fashions by trim looking models. Among other things displayed by the models were the latest in beach wear and swimming suits. The reason given for not doing more sight-seeing was that the husband felt like taking as much time to rest as he could after the long drive, and before starting back. Unquestionably the hotel management know what it was doing in providing so much fine entertainment for the guests. However, we think the husband was pretty smart, too.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The sure sign that a hotel is on the skids is when the water will not run quickly and eagerly out of the basin when you pull the plug. In old hotels, you expect this. You finish washing up and release the plug. The wash water takes its time. At first, it may start away with a reasonable air of intention. But soon it lags. And presently, it begins to linger. For a time, it may even appear doubtful if it is going to go away at all. The last couple of inches are agony. Little by little, it decreases, the scum of soap thickening.

At last, with a ghastly gurgle and sometimes with a startling burp, it finishes. You turn on the hot tap, to rinse it away. It backs up into the basin. You try two or three short splashes from the hot tap. And at last the grisly job is done. You are in an old hotel.

But it is not in old hotels, rather in hotels you had not suspected of being old that this symptom is your first intimation that the hotel is beginning to fail and has started down the tiresome road that hotels take. Your room may be very smart-appearing, the rug obviously recently cleaned of all but the most stubborn stains; there may be modernistic coverlets on the twin beds; bizarre and therefore high-class framed pictures on the wall; the bathroom may glitter in its whiteness, and the towels be thick and the bath mat tufty. Beside the miniature soap, in its two neat packets, may stand the drinking glass shining like crystal.

But the minute you pull the plug, and the water does not gush away, but stands there looking up at you all gray and pitiful, you know you are in the second-best hotel in town.

And that takes you down a bit.

Personal Health Talks

DO TELL

Latest twenty-five cent pamphlet published by the Public Affairs Committee deals with a private affair, to wit, Having a Baby. With a copy of the pamphlet came a statement beginning bravely enough:

"The good old days, when the role of the expectant father was limited to pacing the hospital floor to await the glad tidings, are gone. Only in cartoons . . . does he get off that easy."

But, simmer down folks. The ladies and gentlemen of the Public Affairs Committee, are only kidding. They do mention the husband once on p. 8, but that's all. He can go right back to his pacing so far as the committee may be concerned.

Again on p. 26—cheer up, there are only 30 pages in the pamphlet—the committee mentions Rooming In with great daring, in view of the fact that rooming-in is pretty modern practice for you gullible customers who think having a baby is a public affair and hence you should go to the hospital for it. A husband would look silly pacing the living room floor, wouldn't he?

A husband looks silly pacing any floor when his own baby is being born. If he has a grain of manhood in him he will be with his wife to hold her hand and strengthen her morale and to share with her the most wonderful experience of life—a miracle that makes marriage sacred.

This namby-pamby pamphlet of the Public Affairs Committee with its cute illustrations and smug assumption that of course the event will occur in a hospital would probably have escaped my notice had not the statement that came along with it aroused my curiosity about the information or advice given in the pamphlet.

In the pamphlet the expectant mother is told that the most important thing is to "be yourself and enjoy yourself. Remember that you are doing what comes naturally."

Does it come naturally to the expectant mother to go to a hospital and be sequestered, while her husband submits to confinement in the monkey cage with the rest of the so-and-so's?

Here I'd like to repeat an assertion I have made many times —and I invite any one who can controvert it to do so: Home is the safest place to have a baby—always provided you have a home fit to live in.

Similar Statements Made by Ministers

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

Uh! Uh! On your editorial page, Friday, March 14th., an editorial "He should be curbed", you take the Honorable Lester Pearson to task for something he unfortunately said in New York City not long ago. And we agree with you that a bit of censure here is desired; but, the second last paragraph of this editorial you also take Mr. Pearson to task because, the editorial says, he announced to the world how many hundreds of millions was going to be spent on building air-fields and maintaining troups in Europe, etcetera. Sorry, Mr. Editorial Writer, but it wasn't Mr. Pearson said this at all; it was the Honorable Mr. Claxton.

Anyway we all need censure to keep us on our toes, but we wish you would get after the Honorable James Gardiner, minister of political schemes, and the Honorable Thomas Kennedy, minister of margarine. Send one back to Lembourg, Saskatchewan; and the other back to his farm in Peel County, Ontario.

Finally, your editorials are good, well worth reading; that is how we happen to notice this one about which we herewith write.

Mack. Robertson.

Editor's note: The Ontario Intelligencer published a Canadian Press dispatch on February 1, on its front page, bearing the heading "Pearson Says Canada To Spend $2,000,000,000." The "deck" or subhead under it said "Many Millions of Dollars Will Be Given Europe."

This news story was used, along with another, as the basis of certain editorial criticism of Mr. Pearson which was made on March 14. The writer of the editorial erred in stating that Mr. Pearson made his remarks about spending and giving away millions while he was in Europe. The speech made by Mr. Pearson was made in Ottawa, just before his departure to attend a N. A. T. O. meeting in Europe.

Instead of saying "Mr. Pearson said such and such while in Europe," the editorial should have said "Mr. Pearson said such and such before going to Europe."

Mr. Robertson is correct when he states Defence Minister Claxton made an announcement which was much similar to his cabinet colleague.

More Consumers No Livestock Increase

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

I noted in your recent editorial (U. S. Sends Canada Beef) that "great excitement was caused in the packing and meat industry of Ontario" in January "by the arrival in Toronto of five carloads of live steers from the United States" for the first time in the past quarter-century.

While the concluding words seem to this reader to largely explain the "excitement", one of my rural neighbors drew my attention to the following paragraph in the above editorial which, he termed, 'the heart of the picture.' "Mr. Jeffers" (a Toronto financial editor) "believes there is no shortage of beef cattle in Canada. He estimates there were 9,330,000 cattle in Canada as of the end of 1951, as compared with 8,922,000 a year earlier."

Of course, to be fair to all concerned, it has to be remembered that the above references preceded recognition of the hoof-and-mouth outbreak in the Regina area, more than a month later, plus the banning of export beef to the United States, plus the various provincial embargoes on normal meat traffic here in the Dominion.

In the circumstances, therefore the expressed belief that "there is no shortage of beef cattle in Canada", obviously, would be revised if brought up to date. It is today, rather, the pressure of abundance in the home markets which is the real menace — a problem which calls for real leadership, steadiness and cool heads all along the livestock front, from the primary producers through all levels of the industry and (above all) the understanding and cooperation of the rank-and-file of the people.

Spotlighting the fact that the U. S. market absorbed one million head, either as live cattle or dressed beef, across the past 24 months is to be commended, for it makes clear to the man-in-the-street, the dangerous possibilities in this national disaster.

The comparison of cattle numbers in Canada as between 1950 and 1951, however, does not seem to me to be a realistic measurement, though the figures are accurate. I suggest it is important to remember that while the cattle totals for 1942 and 1950, as at June 1, are almost identical — i.e., 8,945,000 and 8,992,000 respectively — in the latter year there were 2,200,000 more Canadians than in the former.

Close to 20,000 Cows Serviced During Past Year by Breeding Unit Association Members Told

One of the fastest growing artificial insemination units in the province, the Quinte District Cattle Breeding Association here serviced close to 20,000 cows during 1951.

This was announced by Dr. J. M. McLean, chief technician of the unit, as he outlined the past year's activities at the annual meeting of the Association members held in Belleville, Thursday. He expected nearly 26,000 cows would be serviced next year.

One of seven artificial breeding units now operating in the province, the local association was established in June 1948 and at the end of last year had 1841 members. During last year 564 members were added and service was extended to include Shorthorns, Ayrshires, Jerseys, and Guernseys.

16 Bulls in Unit

The unit maintains 16 Holstein bulls several of which won high honors at the Royal Winter Fair last fall; and four Shorthorns. Semen is shipped in for the other three breeds listed as there are not sufficient cows to warrant bulls of this type.

During 1951, 19,611 cows were serviced—an increase of 7,090 services over 1950 operations. Dr. McLean said the average conception results based on a 60-90 day non return was 72 per cent.

Financially the unit is in good shape with assets of $68,003.60, while the profit for the 12-month period ending December 31st., was $15,060.80.

Clifford Morrow of the Ontario Department of Agriculture referred to the growth in artificial insemination noting that 156,000 cows had been bred last year. This was a 30 per cent increase over the previous year. One new unit Oxford and District had been established, bringing to seven the number of units.

Helps Milk Production

Mr. Morrow stressed that artificial breeding units with their superior sires would do much to increase milk production in future years. Dairy Herd Improvement Associations records showed that in areas where milk production per cow was low, cattle had been bred from parent stock with low production.

Professor V. C. Rice, professor of animal husbandry at Massachusetts University and well known authority on livestock improvement work, was the speaker. Dairymen from considerably outside the district served by the Belleville association were on hand to hear him speak on how livestock could be improved through breeding.

He said there were four aspects to herd improvement by breeding and noted the most important of these was the physiology of reproduction. However there had been much costly mis-knowledge in this field.

Given Use of Top Bulls

He described artificial breeding as merely an attempt to give farmers the use of top grade bulls. This could not be done naturally because there were not enough top grade bulls.

"It is just as simple as that," he said.

Ability to transmit high milk production was one of the qualities sought for in good bulls. There were few bulls with this ability and thus artificial insemination was necessary.

The speaker went on to describe how inheritance entered into the breeding picture and through blackboard diagrams showed how good characteristics in cattle are passed along to another generation.

Passes Along One Half

He stressed inheritance was a "halving" process with a bull able to pass along but one half of his characteristics. He could pass along only sample halves of what his parents had given him.

The only way in which a bull or a heifer could be judged accurately was through thorough investigation of their pedigrees and the only two tools which the breeder had in improving his livestock through breeding was system of breeding and selection.

Pedigrees were limited to three to five generations as inheritance six or more generations away meant nothing.

Contrary to a general opinion inbreeding of animals (that is breeding related animals) is not detrimental and in fact could be used to pass along high milk production and other characteristics to future generations.

Inbreeding Not Harmful

Professor Rice exploded the theory of some farmers that artificial breeding could be dangerous owing to the chance a heifer might eventually be bred by her own son. With the right type bull used at artificial breeding units this would be all to the good, he said.

The reason inbreeding was not harmful in cattle was that only the best of the species are kept for reproduction.

He showed how inbreeding could be used to increase the inheritance of a breed. A bull mated with his own mother would produce 75 per cent of the mother's inheritance, as against only 50 percent if outbreeding was used.

Selection of the proper bull could make or break any breed or any herd, it was stated. All a farmer or breed association had to do was to find a farm, where three good proven bulls in a row had been used. "If you can find such a farm you can make no mistake," he said. "But you may have a hard time finding the farm."

Stream Will Get Better

He likened inbreeding to a stream in which good genes were continually being poured. "Obviously the stream will get better," the professor pointed out.

The speaker pointed out there was only one intelligent way to raise heifers. To do this intelligently he must think in terms of groups of animals rather than in terms of individuality.

A cow may be good with a milk production record of many pounds above the herd average. But if she was from a poor herd the risk of choosing her for foundation stock was great.

"I would rather have an average cow from a good herd," stressed Professor Rice.

Keeping of accurate records of herd families was the only way to make sure a good heifer is being chosen. Records of a heifer's close relations were more important than individual records.

Element of Chance

Even then there was an element of chance in choosing a high producer. Thirty per cent of milk production ability results from genetics while 70 per cent was environment with the person doing the milking and feed having much to do with production.

Fred Hubbs, of Bloomfield, and past president of the association, spoke briefly as chairman of the bull buying committee. He said that two bulls had been bought during the past year, noting that much care had gone into their purchase.

President of the association, E. L. Anderson of Campbellford, presided.

There are now twelve insemination units in the Quinte Breeders' Association. These are from Kingston on the east to Bowmanville on the west, and north to Tweed and Campbellford.

PRIVATE MOTION

Requires More Financing

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said the nub of the problem was that education required more and more financing and the municipalities and the provinces could not carry the burden.

In the opening stages, Prime Minister St. Laurent served notice that he will propose that parliament recess from Wednesday, April 9, to Monday, April 21, for Easter.

Revenue Minister McCann announced the federal government will appeal a British Columbia court ruling that income-tax returns may be used as evidence. The Revenue department regards the returns as confidential.

Mr. Garson suggested the grants the federal government now makes to universities should not be taken as an admission that it should contribute to primary education. Universities were non-political while primary schools were under the direct control of the province.

If it made large grants for primary education, the federal treasury "simply could not defend handing out these large sums of money to the legislatures without assuming some responsibility as to the manner in which they would be spent."

He suggested the provinces already have enough money to expand educational expenditures if they wished.

Mr. Drew argued that the federal government could accept the motion "without in any way infringing" upon provincial jurisdiction. The future of the country was "dangerously" threatened by the possibility the provinces might not be able to advance their educational facilities.

Wants Grants Unconditional

George Hees (PC-Toronto Broadview) suggested any federal grants which should be unconditional, should be used by the provinces to raise the salaries of teachers. In that way, the grants would not interfere with policy making and would serve to equalize opportunities across the country.

Joseph Noseworthy (CCF - York South, warning that a "crisis" is developing in the availability of teachers, said it is the heritage of every child "to get the best education that Canada—not any particular province — can provide." The burden should no longer be left to municipalities and provinces.

Clare Gillis (CCF-Cape Breton South) felt the provinces that needed help should be able to get it. If Ontario and Quebec and the wealthier provinces did not want assistance, they did not have to take it. Federal grants would not mean an invasion of provincial rights.

Gordon Churchill (PC-Winnipeg South Centre) said the government was to blame for educational difficulties because its rising tax structure had reduced the sources of revenue available to the provinces.

Shortage of Teachers

"We are confronted with the imminent danger that education is going to go back rather than ahead because of a shortage of teachers, and because of an increasing difficulty encountered by municipal and educational authorities in providing the money to meet heavy educational costs."

Wilfred Lacroix (L—Quebec-Montmorency) charged that Premier Duplessis of Quebec had "committed a dirty trick" when he accepted federal university grants. He had gone against his own statement that Quebec would accept a federal grant. Quebecers did not want federal grants for education.

Andre Gauthier (L—Lac St. Jean) expressed his determination to oppose any attempt by the federal government to interfere with provincial rights in that field. He doubted that Quebec would ever ask for aid for primary education.

Leonard Tremblay (L—Dorchester) said there would be no federal aid unless the provinces agreed to it.

Walter Dinsdale (PC—Brandon) former assistant professor of Social Science at Brandon College, blamed the church and the home for the crisis in education. They were not doing the job they should.

J. H. Harrison (L—Meadow Lake) suggested the federal government would become nothing more than a "collection agency" if it collected taxes and passed the money on to the provinces.

John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre) said the resolution did not call for federal interference with education. It merely paraphrased an old saying: "federal assistance ever, federal supervision never."

Order Eastern Star Sponsors Charming Afternoon Spring Tea

Wednesday afternoon eager voices filled the spaciousness of the Masonic Temple on Foster Avenue as the Order of the Eastern Star, Chapter 55 met for their spring tea and sale of home-cooking. Everywhere the eye turned the spring motif with its pastel tints of green, yellow and mauve could be noted even to the tall screen at the back of room with its delicately tinted trailing morning glories.

Receiving the many guests at the door were the Worthy Matron, Mrs. Muriel Smith and Mrs. Percy Kerr, wife of the Worthy Patron. The five treasurers were Mrs. Margaret Shaw, Mrs. Mae Black, Mrs. Maude Elliott, Mrs. Flossie Laycock and Mrs. Lulu Adams.

Lovely Tea Table

The tea table was tastefully appointed with a white linen, scalloped cloth with exquisitely hand-embroidered grape clusters, centred with a crystal bowl filled with yellow daffodils, rosy-tinted tulips, mauve-blue iris and tall tapers in harmonizing shades of ivory and green in crystal candelabra.

Round about at pleasing intervals, were the little guest tables, each with its snow-white cloth centred by a tiny pot of miniature spring flowers augmenting the floral shades of the large centrepiece.

Those presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Leah Pitts and Mrs. Hilda Matthews, Mrs. Essie Naylor and Mrs. Dorothy McGlashon, Mrs. Mary Jane Barlow and Mrs. Lillie Law. Those who so graciously invited to the tea room included Mrs. Beatrice Embury, Mrs. Mary McLean and Mrs. Signe Orne.

Tempting Cakes

The trays with their tempting little cakes and dainty, one-bite sandwishes were arranged by Mrs. Bessie Patterson, Mrs. Dorcas Cowles, Mrs. Pearl Johnson, Mrs. Dorothy Sager, Mrs. Edna McLean and Mrs. Isobel Boulton, while those who replinished the often emptied plates were, Mesdames Phyllis Barlow, Irene Brown, Susie Pigden, Dora Elvidge and Marguerite Oliphant.

Those who served were Mesdames Shirley Bush, Marjorie Holton, Marlene Vaughan, Beverley Buck, Ann Davidson, Ina Adams, Rachel Lundy, Dorothy Clarke, Oress Adams, Margaret McMillan, Jean Clapp, Edna Maybee, Gloss White, Bessie Clarke and Miss Hazel Smtih. The convener of the tea room was Miss Isabel Orne with Mrs. Edna Morden an co-convener.

Eye-Appealing Sweetmeats

The candy booth with its eye-appealing, delicious sweetmeats of divinity fudge, maple creams and chocolate fudge as well as other varieties, all attractively boxed and in pretty containers bearing the spring motif in pastel yellow and green over white, kept the assistants, Mesdames Nora MacDonald, Ann Fisher, Olive Whitehead, Luella Tompkins, Sara Morgan, Betty Lough, Erma Reid, Jean Spencer, Rowena Carson and Violet Harkens with their convener, Ada Thompson and co-convener, Glenna Black, actively engaged.

Those in charge of the candy draw tickets were Mrs. Margaret Helson and Miss Jean Stephenson, while Mrs. Bernice Day and Mrs. Evelyn Warham convened the draw on the plump chicken.

As usual the homecooking table, with its abundance of cookies, pies, tarts, date loaves, relishes, pickles and jams and jellies, chocolate cakes with mounds of mouth-watering icing, cocoanut layers like dreams come true, and tiny cup cakes, was the "mecca" of the day. This was convened by Mrs. Gladys Grey and assisted by Mrs. Hilda Dewberry as co-convener, while their helpers Mesdames Edna Wonnacott, Bernice Grills, Pearl Westover, Jenny Lummiss, Marion Bolton, Tena Buck, Bessie Bush, Edna Bailey, Edna Murphy, Helen Drury and Emily Stevens had no idle moments.

The Magnet

The White elephant table, as a magnet draws the filings, drew its seekers in adventurous buying. There is something almost inexplicable about the White Elephant table, one vows not to be taken in again, but the very next time, there one is, eagerly scanning the heterogeneous conglomeration of "I-don't-want - and - hope - you-do's" for some prize whose glamor has mysteriously faded upon reaching home. Here were records, stockings, costume jewellery, beads to delight the heart of an Indian maid, recipes for cakes and what-not, crocheted doilies, glass vases, pin cushions, hot mats and pot-holders.

Looking after this assortment were Mesdames Annie Letman, Irma Clancy, Florence Moon, Dorcas Westover, Ruth Denike, Violet Bishop, Belle Wells, Anne Stairs, Effie Christie, Doris Thompson, Ethel Duffin and Isabel Heasman, and their conveners, Doris Stewart and Ada McMullen.

During the luncheon period, soft piano music was rendered by Mrs. Ciela Elliott.

The winners of the various draws were Mrs. H. H. Boyle, 165 Dundas St., of the chicken; of the beautifully packaged box of candies bearing the five pointed star, emblem of the chapter, Mrs Ann Davidson of Massassaga; of the lovely floral centrepiece, Mrs. Hilda Matthews, Stanley St.

Appreciative thanks are tendered Mrs. Harold J. Armstrong for a delicious cup of tea; to Mrs. Violet Slavin, convener, and Mrs. Audrey Elliott, co-convener and to all who assisted in providing a delightful afternoon tea so pleasingly arranged.

Dr. A. M. Breuls M.O.H. Gives Address On Dental Hygiene

On Wednesday the Women's Hospital Auxiliary entertained the models in the recent Spring Fashion Show at a luncheon at the Queen's Hotel in token of appreciation of their splendid contribution toward the success of this annual event. Appreciation was also extended to all those who helped in various ways.

Following the luncheon, the regular monthly meeting was held in the lounge of the hotel. Plans were laid for a tea to be held at the home of Mrs. George Stobie late in the spring, the date to be settled at her convenience. At this event a beautiful piece of costume jewelry will be drawn for which has been donated to the auxiliary by McFee's Jewlry Store. Mrs. B. Burley is convener of this draw.

Mrs. W. Finkle, supervisor of the Opportunity Shop, exhibited some lovely children's clothing which has been donated to the shop and drew to the attention of all how they could help their pocket books as well as the hospital by donating to and buying from the shop.

Speaker

Dr. A. M. Breuls M.O.H. was the speaker for the afternoon. He spoke on communicable diseases, their previous control by quarantine and isolation which has given way to the modern method of prevention by toxoid thereby causing the incidence of communicable diseases to fall off to such an extent that isolation hospitals are being closed. There are three important dates in the history of prevention of disease; 1796 when Zimmer discovered immunization for smallpox, 1810 when methods of canning and preserving foods were developed and 1926 when diphtheria toxoid was developed.

Dental Hygiene

Dr. Breuls went on to discuss dental hygiene in relation to health stating that dental troubles are a greater cause of disability than the common cold. By educating parents to educate their children on the proper method of frequent teeth brushing, proper diet and visits to the dentist, the incidence of dental carjes can be reduced by 70 per cent.

Across the continent, children of five years of age have an average of eight cavities. Another method of prevention is by fluorinating the water which will also reduce the incidence of cavities by 70 per cent. The disadvantage of fluorination of all city water is the waste element since so much more water is used industrially than for drinking purposes.

Club Activities

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH CLUB

Ivanhoe.—St. Andrew's Church Club, West Huntingdon, held their regular monthly meeting last Friday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McInroy.

The meeting, conducted by the president, Mrs. Milton Shaw, opened with a call to worship. The Scripture was read and explained by John McInroy.

Plans were made for Club members to go to Madoc, on March 20, to bowl.

A solo "I'll be a Sunbeam", was given by Beverly McInroy; reading, "St. Patrick's Birthday", Lindsay Sills; solo, "When Irish Eyes are Smiling", Harold Thompson; reading, "Why We Celebrate St. Patrick's Day", Irvin Badgley.

Two musical numbers were given by Milton and Wayne Shaw.

Miss Margaret Haggerty, bride-elect, was asked to take the chair of honor and an address was read by Mrs. Harold Thompson, Mrs. David Fargey made the presentation of a lovely cup and saucer with the club's best wishes.

After Margie had graciously replied all joined in singing "For She is a Jolly Good Fellow".

Mrs. David Fargey, on behalf of the club, thanked Mr. and Mrs. McInroy for opening their home.

A St. Patrick's contest was enjoyed by all and refreshments were served by the hostess and co-hostesses.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Boys like the girl who's attractive to all

Dear Miss Fairfax:

For several months I have been very good friends with a boy a year older than myself. I am 15.

My friends have told me that he has a girl friend, although he has mentioned her only once to me. I have tried to remain just friends with this boy, but I like him so much that it's becoming almost impossible for me not to let him know it.

What I want to know is, would it be wrong for me to try and make him forget his girl friend and take me out? I am almost sure I can make him do this because I know he likes me a great deal.

My mother thinks problems like this are silly and will not give me any advice. My friends say all is fair in love and war.—El.

Dear El:

I'm sorry your mother thinks the problems teen-agers have are silly. Perhaps she forgets how difficult she found them when she was a girl in her teens.

If you have no actual information to the effect that this boy already has a very special girl friend, then it seems to me if you want to try and get him more interested in you, you have a perfect right to do so. If you should find out, though, that he really is going "steady" with another girl, it wouldn't be very decent to try and split them up. Even though your friends say all is fair in love and war, the girl who goes through life on that basis will never be very well liked or trusted. And you want to be both, don't you?

I do think, however, that it would be even better if you did not set your heart on getting this boy for a "steady". but instead make a point of going about with all the boy friends you can. For one thing, it's a much smarter way to attract a boy, as when he sees a girl who is popular enough to have many friends, he knows she must be fun to be with and so he wants to share good times with her. For another thing, to go out with lots of boys gives a girl an opportunity to learn how to choose her friends wisely and to be a good judge of personality and character. This will be extremely helpful to her as she grows older and the time comes closer for her to think seriously about the kind of person she would like for a husband.

You'd be wise to stop going steady altogether

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 18, and have been going steady with a boy also 18. Not long ago, I met another boy with whom I think I am in love, but he is also going steady. We have seen each other in secrecy a few times so that neither of our steadies knows about it.

Both of us are very easily attracted to the opposite sex. In other words, we are fickle. He is away at school now, and his steady also goes to the same school. He has never told me he loves me, but he has implied as much. Do you think I'd be wise to forget about him or stop going steady?
—E. S. E.

Dear E.S.E.:

You are a perfect example of what I mean when I say, as I often do, that this business of "going steady" couldn't be more foolish. Until young people are mature enough to have some sound ideas about the sort of person they would like to marry, they should go out with lots of other girls and boys so that when the time comes, they will be able to make a choice based on good judgment.

You, quite obviously, are not that mature. If you were, you would have finished with the fickleness of adolescence, and you would have far too well developed a sense of decency and fair play to go sneaking off with somebody else behind your "steady's" back. That goes for your friend, too.

All of which adds up to the fact that my advice to you both is to think no more about going steady with anyone until you have grown up a little.

Fashion Flashes

ALMOST EVERYTHING seems to have a touch of straw trimming this season, especially things designed for resort wear. For instance, a short white linen evening frock, with flared skirt and camisole strap top, is appliqued all over in a scroll motif done in bright yellow raffia braid.

THERE'S SOMETHING for every taste and type in the new suit line-up. A beauty is done in silver-grey worsted with a fine pink stripe. The jacket has wide revers with welt seamed edges, is nipped in at the waist, has an arched hipline, and is lined in pink taffeta. Slim skirt has trouser pleats for ease of moton.

ENTERPRISE and ingenuity marks the new costume jewelry collections. Beautiful things have been done with sea shells dyed in rich and lustrous colors and worked in ropes, many with matching pieces. Some have glitter touches, but all are lovely.

CLAP HANDS for the lovely, inexpensive cottons prepared for casual use later on. Typical of the fine styling is a white cotton sheer with a hairline black stripe. The striped fabric is used in a tapering V on the bodice to accent the small-waist look, which is emphasized by a black patent plastic belt. Neckline is ruffled, as are the elasticized puff sleeves.

ANY BRIGHT DAY sees a sprinkling of pretty little sailor hats. Typical of this type is a straight-on little sailor in rich belting—white and grey striped. It is softened by a little brim pleat in front, and the veil ties at back in a big, ruffled pouf for another softening touch.

IT TAKES the right figure, slim and straight, to look well in a sheath-type dress, and on the right figure such a dress is just marvelous. A white silk sheath completely covered with silver bugle beads and rhinestones stopped the show at a recent fashion parade. With it a flared coat in bright green taffeta with push-up sleeves.

Food for Thought

QUESTION:

The women's association of our church has planned to put on an "Irish" supper and concert in March. Our main dish will be Irish Stew (beef for meat). Could you please help us out with a recipe for a large amount. I enjoy your recipes very much and thank-you in advance.—Mary McM.

ANSWER:

You did not mention the number of people you are planning to serve so I will give you a quantity that will serve 70 people.

As you doubtless know normally Irish Stew is made from lamb or young mutton.

BEEF IRISH STEW

(Quantity recipe for 70 people.)

Seventeen lbs. lean neck or shank or shoulder beef (or young neck mutton), 1 lb. fat, 3 1-2 quarts water, 4 1-2 lbs. each carrots (cut in 2-inch lengths), quartered potatoes, 3 lbs. whole small onions, 1 3-4 cups flour. 1 1-2 pints water, 2 51-ounce tins condensed beef noodle soup (undiluted), 1 lb. cut-up green beans.

Carefully brown in the fat the cut up and floured meat, onions, carrots and beans, stirring constantly until they are just golden brown. Do not include the potatoes. If desired you may use turnips too or reduce the amount of carrots and use turnips to replace them. Add the 3 1-2 quarts water, cover, simmer 2 3-4 hours. Now add potatoes and cook 15 minutes, then add the condensed soup. Stir the flour and water to a paste without lumps and thicken the stew with this. Taste the stew for salt and pepper and add if it needs them. To stretch this stew further a delicious addition would be dumplings—Irish stew usually contains dumplings. Dumplings require a confident cook.

QUESTION:

Please print in your very wonderful page recipes for sour cream—cake and biscuit recipes preferred.—K. I. C.

ANSWER:

PRIZE CHOCOLATE NUT CAKE

(This is a beauty and since it came to my attention this week I thought it just fitted your letter.)

One-half cup shortening, 3 cups brown sugar, 2 large eggs, 3 tablespoons cocoa, 2-3 cup water, 2 1-4 cups sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon each soda and salt, 2-3 cup heavy sour cream, 1 1-2 teaspoons vanilla, 2-3 cup finely chopped nuts (preferably walnuts or pecans).

Cream shortening until very light then cream in the sugar, and beat in the eggs. Beat very well. Make a paste of the cocoa and water and stir in. Sift together the sifted flour and the soda and salt, then stir these in alternately with the sour cream and vanilla. Stir in nuts. Pour into pans which have been greased with a mixture of 1 teaspoon butter and 1-2 teaspoon cocoa. (Keeps outside of cakes brown.) Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. about 30 minutes for layers or 45 minutes for 1 square or oblong pan.

SOUR CREAM COOKIES

One-half cup best quality shortening, 1 cup sugar, 1 beaten egg, 2 cups unsifted but stirred flour, 1-2 teaspoon each baking soda, nutmeg, cinnamon, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup sour cream, 1-2 cup raisins or mixed nuts and raisins chopped. Cream the shortening and sugar well and beat in egg until light. Sift together the flour, soda, and spices and salt and add alternately with cream to creamed mixture. Stir in raisins and nuts if used. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased cookie sheet. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 10 or 12 minutes.

ANCIENT DRILLERS

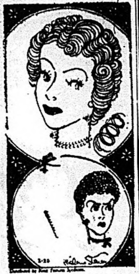
The art of well-drilling was practised in ancient China where brine wells were dug down 3,500 feet in 221 B.C.

BEAUTY

HELEN JAMIESON

Preserving the permanent wave.

When the customer at the beauty shop has an appointment to be transformed into a curly-girl—and that's what most of us are these days—she may be confused as to what method is best for her precious tresses. The solution to that problem is to patronize a first class establishment and take the advice of the operator. All methods are good these days—machine, machineless and cold wave. If the hair is thin and soft, not inclined to take on the coil quality that is necessary for undulations and ringlets, the old-time machine method may be best. If the scalp shows signs of irritation, is not in a healthy condition, the cold wave should not be used. Ordinarily it is safe.



Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

If the strands are large, there will be a loose wave.

Many women prefer the cold wave because there is practically no discomfort as there may be when the machine method is used. Also, the cold wave forms a curl that is nearer to the scalp, which means that one can go through the ritual less often.

The success of the treatment depends upon the skill and conscientious work of the operator. If the strands are large, there will be a loose wave. If small strands are wound, the result may be a frizz. There is a way of overcoming that condition. When the hair is still wet from the shampoo, groom it with a stiff brush, the bristles of which have been touched with brilliantine. The combination of water and oil will cause the kinky shafts to relax.

Brushing will never weaken a strong wave, and the hair should be brushed daily if it is to have lustre. The tugging of the bristles at the roots of the shafts stimulates the tiny blood streams in the papillae from which the shafts emerge and from which they get food, drink and lodgings. Do not under-estimate the splendid benefits of these treatments.

If the hair didn't grow—and it does to the extent of six inches a year—permanents would live up to their name. When the growth is extremely short, it is usually necessary to have three or even four treatments a year. With weekly shampoos and wave sets, the overhead can be pretty steep. But a smart and becoming hairdo is essential if a woman is to live on good terms with the reflection in the looking glass.

It is an excellent idea to do a little reconditioning before each permanent, so the shafts will be relaxed. At bedtime, start with a brisk brushing. Part the hair at various places and trickle hot mineral oil along the partings, using a medicine dropper for the purpose. Massage the scalp for five minutes. Next morning a thorough, rousing shampoo.

STONE CHURCH MISSION B.

4th Sidney.—The Stone Church Mission Band was held at Maple View School on Friday afternoon. The president, Ivan Phillips, opened the meeting with the call to worship, "Christ The Lord is risen today."

Ann Gray read the Scripture from John 15:12; Proverbs 27-9; and Proverbs 17-7.

Sandra Read read "For the Beauty of the Earth", with the members responding with the last two lines.

Diane Hartt and Keith Rushnell collected the offering.

The secretary, Jack Vermilyea, read the minutes of the last meeting. It was decided that the next meeting be held April 4.

Jeannette Twiddy read "Emergency near Gypsonville".

Grades 2 and 3 sang "God Sees the Little Sparrow Fall".

Mrs. F. Tucker, Mission Band superintendent, read a chapter from the study book entitled "The Twins Make Friends".

After the benediction, Donald Reid distributed the "World Friends".

BURR'S MISSION BAND

The March meeting of the Mission Band was held at the school on Wednesday afternoon with 17 responding to the roll call with the books of the Old Testament.

The opening period included music by the Misses Donna Parks and Elsie Soble; a brief talk on stars, commonly known as the "Big Dipper and Little Dipper", was given. The twin stars, Castor and Pollux to be looked up between now and the April meeting.

Lois Squire gave an interesting reading on the life of St. Patrick. Next month the life of St. George will be studied.

The worship period opened in the usual manner. Ellen Anderson read the Scripture; a prayer was given for the missionary. Mrs. McFaul read a chapter from the study book.

Business included the secretary and treasurer's reports; thank-you notes from Miss M. Claizie and Mr. L. Burr were read. Five dollars were forwarded to the M. and M. treasurer and $5 contributed to the Red Cross. Members gave reports on their Easter card canvassing. It was decided that members assist with the Easter choir. Offering amounted to $1.36. The card commission was received.

The regular meeting of the Alpha Lambda Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Phillips on Monday with 15 present.

The following letter was received from Mr. Walter W. Ross, founder of Beta Sigma Phi:-

Purple Ribbon

"The executive council of Beta Sigma Phi mourns with you in the loss of your beloved King.

It is suggested that Beta Sigma Phis everywhere wear a small purple ribbon, one and one-half inches in length under their badges for the period of the Court mourning. The executive council wishes to send to every member of your chapter assurance of its understanding of our mutual loss."

The purple ribbon was distributed to each member.

The Founder's Day dinner to be held in April, was discussed, and letters read from Peterborough and Kingston chapters accepting the invitations of the Alpha Lambda Chapter to attend the dinner. Tentative plans were made for a dance to be held at Club Cedars in May.

Preparing a Talk

Mrs. Robert Boyce spoke on "Preparing a Talk," stressing that the speaker should know more about her subject than anyone in the audience and outlined the fundamentals of preparing a talk—stating that every speech should contain beginning, body and conclusion.

Miss Betty Monteith outlined the objects of chapters of Beta Sigma Phi which were both interesting and informative to the members.

Refreshments were served by co-hostesses, Mrs. Charles Phillips and Miss Jean Timmerman.

Nails Need More Than Polish

There's more to nail care than applying polish. Cream should be worked into the nails nightly to preserve their texture.

By HELEN FOLLETT

NOW and then cosmetic chemists have offered the good-looks clientele different colors for nail polish—greens, blues and what have you. The lady customers have turned them down, curled up their noses, stuck to the red shades.

Since the nails have a shell-pink surface, red of course is the basic color. First it was vivid, then it got toned down, now we have deep crimsons and wine shades that match the lipstick one is using.

New Shades

But look! There are new muted shades that may interest you. Rose polishes are made smoky with a bit of brown; very nice when you wear that brown tailored suit. They are turning out heather tints by combining red and blue. What could be nicer for the blue frock? There is a violet and there is mauve, to be worn, of course, with dresses that harmonize in color. The idea is to complete the color scheme of the ensemble.

It is well to keep in mind that nail care does not consist alone in the dressing. They must be creamed frequently if the delicate texture is to be preserved. Those who do heavy work about the house may so neglect their claws that they become heavy or ridged. And it is important to keep the surrounding cuticle soft, which can be done only by creaming and light friction.

Orangewood Stick

Every girl should know that a steel instrument should never be passed under the nail eave; the orangewood stick does a better job. A metal cleaner will cause cuts on the inner surface of the nail that will pick up dust.

Once a day, when washing the hands, pass a nail white pencil under the eaves. It works like magic. Be fussy about the soap you use, not only for washing your hands but for washing dishes. The strong ones will rob the flesh of every bit of oil that nature produces to keep the skin from getting rough.

Don't bite off hangnails! Even women who should know better do that little thing. The curved needlepoint scissors will do a better job on these ragged edges.

Women's Activities

RIVER VALLEY W.M.A.

The River Valley Women's Missionary Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. George Heasman with a good attendance. The president, Mrs. Holland presided.

The correspondence was dealt with. There were ten calls reported and the Baby Band secretary reported an enrolment of 12 members.

The business portion of the meeting consisted of preparations for the 20th anniversary meeting to be held at the school house on April 16th in the afternoon.

It has been decided that each member provide articles for a baby's layette to send in the missionary bale. Mrs. Bob Philip and Mrs. Roy Irven took charge of the program.

The scripture lesson read by Mrs. John Kane and Mrs. Roy Bush took charge of the chapter in the study book, "Our Fellow Canadians From the Orient." She was capably assisted by Miss Ruth Dunham, Mrs. Phily and Mrs. Roy Irven.

A solo "More Love to Thee," was sung by Miss Catherine Heasman. Miss Flossie Rosebush read a poem, and a reading, "We Have Church in a School House" was given by Mrs. Ross Bush.

Mrs. Ernest Carr closed the meeting.

Mrs. Holland voiced appreciation to all who took part. Refreshments were served and a social half hour was enjoyed.

WOOLER W.I.

Wooler — On Wednesday evening the March meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the Town Hall with a large attendance. Mrs. W. H. Morrow presided and opened the meeting.

A brief business session was held when Mr. J. A. Ruttan was appointed caretaker of the park. The short course in "Something to Wear" was announced and the following members appointed as a nominating committee: Mrs. R. Read, Mrs. S. L. Terrill and Mrs. E. McMaster. The report from the committee regarding the shelves for the Town Hall was given by Mrs. Read who stated the shelves had been built. It was decided to pay the bills for the shelves.

Program

The girls of the "Snip-Rip Club" presented the program as follows: reading, Mary Dorland; piano solo, Colleen Nickle; reading, Alida McColl; vocal solo, Aldythe Arthur; vocal duet, Leila and Donna McColl. The girls displayed the dresses they had made with Mrs. Ervon Scott, one of the leaders, being commentator. The hats worn by the girls were loaned by Mrs. Alma Dawson of Trenton.

The girls of the club were. Ruth McColl, Joan Plumpton, Joyce Brown, Colleen Nickle, Alida McColl, Mary Dorland, Winnifred Parry, Ruth Fox, Donna McColl, June Putnam, Leila McColl, Doreen Dorland and Aldythe Arthur.

Fashion Show

A fashion show was also held when Mrs. Henry McColl, Mrs. H. Ewing, Mrs. Mac Anderson, Mrs. Russell Wilkins and Mrs. Edith Anderson modelled suits, coats and dresses loaned by Mrs. Steve Hannah of the Style Shop, Frankford, and hats supplied by Mrs. Alma Dawson, Trenton. Mrs. Jordan of Trenton demonstrated the Beauty Counsellor Cosmetics.

These three ladies were presented with a small gift each, in appreciation of their part in the evening's program. Soft music was played all through the evening by Mrs. A. G. Austin.

Refreshments served by Mrs. N. Haggerty, Mrs. Ervon Scott, Mrs. C. D. Cole, Mrs. P. Conley, Mrs. P. Gooding and Mrs. J. J. Way brought this interesting evening to a close.

CAMPBELLFORD

Rex Frost Gives Interesting Address at Ionic Chapter

Campbellford. — On Monday evening, the Ionic Chapter celebrated the 43rd anniversary of their charter night with a banquet and address by Rex Frost, well-known farm broadcaster and student of international affairs.

He spoke on "An International Broadcaster Looks at His World", with most of the emphasis laid on the Mother Country.

He said that just before the general election last year, he visited England and the continent. Opinion then expected the return of Churchill to Downing Street, but it was felt that he would not retain the Prime Minister's position more than a year. Eden was not generally considered seriously as his successor, but many felt that R. A. Butler, now chancellor of the Exchequer, would be the next leader of the government.

British Life

Mr. Frost gave opinions of British life from hundreds of interviews with all classes of people. Contrary to much that is read about the austerity program in Britain, the worker there is today in the best position he has enjoyed in a long time. He is guarded from worry over disease by the health act; he has enough to keep him well and healthy, but practically no luxury foods; he works steadily, if not at high wages, at wages sufficient for a fair living; his morale is higher than in many decades.

Still in Bulwark

England is not by any means "over the hill". She is still the bulwark of Western Europe, and if war occurred today she would take her place as fully as in 1914 or 1939. The British look to a glorious reign for their new Queen, looking back to the glory of Victoria and Elizabeth.

He said he asked Mr. Churchill when Canadian farmers could expect more purchases of bacon and cheese from the Old Country. Mr. Churchill replied "just as soon as you buy more of our goods."

Immigration

Mr. Frost was greatly disturbed about Canadian immigration. He said that for two years only one immigrant in seven coming to Canada is English speaking. Australia outbids Canada by bringing most of the war veterans free and others for as little as $30 with two years' work guaranteed. To Canada the fare is $160. Nevertheless tens of thousands wait to come here.

Switzerland Free Country

Looking to the rest of Europe he classified the Finns as the most conscientious nation in Europe; the Czechs and Poles, the most unhappy; the Italians, as the most deceitful; the French, as the most complex; Switzerland is the freest country in the world. It demonstrates how three races, French, German and Italian can live peaceably together. Germany is a problem, but it is generally conceded in Europe that this country must be restored to be a strong unit.

Mr. Frost was introduced by Very Ex. Comp. Wilmink. Ex-Comp. Joseph Thain presided over the banquet, welcomed the guests and thanked the speaker. Comp. David Morgan proposed the toast to the Grand First Principal, responded to by Rt. Ex. Comp. H. O. Taylor, of Cobourg, Grand Superintendent.

Ex. Comp. W. A. Kingston proposed the toast to the visitors. Rt. Ex. Comp. Carlston, of Stirling; Rt. Ex. Comp. Cooper, of Cobourg and Rt. Ex. Comp. Cotton of Peterborough, responding.

DESERONTO

Hobby Club Plans Annual Hobby Fair

Deseronto.—A successful meeting of the Deseronto Hobby Club was held at the home of Mrs. S. Wessman with 15 members present.

Work on the crocheted afghan which is nearly completed, smocking and hats went on as usual. There was also considerable discussion regarding the annual hobby and handicraft fair. It was decided to change the date from April to the first Wednesday in May.

This fair involves a great deal of planning and work on the part of the members but all feel the resulting display of arts, crafts, handiwork, demonstrations and other projects that make it an outstanding and unique event in this community.

Mrs. I. L. McCullough, who has been the convener of the club since its beginning, was elected and consented to convene the fair. She will be assisted by Mrs. H. Bender and Mrs. D. F. Weber, two ardent "hobbyists". Other conveners and their particular projects will be announced later.

The next meeting will be on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. J. Whitton. Members are asked to remember Mrs. Weber's "basket" for the white elephants.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. R. Boyce and Miss Betty Merritt.

ELDORADO

Eldorado.—Mr. and Mrs. Cotton of Springbrook, have purchased the residence of Mr. John McClintock and have taken up residence this past week.

Mrs. Oscar Pigden is a patient in Peterborough hospital.

Mr. Merrick Chidley spent the weekend at the home of his mother, Mrs. William Chidley.

Richard, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Russel Empey, is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

Mrs. Smith of Ajax, spent a few days with her mother, Mrs. John Kelly.

Mrs. Bernard Carman underwent an appendectomy in Belleville General Hospital, on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kelly, of Marmora, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Kelly.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fox and Mary Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Ford Chambers, of Malone; spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russel Fox.

Mrs. Burton Sandford, of Bannockburn, was the guest of Mrs. Russel Fox, on Monday afternoon.

Miss Lamonia Post, of Peterborough, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Post.

Mrs. Wess Fox, Stanley and Wess, Thomasburg, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Fox, on Tuesday.

Miss J.N. Watson Addresses Queen Elizabeth H-S Association On Children and Their Reading

The regular monthly meeting of the Queen Elizabeth Home and School Association was held on Tuesday evening in the school auditorium.

President, Mrs. J. Godwin welcomed the members and conducted the business period. Thanks were conveyed to Mr. Ted Schwab for the donation of membership tags. An appeal was made to the members for a kitchen shower, particularly spoons, tea towels and cream and sugar sets.

A recommendation is to be made to the chief of police for school guards at McDonald Ave., and Bridge Street, Dufferin Ave., and Dundas Street.

Cub Pack

A discussion was held regarding the forming of a Cub Pack in the area and Mrs. Godwin called upon Mr. A. Lewis, who outlined the requirements necessary to sponsor and maintain such a pack. A motion was made by Mr. Stefenson and seconded by Mrs. Ing that the Queen Elizabeth Home and School Association sponsor a Cub Pack. This was carried unanimously. Permission of public school Board had been previously granted for use of the school as a meeting place.

Attention was also drawn to next month's meeting at which the Belleville Theatre Guild will present a play.

Guest Speaker

Mr. W. G. Anderson then introduced the speaker of the evening, Miss J. N. Watson who is junior librarian of the Corby public library. Miss Watson was a former pupil of Mr. Anderson's at Queen Alexandra school and is a graduate of Queen's University honoring in history and is also a graduate of the library school.

Miss Watson divided her talk into three headings. Why send children to the library? What books should be read and why, and where parents can help.

Two films were shown, the first, "Library Work" showing a large city library and its many functions, assisting all who call upon its resources for authentic information in addition to providing enjoyable and relaxing reading for children and adults alike.

The second film a Mighty Mouse cartoon, followed by a story by Miss Watson, demonstrated the type of entertainment provided by the local library for the children who attend the Children's Story Hour each Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. This bit of entertainment was enjoyed as much by the oldsters as by the youngsters.

Thanks were warmly and capably expressed on behalf of the association by Mrs. R. D. Arnott.

After the meeting closed refreshments were served by Mrs. Meldrum and her committee.

Humphrey Bogart, Vivien Leigh Win Top Acting Oscars, Picture 'An American in Paris' is Best

Hollywood, March 21 (CP) — Humphrey Bogart and Vivien Leigh last night won the top acting Oscars in Hollywood's annual Academy Award Festival which produced its biggest surprise in years in the choice of "An American in Paris" as the best picture.

Bogart was an obvious sentimental selection for the best-actor award as the gin-loving skipper in "The African Queen."

Miss Leigh was a pre-award favorite for the best-actress Oscar for her portrayal of a faded beauty in "Streetcar Named Desire."

But the selection of "An American in Paris" was completely unexpected. It was the first out-and-out musical ever to win the grand prize. And while it was a good musical, it was not classed with "Streetcar" and "A Place in the Sun."

The selections had a sentimental flavor and Bogart best summed it up when he said:

"I've been around a long time. Maybe the people like me."

Karl Malden, the disillusioned lover in "Streetcar," won the award for the best supporting actor, and Kim Hunter, the wife in the same film, won the prize for the best supporting actress. Both were favorites.

"American in Paris" won Oscars in several other categories:

Costume design, art direction, set decoration, cinematography (all these in color films), musical scoring, story-and-screenplay.

In addition to these, Gene Kelly, the picture's star, won an honorary award for his "brilliant achievements in the art of choreography on film."

The Irving Thalberg memorial award went to producer Arthur Freed. Producer Darryl Zanuck said in presenting it that two of Freed's pictures "Showboat" and "An American in Paris," are "perfect examples of creative art."

The one sure bet of the evening who came through was George Stevens who took the best direction award for his "A Place in the Sun."

"In the Cool, Cool, Cool of the Evening," also a favorite, won the best song award for composers Johnny Mercer and Hoagy Carmichael.

SIGNED INTO LAW

Washington, March 21 — (AP) — Legislation designed primarily to check the flow of wetbacks across the Mexican border into the United States was signed into law yesterday by President Truman. The measure makes it a felony punishable by a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment and a $2,000 fine to transport, harbor or conceal an alien who is illegally in the United States. Those entering illegally from Mexico are called wetbacks because many wade the Rio Grande to cross the border.

BREAK UNDER CONTROL

Toledo, O., March 21 — (AP) — A panhandle Eastern Gas Co. pipeline burst 15 miles west of the Toledo city limits last night with a roar that was heard in downtown Toledo. The break is under control. There was no flame and no one was hurt.

Practical Items Will be Given Lady Alexander

Toronto, March 21 (CP)—The women of Canada will accent the practical rather than the glamorous in their traditional gift to a chatelaine of government house.

In the past, diamond bracelets and ear-rings, even a mink coat, were the presents given to the wife of a retiring governor-general.

At a press conference yesterday, however, officials of the Lady Alexander Gift Committee said the popular British woman who has been lady of Rideau Hall for the last six years always has preferred practical items as gifts.

Mrs. Douglas Abbott, wife of the finance minister and chairman of the committee, said that, depending on the funds raised these will take the form of electrical equipment—a stove, a refrigerator and probably other items—to outfit a new home in England.

Mrs. Louis Breithaupt, wife of Ontario's lieutenant-governor, was in charge of the meeting, held in the lieutenant-governor's quarters at Queen's Park.

It is expected that similar meetings will be held across Canada. It has been asked that contributions be sent to the lieutenant-governor's office in each province.

June 1 has been set as the closing date for the fund.

Gifts Canadian women have contributed to the wives of governors-General of the past include a mink coat to Lady Tweedsmuir, a replica of the 18th century gold cup to Lady Bessborough, diamond and emerald ear-rings to Lady Willingdon and a diamond bracelet to Lady Byng.

Tank on Display

Nearby stands a huge tank of the 9th Anti Tank Regiment and next is the Bonn Motors showing of a Dodge hardtop and a regular Dodge sedan. Belleville Motors are showing the Meteor and Mercury. Moira Heating is exhibiting stokers, washers, furnaces of the latest design. The Truck and Farm Supply Company is showing the International Harvester Company refrigerators and deep freezers, while Hobbs Glass is displaying brushes, paints, polishers and all the equipment needed in a home.

The Walker Hardware Company have a display of frigidaires, stoves, freezers, all set up in different combinations for the home.

A well-appointed booth by the Wills Hardware makes one think of spring and the outdoors. All manner of marine equipment is displayed, including outboard motors, a plywood boat and accessories of every kind. There is also the odd piece of fishing tackle. Bill Deline is showing a full range of stoves, refrigerators, washers, outboard motors, Marconi television and a special booth shows the advantages of glass heat.

Next is the Legion booth and there tickets are being sold on a television set and a boy's bicycle, the money to be used to buy a set for the Hastings County Home. The Women's Auxiliary is also running a canteen and this was well patronized last evening. Next to the canteen is the booth of Masons Appliances and being displayed are the Addison television group, stoves, washers, and refrigerators. The J. and J. Cash Company has a line of woven names on display.

Varied Displays

The Buy Rite Company is showing a full line of plumbing supplies while Dyble's Leather Goods store is displaying all kinds of luggage in leather. The Quinte Appliance has Kelvinators and stoves in many combination sets, while Tupperware is showing the latest in utensils for cooking in the home. Booth Radio has a large number of Admiral TV sets on exhibition as well as radios. J. B. Boyce and Sons are displaying a 98 Olds along with a power glide custom Chevrolet sedan and a coach. The Superior Propane Ltd. has a number of gas ranges on view and are offering one free of charge in their draw. Last but not least is the booth of the Hasty Pees with the mascot of the regiment occupying a prominent place.

The show is one of the best ever offered by the Legion and all the money derived will be used to good advantage. The support of the public will help the veterans achieve their objective. President Leroy Madden and his energetic committee have done a fine job.

GOOD OLD DAYS

Truro, N.S.—(CP)— A payroll document of the Nova Scotia Railroad for June, 1859, recently discovered here, showed operators of the wood-burning locomotives were paid £5, 9 shillings a month. That was the average cash wage and there were no deductions for income tax.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, MARCH 21, 1952

Ontario Government Places Onus for Tax Exemptions Upon Municipal Councils

Toronto, March 21 (CP) — A new policy on municipal tax exemptions for YMCA's and similar institutions was organized today by the Ontario legislature's private bills committee.

The pattern was set in the committee's amendments to three bills two of them dealing with the YMCA at Sarnia and Belleville and the other with Ottawa's Synagogue and Jewish Community Centre.

They provide in each bill that responsibility for tax exemption of such properties must lie with the municipal council—the legislature will not order exemption—and no exception may be provided for exemption from local improvement charges.

While still not official government policy, the chairman of the committee W. M. Nickle (PC-Kingston) said a special sub-committee which has been studying the problem will recommend an even broader policy to the Municipal Affairs Department.

He said the sub-committee will ask that no exemption be permitted from either local improvement charges or school taxes, and that such exemption already permitted in existing special legislation be repealed.

Must Plan By-Law

The Sarnia YMCA bill, which came before the committee two weeks ago and was set aside for further consideration, was amended to provide that instead of requiring exemption, the city council must pass a by-law permitting it. Thus the exemption could be lifted by council's repeal of the by-law.

Bryan Cathcart (PC—Lambton West) sponsoring the bill, read a letter from Mayor W. C. Nelson of Sarnia.

Mayor Nelson said he opposed a permanent exemption but could not be so strongly opposed to a system giving council a yearly review.

The policy of the Ontario Mayors and Reeves Association was presented by its secretary, S. W. Eakins. He said the association would like to have a review of present exemptions in municipalities, and a law banning any further tax exemptions unless the province will reimburse municipalities for the revenue lost.

C. E. Janes (PC—Lambton East) opposed the Sarnia bill and charged that it provided for similar exemption of the Sarnia Y's Camp in Plympton township. He was told, however, that the township council would have power to decide for or against exemption.

Proposed Change Defeated

A proposed change in the Sarnia bill, to provide that the Y.M.C.A. must also pay school taxes, was defeated.

Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar, who left after the committee dealt with the Sarnia bill, told the committee: "I expect you to treat every bill asking for exemptions in the same way."

The bill affecting the Ottawa Jewish community centre was changed to conform to the Sarnia bill. T. P. Metrick, counsel for the centre, which contains a synagogue, Hebrew school and recreational centre, said there was no objection from the city to the request that the legislature approve exemption without the council dealing with it.

Robert Macaulay (PC—Toronto Riverdale) said the committee "should put the responsibility on the elected representatives."

The bill was then altered to insert a permissive clause requiring the council to pass a by-law for exemption of the centre from all taxes except local improvement charges.

Wanted to Pay Nothing

The Belleville Y.M.C.A. bill, which asked exemption "for all purposes" from municipal taxes, was changed in the same way although representatives of both the Y.M.C.A. and city said there was no objection to the blanket exemption.

Another bill will permit the council of Pelee township, site of a giant yearly pheasant hunt, to spend up to $10,000 of revenue from the sale of hunting licences for aid to drainage works, the local telephone system or any other approved purpose.

The bill was opposed by two island residents, Frank Harris and F. C. Barnes.

Mr. Harris said the council would not provide a fair distribution of the money. The greatest amount would go to drainage of swamps.

"Three quarters of the council are big marsh men," Mr. Barnes said. The council had already spent 30 per cent of revenue on swamp drainage.

NEW INVENTION ENLARGES TV PICTURE

On Display at Trade Fair

Marvel Lens — a new engineering miracle — makes BIG pictures out of little ones! Yes, it actually increases the size of any 10" or 12-14" pictures to 17-inch size!

Marvel Lens is approved by leading eye specialists — it takes the squint out of small screen pictures.

Every owner of a 14" (or smaller) TV set should see this interesting demonstration at the Trade Fair (Mason Appliances Booth).

At a surprising low cost you can enjoy BIGGER, Better and Sharper television pictures. Let your eyes be the judge! Don't fail to see this interesting demonstration at the Trade Fair.

MAY LOSE SIGHT

Toronto, March 21 — (CP) — Doctors here have not yet decided if Kenneth O'Hare, 16, of North Bay, will see again.

The youth, who lost one eye while playing hockey several years ago, now is undergoing treatment for the other, cut last week when a bottle of effervescent salts blew up.

MODEL MINE

Johannesburg—(CP)— A scale model of a gold mine, weighing 12 tons and covering 780 square feet, has been shipped to Cape Town to be exhibited at the South African Anniversary Festival Fair. The model was insured against damage to the amount of £10,000.

Almost Half of 1952 Taxes to Go to Rearmament Drive

Expenditure for the air force this year will be $759,000,000, an increase of $87,000,000

The government will collect $309 for every person in Canada in the next fiscal year

Army expenditures are budgeted at $532,000,000; navy at $268,000

More money for rearmament and less for civilian use is the theme of the budget estimates presented to the House of Commons by Finance Minister Abbott. Citizens — young and old — are slated for a contribution of $309 each collected in various form of taxation. Of this $150 will be spent on defence, $159 on civilian functions. — Central Press Canadian Photos.

Army Bulldozers Go to Rescue Of Livestock

San Francisco, March 21 — (AP) — Army bulldozers went to the rescue today of 600,000 head of starving livestock in north and central Nevada. Twenty machines were sent from Ogden, Utah, to attack ranch roads clogged by snow.

Meanwhile bulldozers from the naval base at Hawthorne, Nev., opened a 35-mile-long lane through snow to 2,000 marooned residents in Mono county, east-central California. Residents were low on fuel but had food.

Snow drifts on California's northern mountains are so unusually deep — 20 feet and more — that the Pacific Gas and Electric Company issued warnings to ski fans to watch out for buried high voltage lines.

The company warned that any skier would be killed if he came within seven feet of any snow-buried lines.

Three Trapped In Icefield For 60 Hours Rescued

Meaford, March 21 (CP)—Three fishermen trapped for 60 hours in the middle of a Georgian Bay icefield were rescued yesterday when a tug bashed through the ice and threw a line to their fishing vessel.

"I'm tired sleepy and cold," said Captain Lloyd Howell of the fishing ship Mary Lorraine, as he and his crew stepped ashore at this harbor 18 miles east of Owen Sound.

Capt. Howell, Victor Garvie and Tad Madista set out from Kemble on the shore of Georgian Bay Tuesday morning to lift whitefish nets.

"We were almost upset as the boat was shoved up on the ice floes," said Capt. Howell. "There was nothing we could do to alter our position."

Wind drove the ice farther offshore with the Mary Lorraine trapped in the midst of it.

Yesterday the tug Wanda Goldie, owned by Clem Lougheed, rammed through two miles of ice, threw a line to the Mary Lorraine and towed it free. At times the steel fishing boat road up out of the water as it was pulled over ice floes.

The crew had a three-day supply of food aboard and 600 pounds of fish they pulled up in their nets, but no heat.

20-Day Coma Ends

Hamilton, March 21 — (CP) — A 20-day coma ended today for Constable Pat Kenney, 23, one of four police officers injured three weeks ago in a two-cruiser collision.

"Could I have a cigaret, please" he said — his first words since the accident.

Then he asked for his mother and how the other three crash victims were. Two have been discharged from hospital and one is in good condition.

Manitoba Relaxes Restrictions On Movement of Livestock But Marketing Still Disrupted

(By The Canadian Press)

Canada's livestock industry took another step towards normality Thursday when Manitoba followed the lead of British Columbia and relaxed its restrictions on movements of hogs, sheep and meats.

However, the province retained its embargo on cattle, rawhides, wool, skins and bones and the transport of livestock through the province to eastern markets.

Manitoba's step, announced in the legislature by the province's Agricultural Minister F. C. Bell, was the second such by a Canadian province in two days. Nevertheless livestock marketing still appeared to be a long way from what it was before foot-and-mouth.

British Columbia was expecting the first shipments of beef and pork since it relaxed its ban. Live animals and dressed meats were marked for immediate slaughter. No feeders will be allowed into B.C. and all meat and livestock that does get in must be certified healthy by federal inspectors.

Similar to Quebec

That left B.C. in a position similar to that of Quebec, where a permit system was in effect with permits issued on the say-so of provincial rather than federal officials.

In Ottawa, federal officials felt that Manitoba was the key to the whole question of interprovincial embargoes which the federal government said were unnecessary right from the start.

Economists made guesses that varied widely in trying to assess what the total loss in price drops and markets will mean to the industry. Some said the loss might be $10,000,000 while others thought it would possibly be $100,000,000. However, all said it was sheer guess-work.

One effect of the relaxation of the bans, was that 300 packing house workers in British Columbia could look forward to steady work again. Another 300 returned to work in Alberta, one third of them in Calgary and the balance in Edmonton.

Questions Answered

Meanwhile, in the House of Commons Agriculture Minister Gardiner and Trade Minister Howe answered questions of members concerning the situation.

Mr. Gardiner said he did not think the quarantine regulations around Regina would be relaxed to allow free movement of seed and seed-cleaning equipment.

However, he said everything would be done to get seed to the farmer for this year's seeding.

Mr. Howe also dealt with a question about 1952 operations. He told J. H. Blackmore (SC—Lethbridge) that losses from foot-and-mouth disease are covered in separate legislation.

The government was backing loans to western farmers who had heavy loads of grain still on their farms and were seeking bank loans. But he did not believe provision of financial credit was necessary for those hit by foot-and-mouth diseases.

Campaign Being Whipped to High Pitch in Moscow

Moscow, March 21 — (AP) — The campaign against alleged United States germ warfare in Korea is being whipped to a high pitch here.

Izvestia, Soviet government newspaper, today published a declaration by Patriarch Alexei of the Russian Orthodox Church and three leading Metropolitans condemning alleged bacteriological warfare in Korea.

Russian press reports repeated previous charges in Peiping that the U. S. is poison gas on the Korean front. Moscow papers reported a wave of protest meetings throughout the Soviet Union.

Russia refused in the United Nations disarmament commission yesterday to support a U. S. proposal for an impartial investigation by the International Red Cross of the communist germ warfare charges. The U. S. denies the charges.

Meanwhile, in Korea, Andrew Cordier, executive assistant to U. N. Secretary - General Trygve Lie, said:

"After visiting these units in Korea, I think their (the reds' germ) accusations are even more absurd than when I first heard them in New York. The United Nations does not have to and will not resort to germ warfare to accomplish its mission."

MANY VOICES

I'd need a couple of pages rather than this single column to properly present the reader response to the one called "Wanted: A Sage."

Close to 200 of you took the trouble to send along your own thoughts on the problem of a philosophical approach to the tensions of modern living and the individual's adjustment to these tensions.

I've read each of these letters in the past two weeks. It's been something of an adventure in exploring the minds of people whose personal reflections rarely see the light of print.

By far the majority—perhaps two-thirds — are of a religious nature.

One woman wrote this: "Religion is not an opiate to blur the focus on everything that is distressing in this modern world. He is to give us the strength for positive action. Where there is a will there is a way. The will comes from believing in God."

That is the tenor of most of these letters.

I've selected, more or less at random, a number of quotations which struck me as interesting (not because I agree or disagree) and which show a wide range of opinion. Here they are:

* * *

"I think it would help you if you could study some astronomy. Contemplating the mysteries of our solar family, I've found helps in fitting one small piece of the jig-saw puzzle in place."

* * *

"Perhaps if we had an International Society for the Advancement of the Human Race, with no bigotry or hypocrisy attached to it, we might see some improvements in time. Laughter and beauty now seem the only tangible things left."

* * *

"When I start thinking about the long climb man has made up from the time, I figure that maybe mankind has something after all. I try to think of the heights he has risen to, and I don't mean just the exceptionally brainy or gifted, but the amazingly brave and kind things that the average person can do when the need arises. This gives hope that we gradually progress to a sane and happy existence. Oh, I know about the mean, petty and cruel things, too. I haven't lived for 50 years without meeting my share of heels, but on the whole thing I think there is a core of goodness, wholesomeness or call it what you will, maybe only sound common sense, in the common man that will win out in the end. In our own little orbit we can speak out against the greed and intolerance and prejudices we meet."

* * *

"In your lack of philosophy you have found one: the ever-doubting, inquiring, uncomfortable mind which, in the final analysis, is the only kind of mind capable of progress."

* * *

"May I sugges the study of Yoga? We have had a visitor from India, Swami Shivanarde, a brilliant young teacher and scholar. The results were amazing. We in his class felt better in health, more alert in mind and intellect and more optimistic and happier in spirit. There is no broad highway to a philosophy of life, but at least Yoga has ignited a spark."

* * *

"Albert Schweitzer's philosophic writings are worth looking into. For me, it is sufficient to believe that this world is a testing ground. It is imperfect, but we have the task each in his place, to make it a little better. Have reverence for life."

* * *

"As an old maid of 34 I have found that peace and contentment for which you are searching. I found it in accepting Jesus as my personal Savior. I carry that peace in my heart that so many are seeeking. So what if the world is in a turmoil? There are glorious days ahead for those who believe."

* * *

"If one could believe, with the Eastern philosophers, in a continual coming back to have another whack at making the world a good place, the whole thing might seem more worthwhile."

* * *

"Judo, the art of self-defence, teaches that if one steps back from an attack the attacker becomes invulnerable. The same is true of living. There is absolutely no use of our attempting to resist outside pressure with our own strength. We need the strength of our Creator."

* * *

"If we all worked for peace I believe life would take on a new meaning. No wonder we are downhearted when we put forth so much effort on war, which is negative. Gandhi had the only weapon that can be effective."

* * *

"I have no definite philosophy, but I do have some definite ideas, the main one being that so long as so many people are socially and politically adolescent one cannot hope to accomplish anything constructive. And so I would like to see many people being educated or educating themselves to understand what is going on in the world around them."

* * *

"A year ago I thought, 'What's the use of anything?' Then I read Dr. A. E. Cliff's book "Lessons in Living," and found a guide to follow."

* * *

"Here's my philosophy: Treat your friend as one who may some day be your enemy, and your enemy as one whom you may some day need for a friend."

Save Father, Brother From Bull

Lorna May and her black shepherd dog are heroine and hero of an episode at the farm of Bert May at Stouffville, Ont. When a bull attacked Elmer May, 12, right, his father came to the rescue, but was thrown to the ground with a broken arm. Lorna, aged nine, hearing their cries, let loose the dog, which attacked the bull and allowed the father and son to escape. — Central Press Canadian Photos.

Sunday School Lesson of the Week

The Most Beautiful Ever Written

By ROY L. SMITH

Ernest Renan, the famous French skeptic, said of the Gospel of Luke in the New Testament that it was "the most beautiful book ever written." And he was a pretty good judge of literature.

Measured by any literary or historical standard the little book which bears the name of the ancient physician deserves a place among the immortals.

It is, by the way, just as surely the mark of an educated man to be able to quote from the Gospel of Luke, as to be able to quote from Omar Khayyam's Rubaiyat.

Isaiah, Jeremiah, and St. Paul are as intellectually respectable as Aristotle, Socrates, or Plato.

The Macedonian

At one of the most critical points in the great career of Paul, the missionary, there appeared to him, as if in a dream, a European who pleaded with him to come over into Europe and preach the Gospel.

The story is just a little hazy at points, but there is some good reason to believe that Paul had fallen ill and was compelled to call a physician. In that extremity there came into his life the brilliant young Greek named Luke who must have heard from Paul the story of Jesus of Nazareth. Many Christian scholars think that the youthful physician was the Macedonian of Paul's dream.

As a matter of fact, there could easily have been much reality in the dream. It is not difficult to imagine the doctor urging this patient to get off to Europe as soon as he was well, and "tell the story of the Nazarene to the people over there."

The Gospel of the Poor

It was the custom of rich Romans to educate bright slave boys for the practice of medicine, engineering, etc. There are those reputable scholars who believe that Luke had been so trained by Theophilus, his master.

We do not need the opinions of the learned, however to discover that the Gospel according to Luke displays a great interest in and friendship for the poor. If Luke had been, or was, a slave it would explain why he gives so much attention to the plain people when he writes his book.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for March 30: "Luke, Physician and Historian," Luke 1:1-14; Acts 1: 1-2; 16:6-10; 27:27; 28:1-10; Colossians 4:14; II Timothy 4:11.

He is the one who tells of the shepherds abiding in the fields and keeping watch over their flocks by night. He tells the story—stories, indeed — of the poor and the helpless and the outcasts who came to Jesus and were treated with rare consideration.

There is something very beautiful about Luke's solicitude for the poor.

Women and Children

As a physician, Luke's time was occupied very largely with suffering women and children. It is not surprising to find his little book illuminated by references to them. His story of the nativity has never been excelled for beauty or simplicity.

The Gospel of Luke seems to have been composed, in some sections, out of materials which could have been furnished to the author by no one else than Mary, the mother of Jesus, herself.

And certainly nothing contributes more to the beauty of the little book than does its meticulous historical accuracy. Historian, literary genius, physician, friend of Paul! What a glorious soul the doctor-slave must have been!

THOMASBURG

Thomasburg — The Young People's Union of the Thomasburg-Moira circuit held their meeting recently in the vestry with Mr. B. Moorcroft, president, conducting the devotional period. Miss Vera Martin was program convener, her topic being "Faith and Evangelism".

Guy Thompson led the recreation part of the meeting. Refreshments were served by the lunch committee.

In the Thomasburg United Church, Rev. Morley Clarke has been giving a series of sermons on "The Lord's Prayer". Sunday evening's theme "Thy Will Be Done", was indeed thought-provoking. The junior choir was in attendance. Their singing was greatly appreciated.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Thomasburg United Church are sponsoring a play "Singing Bill from Blue Ridge Hill". The Young People of Empey Hill make up the case of the play, which will be presented April 2, in the I.O.O.F. hall.

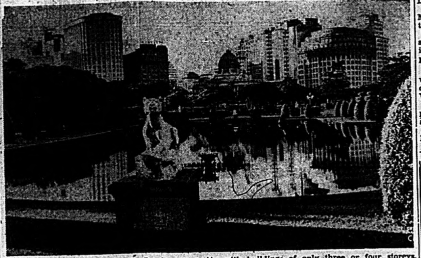
Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the games.

The next party will be held on March 27 with Mrs. L. Wallbridge, and Miss B. Wallbridge as sponsors.

Skyline of Rio



Twenty-five years ago Rio de Janeiro was a city with buildings of only three or four storeys. Today it has hundreds of tall, white structures, 10, 20 or more storeys high. For the most part their skeletons are of reinforced concrete, instead of structural steel. The walls are filled in with light brick or block. Then the whole job is covered with a stucco, or plaster and, presto — you have a white "limestone" building. Lack of weather stresses allows much lighter construction than in Canada. CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

HAS WHAT-IT-TAKES . . .

Bob Wilson, husky defenceman of the junior Hawks is a young man of pronounced intestinal fortitude. Not only did the stocky seventeen-year-older play one of the best games of his Hawks career on Wednesday night in Barrie, but he stung 'em high, wide and handsome in that torrid third chukker with seriously bruised ribs. So bruised in fact that he was taken to hospital yesterday morning for examination. However, the powers-that-be figure young Marse Robert will be fit and ready for action for the all-important tilt with the Flyers here tonight.

The Hawks, otherwise, came out of the initial action with Barrie unscathed albeit their dignity was perhaps a trifle ruffled due to the long arduous bus ride. But by tonight they'll be as "fey" as a Scottish bridegroom, ready and rarin' to take the series in two straight tilts. But as was mentioned in yesterday's column, they should not take too much for granted. This Barrie crew is a tough, hard-skating, hard-hitting organization who won't admit defeat till the whistle toots that the last goose is hung high.

A packed house will greet the battlers, according to reports and that should make for some helping hazard for the Hawks. We're told that a crowd or gathering of some 200 fans, not a few from Belleville, saw the game in Barrie, and perhaps the Flyers youngsters will be more or less awed at the sight of some 2,000 cheering fanatics, all "forninst" 'em.

And a little bird whispered to us yesterday that the three gentlemen, two of age and one definitely a non-voter, who scribbled on paper laboriously throughout the tilt in Barrie, were none other than the manager, coach and captain of the Weston Dukes.

LOTS OF LUCK

For the first time in history a Belleville team will go in quest of a volleyball championship.

The squad is the plucky St. Michael's crew which won the Bay of Quinte District, COSSA title in a tournament held here a few weeks ago. Jack Doran's "Irish" swept the tourney against a dozen school teams of the district and earned the right to compete in the COSSA provincial tourney which gets under way at McMaster University, Hamilton, tomorrow.

The tourney which starts at 1 p. m. sees the St. Mikes team play in the "B" classification, and Coach Doran is confident his charges will make a good account of themselves despite the fact the other competing teams are of unknown quality.

While a volleyball team consists of eight players, Doran will take along an even dozen in case of accident. He hopes to field the strongest team possible in an effort to bring the titular volleyball bacon home.

The party leaves St. Michael's tomorrow morning at seven o'clock and incidentally, Coach Doran says there is room on the bus for some 15 "civilians" who might want to make the trip.

BUILD NEW FIELD

According to a story in the Northern News, the local branch of the Northern Electric Company is constructing a recreation field. Frank Grandame, president of the N. E. Club says it is expected the new field will include a softball diamond and horseshoe pitch and later a tennis court on the company-owned property.

The club expects to enter a team in the Commercial Softball League this year as well as conducting interdepartmental softball games.

VOTE ON BIG QUESTION

On June 30th the National Hockey League will be asked to vote on Frank Boucher's new plan to ditch all negotiation and reserve lists and adopt a draft rule. Such as exists in professional baseball, basketball and football ranks where the lowest finisher gets a first choice of the player and from there up to the champions who have the last call. Players on sponsored lists will be frozen (and not draftees) till June 30, 1955.

The plan demands all pro clubs reduce their lists to 30 (now 40), on Oct. 31, 1952. All NHLers to get one year to sign players on negotiation, then abolish it on June 30, 1953. All AHL, PCHL and major series players frozen to June 30, 1955, then put on contingent list and not draftees until 1955, or for a three-year period.

Prices to range thusly: AHL to NHL, $10,000 per player (from low to high); PCHL to NHL, $7500 each; PCHL to AHL $5,000 each; OHA Majors to NHL, 3 at $5,000 each; CHA Majors to AHL, 3 at $3,000 each; CHA Majors to PCHL, 3 at $2,500 each; to Majors from CHA, any number of players at no cost, but subject to CHA rules.

Detroit Red Wings Dominate U.P. Selection All-Star Team

New York, March 21—Four members of the Detroit Red Wings dominated the United Press 1951-52 National Hockey League all-star team announced today.

Goalie Terry Sawchuk, defenceman Leonard (Red) Kelly and rightwinger Gordie Howe of the dashing Detroit crew were the unanimous choices of 25 writers polled in the six N. H. L. cities. Ted Lindsay, another member of the Red Wings, gained the left-wing berth in a close ballot battle with Toronto's Sid Smith.

Rounding out the first team were defenceman Doug Harvey and centre Elmer Lach, both of the Montreal Canadiens.

Named to the second team along with Smith were rightwing Maurice (Rocket) Richard of Montreal, centre Milt Schmidt of the Boston Bruins, defenceman Hy Buller of the New York Rangers and Jim Thomson of Toronto, and goalie Harry Lumley of the Chicago Black Hawks.

Sawchuk, Kelly, Howe and Lindsay are not newcomers to the N. H. L. all-star teams, for all four were included on the United Press No. 1 squad last year.

Sawchuk is only in his second full season with the Red Wings. He won the Calder Trophy as the N. H. L.'s outstanding rookie last year, and will undoubtedly add the Vezina Trophy as the league's top goalie to his collection this season.

Howe, Lindsay and Lach earned their all-star berths mainly through their recognized scoring ability. Howe, who is 23 years old and hails from Floral, Sask., is in the process of sewing up his second straight league scoring title, while Lindsay and Lach are battling it out for the runner-up spot.

Kelly and Harvey are able defencemen who are just as proficient on the attack as in protecting their own zone. Kelly, 24, is a native of Simcoe, Ont., and is in his fifth season with the Red Wings. Harvey, 27, is a Montreal product.

Chisellers Need One Game For Section Title

Moore's Chisellers virtually assured themselves of leadership of the fourth section of the Major 'A' Bowling League schedule at the Bowl-O-Drome last night with a 6-1 victory over Callaghan's Ice.

Chisellers leading by six points have only to win one game at next Thursday's final games of the schedule to clinch their second section title. However a 7-0 victory for second place Schwabs and a duck egg for the Chisellers will see the Schwabmen take over the lead and sectional title.

Schwabs and Belleville Golf took seven points from Kinsmen and Lawn Bowlers while CNR defeated City Cleaners 5-2.

The scores were: Schwab's 3496, Kinsmen 2696; Belleville Golf 3416, Lawn Bowlers 3274; Moore's Chiselers 3388, Callaghan Ice 2957; CNR 3219, City Cleaners 2972.

Individual honors went to Bob Bagshaw of Moore's with 841 including a 336 single. Other good scores were: Harry Ridley 799 (375), Ted Greenfield 771 (300), George Bellis 763, Les Lennox 761, Frank Martin 757 (303), Doug Ashley 747 (328), Jim Corlies 739, Jim McKenzie 739, Jim White 715, Dave Tobe 705, Joe Legault 683, Ab Wonnacott 677, Joe Kirkwood 670, Walter Moore 665, Leo Lucciola 656 (307), Wilbur Kiser 656 and Wally Dingman 656.

Sheet Metals Win Northern Hockey Title

Sheet Metals won the championship of the Northern Electric Interdepartmental Hockey League in Memorial Arena last night, defeating the Area G. team 5-4 to sweep the best-of-three series in two straight games.

The Metals also won the Shop Management Trophy emblematic of hockey supremacy among plant teams.

The game was fast and closely fought with Metals taking a two to one lead in the first period with goals from Yorke and Salter. Jones assisted by Murphy and Bone score the lone Area marker of the period.

Yorke put the Metalmen two up early in the second period scoring on a solo. The Areas roared back and fired home two goals from Jones and Bone to tie the count with four minutes to go.

Rosebush sent the winners ahead after five minutes in the final heat with Totten firing the insurance tally a minute later. Areas battled hard and Bradden reduced the margin to a goal midway through the period. From then in the Metalmen successfully staved off the Area effort to tie the count.

Referee F. Jones handed out but two penalties all night.

Teeps Roar Back To Hand St. Mikes 5-1 Defeat

(By The Canadian Press)

St. Catharines Teepees, one of Ontario Hockey Association junior A circuit's most unpredictable teams last night ran true to form, even though deep into the playoff semi-finals.

Avenging that 4-0 Wednesday shutout at the hands at the hands of Toronto St. Michael's, the Teeps roared back to life with a convincing 5-1 victory in a packed hometown arena to deadlock their best-of-five semi-finals at two games each.

The date of the final game in this series will depend upon the outcome of tonight's Toronto Marlboros-Guelph Biltmores clash at Guelph. If the Bilts win to close that best-of-seven semi-finals 4-2, Teepees and St. Michael's meet Sunday afternoon at Maple Leafs Gardens. If the Marlies deadlock the playoffs 3-3, the St. Catharines club moves into Toronto tomorrow.

In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association senior A finals Noranda Copper Kings last night edged Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds 4-2 in the Quebec mining centre to take a 2-1 lead in that best-of-seven series. Fourth game will be played tonight in Noranda.

The winner of this Northern Ontario championship will move south to meet the survivor of the OHA senior A final between Owen Sound Mercurys and Stratford Indians. With the Indians leading the best-of-seven round 3-1, fifth game is scheduled tonight in Stratford.

Gord Myles led the St. Catharines attack with a pair of goals while Buddy Boone, Chuck Marshall and Bill Young scored the others. Eddie Plata clicked for the lone St. Mike marker.

Norm Connelly, Moe Savard, Jim O'Shea and Roman Vesidowski tallied for Noranda while Hec Pozzo and Husky Hodgsen banged in the Sault Ste. Marie goals.

Kitchener Greenshirts Manager Urges Appointment Ref-in-Chief

Kitchener, March 21 — Bob Crosby, manager of Kitchener Greenshirts said yesterday he will urge the junior "A" council to recommend the appointment of a referee-in-chief by the O. H. A.

His proposal will be presented to the council at its next meeting in Guelph in June.

"In view of our experience the referees in the employ of the O. H. A. need direction. Unfortunately, they're not getting it," Crosby said.

Too Old

He expressed the belief that some of the officials were too old to handle "A" games and senior "A" games and many of them were making the same mistakes over and over again.

"The only answer to the problem, as I see it, is appointment by the O. H. A. of a referee-in-chief," Crosby suggested.

Under the present set-up, Crosby continued, the people who attempted to issue instructions and make corrections among the officials were only doing it "by intuition."

"We need some who can attend the games, list the faults as he sees them and discuss the mistakes with the referees. He should be a man who has been through the mill, and can sense the reactions of officials and fans under varying circumstances," the Greenshirts' manager added.

'Hockey club sponsors spend a lot of money for equipment, coaching and supervision of players who have to contend with referees who are under no supervision whatsoever.

"Junior and senior "A" hockey is big business. In junior alone something between $13,000 and $15,000 in fees is paid out during a season to the referees.

"The O. H. A. has plenty of money in the treasury to engage a referee-in-chief and if this were done, 90 per cent of the beefs would be eliminated," Crosby contended.

"I do not believe that the officials are overpaid," he hastened to add, "but I am certain some of them could do a better job. What we need is some new blood."

Wings All-Time Score Record Broken by Fleet Gordie Howe As Team Whips Rangers 7-3

(By The Canadian Press)

Floral is a tiny village in Saskatchewan and its citizens of that "hidden" town are mighty proud of their Gordie Howe, Detroit Red Wings' muscle man, scoring champion of the National Hockey League and considered in some quarters as one of the game's all-time greats.

The 24-year-old right-winger, NHL scoring champion for the second straight year, broke his own record as the Wings' all-time scorer last night. He potted his 43rd and 44th goals of the season —one more than the club record he set last year—as Detroit whipped New York Rangers 7-3.

It was just a tuneup for the forthcoming Stanley Cup playoffs but Howe played it for keeps with his two-goal effort. The two points gained by the victory put Detroit within striking distance of last season's 101 point-total.

The Wings now have 97 and close out the 70-game schedule this weekend with a home-and-home doubleheader against the second-place Montreal Canadiens.

Lindsay, Runner-Up?

Ted Lindsay practically settled the runner-up spot in the league scoring race with four points, manufactured on two goals and two assists. He now is three points up on Montreal's Elmer Lach. Lindsay has 65, Lach 62 and it's a cinch the nifty Montreal centre will receive more attention than usual until this weekend to keep him off the scoring sheet.

Despite the lopsided score at Madison Square Gardens, Detroit twice had to come from behind and led only 4-3 with less than 12 minutes to play.

Allan Stanley put the Rangers ahead 1-0 early in the first period and Johnny Wilson matched it. Herb Dickenson gave New York a 2-1 edge in the second period before Lindsay hit for the first time to knot it. Howe added another and the Wings didn't look back.

Willie Hoppe Bounces Back To Top-Slot Tie

San Francisco, March 21 — (AP) — Champion Willie Hoppe bounced back from two defeats and a severe case of nerves to tie for first place in the world three cushion billiard tournament.

And in thumping rotund Art Rubin of Brooklyn, 50-46 last night he eliminated a dangerous threat from the possibility of a five-way tie for the championship.

Hoppe's victory elevated him into a tie with Jay Bozeman of Vallejo, Calif., for the lead. Each has a 6-2 record. Each has one game left in the round robin tournament.

Two other players, Kinrey Matsuyama 5-2 and Ray Kilgore 4-3 still are in the running — posing the possibility of a two-, three, or four-way tie for first place after tomorrow night's final.

Bozeman, just resuming billiards after six years retirement, meets Kilgore, the San Francisco giant killer, tomorrow afternoon. Hoppe plays Matsuyama in the final regularly scheduled game tomorrow night.

Matsuyama plays Joe Procita, Los Angeles, 3-5 this afternoon. and Kilgore meets Miss Masako Katsura, 3-5, tonight.

If there's a two-way tie, there'll be a playoff Sunday night. If there's three-or four-way tie, involving a round robin playoff, a schedule will be announced later.

Badminton Stars Ready For Thomas Cup

Calgary, March 21 (CP) —Canadian and United States Thomas Cup badminton teams moved into Calgary's Glencoe Club in full force to get in last minute practice sessions before the North American zone finals starting tonight.

The comparatively new Thomas Cup is to badminton what the Davis Cup is to tennis. The winner of the Canada-U.S. series will play the European zone winners at Singapore early in April for the right to meet the defending Malaya team.

The two squads are made up of six top badminton stars. Representing Canada are Darryl Thompson of Vancouver, runner-up in the men's singles at last week's Canadian championships in Winnipeg; Al Williams of Calgary; Ken Forsythe, Winnipeg; Don Smythe, Toronto, current Canadian singles titlist; Bud Porter and Grant Henry both of Toronto.

Canadian team coach is Toronto's Dick Birch who was named to the team earlier, but dropped out because of a leg injury. Forsythe replaced him.

The United States team includes Joey Alston, Fargo, N.D.; Marten Mendez, San Diego, Calif.; Wynn Rogers, Arcadia, Calif.; Carl Loveday, Pacific Beach, Calif.; Robert Williams, Williamsville, N.Y., and Dick Mitchell, San Diego. Coach and manager is Ken Davidson of New York.

Both teams took to the courts today for stiff workouts. Coach Birch reported his Canadian boys all in top condition and playing well.

Turner Shoots For 30th Victory

New York, March 21 —Undeated Gil Turner, a leading welterweight contender after only 25 months of pro boxing, aims for his 30th straight victory tomorrow night when he faces Don Williams of Worcester, Mass., at Madison Square Garden.

The sturdy 21-year-old Philadelphia Negro, with 22 knockouts and seven decisions to his credit, is rated a 2 to 1 favorite. The bout will be telecast and broadcast.

Off his record, Williams will be no setup for the Philadelphia prodigy. He has one of the best left jabs in the division and doesn't hesitate to follow it through with his right. He came off the deck to give welterweight champion Kid Gavilan a terrific battle Feb. 28. Gavilan won, but it was a split and controversial verdict.

Williams' record is 56 wins, nine losses and two draws for five years of pro boxing. He was stopped on cuts by Johnny Bratton a year ago but since then has beaten former lightweight champion Ike Williams, of Philadelphia, Fitzie Pruden of St. Catharines, Ont.; drawn with middleweight Johnny Greco of Montreal and lost to Gavilan.

Flying Frenchmen Blank Leafs 3-0 to Give McNeil His Fifth Shutout

Canadiens, at least, displayed play-off form as they blanked the Maple Leafs 3-0 in Toronto to all but clinch the strategic second place in final standing. The hustling Habs outzipped and outchecked the hapless Leafs to give Gerry McNeil his fifth shutout of the season. They were really Flying Frenchmen, for the score card showed the names Geoffrion, Bouchard and Richard. The Rocket's goal was typical of the entire game. Lach who, as shown in photo, appeared to be covered by Leafs Thomson, managed to get over a perfect pass to Richard (not shown), who zipped the rubber past an astonished Rollins. The indefatigable Max Bentley was only Leaf to hold his own against hard-checking swarms of Canadiens. — Central Press Canadian.

Tremendous Crowds at Grid Games Leave Little Money for Colleges

By WIL GRIMSLEY

New York, March 21 — (AP)— There may be evils in football bowl games as contended by a committee of college presidents asking their extinction, but one of these evils apparently isn't money.

The Associated Press took a peek today at the swag that came out of the four big shows of last Jan. 1 and discovered none of the colleges involved is getting overly fat on the returns.

For example, take Illinois, the Big Ten champion which slaughtered Stanford, 40-7, before nearly 100,000 fans in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena.

After the Illini have finished sharing their prosperity with other conference schools and paying extra expenses for a special bowl party that included cheer leaders, etc., athletic director Doug Mills figures the university's net take at about $14,000 or $15,000.

Better "Stood in Bed"

Except for the prestive involved, Illinois would have been better off to have stayed home and played a neighborhood rival. The Illini averaged a net gain of about $70,000 in three conference games last fall with Wisconsin, Michigan and Iowa. The Michigan game grossed around $158,000, of which Illinois got some $88,000.

One of the criticisms against bowl games has been that it enabled some colleges to fatten their athletic coffers and build up progressively stronger teams.

Georgia Tech, 17-14 winner over Baylor in the Orange Bowl at Miami, is probably another that won't buy that reasoning.

The yellow jackets brought around $92,000 away from Miami. But the Southeastern Conference took its 25-per-cent cut — $23,000 — right off the top. After trip expenses, which included accommodations for all the players' wives, Tech was left with around $35,000.

This money was used to help pay off the loan on Tech's stadium. The engineers reap a profit of $45,000 to $50,000 on each conference game at home.

Maryland, surprise 28-13 victor over top-ranked Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, got the best financial deal of the eight major bowl participants.

The Terrapins, who played against Southern Conference orders, drew a check for $126,232.68 and didn't have to share it with anybody.

Tennessee also got $126,232.68 from the New Orleans game but had to give $31,558.19 to the Southern Conference.

Canadian Tire, Glen Roys Win Minor Titles

Glen Roys and the Canadian Tire are the proud champions of the juvenile and midget divisions of the Belleville Hockey Association.

The Glens won the juvenile title in a doubleheader in Memorial Arena last night defeating the hard-fighting Belleville Locks team by a 5-1 score.

In the midget battle Canadian Tire defeated the gallant Quinte Battery youngsters by a 4-1 count.

Day and St. Denis paced the Canadian Tire victory with the former scoring three goals and St. Denis getting the other as well as being credited with two assists. Calbury drew a helper on one of the Day scores. Jackson took Lynch's pass to score the lone goal for the Battery kids.

It was Bovay, Goyer and Brooks who scintillated in the Glen Roys victory over Belleville Locks. Brooks and Goyer with two goals each with Bovay getting the odd one. In addition Goyer had two assists as did Brooks while Bovay helped on three scores.

Hughes and Philp scored the Lock goals with Brant assisting on both scores.

Tommy Schreider and Ted Hurst officiated at the games and are deserving of special mention. They attended practically all the games during the schedule and playoffs and gave willingly of their services. Coach "Red" Doran was loud in his appreciation of the work of these officials.

Toronto League Will Not Play Titular Soccer

Toronto, March 21 — (CP) — The 10-team Toronto and District National Football League will not enter this season's play for the Football Association of Canada cup, emblematic of the Canadian soccer championship.

The finals are scheduled for Vancouver late in August and the National League feels it is financially impossible to enter. This means that Toronto Ulster United, the 1951 Dominion title - holders, will be missing from this year's play.

This is the second time within the last three years that the National League has refused to enter. Previously, it refrained from playing because the finals were scheduled too early.

Grand Rapids Beats Troy 5-1

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 21 — (AP) — With Bob Turner slamming in three goals, Grand Rapids Rockets defeated Troy Bruins 5-1 here last night to gain a 3-2 advantage in their best-of-seven semi-finals of the International Hockey League playoff.

The two clubs tangle at Troy tonight and returne here Saturday night for a seventh game, if necessary.

Toledo defeated Chatham four straight to gain the right to meet the winner of the Grand Rapids-Troy series.

Royal Tan Favored For Grand National

London, March 21. —(Royal Tan, one of the two thoroughbreds that didn't fall in last year's Grand National Steeplechase, Thursday night was ruled the 10 to 1 favorite in this year's race in a callover of odds by British bookies.

The bookmakers offered odds in their private Victoria Club quarters for the first time since the 52 final acceptors for the April 5 race was announced Wednesday.

Mrs. Lurline Brotherton's Freebooter, winner in 1950, was a joint second choice at 100 to 7. The same odds were laid against Teal, owned by H. Lane, and a newcomer to the Grand National.

Pearly Prince was fourth in the list at 20 to 1. Only 18 of the 52 thoroughbreds were quoted. Odds against the rest are at least 100 to 1.

One bookie yesterday privately offered his customers odds of 6 to 1 against Freebooter finishing in the first three. The jumping veteran fell a year ago. But so did 33 of the other 35 in the race, which was won by Nickel Coin. Nickel Coin was injured earlier this year and will not run in the National.

Other prices last night—25-1, Overshadow, Icey Clam, Early Mist, Menzies and Roimond; 28-1, Border Luck; 33-1, Delight; 40-1, Dominick's Bar, St. Kathleen II, Brown Jack III, Skyreholm, Wot No Sun, and Starlit Bay; and 50-1, Kelek.

Ken Church, Windsor, Ont., jockey setting a fast pace for Miami Gulfstream Park, rode his 16th winner of the meeting yesterday when he completed a double win on Roman Fair. His mount won by only a nose and but for the jockey's perfect timing and coolness might have been beaten.

After a study of British Columbia's weather for the last 50 years the 1954 British Empire games in Vancouver were scheduled by the games committee to open July 28 and close Aug. 6.

Royal Tan, one of the two horses that didn't fall in last years' Grand National Steeplechase, was ruled last night in London the 10-to-1 favorite in this year's race in a callover of odds by British bookies.

In Copenhagen last night, the European lightweight championship fight between Danish titleholder Joergen Johansen and Britain's Tommy McGovern ended in a draw after 15 even rounds. Officials announced Johansen will remain European champion.

Goalie Jim Henry of Boston Bruins will receive the Dufresne Trophy as the National Hockey League club's outstanding performer in home games, general manager Art Ross announced yesterday in Boston.

Cincinnati Reds have offered to trade pitcher Ewell (The Whip) Blackwell to Brooklyn Dodgers for three players, it was learned yesterday in Tampa, Fla. Neither club would admit the names of the Brooklyn players involved.

Pop was smoking to himself with a sattisfied expression, and ma said, Women drivers ought to stick up for each other, dont you think so, William?

Well yes, they need all the help possible, that's a fact, pop said, and ma said, Now that's a tipical man driver's anser, in other werds meeningless. Anyway, I stuck up for one today when an officious traffic officer gave her a tickit for going through a red lite when she did nuthing of the kind, because the lite was still perfectly green when she went through. And she told the officer she would take the case to court just as a matter of principal, so I gave her my name in case she wanted a witness, ma said, and pop said, Good, I'll give you a little rehearsal, just for practice. We'll pretend I'm the judge of the traffic court, he said.

I'm reddy, ma said, and pop said, All rite, let's go. How many years have you been driving? he said.

Oh, at least 20, I guess, ma said, and pop said, This is no guessing game, madam. The fact is, you're not sure how long, is that true? he said.

Well yes, I meen no, that is in a way, ma said, and pop said, So madam, you admit you have no idea how long you yourself have been handling a car, and yet you presume to stand up and tell this court under oath that an utter stranger, to your certain nolledge, is capable of distinguishing between a red signal and a green one.

I didn't meen, I meen I didn't say, oh dear, ma said. Oh well, maybe the woman will take the least course of resistance and simply pay her fine like everybody elts. After all it's a woman's privilidge to change her mind, she said.

Probably meening her own mind about being a witness, just in case.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The Wednesday bridge club flatly spurned palooka Bessie Ballads. But changed their voting when they learned she made such lovely salads.

We've been discussing this deal:

NORTH
♠K 9 6
♥9 6 3 2
♦A J 9
♣7 5 3

WEST
♠10 8 4 3
♦Q 10 7 4 2
♣A K 6

EAST
♠A Q J 2
♥Q 10 8 7 4
♦8 5

SOUTH
♠7 5
♥A K J
♦K 6 3
♣Q J 10 9 4

The bidding that was sent to me went like this:

South	West	North	East
1 C	1 D	1 H	1 S
2 H	2 S	3 C	3 S
Pass	Pass	Dbl

When south bid two hearts he lacked the extra trick it took. But all the bids by north were wrong, including his penalty double. Even Bessie Ballads would not make so many mistakes in one deal.

The bids recommended by rule are these:

South	West	North	East
1 C	1 D	Pass	1 H
1 NT	Pass	Pass	2 H
Pass

Lacking a sixth trick, west has not enough for a raise of the spade suit bid by his partner. Of course, he has excellent support. But an assist to three spades would be a stretch for him.

Ordinarily, therefore, a pass by west in this spot would be the correct procedure. And in the majority of cases it would be a pass that would bring the best results.

However, in expert play, the west hand would come in with a raise to three spades for various reasons. Not the least of these reasons is the fact that an expert is a trick better than others.

If west raises to three spades, east will go to four. He will realize that a lucky break or clever play may be necessary for its success. And an expert thrives on such things.

MOIRA

Moira.—Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Brooks, Foxboro, spent Wednesday at Mr. and Mrs. Bill Scott's.

Mrs. Frank Emerson spent the weekend in Belleville with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Canning. Mr. Emerson and Billie, came on Sunday for dinner at the same home.

Miss Mae Scott has been transferred from Toronto Royal Bank to the Royal Bank in Belleville.

Mr. Ritchie Meiklejohn, Springbrook, was a dinner guest on Friday of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Elliott.

Mr. Douglas Findlay, Belleville, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Donald McInroy.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Ketcheson, Mr. and Mrs. Will Shaw, Ivanhoe; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Campbell, Foxboro, were dinner guests on Sunday of Mrs. George Foster and Beverly.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hazzard and Shirley, Belleville, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Ellarby, on Sunday.

Several farmers are getting their sap buckets in readiness as they think syrup season is just around the corner.

A large number of friends and neighbors gathered at Mr. and Mrs. Murray Morgan's in honor of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Skinkle and presented them with a beautiful chest of silver on Thursday evening.

Royal Letter

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Scott received the following letter in answer to one they had writter,

Buckingham Palace

The private secretary is commanded to thank Mr. and Mrs. Scott for their kind message of sympathy, which Her Majesty much appreciates.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McMullen were supper guests on Saturday night of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McInroy.

The Victory Class meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Farrel, on Thursday eve.

FIVE LIVES—FIVE LOVES TWISTED IN TELEPHONE WIRES — AS DESTINY RINGS THE ALARM!

"Who says a man is to be forgiven, but a woman— NEVER!"
SHELLEY WINTERS as a honky tonk strip tease whose warmth and wit bring the strangers together.
GARY MERRILL as the stranger whose phone call helps him straighten out his own life.
MICHAEL RENNIE as a doctor who made a mistake and whose conscience won't let him forget it.
KEENAN WYNN as a traveling salesman whose good natured vulgarity will mislead you.
BETTE DAVIS as the woman who teaches him the difference between adolescent and adult love!

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY, MARCH 22, 1952

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Progress may be slow, efforts not too well received. Have you done the right thing? That's important. Correct moods; there should be marked improvement, perhaps gains.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Suggest you let well enough alone if things are running smoothly. Give your best and be content with normal gains, but —don't stop trying for more. Literary, mechanical efforts freshly favored.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Day may move fast, events come in quick succession, keeping you on the jump. You can handle your own problems if you remain calm and don't rush. Unusually fine results possible in spots.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—You may be asked to contribute effort or money to certain schemes. Be on guard; investigate first. Seek advice from proper authority, consult loved ones. Shun the unsavory.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Changes may come unexpectedly in money, business or other ventures. Be ready but not worried. Sound buying, trading, renovating favored. Fairly active now for foods, construction.

August 23 to September 23 (Vigro)—Speed up your work where possible; be organized and ready for new, up-to-date methods, propositions. Plan well if you would achieve goals set.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Excellent influences for well managed endeavor. Investments, merchandising, invention, experimenting, affairs of labor and the middle man can be gainful.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—If you are astute and exercise care in promises, written and legal matters, you can bridge most of day's obstacles quickly. Benefits to be derived from contacts, friendships.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Opportunities from genial co-operation with high-minded associates, friends, superiors, those whose affairs mix with yours. Monetary matters, employment, domestic problems improve.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Hold self in check, especially in financial affairs. Be sure of your ground in legal and business ventures. P.M. less trying, sponsors romance, socials, personal things.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Sort of test period; you can boost or break your own average. Don't answer or act unthinkingly; know what oyu are about, have confidence. Can go for new success this kind of day.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Auspicious for financial and personal matters. Resist temptation to go overboard in anything and you will come out achieving. Romance, family, social affairs tops.

YOU BORN TODAY have ability to handle yourself commendably in quick, intelligent company, if you watch tact and don't over-enthuse. Fine perception but sometimes lack the consistent persistence to carry plans to completion. Correct this and you will reach the heights. You like to entertain, make good promoters, writers, designers, inventors, military leaders. Birthdate: Sir Anthony Van Dyck, Flemish painter.

IVANHOE

Neighbors Honor 33rd Anniversary

Ivanhoe.—Near neighbors gathered recently to spend the evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Twiddy, it being the happy occasion of their 33rd wedding anniversary.

Completely taken by surprise, Mr. and Mrs. Twiddy received the friends giving a warm welcome to all.

The dining room table was nicely arranged with a lace tablecloth centred with white candles in silver holders, gifts and many cards of congratulation. A lovely baskets of red roses was received from Mrs. Twiddy's brother, Mr. W. J. Burkitt and Mrs. Burkitt, of Deseronto.

On behalf of the neighbors, little Miss Linda Reid made the presentation of a beautiful bouquet of snapdragons and tulips.

Piano Selections

During the evening several piano selections were given by Doris V. Twiddy, of Deseronto, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Twiddy, who also led in the singing of old favorites and a few treasured and well-known hymns.

Refreshments were served by Doris V. Twiddy assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Twiddy and Mr. nad Mrs. W. J. Burkitt.

To bring this fine evening to a close, everyone joined hands forming a friendship circle with Mr. and Mrs. Twiddy seated in the centre—one verse of "Auld Lang Syne", and one of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds", were sung.

Recalls Another Surprise

Mr. Twiddy, in expressing appreciation and thanks, recalled the occasion of their 25th anniversary when they were taken by surprise by the same good neighbors. Mrs. Twiddy also expressed her thanks in a gracious manner, assuring the friends that for them there would always be a warm welcome at the Twiddy home. This happy evening will be long remembered by all present.

DOUGHTY ANGLER

Southampton, England —(CP) —G. W. Howard, who lost a leg in the First World War, landed a 49-pound salmon after a 25-minute struggle on the River Avon. The fish is believed the largest salmon ever caught in southern England.

CHANGING TREND

Fredericton —(CP) — Current reports show a record number of 3,883 non-resident hunting licences were sold in New Brunswick last year. But the resident licences fell to 45,096, a reduction of 4,200.

ELDORADO

Miss A. Moorecroft Shows Coastal Slides

The Eldorado and Bannockburn Women's Institute held their March meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles Pigden, with 25 members, eight visitors and 11 children present.

Business was dealt with. A pair of flannelette blankets and a quilt had been donated to Mrs. James McQuige who lost her home previously by fire. It was decided to send $15 to the Red Cross. The conveners of the Standing Committee are requested to meet at the home of Mrs. Bert McCarey on April 2.

Correspondence was dealt with. A letter was read from the provincial president on the conference which is to meet in Guelph in May; also a letter from Mrs. Purcell concerning extension service for the homemaker. Several books were passed around.

Several "thank-you" notes were read.

Mrs. Douglas Pigden being convener, had engaged Miss Alma Moorecroft of Hazzard's, to show slides on her trip to the West Coast during the summer of 1951. These were much enjoyed and educational.

A vote of thanks was tendered Miss Moorecroft.

After the meeting was closed refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants, and a social half hour enjoyed.

URGES MARRIAGE

Ardagh, Ireland —(CP)—Rev. J. J. McNamee, bishop of Ardagh and Clonmacnoise, said the Irish Republic's marriage certificate rate is the lowest in the world. He urged parents to encourage early marriage "Instead of practically compelling their children to sink into a fatalistic acceptance of permanent bachelorhood."

Nobody Loves Forever

By Margaretta Brucker

She felt ashamed and guilty. She went into her own room and moved the sleeping Betsy back into her crib. She flung herself across her bed and pulled the blanket close about her shivering body. Already gray dawn crept through the long front windows of her bedroom.

It was Sunday morning. This was Sunday morning and in just a few hours she had planned to leave this house forever, put the past behind her and enter upon a bright and carefree future. Now she lay dispirited and uncertain.

"You and I will never be happy together Tom. We never loved each other." That was what she had planned to say so glibly. "Our love didn't last. It's dead."

Love! she thought how bitterly. Love had no place in the pattern of events this night had tossed into her future. For how could she leave at once and abandon Tom and Lucy in the face of trouble?

Finally she fell into a heavy sleep and did not open her eyes until the November sun was high in the skies. For an instant she could not bring her thoughts into focus. The events of the night before were unreal, like a terrible dream. This was the day—she sat up and buried her aching head in her hands as she remembered. This was the day she was to meet David.

There were voices outside her door. Betsy's low chuckle, quickly hushed by a deep voice. The door flew open and Tom came in with Betsy perched on his shoulder.

"Daddy!" cried Betsy, with a fatuous smile. "Look—Daddy." She patted her father's blond head.

Jessica snatched up her robe and huddled it about her bare shoulders. She was startled, at a disadvantage.

Tom explained "I heard her cry and came in. I've been getting acquainted with my daughter." He sat down on the bed beside Betsy and fondled the baby's soft curly head, but did not glance toward Jessica.

Jessica bit her lip. She asked "how's your mother this morning?"

"No change." Tom rose and paced back and forth. His voice lost color and became dull and anxious. "I called Genevieve Miles this morning, hoping that she might know where to locate Lucy. Genevieve didn't go with the group which left yesterday. She says it will be impossible to get Lucy until afternoon. She promised to come right over and help me."

Jessica met this announcement with angry silence. Why should Genevieve Miles enter into their affairs?

She made the excuse that she must dress. She was irritable when Betsy proposed that her father stay and dress her. She saved an awkward situation by hinting that she could manage Betsy better alone, and Tom left with a baffled expression on his tired face. Must she always hurt Tom?

Later she led Betsy downstairs and found Genevieve bustling capably about the kitchen, a print apron tied over her best rayon print, her cheeks flushed with excitement, her small eyes curious.

Genevieve refused any offers of assistance. The breakfast was ready. Excellent coffee and toast and bacon and eggs. Genevieve hurried about importantly, urging Tom to eat what she set before him. But Tom made an excuse and went back to stay with his mother. Any interest he might have had earlier in either Jessica or Betsy was lost now in deepening anxiety as he awaited the doctor.

Genevieve sat down opposite Jessica and delicately sipped her coffee, her cup held in a hand with the little finger rigidly extended.

"Queer that you don't hear from Lucy," she said.

"You said that she was off on a hike."

"I said if she went off on a hike, she would be back this afternoon."

"Where else would she go?" demanded Jessica.

Genevieve said "I wonder." Her small colorless eyes were hard and expressionless.

"What do you mean?"

Genevieve set her cup down carefully in the saucer. She picked up a bit of toast and nibbled daintily. "Maybe she went some place else."

"Without telling her mother?"

Genevieve finished her toast and wiped her fingers daintily on her napkin. Her thin lips parted in a sly smile. "Lucy didn't tell her mother everything."

"Why should she?"

"You thought she did?"

"I don't concern myself with Lucy's affairs."

But she did concern herself with Lucy. Right now a cold, apprehensive chill shook her as she met Genevieve's spiteful glance. What did Genevieve mean? What did she know?

Suddenly Jessica lost her self-control. She said furiously, "you despicable little fraud- You never were Lucy's friend. You just spied on her and tattled to her mother. Lucy—"

Tom came in, suddenly and without warning. He said "have you heard from Lucy? I thought I heard you speak her name."

Genevieve answered. "No. No, we haven't heard." Her sly glance travelled from Jessica to Tom and back again.

Should she voice her own anxiety Jessica wondered. No. She couldn't add to Tom's burden now. She said briskly. "I'll go and stay with your mother just as soon as I come back from taking Betsy across the street."

With only a brief explanation, she hurried Betsy waya. Doris would take care of Betsy. Could Doris know something about Lucy's whereabouts?

Why should Lucy go away and tell no one about her plans?

Jessica found Doris deep in the scattered sheets of the Sunday paper. She agreed to take care of Betsy. She would be glad of company she said, for Bill had gone off early that morning and the house was lonesome and deserted. She wanted to delay Jessica and was eager to discuss the events of the night before, but Jessica told her that she must return and persuade Tom to get some sleep.

"Any change?" asked Doris.

Jessica shook her head. She returned to the Blake house, dreading the moment when Tom should show real alarm at Lucy's absence possessed by a growing uneasiness as the noon hour came with the doctor's visit and still no word from Lucy. Genevieve prepared a dinner from the food Mrs. Blake had put in the refrigerator for the Sunday noonday meal. There was a roast and browned potatoes and a vegetable, a mince pie, excellent food which Tom scarcely touched. He was nervous and roved about as Genevieve sat with his mother while Jessica tried to eat and found the food unpalatable.

After dinner, Jessica persuaded Tom to lie down and rest for a while. He went into the little back room which had been his in boyhood. Had he guessed he would be unwelcome in the room they had shared together before he went away?

Jessica sat in the room with the sick woman, feeling more and more low-spirited as the afternoon advanced with no word from Lucy and no change in the inert figure on the bed. Surely there must be some sign of life in that rigid figure.

Once Jessica imagined there was the slightest flicker of an eyelid. Several times she bent over the bed breathlessly, uncertain whether she imagined a flutter of movement. Finally she decided to awaken Tom. She stole down the hall, gloomy now as the afternoon sun sank low, and carefully opened the door of the back room where Tom slept with his army overcoat thrown across his shoulders, his arms sprawled out on the bed. He looked young and weary and defenseless.

He stirred and opened his eyes, then sat up quickly, tossing the coat away from him. He said, "I slept . . ."

"I'm glad."

He swung his feet off the bed and sat staring blankly ahead of him. "Don't worry about me, Jess," he said absently.

She stood twisting her hands nervously, feeling ill at ease and uncertain. At last she said "Lucy wrote you?"

He shook his head. He smiled grimly. "I knew the instant I stepped into the hall last night that something was different. You had changed. At first—at first I thought it was mom. Later I knew."

She said hastily "must we talk about that now, Tom?"

"You don't want to?"

"No."

"Okay," he said.

Together they went back to Mrs. Blake's room and stood beside the bed and studied the face on the pillow. No, there was no apparent change.

"I'll sit with her now," Tom said.

Jessica went downstairs. Genevieve was gone. She felt relieved. She took down her coat in the hall and went over to bring Betsy home.

"She's asleep on my bed," said Doris. "Why disturb her? You had a telephone call—David Gregory. I told him what had happened. He said he would call back this evening."

David. Jessica tried to bring her thoughts to David. Right now she was unable to think of David, for the day was over and night was coming fast, and still no word from Lucy.

Doris gathered together the sheets of the paper scattered on the sofa. "Have you read these?" she asked.

"No."

"I want you to read this," said Doris. She selected a sheet and pointed to a headline.

"I don't want to read about that fire. It's made trouble enough," said Jessica.

"More than you think," said Doris.

"I don't see—" Jessica's voice died abruptly as she caught a glimpse of the boxed-in story on the front page:

UNIDENTIFIED GIRL IN CITY HOSPITAL

She dropped the paper quickly. "The doctor told us about that girl last night," she said soberly. Then caught by something in Doris' face, she asked, "but why should this interest me? Because Mrs. Blake was there?"

"Partly." Doris looked ill at ease, her round face grave.

Jessica picked up the paper, sat down and began to read.

The girl in the story had been unconscious when found, she could speak now but refused to say anything. She was horribly disfigured by burns on her face although her body was almost untouched by the fire. She would bear the marks of the fire forever. Her identity was a mystery.

No clue? Yes, there was a clue. The clue was the high point of the story. The girl wore a ring, an unusual and valuable ring, and by means of this ring the authorities hoped to solve her identity.

For an instant Jessica's horrified eyes stared unbelievingly at an illustration and the words under it: Can you identify this ring?

She could. There were no doubt in her mind about the ring's identity. It was her mother's ring which she had sold to the jeweler on main street. The ring Hugh Linton desired and had purchased.

Sutton, Kling on Trial

Dapperly-dressed bank bandit Willie Sutton confers with his lawyer, George Herz (right) as he goes to trial in Long Island City, N.Y., for the $64,000 holdup of the Manufacturers Trust Company branch in Sunnyside. At left, a co-defendant, bespectacled Thomas (Mad Dog) Kling, stares grimly ahead as he talks with his attorney, F. X. Sheridan. More than 100 detectives and police guarded the courthouse to prevent any sequel to the slaying of Arnold Schuster, who identified Sutton to police. — Central Press Canadian.

Tom Gard's Note Book

I suppose we have all been reminded that it is good to store for a rainy day, and of course that means winter as well. This was brought very much to mind when travelling through the country recently, and inspecting equipment in a farm home.

Storage Bin

This farmer did not agree with the old type bin in the corner of the cellar, he had built an airy one for better results. The framework of the bin was out from the wall about three inches, firmly constructed with sliding shelves or trays for fruit, bulbs, and vegetables. Plenty of air worked up through the trays as each had a slat bottom. It is well to keep in mind that the room should be cool and dry for best results, and free from frost.

Stove-pipes for Stakes

Over in another corner of the basement I spied a storage place for stakes. These had been used for dahlias and tomatoes, some of bamboo and others of cedar. Stove-pipes had been fastened to the wall with heavy wire, and the stakes stood upright to prevent them from falling all over the place.

Protection for Cheese

Invited to partake of a little hospitality I was interested to note how the folks protected the cheese. A new flower-pot had been soaked in water, then placed over the cheese to keep it from drying out, and to protect it from flies.

Small Tool Chest

The principal of a school nearby invited me into the manual training room. One of the junior pupils had constructed a very neat tool box from pieces of lath. Given a little extra touch this could have been converted into a fine box for gloves, ties or handkerchiefs.

TORNADOES KILL 166 IN FOUR SOUTHERN STATES

Jackson Returns

Leonard Jackson of Toronto, his arms bandaged and still recovering from the effects of wounds suffered in a gun battle with Montreal police, returns to Toronto by air under heavily armed escort. Jackson faces charges of attempting murder of two Toronto detectives, bank robbery and escaping from jail. Detective Jack Gillespie, extreme left, who took part in the Montreal battle, opens the door of a police cruiser for Jackson. Sergeant of Detectives Bill Thompson, who also took part in the gun fight, is second from right. Detective Lloyd Anderson is the third member of the escort at Toronto's suburban airport, Malton. — (CP Photo.)

Southern Alta. Cattle Men Charge B.C. and Manitoba With Unfair Regulations

(By The Canadian Press)

Southern Alberta livestock men appealed to the federal government Friday to take a hand in British Columbia and Manitoba regulations on movement of livestock between the provinces.

At the same time, they charged the two provinces with trying to pamper their own livestock industries through on-again, off-again embargoes.

The trouble was stirred up when British Columbia ruled out southern Alberta livestock as a source of supply. B. C. took the step in revising its stand on prairie livestock and meat which was banned from B.C. shortly after foot-and-mouth disease broke out in southern Saskatchewan.

New Regulations

The British Columbia government decided Friday to admit only northern Alberta livestock, sheep and swine but no meat. And they could come in only if certified free of foot-and-mouth disease by federal inspectors.

The action charged B.C.'s stand of the day before by ruling out southern Alberta livestock and barring dead carcasses, dressed and cut meats.

Southern Alberta livestock were ruled out because they were too close for B.C.'s liking to the southern Saskatchewan area, where foot-and-mouth disease was discovered. Meats and carcasses won't be allowed into B.C. because their source is too hard to trace.

A protest meeting of cattle men in Lethbridge, Alta., wired Federal Minister Gardiner urging that the federal government "to exercise its constitutional powers to prevent contraventions of the British North America Act and assume control of livestock marketing and thereby restore orderly marketing of livestock."

Flagrant Restrictions

The meeting also said B.C. and Manitoba restrictions "obviously have nothing to do with foot-and-mouth disease. They are flagrant restrictions of interprovincial trade and directly contravene the British North America Act."

Manitoba permits only sheep, swine and meats but no prairie cattle to enter its borders. The Alberta cattle men said this and B.C.'s embargo boosted those province's respective livestock breeders to the detriment of Alberta's.

They also claimed the two provinces could import just enough of either meat or livestock to prevent a scarcity but not lower prices.

Alberta's Agriculture Minister David Ure said B. C.'s change-about on its previous relaxation of the livestock embargo had "Balkanized the rest of Canada." He, an ddeputy minister O. S. Longman flew to Victoria to talk over the embargo with B. C. officials.

In Vancouver, he hinted that Alberta might retaliate by refusing to ship oil through B. C.

Unwarranted Action

"We've got fellows in Alberta crying against exporting gas and oil to the coast if the attitude of B. C. is summed up in this meat embargo," he said.

The people of Alberta, he added, "feel this discrimination and shutting off the market is unwarranted."

In Edmonton, Roy C. Marler, president of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture, wired an invitation to Mr. Gardiner to attend an emergency meeting of the four western federations of agriculture March 26 in Regina, heart of the quarantine zone.

He said there is danger of retaliation unless the confusion is cleared up.

44 PERSONS DIE IN FLAMING WRECK DUTCH AIRLINER

Plane Crashes Making An Instrument Landing

Frankfurt, Germany, March 22 — (CP) — Forty-four persons died today in the flaming wreckage of a Royal Dutch (KLM) Airliner in a Frankfurt suburb.

Four of the 48 persons aboard escaped death but two were hurt so badly they were not expected to survive.
wood estate of cats at the dying

United States air force officials, who helped direct rescue work, said the plane, a four-engined DC-6 inbound from Rome on a flight from Johannesburg, was carrying 38 passengers and a crew of 10.

Cause of the crash was not determined. The day was grey but not foggy and the plane—named "Queen Juliana" — was making an instrument landing. The ship was the one Queen Juliana had intended to use on a flight to the United States next month.

A German truck driver, Willibald Hoffman, was credited with pulling at least four persons from the wreckage. He climbed inside despite the flames, cut safety belts with his pocket knife and passed the people out.

Firemen and rescue crews had to put down flames in the plane and in the surrounding trees before the bodies of the dead could be removed.

Search crews dug from the wreckage three cases of gold consigned from Johannesburg to Amsterdam. They also found a book: "Point of No Return."

Two of the plane's four engines twisted off and dropped into the woods about 150 yards from the scene of the crash. It was approaching bustling Rhinemain Airport for a landing to refuel for its flight to Amsterdam.

Canada Hoping Germany Will Finance Barracks

Ottawa, March 22 — (CP) — Canada now is hoping Germany will finance construction of new barracks for the 27th Brigade as part of her contribution to joint western defence.

Negotiations have been going on in Bonn as part of the general dickering over what Germany will provide when she joins the European defence community.

No final decision has been reached. The aim is to move the brigade from the Hannover area to the Soest area, east of the Ruhr industrial belt, this fall.

It was anticipated that Canada would have to foot bills for the new barracks, estimated to cost between $5,000,000 and $17,000,000.

No specific item for the bill is, however, contained in the estimates for 1952-53 spending tabled in the Commons this week.

Canada has taken the stand that she should foot the bills for maintenance of the brigade.

Town Appears As if Angry Giant Had Smashed it Like Cheap Toy

By JAMES MEADOW

(Arkansas Gazette Reporter)

Judsonia, Ark., March 22 (AP) — The worst scene of desolation I've ever viewed is this community.

The only unscathed building in this town of 1,100 is the Methodist Church, where an emergency first-aid station was established.

State police said there were 15 known dead. The town marshal told me that there were almost sure to be another 20.

It is easy to believe. The town, in the flickering light of emergency illumination, appears as if an angry giant smashed it as if it were a cheap plaything.

I had to go to Searcy to get the only telephone line open out of White county. Hurriedly I toured the two funeral homes and a makeshift morgue before I made my call and headed for Bald Knob, which was just as viciously wrecked as Judsonia.

I counted 15 bodies at one funeral home and 12 at another. The morticians were doing the best they could under the circumstances, but were forced to stack the dead like cordwood. The wounded were getting priority over the dead in available ambulances.

This whole area is chaos. Rescue workers are toiling like madmen. It will take a fortune or maybe several to put the stricken section back on its feet. Whole communities must be rebuilt.

Municipalities to Benefit By Bill Which Implements Major Changes in Tax Policies

Toronto, March 22 — (CP)—A boost to the finances of Ontario municipalities will be given by two bills introduced in the Legislature yesterday by Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar.

One bill implements a major change in policy announced by Premier Frost in his budget speech Thursday — that municipalities will receive grants in lieu of taxation on provincial property within their boundaries.

The bill does not give municipalities the right to levy taxes directly. "We have no power to tax Crown properties," Mr. Dunbar said.

But provincial property such as buildings and offices would be assessed and grants paid on the basis of taxation on similar property.

The second bill, containing a series of amendments to the assessment act, contains two major provisions for added municipal revenue.

One, implementing a budget speech announcement, provides for a new system of grants to mining municipalities which the government expects wi give them an extra $480,000 next year. The second will make the property of municipal utility commissions liable for local improvement charges and will make their land and buildings, used for retail trade, subject to the "equivalent" of municipal school and business taxes.

Permitted to Exempt

Another Assessment Act amendment permits municipal councils to exempt the land of any religious institution which is used solely for recreational purposes from municipal taxes, except for school taxes and local-improvement charges.

A companion bill to the one providing grants in lieu of municipal taxation on provincial property is expected to be introduced Monday. It will provide for similar grants in lieu of taxation on the property of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission and local power commissions.

The first of the budget estimates will also come before the House Monday, together with some government bills.

Bill Approved

A debate of workmen's compensation developed yesterday during discussion of a bill to extend compensation protection to citizens injured while helping police, to volunteer fire brigades and to learners and apprentices. The bill was approved.

Several members, however, urged the government to provide additional compensation payments to workers injured in the past who now receive payments less than what is paid now.

Labor Minister Daley said he is "sympathetic" to the needs of such men. But employers paid the whole cost of compensation, he said, and it was not government policy to charge present employers for extra payments to workers injured in the past.

A report on pollution in the Spanish River at Espanola, in Northern Ontario, was also tabled. The report, by a special committee of the Ontario Research Council, recommended that the Kalamazoo Vegetable Parchment Company at Espanola "under no circumstances" should discharge waste liquors into the river.

Threshermen, Power Farmers Elect T. Cooney as President

A turkey banquet at Tobe's County Gardens wound up the 26th annual convention of the Eastern Ontario Brotherhood of Threshermen and Power Farmers when close to 325 persons enjoyed a delightful supper and varied program of entertainment and speechmaking.

Following the banquet and entertainment the evening was concluded with dancing, the music being supplied by Archer's Orchestra of Campbellford. The Massassaga W.A. catered for the banquet.

A talk on highway safety by Inspector A. Witts, of the Ontario Provincial Police at Toronto, was a feature of the afternoon program. Inspector Witts noted that bad as present day traffic problems are, traffic density has only begun. He urged support of everything in the interests of safe driving.

Complimented Courses

The speaker complimented the driver training courses through which young people were taught safe driving practices and noted that until recently there had been no real driving education. "Small wonder we have accidents and deaths," he said.

The Inspector said the duty of provincial police traffic officers was not solely to issue summons for traffic violations but to point out the mistakes of motorists and ask for their co-operation. A moving picture film demonstrating the dangers of "minor" traffic violations was shown.

President Fred Robinson presided over the meeting during which greetings were extended by Ed. Downs of St. Thomas, of the Western Ontario branch.

The story of twine from the time of planting and harvesting of the plants from which fibres are secured to the final processing in big Canadian factories was told by a film shown by the International Harvester Company.

Later Mr. Leslie George, assistant manager of the consumer relations branch of International Harvester showed a series of slides illustrating the research which goes into the production of better and more efficient machinery. Mr. George was introduced by Harold Meyers of Truck and Farm Supply, Belleville.

As the guest speaker at the banquet, Rev. Duncan McTavish, of Bridge Street United Church, traced the history of agriculture from the earliest times. He said agriculture was one of the oldest businesses in the world with all the great civilizations placing great empphasis on agriculture.

Cultivator Used 200 Years

The ancient Chinese and Assyrians had a combination drill plow but it was not until 200 years ago the cultivator was developed. Reaping had first been done with the sickle, then with a cradle, reaper and finally the binder. He pointed out that development of modern machinery left more leisure time for the farmer. Manhours necessary for production had been lessened but this in turn created a problem in that the sense of timing was lost because of speed.

"We want immediate action and are in a hurry so we drop a bomb," stated Mr. McTavish, "but we cannot solve the world problems by dropping a bomb."

He said the tendency of high-powered machinery was to give man a sense of importance, which was greatly over-rated and minimized the little fellow, who attended to the smaller things of life.

The resultant possibility was that the superstructure would become too great and the end would be confusion. While science had made great advances and had enriched life, humanity could gain the whole world and lose its own soul.

Warden Welcomes Guests

The speaker was introduced by Mr. John Thornbury with Theodore Cooney expressing appreciation. Warden Calvin Hughes of Prince Edward county welcomed guests to his county, while Warden Lee Grills of Hastings, and Roscoe Robson, M.P.P. for Hastings East, also spoke briefly.

Entertainment included a comedy skit by Mr. and Mrs. Cordon Bailey of Peterborough. Guests were introduced by Frank Stone of Stirling.

Theodore Cooney of Stirling was named president with Oscar Merrick, Stirling, and Robt. McAdam, Peterborough 9, as vice presidents. G. F. McInroy, Stirling, was returned as secretary treasurer.

The executive committee is composed of James Reynolds, Foxboro, Frank Tucker, Belleville, and Horace Knight, Belleville. Legislative committee members are Vincent Farrell, Stirling, and H. S. Oliver, Colborne.

Directors are Laurison Kennedy, Thomasburg; Kenneth Thompkins, Stirling; Fred Robinson, Corbyville; Roy Sills, Halloway and Everett Hubble, Belleville.

21 BUILDINGS RAZED BY FIRE AT WRANGELL

Damage Estimated At Million Dollars

Wrangell, Alaska, Mar. 22 (AP) — A wind-fed fire early today wiped out more than one-half of Wrangell's business section early today, destroying 20 frame buildings and a residence all perched on pilings along the town's main street.

Loss was estimated by Fire Chief William D. Grant at close to $1,000,000.

Eighty-five persons were made homeless before the flames were brought under control at 3 a. m. (6 a.m. EST) — 4½ hours after the fire mushroomed from a hardware store.

Firemen said a boiler explosion apparently was the cause.

Only one casualty was reported. Cpl. Darrell Miller was hit on the head by a timber sent flying by a dynamite explosion. His condition was not serious.

Dynamiting of buildings in the path of the raging blaze failed to stem its advance. Not until after the collapse of the only hotel in this community of 1,200 persons was the fire controlled.

One entire side of the town's single business street was a scene of destruction. For four blocks the narrow beach was littered with the smouldering remains of the buildings.

Forty Lived in Hotel

The structures were of two-storey frame construction, with the exception of the three-storey hotel. Forty of the homeless, driven out in 35-degree weather, lived in the hotel.

Every able-bodied man in town turned out to fight the blaze. They were able to keep the fire from spreading to business buildings on the opposite side of the street.

Dynamite and all available water hoses could not check the fire until it reached the north end of the main street four blocks away.

Gone were the community's only bakery, barber shop, frozen-food locker plant, theatre, and hotel. Also destroyed were a new Elks Club and bowling alley, Redmen's Lodge, one of three large grocery stores, two liquor stores and two gift shops.

For a time it was feared that the town's cold-storage plant also would be gutted. But firemen were able to save all but the plant's roof.

To Petition Minister

Oshawa, March 22 (CP) —Some 60 members of the Central Ontario Secondary School Board last night decided to petition Education Minister Dunlop to introduce legislation during the current session of the legislature which would prohibit teacher groups and teacher federations from blacklisting school boards.

A brief outlined the stand by the 25 school boards represented at the meeting is expected to be presented to the minister next week.

It also was decided to seek legal advice as to the interpretation of the provisions of the Teachers' Board of Reference Act and the Teachers' Federation Act.

Arkansas Affected Most Severely; Many Homeless

Property, Livestock Worth Millions Destroyed

Little Rock, Ark., March 22 — (AP)—The fury of spring tornadoes laced with rain and lightning left 166 dead in four southern states on the Mississippi River yesterday and more than 1,000 injured.

It was as if some vast artillery barrage had been laid on the stricken areas in Arkansas, west Tennessee, Missouri and north Mississippi.

Damage to homes, factories, utilities and farms was expected to run into millions of dollars.

Worst hit was Arkansas where the rumbling winds killed 115 persons. Thirty-two died in west Tennesssee, 7 in north Mississippi and 11 in the Caruthersville area of Missouri.

Throughout the night rescue workers stumbled through the muck and debris seeking victims The screaming sirens of ambulances added to the nightmare.

With ordinary means of communications disrupted, ham radio operators aided in getting messages into and out of stricken areas.

The storms, forecast by the United States Weather Bureau, swirled a deadly trail from southwest Arkansas to the state's northeast tip.

Hardest hit was the famous strawberry-producing area of White County, Ark., where 62 dead were counted. The towns of Judsonia and Bald Knob, about 50 miles northeast, were practically levelled. The only building unscathed in Judsonia was the Methodist Church.

Suffering Terrific

A portion of Searcy, the county seat of White County, was damaged but no deaths were reported there.

"The damage and human suffering is terrific," said Marvin Crittenden, director of relief services for the Arkansas Welfare Department. "The whole highway south from Searcy looks like picture-show scenes of battlefields. It's awful."

Governor Sid McMath, who arrived at Searcy early last night said the ruin and suffering in that area "is terrible, terrible."

The American Red Cross reported it had ordered disaster workers "from all over the country" into the stricken areas.

At some points, hail, rain and fire added to the misery and hampered rescut operations.

Power lines and communications also were knocked out, further hindering the grim chores of National Guardsmen, state police and volunteer relief workers.

The Arkansas Gazette estimated 700 personsssss -sss..ssrrg ated 700 persons were injured in Arkansas, and hundreds more were reported hurt in the other three states.

Three deadly funnels of wind struck west Tennessee in the Dyersburg area, where 11 were reported dead. Other casualty reports had nine killed at Henderson, six at Moscow, and one each in Medina, Leach and Chesterfield.

The Mississippi highway patrol said seven persons were killed when a twister ripped through that small north Mississippi town.

This was by far the worst of many tornado disasters which have hit Arkansas through the years. The previous record death toll was 86 on June 5, 1916. The highest single day's death toll from tornadoes recorded is 689 killed in Missouri, Illinois and Indiana March 18, 1923.

Funeral homes were swamped. The dead were stacked like cordwood at Searcy. Hospitals likewise were jammed. Aid stations were set up in schools, churches, armories and other buildings.

The first of the death-dealing twisters hit Dierks, a small lumber town about 110 miles southwest of Little Rock, about 2.45 p.m. (3:45 p.m. EST). Seven persons were killed there.

In addition to the dead in White County and Dierks, a breakdown of the known dead in Arkansas included:

North and west of Cotton Plant, 10; Center Point, 5; England, 8; Hazen, 3; Carlisle 2; Marked Tree 2; Hockory Ridge 2; Wattensaw, 1, and Trumann 1.

D. C. Phipps of Little Rock was driving a transport truck near Judsonia when the winds came. Suddenly a house came flying across the highway and smashed into the truck, Phipps suffered only scratches.

"Mr. X" Married

Harry McLean, 69, eccentric Merrickville, Ont., millionaire who earned the title of "Mr. X" for his spontaneous handing out of money, was married during a recent trip to South Africa, a business associate said. The friend, who declined to allow the use of his name, said the millionaire construction executive had married Margaret C. Fitzpatrick in a ceremony performed by a Roman Catholic priest. He knew no other details. — (CP Photo.)

THE WEATHER

Toronto, Mar. 22 (CP)—Synopsis: Although spring has had its official beginning, there may be some people in Ontario who will doubt that fact. While temperatures in northern regions dropped to zero or below last night and appear to be going lower, a disturbance from the southwest is moving steadily towards Ontario. Cloudy skies will be followed by rain or snow depending on the locality. This precipitation will continue intermittently today and Sunday. As the storm passes, the rain will turn to snow, the winds will shift to the northwest and temperatures will be cooler.

Massacre of 117 Cats in Victoria Arouses Wrath of Humane Society

Victoria, B. C., March 22 (CP) — A recent cat massacre near here was termed a "terrible thing" at a meeting last night of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

S. P. C. A. Inspector Maggs undertook to rid the nearby Queenswood estate of cats as the dying wish of the estate's owner, wealthy Mrs. W. F. B. Berger who died two weeks ago.

Maggs bagged 117 cats with his shotgun before he quit because a neighbor accused him of poor marksmanship.

Mrs. Berger asked Maggs to kill the felines because she feared no one would feed them after she died.

"Shooting of the cats was the worst thing that ever happened to the S. P. C. A.," Mrs. Josephine Henderson, a member of the society, told the meeting.

"We saw under a bush near the house a cat that had dragged itself under a tree to die," she said.

"The neighbors were horrified. A more humane way would have been to use poison in their food. Let's hope this terrible thing never happens again."

Six-Instalment Plan Proposed For Tax Payment

Approval of the 1953 budget by October 31st of this year and payment of taxes in six instalments instead of the present four, would make payments easier for the taxpayer and would reduce bank loans by the city, according to Alderman Chas. Hyde, chairman of finance.

At the last meeting of council it was recommended that council give consideration to setting the tax rate by end of October, finance committee to discuss the matter with various boards and commissions for which council levies. The city solicitor will check the provincial statutes as to procedure.

The plan of setting the tax rate before the year end with taxes to be paid in six instalments instead of four has been adopted by several other cities in the province, it was stated.

According to the plan tax payments would start in February and ratepayers would be able to pay more promptly by smaller payments.

Maple Syrup Offering Small At Local Market

Maple syrup held at $5 per gallon, container extra, on the local produce market today with quart lots at $1.25. The offering was small with only a few vendors having syrup although one Prince Edward farmer had 40 gallons for sale.

Egg prices held at 42c for firsts, 40c for mediums and 35c for pullets. Broilers sold at 60 cents per pound with mature birds at 50c.

More potatoes than usual were offered with prices remaining the same at $4.50 per bag and 90c per peck. Carrots, beets and parsnips were 30c the half peck.

Pork by the quarter was 30 cents for fronts and 35c for hinds. Whitefish sold at 40c per pound.

Apples were plentiful with McIntosh and Talman Sweets selling at 50c per basket. Spys and Delicious were 60c. Hampers of Delicious sold at $2.50 with Spys ranging from $2.50 to $2.90. Starks were $2.

Young pigs were offered at $8 each. Mixed stove wood was quoted at $17 per cord.

Letter to the Editor

Garbage-Loving Dogs Raise Citizen's Ire

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

The dog is said to be man's best friend. No doubt that is why some people have friends. I am a dog lover of sorts and near where I live we have some of the cleverest little, and big dogs you ever saw. Our garbage goes out regularly twice each week and it is a great pleasure for me, to see those poor underfed animals, take the lids off the garbage cans (I think they must use a can-opener) and get something good to eat. Are they ever smart? They crawl inside the cans and scatter the contents far and wide.

The boulevard and even the street is fairly littered regularly twice per week. Of course all I have to do is get a rake and shovel and fill the cans again, which is good, if smelly exercise for anybody. The other night I was carrying a brick out to the garbage and suddenly the brick flew out of my hand and hit one of these poor pooches, to my great sorrow. I wouldn't hurt them for worlds and I think dog poisoners are criminals. However, just out of curiosity, what do those fellows use? I am thinking of starting my garden soon. The dogs are wonderful at digging, then all I have to do is the planting.

J. Iscariot

Editor's note: We understand that if fresh chloride of lime is sprinkled over the garbage, dogs will give it a wide berth after the first sniff, and probably go on to the neighbors' cans. It's a caution how smart some dogs are!

Harmonica Bill Fine Entertainer At Trade Fair

"Harmonica Bill" Russell, that grand old man with the trick harmonicas, highlighted the evening's entertainment at the Canadian Legion Industrial and Trade Fair being held in the Armouries on Thursday and Friday nights.

For over thirty minutes, "Harmonica Bill" amused, entertained and thrilled an appreciative audience with well-mastered tricks and oddities, whistling, singing and comic offerings. This star of stage, screen and radio, not to mention television, has a complete assortment of acts, 42 to be exact, in which he does everything but swallow the instrument.

One of his outstanding feats is an act in which he smokes as many as three cigarettes, while continuously playing the harmonica, a task which took him nearly four years to master. Mr. Russell also plays through a six-foot hose, balances a tumbler on the harmonica while playing, plays without hands, does a juggling act and accompanies himself on his own special instrument, the octophone. This instrument is "an eight string gadget" which can be made to sound like a banjo, ukelele, guitar, mandolin or piano.

Never Loses Note

Another of his outstanding and original tricks is to play the instrument in five different positions, keeping the same tune without losing a note; these include playing through the nose, upside down, reversed, inside mouth and in the usually accepted manner all in the same number. Mr. Russell stated that this trick alone took over three years to perfect.

Mr. Russell, who first gained prominence with "Smiley" Burnette in 1941, is a veteran of the First World War and entertained overseas with U.S.O. groups during and after the last great war. He won the championship of the Atlantic fleet and established himself as the world champion trick harmonicist when he won a contest among five nations. For years he offered $100 to anyone who could defeat him but had no takers.

Younger Than Age

Approaching 60 years of age, (on the 9th of June, 1952), Mr. Russell, who appears much younger than his age, has been entertaining as a professional for 35 years. Born in Ellenville, N.Y., he now maintains residences in Buffalo and in California.

He has appeared on 40 different radio stations and at one time, approximately 1920, brought a radio show from Buffalo to entertain over radio station CFRB, Toronto. His other accomplishments include numberless appearances on the stage, screen and more recently on television. His most recent movie, "Pecos River", has just recently been released.

Prior to appearing at the Armouries, Mr. Russell made a personal appearance at the County Home for the Aged on the Trent Road, during which he spent three-quarters of an hour in an informal session with the old folks. He led a community sing, did tricks, told stories, sang old time songs, and was generally just one of the gang. The show was well enjoyed and very much appreciated by the audience.

Other Attractions

Other outstanding attractions at the Trade Fair included Paul Burnett, a caricaturist, Gail and Gary Tremaine, who entertained with a waltz and tap dance number, the Canadian Legion Boys' Choir under the direction of Wally Bent, and Dean Whalen on the Hammond organ, who entertained throughout the evening with his fine melodious renditions. The show will conclude tonight.

Three Sergeants Shaken Up When Truck Rolls Over

Three sergeants from the R.E.M.E. army training camp at Picton escaped with little more than a ducking late Friday afternoon when their panel truck skidded on a curve and after rolling twice ended up on its side in a five foot deep pond of water.

A passing bread truck driver waded out and hauled open the door and the three soldiers climbed out soaking wet but little hurt otherwise. They were taken to Belleville hospital for a checkup.

The three men Staff Sgt. T. F. Broomer, driver, Sgt. A. W. L. Warner, and Sgt. T. Whitehead were on their way back to Picton when on Dundas Street west on the outskirts of the city they tried to take a curve too fast and the truck went out of control, skidded and rolled into the pond.

Obituary

MRS. CECELIA CARSWELL (Madoc)

In failing health for the past two years, Mrs. Cecelia Carswell, Madoc, died at her residence on Friday. She was in her 65th year.

Born in Pontiac County, Quebec, she had been a resident of this locality for the past 38 years. She is survived by her husband, William Carswell, five daughters, Mrs. Richard (Hazel) Mason of Orangeville, Mrs. James (Greta) Arnold of Oshawa, Mrs. James (Thelma) Reid of Madoc, Mrs. James (Olive) Rose of Belleville, Mrs. Gerald (Eleanor) Radford of Belleville, and seven sons, Clarence, Russell, Edward of Oshawa, Kemis of Belleville, and Douglas, Clifford and Irvin of Madoc.

Also surviving are 21 grandchildren and one half-brother, William Chartrand of Portage Du Fort, Quebec.

She was a member of St. Peters Presbyterian Church.

Resting at the residence, the funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

LATE MRS. CORA FEWTRELL

The funeral of the late Cora Fewtrell was held from the Belleville Burial Co. Funeral Home to Christ Church on Fri. afternoon where the service was conducted by Canon J. B. Creeggan, assisted by Rev. Everett Smith. Interment was at Belleville Cemetery.

Bearers were Frank Grandame, Robert Wood, Glyn Jones, Fred Beeby, Kenneth Lewis and L. Desauliers.

Former Belleville Girl Wins Acclaim For Performance

Had you been seated in His Majesty's Theatre, Montreal, a few weeks ago, watching "Finian's Rainbow" you would have thrilled to the fine performance of the feminine romantic lead.

And as a Bellevillian, you would have flushed with pride for the clever actress-singer was none other than Bernice Besson (nee Saunders) well-known in this city as a vocal artiste a few years ago.

Bernice Besson has gone far in musical circles since she sang in Bridge Street United Church choir and studied under Miss Leona Riggs.

At present she is the soloist in one of Montreal's leading churches and does radio work with the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

A Montreal musical critic said of Mrs. Besson: "she took the role of Sharon (Finian's Rainbow) with as much ease and grace as her version of the 'Fiery Azuri' in last year's 'The Desert Song.' Her brogue is good and she seems at home in the role."

There was another Belleville touch to the presentation of "Finian's Rainbow." Taking a minor part was Bill Bankler, well known here and a son of James Bankler, soloist at Bridge Street United Church.

Reserve Army, RCAF Units To Show Fire Power

Combined operations will be the order of the day at Cobourg, Sunday, March 30, the Army's Central Command Headquarters announced today.

At 2 p.m., Reserve Army and RCAF units will release their fire power on floating targets in Lake Ontario, offshore from the rifle ranges just east of Cobourg. Facilities have been provided for the general public to watch this demonstration.

The 33rd Medium Regiment, RCA, Cobourg, will be host to artillery and infantry units from the surrounding area. Artillery units from Peterborough, Brockville, Cobourg, Lindsay and Belleville will be firing live ammunition from assorted anti-tank, field and other artillery weapons. Reserve army infantry units from Belleville and Port Hope will be firing automatic infantry weapons, piats, and mortars.

Four RCAF Mustangs, from the Pilot Attack Flight of the Air Armament School, Trenton will carry out an air attack on the target with rocket and .50 inch machine gun fire.

Hobbies Subject Of Address To Y's Men's Club

Hobbies, and their function in a full and happy life, formed the subject of an address delivered to the Y's Men by R. E. Peterson. Mr. Peterson, construction engineer to the Bakelite Company is himself an ardent collector of minerals, books, stamps and other items.

The speaker stated that hobbies divided naturally into three groups; cumulative, creative and group hobbies.

Typifying the cumulative hobby was the youngster with his collection of milk bottle caps, the autograph collector, and the philatelist. Mr. Peterson recommended that parents would do well to provide the young child with an initial collection which, although it might be laid aside at the time would in later life, lead the adult into a useful hobby.

The creative hobbyist with his workshop or his paints and brushes turned his spare time into useful or beautiful articles. The third category embraces the service clubs and various collector's organization. Such groups are often creative as well, with their services to the public.

In conclusion, Mr. Peterson pointed out the sharp contrast between a bored, lack-lustre retired person, with little to do but gaze from his window, and the hobbyist, who devotes his retired leisure to bringing his life-long hobby to perfection.

At the close of the meeting, convener Bruce Bishop presented bridge prizes to Harold Bankier and Lind Littlejohn, winners in the recently completed Y's Men's bridge tournament. Final plans were announced for the annual president's night, which will feature as speaker the Rev. Donald Amos.

Y's Man Vern Weir acted as chairman and welcomed Toronto Y's Man Walter Brown to the meeting.

R.B. Perrault Will Address C of C Annual Dinner

R. B. Perrault

Special speaker at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at the Quinte Hotel on Monday will be Mr. R. B. Perrault, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. The dinner will begin at 7 p.m.

Mr. Perrault, a resident of Montreal, is president of the automobile firm of Cumming-Perrault Limited located in that city. He is also director of Brusk Mills Limited, Riordan Sales Corporation Limited, and Industrial Cellulose Research Limited.

Mr. Perrault is also active in association, community and welfare work. His wide knowledge of the automobile business earned him the first presidency of the Federation of Automobile Dealer Associations of Canada and the same post with L'Association Provinciale des Marchands d'Automobiles du Quebec. Among other things, he is a past vice-president of the Quebec division of the Canadian Red Cross Society, a past-president of the Canadian Club of Montreal and also a past-president of the Advertising & Sales Executives Club, Montreal.

At present he holds the posts of chairman, Executive Committee Association of Canadian Clubs; president, Quebec Easter Seal Society, and Honorary secretary-treasurer, Rehabilitation Society for Cripples.

Firefighters Use Much Water

Fighting a major fire is a co-ordinated effort on the part of the fire department and also on the part of the men who see to it that the firemen have sufficient water to fight it with.

For instance, during Tuesday night's costly fire when several buildings in the downtown section of the city were burned, firemen used more than a million gallons of water.

An official of the local filtration plant on Trent Road today noted that from midnight Tuesday until ten o'clock Wednesday morning 1,089,000 more gallons than average were pumped.

Choir Members Honor Couple Before Departure

After 23 years in Canada a visit to the folks "back home" has proven too much for Mr. Jack McCabe, Foxboro, who with Mrs. McCabe with his wife was hon- next month to live.

Mr. McCabe visited members of his family in England in 1950 and since then has been unable to resist the call of the Old Country and once familiar surroundings.

A valued member of the Foxboro United Church choir, Mr. McCabe with his wife were honored by choir members Friday night following the regular choir practice in the Sunday School room. Choir leader Mr. Stillman Gay and Mrs. Gay acted as hosts and served refreshments following which a social time was spent.

Mr. Gay spoke highly of Mr. McCabe as a choir member pointing out he was always co-operative when called upon to act as soloist. He assured the choir would miss Mr. McCabe very much.

Choir members W. E. Tummon and Clifford H. Wilson also spoke briefly expressing regret that Mr. McCabe was leaving.

Fire Damages Small Cottage In Hillcrest

Fire caused close to $500 damage to a small cottage on Centre Street in Hillcrest on the outskirts of the city at midnight last night. The home was owned by Mr. and Mrs. William Boromo and family.

Belleville firemen answered the alarm with two trucks and were successful in confining the blaze to the kitchen of the residence, although the balance of the home suffered heavy smoke and water damage.

The blaze was thought to have started in the kitchen but firemen were unable to say what caused the fire.

A few minutes before the call to Hillcrest firemen answered a chimney fire alarm to the old Hannah Bakery on Front Street.

Europe as I See It

By Raymond R. Canon

(Article 61)

This week the Translaters Institute in Germersheim, Germany, is celebrating its fifth anniversary. Situated in a small town in the Palatinate on the left bank of the Rhine, this school represents a new type of college, as yet without an equivalent in Germany. It was founded after a study of colleges both in Germany and abroad and keeping in mind the requirements of both the German students and the foreign students who wish to further their studies either in German or in other foreign languages as well as attending courses in general subjects. The founders of this school were convinced that the mainly philological orientation of language students should be supplemented by something more practical, for not all graduates in languages wish to go into the teaching profession. There are many other occupations open to such students such as journalism, trade, commerce, and the foreign service to name a few, all of which require a more practical education than most language students have. For this purpose this institute was formed, partly under the direction of the French government, in whose zone of occupation it lies. Besides the lectures given in about ten modern languages, there are also general courses given in philosophy, law, economics, history and geography, all of which avoid any over-specialization on the part of the student.

One Major Language

Every student here chooses one language as his major and spends a good deal of his time in this department. He is taught in small groups so that he has ample opportunity to practise. Special emphasis is placed on interpreting exercises, in which a German and a foreign lecturer work together, and in this way the students are introduced, by direct method, to the special technique which interpreting involves. In addition the student must take several courses concerning the country whose language he has chosen, so that he has a knowledge of its history, geography, literature, economics and current conditions of the country in question. Also, if he desires, he may study commercial correspondence or stenography in the language concerned.

At the same time each student must carry on a less comprehensive study of one or two other languages, so as to prevent too great a onesidedness.

Achieved Something

This institute has achieved something else which the other German universities have so far been unable to achieve, and in view of the circumstances, can hardly hope to achieve. It has enabled students of a certain age to come together into a real community life. This purpose is achieved by accommodation in the college hostel modelled on the lines of the English and American colleges, and based on the one hand on the principle of selection according to age and personality, and on the other hand on the principle of complete freedom. Over three hundred students, consisting of approximately equal numbers of men and women, live in their respective quarters. It is left to the initiative of each group to arrange its own living quarters. In addition there are large reading rooms, a library, a periodical room and a club room as well as a large restaurant and a snack bar. One room is set aside for religious worship.

Many Foreign Professors

There is a large number of foreign professors on the staff, and the German professors have been selected for their qualities as specialists as well as for their experience abroad. These teachers are not only expected to give instruction but to maintain close social contacts with the students, something which is much easier to do in this institute, with its special facilities, than in larger universities.

I was rather fortunate to be able to finish off my studies at such a university, for it gives me a chance to round off my linguistic studies as well as get to know a wide variety of German students.

They are quite frank in discussing Germany's past history, and are extremely anxious to know our reaction during and after the war. They are all very friendly; so far I have enjoyed my stay with them, and have every reason to believe it will continue to be so. Since I am the only student from North America, I have had to settle any number of disputes over America or what the latest American slang really means. Sometimes I am not so sure myself.

TAKE PRECAUTIONS

Jerusalem, March 22 — (Reuters) — A call to survivors of Nazi concentration camps to demonstrate in Tel Aviv next Tuesday against the Israeli - German reparations talks at The Hague was made last night by Menachem Beigin, leader of the freedom movement and former commander of the terrorists Irgun Zvai Leumi. Special precautions are being taken by police to deal with the proposed "demonstration of wrath and mourning."

SENT TO INSTITUTION

San Francisco, March 22 (AP) — Henry Von Morpurgo, former public relations man charged with diverting to his own use $93,000 from the Sister Kenny Polio fund, was committed Thursday to a federal institution until he recovers mental competency. His lawyers repeatedly had attempted to prevent Von Morpurgo's trial by declaring he was so 'emotionally upset' he was incoherent.

EIGHTH CHILD ENTERS

Indianapolis, March 21 — (AP) — "You never get used to seeing one of them leave," sobbed Mrs. Blanche Sullivan, 53, as she said goodbye Thursday to her son, Kenneth, 20, her eighth child to enter military service. Kenneth left for marine training at San Diego. Two other sons are in the air force, one in the army and one in the navy. Two others are disabled navy veterans, and a daughter, Mildred, served in the Waves.

Shalom From Israel

By Leo H. Marcus

(Article 28)

Jerusalem, Israel — (Special to the Ontario Intelligencer) — A few days ago I was given an assignment to spend two days working with children at a ma'bara. I have mentioned a ma'bara in previous articles, but I will try to deal with it in more detail and tell you about my experiences at the ma'bara Kastel.

A ma'bara is a temporary immigration camp and work village intended to speed up the absorption of immigration. The word comes from the Hebrew word ma'avar which means transition. Most of the immigrants coming to Israel, especially those from the Oriental countries, do not have much money or means to support themselves and have to be looked after by the government until work and homes can be provided for them. Each ma'bara consists of from 200 to 300 families.

No Investment Made

No agricultural investments are made, but the immigrants are provided with tents and drinking water. They receive no agricultural equipment and only a few temporary buildings are erected in order to provide schools for children and in many cases the adult immigrant also. The members of the ma'bara have to support themselves from the wages which they begin to earn soon after their arrival. They are given employment by the government doing public work such as forest planting, road building, rock clearing and soil preservation. The industrious settler may also have a little garden and grow a few vegetables or raise some chickens.

Ma'barot have been set up all over Israel and they are turning unproductive and costly immigrants into self-supporting citizens. Since many of the immigrants come from backward countries, the scanty accommodation offered them, with sanitary, medical and educational facilities, constitute a much higher standard of living than what they have been used to.

Many of the ma'barot will eventually become agricultural settlements and must therefore be placed in locations where the soil is suitable for agriculture and where there is sufficient water for future agricultural irrigation.

Each ma'bara is supplied with teachers and social workers. The immigrants elect a local council to look after various problems affecting life at the immigration camp. In order to make the transitionary period more attractive and easier to bear, the government has guaranteed permanent housing units within the period of one year to all who have been moved to a ma'bara. The immigrants receive these houses at a low cost and they are given a long period of time in which to pay for them.

On Jerusalem Border

The ma'bara I visited is called Kastel and is situated in the Jerusalem corridor. Most of the immigrants have come from Iraq and Iran. The temporary aluminum huts provided for the immigrants are small and have only one room. However, a number of permanent three-roomed homes have already been built and immigrants settled in them.

Kastel has been provided with three qualified social workers, a staff of teachers, a nursery for children, a nurse and a doctor. All men at the camp have been provided with employment and the administration appears to be efficient.

On the first day that some of my friends and I were at Kastel we worked with boys and girls ranging from 13 to 18 years in age. We taught them Hebrew, mathematics, songs, dances and games. The children were most eager to learn, most of them never having been to school before.

Never Seen Chocolate

I recall offering one 16-year-old boy a piece of chocolate and he did not know what to do with it as he had never seen it before.

Most of the children have only been in Israel about seven months and yet have learned to speak Hebrew, the official language of the country. These children have regular classes and seem to be making favorable progress.

On the second day at Kastel I worked in the "Gan Yeladim," a kindergarten for children of five and six years of age. These children are taught Hebrew, songs, dances, and have toys to play with. In this kindergarten they are also taught the rules of cleanliness — an important thing which they do not learn from their parents, most of whom are backward and uneducated.

The ma'barot are proving to be a successful experiment and the immigrants to Israel are being settled. In this country they can forget their unpleasant past and live normal lives as citizens of this democratic state of Israel.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By

WINIFRED E. WILSON

SPRING FLOCKS

Do not imagine that every crow heard and every robin seen from the first of January until now is an early migrant, because individuals of these and several other species remain in Canada all winter. Nevertheless, the majority of crows and robins do migrate, and March is the favorite month for their return. Indeed, various kinds of birds are now flocking north, and some have already arrived on our side of the southern border.

Flying in close formation, many large flocks, composed entirely of male red-winged blackbirds, come north near the beginning of March, but it is usually April before the female get here. Golden-crowned kinglets put in an appearance any time after the first week of March. By the third week herring gulls can be seen, in flocks of perhaps 150, making their way to their home bases. Ere March is out, paradise horned larks will even be starting nesting operations in settled Canada.

Most species travel in darkness, so are seldom "caught in the act" of returning, unless we obtain a view of them flying across the face of the moon, or are able to recognize them by their voices, as we do the Canada geese. But hawks are among the day travellers, and their migration is really spectacular, for they frequently fly in loose flocks of many hundreds, each kind keeping pretty much to itself. If not sighted by the end of March they will soon be coming.

Once April has begun, birds arrive thick and fast. Grackles, several kinds of ducks, killdeers, tree swallows (sometimes in flocks numbering 500) and fox sparrows are hurrying forward. What a thrill we get on the arrival of song sparrows, with their individualistic yet uniformly cheerful songs! How glad we are once more to meet a flock of gay ruby-crowned kinglets, fluttering through the branches that are just showing a fuzz of pale green! Until we actually see them, we cannot believe these loud, ringing voices belong to such tiny birds. Before the end of April a flock of Myrtle warblers may fill the tree tops, because these are the vanguard of the warbler family. After that, the big spring rush of these small, jewel-like birds is on, and the air is full of song.

The arrival date of migrants is so regular that, unless there are very unusual weather conditions, we can foretell within a very few days when each species is due to return.

"SPECIAL PRIVILEGES TO NONE"

Those 33 French-language associations in the city of Ottawa were not fooling when, a short time ago, they protested against a decision of the Ottawa city council to begin making them pay taxes, which at least some of them had not been doing previously. Last Monday, they forwarded to the Ottawa mayor and council, as well as to the Ontario government, a long resolution:

1. Protesting imposition of any taxes on grounds and buildings used for religious or any related purpose by institutions approved by competent religious authorities and including ecclesiastical residences, parish halls, playgrounds and other places of entertainment conducted in the interests of the church.
2. That a statement from competent religious authorities be considered proof of the compliance of these institutions with requirements for the exemption.
3. That city council postpone its decision to collect taxes from the institutions "indefinitely."
4. That city council support any step to amend the Assessment Act.
5. That Premier Frost and cabinet colleagues amend the Assessment Act to exempt the institutions from municipal or any other taxation.

The rest of us need not be concerned about what the city of Ottawa does in the matter of granting exemption from taxation to individuals or groups who do not like paying such taxes. If the Ottawa council grants such exemptions, it will have to answer to the citizens of Ottawa when the next election comes. It is likely that many Ottawa citizens would also like to be exempted from taxation.

But the rest of us have every reason to be concerned about what sort of reception the government of Ontario gives to the requests forwarded to it by these 33 French-language groups in Ottawa. (The fact that they are French-language groups is irrelevant; it would make no difference if they were English-language groups, Russian-language groups, or Bulgarian-language groups.)

If Premier Frost and his colleagues grant any of the requests listed above, they will be creating a precedent which will cause them all kinds of embarrassment henceforth. They will immediately be flooded with such requests from all kinds of organizations which have religious-sounding titles but which may, or may not, be genuinely religious in character.

Even if the government were only to amend the Assessment Act in such a way as to give municipalities greater leeway in granting exemptions from taxation, without making the granting of such exemptions mandatory, it would be making a mistake. It would be "passing the buck" to the municipal councils, who would soon be buried under piles of resolutions asking to be exempted from paying taxes.

But we are not greatly alarmed about what is likely to happen after Hon. Leslie Frost and his associates ponder this resolution from the 33 French-language groups in Ottawa. We have confidence that Mr. Frost and the other members of his cabinet will know exactly what action to take and will take such action, tout de suite, as members of the 33 French-language groups would say.

C.P.R. STILL SELF-SUPPORTING

Things did not go as well with the Canadian Pacific Railway during 1951 as during the preceding year, it is shown by a preliminary report on the company's annual statement, issued in Montreal last Monday. The company's net income during 1951 was approximately $4,500,000 less than in 1950.

Profit amounted to $43,307,000, equal to $2.98 per common share, compared to $47,867,000 and $3.32, respectively, for 1950.

Gross earnings were up to $428,911,000 from the previous year's level of $378,576,000, but operating expenses and taxes showed a big increase from $340,556,000 to $402,098,000.

Net operating income shrank to $26,812,000 from $38,020,000. Dividends paid on common shares were $20,100,000 in both years, but preferred stock dividends were down from $3,388,648 to $3,328,000.

The foregoing figures are by no means complete, but they are sufficiently so to show that the C.P.R. is still paying its way and even making a few dollars for its shareholders.

GERMAN DUELERS

Though Western Germany has enacted a law against it, dueling is again appearing in Germany. This illustrates how difficult it is to change a German when left in his own environment.

Dueling was something more than a sport in Germany. It was part of the spirit of militarism. Scars obtained in duels were a badge of honor. To most peoples, it is a silly and even inhuman practice, but not to the German who engages in it.

If Germans haven't surrendered their propensity for duels, it is innocent to expect they have altered much their other characteristics. — (Windsor Star.)

IDLENESS

It must be dreary with the morn
To wake and have no task to face;
No little burden to be borne;
No need to fill a useful place.

It must be dull, from day to day,
To wake to wonder what to do;
How pass the coming hours away
When you have read the paper through.

Dear Lord, I pray Thee, spare me, please,
The dull monotony of play;
The deadly weariness of ease,
And keep me busy day by day.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

March 22nd., 1932.

Mrs. H. W. Ackerman and Miss Helen Ackerman have left for Winnipeg where they will spend the Easter vacation with the Rev. Dr. F. E. Malott and Mrs. Malott, formerly of this city.

Mr. A. R. Tilbrook of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Lindsay, has returned to that town after spending a vacation of three weeks here.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Wilson are spending a few days in Toronto.

Miss Marie Huffman has returned home after spending three weeks' vacation in Sarnia, Windsor and Chatham.

Mrs. Wm. Reynolds of Calgary, Alberta, is visiting relatives here.

30 YEARS AGO

March 22nd., 1922.

Capt. T. E. Hyland was home from Bridgeburg to spend Sunday.

Dr. Platt has opened his office over the Merchants Bank at the corner of Bridge and Front Streets.

Mr. C. B. Foster of Moira, will sell by auction his farm, stock and implements.

In a bowling match at the Y.M.C.A. the Printers defeated the Lions, the score being 2457 to 2360. Dr. O'Callaghan rolled the high single and high three string of the evening. Hill of the Printers also rolled a tidy score. Printers: Hill, Ridley, Draycott, Harrison and Barlow; Lions: Dr. O'Callaghan, McIntosh, Manley, Sinclair and Blute.

Mayor Charles Hanna has returned from Bancroft where he attended a meeting of the Bancroft Marble Company.

40 YEARS AGO

March 22nd., 1912.

A foreman is wanted for the city's public works department and Ald. A. Robinson is calling for applications.

Coal is scarce in the city today. One dealer is completely sold out and another has about 30 tons in store.

Mr. William Weir, Captain of the Spokane, Washington, police force, is visiting friends here accompanied by his wife. Capt. Weir left Belleville eighteen years ago and has been successful, first as a police officer, then as a detective and finally as captain of police. Many old friends are pleased to see him.

Mr. James F. Kenney, M.A., is home from Toronto on a visit.

50 YEARS AGO

March 22nd., 1902.

Private J. Cummings of this city returned home from Halifax where he served in the Provisional Regiment during the past year.

A house surgeon should be appointed to the Belleville General Hospital. This is the opinion of many local doctors and also of many citizens.

The youth who is aiming to make a success of the journey through life may congratulate himself that he will not find the crossings worse anywhere than they are in Belleville.

The sulphur and molasses period of the year is close at hand.

Mr. Douglas McIntyre, son of the Rev. C. E. McIntyre, of Napanee, will be purser again this season on the steamer North King. This will be the third season he has filled the position.

Police Magistrate J. J. B. Flint is in Stirling today on legal business.

MIXED MARRIAGES

Ministers are constantly confronted with the problem of mixed marriages. Are such marriages advantageous?

Clergymen of practically all religious faiths would answer "No... And with good reason. There is a vast difference between the way different groups of people have decided to worship; and what is infinitely more important, there is a vast difference between the views they hold regarding eternal realties. If these things mean very little to two people confronting marriage, then they are indeed to be pitied. Trouble will assail them, sorrow and misfortune will come down upon them like a cloudburst on a July day. What will they have to comfort themselves with if they have no religious faith?

But if the marriage is mixed and both the man and the woman surrender whatever religion they have in the interest of family peace, the greatest insurance against eventual calamity has been cancelled out. If, on the other hand, each holds to his religion or hers, and refuses to make it all one thing or all the other, then a divided home with divided allegiances is the result.

There have been some very successful mixed marriages. But young people thinking of marriage had better regard mixed marriages as fraught with the possibility of much unhappiness.

Jackson in Toronto

Toronto, March 22 — (CP) — Leonard Jackson arrived shortly after noon Friday by air from Montreal.

Under a heavily armed guard, Jackson, in a wheel-chair, was whisked into a waiting ambulance and taken back to the Don jail from which he escaped last fall.

He still has not recovered from bullet wounds suffered in the brisk fight with police which preceded his capture 10 days ago in Montreal.

Jackson will face a charge of attempted murder of two Toronto detectives together with various other charges which include bank robbery and escaping from custody.

Florida Holiday

By G. A. MORTON

(Managing Editor.)

It is not always the most spectacular things which give us the most delight. Some of our most pleasant memories have been about the things we like doing best—little things available to us all—a beautiful sunset or sunrise, perhaps, certain humorous incidents of a fishing trip, the varying expressions on children's faces and innumerable other recollections—these taken together serve as a magic carpet to carry our thoughts back to times everyone would like to relive.

Florida has supplied its share of such memories. . . .A notable feature of Hialeah race track is the Flamingo Day which closes the season's activities and takes place on the last day so we decided to attend. Never having attended but one other race many years ago and having taken no interest in the ponies we felt it was rather futile to do any serious betting. However, to attend a race and have nothing at stake on the different events is rather like eating food which has not been flavored. So for the half hour on the day of the race we pored over the morning paper which had quite a number of selections, but which were not unanimous and from these we made our selections including the daily double.

Hialeah, we have been told, is one of the most beautiful race courses in America and even if there were no races it is well worth a visit by tourists. The best features are the tall, stately royal palms which line the long entrance driveway, the handsome grandstand and the colorful enclosure within the track circle with its flowers and ponds on which strut the lovely flamingos about three hundreds of them.

Between the seventh and eighth races came the sight of the day. Seminole Indians drove the long-legged birds from the ponds and in a massed group they passed in front of the grandstand, then after a short rest back over the same ground and finally to the ponds. The flamingos are all shades of pink and the under parts of the wings are black. When being driven along they flutter their wings so that the flashes of black against the pink formed a colorful spectacle of such beauty that it was awe-inspiring and all too brief. Some of the birds, unaccustomed to so much exercise, fell down from fatigue and probably excitement. These remained quiet until picked up gently and taken back to the ponds. Thus ended the parade of the flamingos. But in the words of the song. . .the memory lingers on. . .

Oh, yes, the horse races! Well, they were exciting and the favorites did not always win or even get in the money, but they did pretty good. How did we do? Well, we bet on seven races including the daily double. Our horse won the first race and missed the second race by a whisker—it was a photo-finish—and so lost a chance to get forty-one bucks. We picked the winners of the sixth and seventh races—the Flamingo Features—which paid over $50,000 apiece to the owners of the winning horses. Altogether we had four wins and three losses including the DD and as has been noted the right selection was made for the first race. Could it be that our talents are directed in the wrong vocation? However not much was lost or won and well worth the effort of getting out to the track from where we were staying. Some visitors spend every day at the races and no other attraction can keep them away. We found it most convenient to drive down town, park the car and take a bus and so avoid the traffic jam which must be inevitable every racing day.

During the morning of the racing days, some character advertised over the radio that for ten dollars he would pick a sure-fire winner for the day on a money-back guarantee. It was surprising that advertising of such a nature was permitted and we sometimes wondered if he was so good why he was bothering with such business. If he was such a miracle man he would never need to worry about where the next meal or yacht was coming from. It would seem there are plenty of suckers in Miami as everywhere else.

Morning was our favorite time and it was then that we went for long walks on the beach picking up choice shells and seeing what the tide had brought in during the night. During some of the strolls snipe would run along in front of us, darting in and out as the waves advanced and receded picking up certain minute organisms, but which were not visible to the eye. Over head the occasional plane buzzed by on its way to Nassau, Cuba or other distant place while out at sea would be some vessel plodding along at a steady pace or a white-hulled fishing boat would slip by with a faint mutter of the engine. It was all very peaceful and altogether delightful.

Is it any wonder then that we count those days and their memories of them as something special and to be recalled at will as the mood demands? It is by such tenuous bonds that we become prisoners of the charm that is Florida's and the desire to return again and again to the place which has given us so many pleasant hours of the greatest pleasure.

Deputy Minister Resigns Post

Ottawa, March 21 — (CP) — Max W. Mackenzie, deputy minister of defence production and one of the government's top economic advisers, is resigning from his post, it was learned today.

After about 13 years of association with the government in various high-level positions, the 44-year-old economist is accepting an appointment with the Canadian Celanese Corporation.

Prime Minister St. Laurent is expected to make an announcement shortly on the resignation and the appointment of a successor.

SPRING FEVER

Kirkland Lake, Ont.—(CP) — Following complaints from store proprietors, police here issued a stern warning against the practice adopted by schoolboys of swinging from the supports of shop awnings.

CANADIAN LEGION L.A.

Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday in the club rooms, 260 Coleman Street, with a good attendance.

The various conveners of committees gave good reports of work during the past month.

It was decided to hold a rummage sale. The usual parcels were to be sent to Britain. Plans were discussed for the Trade Fair.

After the meeting light refreshments were served and a social get-together was enjoyed.

RUSSIA WARNED

Tokyo, March 21 — (AP) — A top Japanese government leader yesterday indirectly warned Russia to think twice before vetoing any bid by Japan for admission to the United Nations.

State Minister Katsuo Okazaki, in response to questions in parliament, said "If Japan is refused United Nations membership through the use of the veto, the entire country will rise in indignation against that nation."

Air Chief's Funeral

Warrant Officers of the R.C.A.F. carry the coffin of Air Chief Marshall L. S. Breadner, 58, former R.C.A.F. chief of staff, who died in Boston March 14. An officer walking behind the coffin carries his decorations and medals on a cushion. The only Canadian to attain the rank of Air Chief Marshal he was buried with full military honors in Ottawa. Air Chief Marshal Breadner was returning to Ottawa from Florida — where he had gone under doctor's orders for his health — when he was stricken in Boston and taken to a hospital where he died. — (CP Photo.)

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Signed Letters, Not More Than One Page, or 100 Words Long, Pertaining to Personal Health and Hygiene, Not to Disease, Diagnosis or Treatment, Will be Answered by Dr. Brady if a Stamped, Self-Addressed Envelope is Enclosed, Etc.

FOR A LADY WHO WANTS TO BAWL

I said bawl, not bowl. If she could borrow, rent or buy a set of bowls and get out on the green, say, two or three or six days a week, probably she'd feel more like chuckling than bawling. But let the lady tell it her own way:

Dear Doctor Brady:

Just reading your column should cure one of almost anything. I never miss it. I love your irony. (You mean you understand, when I call readers names, that I refer to other readers, not you? Well, thank you, Ma'am. It is good to know they are not all stupid).

Will your iodin ration do anything for an old lady who gets so tired every hour or two that she just wants to sit down and bawl—or die—makes no difference which? (L. T.)

Well, now, with apologies to Mr. Peevy, the delightful druggist on a certain radio program, I wouldn't say that. It costs little or nothing to bawl, but the way they have things fixed you have to pay a pretty penny no matter how you die.

Le'me see. Fortunately your letter shows that you live in the Great Lakes basin where soil, water and food are poor in iodin. Gazing into my crystal ball I see a letter from the mother of a 16-year-old girl who had been under the family doctor's treatment for anemia. The anemia was corrected but the girl still suffered from a kind of chronic fatigue which kept her from entering junior college. Finally mother began giving her the Iodin Ration—as described in the pamphlet The Iodin Ration—available on written request (not a clipping) if you inclose stamped, self-addressed envelope). Later mother reported:

> "The result has been simply unbelievable . . . she was so tired . . . great lassitude . . . couldn't enjoy life as other young people do. Now she is bubbling over most of the time . . . ."

I'm a quack, all right, but even so, I do not mean to imply that the Iodin Ration will make everybody in the Great Lakes basin bubble over. I merely contend to wit and as follows:

(a) Every man, woman or child in the country needs a wee, wee bit of iodin daily to maintain good nutrition.
(b) The soil, water and locally grown food in many parts of the country are deficient in iodin.
(c) A daily ration of iodin in the form I suggest in the pamphlet can do no harm and may do some good.

So there you are, Ma'am.
Don't bawl.
Don't die.
Just bubble over.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Fibroid Tumor

What is fibroid tumor? What is its origin? Is is possible for an unmarried woman to have one? Some gossips in our club . . . (Mrs. L. G. E.)

Answer—Tumor means swelling—for instance the Latin description of inflammation: Calor, dolor, rubor, tumor—meaning heat, pain, redness and swelling. Fibroid tumor is such a lump or swelling composed of fibrous tissue. It may occur in any person, male or female, in any part of the body, at any age. It is benign (not a menace to health or life) and aside from the annoyance or embarrassment or incidental or mechanical trouble it may give, requires no treatment—in fact many women with fibroid tumor of the uterus are unaware of the presence of tumor and never have any particular ill effect. So let the club gossips buzz along—that's one of the privileges of dues-paying members, isn't it? Origin or cause unknown.

Ain't the Way I Heerd it

Have heard flaxseed made into tea is good for the bronchial tubes . . . (H. F.)

Answer—Do you rinse the tubes in it or just flush 'em? One of the ingredients in Ol' Doc Brady's Fool Proof Cough Medicine is flaxseed. Instructions for whipping up a batch in booklet Call It C-R-I—for which send 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Liquor Carbonis Detergens

By applying Liquor Carbonis Detergens N F (solution of coal tar) twice a day for a few weeks every spot of psoriasis cleared up (Mrs. H. E.)

Answer—Thank you. The solution should be diluted with water for use as a wash—one part of solution in twenty parts of water.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LIFE WITHOUT GOD

Just imagine for a moment how it would seem to live out a life without ever thinking about how we happened to be born, or about how the universe ever got started, and how everything of beauty and wonder came about. Where would the inspiration for a reverence for life come from? How then could there be any compassion in our minds or hearts for others? What a rudderless existence we would experience!

When I look upon an intricately created machine I want to know who invented it, and who puts its parts together to make of it a useful aid to man's happiness. We honor our great inventors and discoverers and pay eternal homage to their skill and contribution to human hope and progress.

Life without a knowledge of God would be meaningless. All about us is the evidence of His handiwork. Our own bodies illustrate His existence. Every insect, animal, bird, tree, flower, is an example of His created existence. It's God's universe in which we live and we are His guests! How happy we should be to acknowledge His hospitality and give out our gratitude for His endless daily blessings.

God is in this world, and He is in each one of us, whether we give credit to the fact or not. God is the perfect host for it's His world, and His eye is upon every created thing, even "the sparrow's fall." He directs His birds in their flight according to the season's call, and in gratitude they fill the air with their songs of joy and thanksgiving.

Life without God is life without hope and without incentive. "In God we trust," say the American coins, and no nation in all history has been so greatly blessed! How truly it can be said that "blessed is that nation whose God is the Lord." And blessed that man, or woman, as well, who puts his or her trust in Him.

Life without God would be a mere existence devoid of the seasoning of courageous strife, faith and the inspiration of a divine purpose.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Trees have hair. A great deal more than animals, in comparison of size. But you cannot see it because it is under ground. And as animals would perish without their hair—as we would perish without the hair of other animals to clothe us — a tree perishes if it loses its hair.

The roots of a tree are covered literally with a fur of tiny rootlets which are the real working parts of the tree's underground system, seeking and abstracting the foot-laden water from the ground. Tiny, almost invisible as they are, these hairs apparently possess the secret of that tremendous power by which a tree hoists water to great heights and distributes it to the tip of every twig and leaf. They are hard at it now.

These equinoctial gales of March are helping. Down through the frost-cracked earth, water is seeping. Writhing and twisting in the gales, the trees are wrenching their heavier roots in the earth, loosening it, harrowing it as deeply as the wind will let them, to help the water get deeply into the earth. From the main roots, the slimmer roots have pushed and penetrated. And off them spread in every direction the rootlets which carry this fur of fragile, colorless hairs, greedy for water and multiplying ever hour like magic.

The wilder the gales of March, the better the forest likes it. Old trees may go down, but their crashes doubtless fill with glee the countless smaller trees that now will find the light. Let her roar, let her sleet: for sleet will not drain so swiftly away before the wrenching trees, in the roar, can sponge and drag it down into the depths.

A lovely summer day, shimmering and still, has its uses to nature. But nothing compared to the usefulness of a March day of apparent fury. Out of that fury comes the glory and the growth of trees.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR MONDAY, MARCH 24, 1952

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Size things up thoughtfully. Go forth sturdily, doing your level best. Don't be too sure you have it "sewed up" but strive with hope. Count your gains afterwards.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Aspects moderately favorable for propositions that have real merit, can really be put over. Rising prices, big expeditures may cause some "tight" spots. Be prepared; seek wise advice.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—When prospects are good get into your activities early, use extra zeal and make all you can count. The trend is upward in the things that matter. But expend energy sensibly.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Planetary rays indicate receding ebb in some things. Counter resistance with strong faith; fight threats courageously. Continue to be alert, keep usefully active, and trust in God.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Your chart much like Cancer's. Some slight disturbances, but they can be overcome. A sane offensive attitude could hold your line, put it to the test. Leo, go forward!

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—On your own in many instances. Your influences better if you are on the beam. Nothing startling perhaps; but go about duties, business as usual, ever alert for good openings.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—With emphasis on new means and better planned effort you can rate your gains as considerable. Sharpers will outsmart opponents; keep them on the defensive. Advantages go with tact.

October 24 to November 22 (Sorpio)—Fine aspects for keenly laid plans. Be specific, determined; concentrate on the important and you will achieve. You are possessed of thinking ability; why let your bright self down?

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Attack urgent issues briskly this stimulating day. A straight-forward, to-the-point method will win. Don't hedge or be indecisive; but you will advance happier with good humor. Romance favored.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—A desire to go forward will kindle the spark needed this perhaps dull, maybe problematical day. Be wary of schemes by unknowns, any fly-by-night offers. The soundly conservative is still tops.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Encouraging, helpful rays abound in your day's outlook. Especially expressive are heart and family interests. With kindly, intelligent attitude, you cannot miss blessings due.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—With discretion in money, legal and domestic matters, also energy expenditures, you can come out on top, regardless of hazards. Unction, grit and a determined will can do the trick.

Little Benny's Note Book

Satturday was Reddy Merfy's berthday, so everybody was intitled to give him 9 puntches for good luck according to the law, and us fellows were waiting for him to come around, feeling happy and impatient, Glasses Magee saying, Oh boy, when I think how hard he puntched me on my berthday, I cant hardly wait, I'm going to sock him so hard he'll think he was hit by 9 earthquakes in a row.

He'll wish he'd been born some place elts when I get through giving him my 9, beleeve me, Shorty Judge said. He'll be sorry he ever cracked me so hard on my berthday, darn that guy and his sharp nuckles, he said, and I said, Oh boy, when I get through with him, his arm will be so sore he'll have to go home and put it in a sling, I said.

And the other guys all bragged about the fierce revenges they were going to take on him, and just then Reddy came up, saying, Hay, you guys, I got something to tell you. I been hearing things about how hard you think you're going to sock me for my berthday, and all I got to say is, you better not get too ambitious.

Well hay, why, what's a matter? Skinny Martin said. We're each intitled to give you 9 puntches, aint we? he said, and Puds Simkins said, Sure, what's the matter, we're only going to hit you for luck, aint we?

Yeh. Well then you better remember that, because it's going to be the werst luck you guys ever had if you aint mitey careful. Reddy said. Now get started and get finished, he said.

Which we did, making fierce faces as if we were puntching him all our mite instead of only about a tenth as hard as we felt like.

The result being our consciences stayed partly cleer and our feelings stayed mutch safer.

Ingersoll Sketch Club Exhibits Paintings at Little Gallery

For several days there has been on view at the Little Gallery, Pinnacle Street, a series of 22 paintings from the Ingersoll Sketch Club which includes water-color, oils and pastels, depicting still life, portraits, landscape and seascape, which are both interesting in color, composition and drawing.

Art, in the form of painting of music has been defined as "that which ministers through the medium of the beautiful in form, color, rhythm or harmony," embodying creative imagination, all of which may be found, to greater or less degree in the paintings exhibited.

The only water-color exhibited is that of an early spring day by Crawford, entitled, "March," which is most realistic with its melting snow, with here and there touches of brownish-green grass and a little pool of cold-looking water nestling in a cup-like hollow at the foot of a gaunt, tree-topped knoll backgrounded by dun colored skies. A quiet picture, yet the stirring of new life can be noted in every phase.

Prelude III

Another painting quite out of the ordinary is that entitled, Prelude III, by Jessie G. Robins. This portrays a steady drizzle of rain, figures by twos and threes are hurrying to shelters in their endeavors to escape the downpour. A realistic touch is seen in the glimmering of street lights through the rain. The coloring is a soft muted greenish-blue which in itself brings to mind the sensation of water. Another reminder is the open umbrella at the lower right hand corner.

"Haying," by Harry Whitwell, is faithfully portrayed. This shows the farmers hurrying to get the last forkful on before the gathering storm bursts in all its fury. Motion is the key-note in this, and is well portrayed in the uneasiness of the horses, the bent figure on the load leveling off, and the poised figure of the man holding the reins. The coloring is restrained, but carries out the full meaning of the painting as a whole.

"Ploughed Fields"

"Ploughing Fields" by Mildred Scott, was most pleasing with its freshly turned brown furrows, its golden harvested field far away; the refreshing green of the trees, and the blue haze in the distance. A nice picture for a home.

"The Pine" by Phyllis McFarlane depicts a lonely pine highlighted by a pile of mauve-grey rocks at the base. The colors were fresh, nicely blended showing another little bit of nature in repose.

"Cleaning the Boats" showed the fishermen readying up for another day. This was backgrounded by the ordinary collection of sheds and boathouses which were neither cold nor overly warm in tone.

Another out-of-the-ordinary picture, more suitable for posters than for home decoration, was that "After the Rain" which showed a street in Ingersoll, Ontario, at night, the red glow from the lighted signs touching up the drenched streets and glistening automobile. The moon just breaking through the black clouds, was most realistic. A nice bit of work.

"After Glow" showed a nice cloud effect and attractive coloring. This was by Florence Cruthers.

Windswept Waters

"Northern Lake," by William Kragh depicted a wind swept bit of water, with whitecaps, a practically leafless tree bending in the gale, and a sky cold and murky. Here again one feels the coming storm. A most realistic portrayal, typical of Lake of Bays, Muskoka.

In contrast to the above, was another bit of water with lazy waves just fringed with white, rolling gently in upon a sandy shore with tall palms. The pale blue water, the easy-rolling surf, and the clear sky, took one immediately to southern climes. This nice piece of painting was by Katherine Armstrong.

There was one floral piece, "Zinnias" in deep orange light red and yellow, with a spray of some lighter toned flowers, presumably gladioli, the whole upon a green background cheerful and bright. This also was by Florence Cruthers.

Portraits

Two portraits were shown, one of a golden, curly-headed little girl with beautiful blue eyes, holding in her arms two spaniel puppies, one black, the other fawn. A remarkable piece of drawing and deftness of coloring, by Adelaide Angle; the other, the head of a young woman, entitled "Portrait of Linda," done with bolder touch, more of a character sketch. This by Jessie Robins.

The still life by Ruth Grieve depicted a bowl of large, red apples, one in halves showing the white flesh and seed arrangement. Other shown included, "Autumn Sentinels," by Jean Beattie, a nice bit of coloring; "Pear Tree" with warped bole crowned with misty-white blossoms, surrounded by a mass of swirling green trees, by C. R. Crawford; "Nets," by Phyllis McFarlane depicted nets upon the drying forms; "Autumn Ballet" by Jean Beattie, was light and delicate in touch, showing life, and movement; trees in late fall nicely grouped, and contrasted with small evergreens in pyramidal form.

Autumn Tints

One of the most outstanding shown as to color appreciation, was that of "Autumn Tints" by Florence Cruthers. This depicted an autumn scene with richly colored maples, whose reds, golds, crimson and greens were reflected in the stream below. A perfect riot of delightful blends, showing appreciation of color. The perspective somewhat weak, also the composition, but real talent is here.

Altogether an interesting and nice collection of budding artists.

SISTERS ALL

By Jean Love Galloway

Fact that a Canadian woman artist was commissioned to paint the official portrait of Field Marshal Alexander to hang with his predecessors in Rideau Hall came as a surprise to most Canadians when the unveiling was announced recently - - - Reports said that Lord Alexander, himself an accomplished artist, agreed that Mrs. Lilias Torrance Newton, RCA, of Toronto and Montreal, was the one to do the portrait. She has also done portraits of Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey and the late Mrs. Massey in their home near Port Hope. The larger of her portraits of Mrs. Massey now hangs in Government House.

Mrs. Newton hasn't just now made her reputation. She has been doing outstanding work for years. Why haven't our Canadian newspapers and magazines told us her story? This woman is obviously our best portrait artist and nobody knows much, if anything about her.

Those Stickers

Not that we mind some of our convicts being without the job of making the new Ontario car licence plates this year, but we are concerned about the war amps position.

Every year, the amps sell small key chain replicas of individual licence plate numbers with the amps society address on the back If a driver loses his keys, the society will pay the postage if the finder drops the keys into any mail box.

Many a lost chain of car keys has been returned to the rightful owner via the amps' lost and found service. We presume this financial return to the amps is dried up now that stickers only will be used with the old Ontario plates. Seems a pity if it is.

Cartoon

One of the best Canadian cartoons of the year appeared recently in the Vancouver Sun. It pictured a school principal and a teacher standing on the school steps looking out toward the recreational grounds where pupils were raising whoopee. The principal turns to the woman teacher and says, "Perhaps we could impress on them that now they can grow up to be governor-general."

Many of our newspaper and magazine cartoonists are developing a flair for Canadian humor. Wouldn't it be a good idea to have the best of the Canadian cartoons published annually in time for the Christmas book sale?

Rev. Keith Daniel Delivers Message By Negro Spirituels

The monthly meeting of the W.A. of Holloway Street United Church met on Thursday afternoon in the church parlors with Mrs. L. Van Osten, the president occupying the chair.

After the opening ceremonies, a business period followed at which time the reports by the various officers were given. Since it had been decided to give a prize at the end of the year to the group with the most new members and to the group with the largest attendance, a roll call was taken by the leaders with Mrs. A. Campbell leading for this month. Mrs. M. B. Weese was appointed to represent the W.A. of Holloway church at the Belleville Presbytery.

At this point the president turned over the meeting to Mrs. A. McMillan and her group. The devotional period was led by Mrs. W. Potter, assisted by Mesdames H. Outindyke and W. MacKay, who exemplified, "Christian Living in Our Church."

Guest Speaker

The Reverend S. E. Larman, in introducing the guest speaker, paid him a fine tribute when he said, "the Reverend Keith Daniel gave of his talent generously beyond the borders of his church."

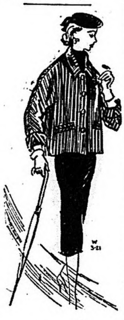
By request, Mr. Daniel delivered his message in song, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. E. M. Hubbs. "Hymns do more to mold and shape our lives than do sermons," said Mr. Daniel. All of his songs were the Negro Spirituels, so rich in rhythm. Before the singing of each spirituel, he first gave a resume so as to acquaint his listeners with the themes.

His first two hymns "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho," and "Deep River," were much enjoyed as was "Weepin' Mary", no other hymns more beautiful or profound. "Spirituels" said Mr. Daniel, "were the outcome of their gospel meetings."

To close his message in song, he chose the spirituels: "The Crucifixion" and "Were You There?"

Mrs. M. B. Weese tendered a vote of thanks on behalf of the W.A. and of her group in particular, to Mr. Daniel.

At the close of the meeting, a social half hour was enjoyed by all those present.



Three piece costume

By VERA WINSTON

A FLEXIBLE little spring ensemble made up of three parts that are smartly interchangeable, is a good wardrobe prop. Start with the box jacket which is of an interesting ribbed wool and silk fabric in two tones of gray. It has the new low-pitched collar, easy sleeves, slit pockets and self-covered buttons. The slim skirt is of black wool, a nice contrast in line. The blouse is of black silk taffeta with a small round collar, three-quarter sleeves and a zippered closing in back.

Little Orchestra Society Delights Big Audience With Fine Program

(By Eugene Lang)

It goes without saying that the Collegiate Auditorium was filled to capacity last evening as practically the entire roster of members of the Belleville Community Concert Association was present to hear the initial appearance of the Little Orchestra Society under the direction of its regular conductor and founder, Thomas Scherman. Mr. Scherman founded this orchestral group in 1947 for the express purpose of playing seldom heard compositions written originally for small orchestra by the great composers of the 18th and 19th centuries.

The majority of the numbers featured on the programs given by Mr. Scherman's players are works that would not ordinarily be heard on the repertoires of the major symphony orchestras—works of great beauty and interest by the masters that just have not been given the prominence that they justly deserve, thus resulting in the resurrection of partially forgotten masterpieces that merit the concert-goers attention. The orchestra is an exact replica of a full symphony orchestra on a smaller scale, being about one-third the size of the latter and performing compositions originally written for a small orchestra, with few exceptions.

Well Balanced Program

Mr. Scherman chose a well-balanced diet of five selections for the evening's entertainment, that gave the orchestra a full scope to portray its salient capabilities both as regards to tonal balancing of the different choirs and executive possibilities of the various instrumentalists. Bach's Fifth Brandenburg Concerto provided an excellent introductory number, using the complete string section as the ripleno in contrast to the concertino grouping of a solo violin, flute and cembalo (piano used in this rendition).

The fifteen piece string tutti did not at any time try to outshine the solo trio, as is often the case in music of this type, but sensitively and sensibly remained the motivating force that guided the three members of the concertante through a spirited and well-molded interpretation. The long and arduous cadenza that winds up the first movement was brilliantly and flexibly played by Mr. Abba Bogin, the pianist.

Revised Version

The Septet in E Flat, Op. 20 of Beethoven was offered in a slightly revised version, in that instead of the original seven instruments being employed, Mr. Scherman chose to increase the number of string players from four (as Beethoven scored it for) to fifteen, using this number against three wind instruments (clarinet, bassoon, and French horn). It meant in this arrangement that each of the string players was required to perform a solo part, making the feat of correct phrasing and executions all the more difficult to attain. However, the conception arrived at was most admirably carried through by the instrumentalists, even though the wind trio were at times hard pressed to keep the strings from outplaying them in tonal volume. This is a delightful work and, even though unknown to the majority in attendance, was beautifully played and heartily appreciated. How many recognized the Minuetto as the forerunner of the Minuet of the Little G Major Sonata (Op. 49) that they studied as a child in those early years of piano practice drudgery?

As for the next selection, the variation on a theme of Tchaikovsky for Strings, by his contemporary, Arensky—all we can say is that Mr. Scherman took hold of the sponge of musical emotion, squeezed it tightly, and poured into our ears a tincture of pathos, piety, gaiety, pizzicato garrulity, and sensuous seductivity that left us gasping for more when the poignant pianissimos of the final variations were endearingly caressed by 15 bows that drew from their respective instruments every nuance of tone, expressiveness of detail and sincerity of utterance. Perfection was done—can we ask for more?

Joins Ensemble as Narrator

John Hershberger joined the ensemble as narrator in the witticisms that Ogden Nash penned to accompany Saint - Saens ever popular "Carnival of the Animals." The applause following this humorously conceived suite of the versatile Frenchman was adequate remuneration for the charming way in which it was delineated by the entire personnel of the orchestra. Again, the piano part was masterfully performed by Mr. Bogin (especially so when you realize that he did on one piano what the composer originally intended for four hands at two pianos). The 'cello solo in "The Swan" was exceedingly beautiful. Saint-Saens does not need words to convey his meaning—the music speaks for itself without the Hash of Nash.

As for the Divertimento of the American composer, Walter Piston (for nine assorted instruments) again words fail us. The decadence of 20th century American music was apparent in each of the three movements of this cacophonous monstrosity. We appreciate your bravery, Mr. Scherman for playing this opus—but not your taste. This music could be used to better advantage in Madame Tussaud's Chamber of Horrors.

Serenely Interpreted

One encore, a short excerpt from Gluck's Ballet Music to "Orfeo" was serenely interpreted by Paige Brook, flutist with the strings as complementary accompanists. The concert (minus Piston) was excellent and we hope Mr. Scherman and Company will be with us again in future seasons to come.

Reminder to the audience. To applaud or not to applaud? That is the question. Five times you applauded wrongly last evening. Don't applaud after each movement of a concerted work. Wait till the end of the composition. If in doubt, read your program—the movements are usually listed—for your own convenience, so you may know properly when to applaud. Most artists would respect your wishes in waiting till the end of a composition to applaud.

Why She Mutilated Painting Disclosed by Mary Richardson

Castle Camps, Cambridgeshire (CP) — Mary Richardson, a militant suffragette of another era, has disclosed the motives that prompted her to mutilate the Rokeby Venus, a Velasquez masterpiece, in Britain's national gallery nearly 38 years ago.

The picture is of a nude young girl reclining in front of a mirror.

Now 65, and long since retired to a much quieter life, Mrs. Richardson, who became known as "Slasher Mary", has just finished her memoirs, recounting the battles and demonstrations of violence to win the vote for women.

Country homes were fired, railway stations bombed and store windows smashed to bring the demands of the early suffragette movement to the attention of the government.

But it was the slashing of the Rokeby Venus that sent Mrs. Richardson's name echoing around the world in March, 1914, and brought the British cabinet into emergency session to discuss the situation.

Asked why she attacked that particular painting, she replied:

"Because it was the picture of a beautiful woman and I wanted to show that the most beautiful woman on canvas was nothing compared with the death of one woman in prison.

"I wanted to draw attention to the plight of Mrs. Pankhurst, our leader, who was then in an underground cell, green with mould, in Holloway prison. We believed she was dying.

"There was also another reason for choosing this picture. I didn't like the way men visitors to the gallery gaped at it all day," she said.

Mrs. Richardson said she had no regrets and occasionally visits the gallery for a look at the picture which still bears marks of her hatchet blows. She proudly recalls, however, that the slashing brought prompt release from prison of Mrs. Pankhurst.

Married three times, she's still unhappy

"My heart and my arms ache with the love I have for my husband, and yet I'm the loneliest woman in the world."

This is the heartbroken cry that ends a long letter from a woman who has been wife to three men but has never found happiness with any one of them.

She married the first time, she says, when she was "only a kid, with no home and no one to care what happened to me. After three years with him, during which he drank and kept my eyes black all the time, I took our two children and left home."

Seven years later, she "met a man who was all I could ask for as a father for my children. I kept our home together for eight years, so that the children would grow up with both father and mother, like other kids, but all these years, even though I kept everything harmonious so far as the children were concerned, my husband and I were not happy, mostly because of his mother's interference. Finally I divorced him, too."

And now, in her third marital venture, this frustrated woman believes she has "found the one man in this world I've ever really loved." Yet she still has not found happiness.

'I discovered after our marriage that my husband has no faith in women," she says. "He was married before, and the marriage broke up because while he was working at night, his wife was going out with another man. He is very bitter, and while he is kind and good to me, he is cold, never really treating me as a wife should be treated. He says all he married me for was to have someone to share a home with and to be a mother for the teen-age son by his former wife, of whom he has custody. The youngster is quiet and good, and I love him very much, but the two of them often get talking about things I know nothing about and shut me out. Since my own children are both married, it leaves me so lonely.

"Is there anything I can do to make my husband want to give me the love for which I long? I try not to annoy him by begging for caresses, but I can't help sometimes putting my arms around his neck and raising my face for his kiss. Oh yes, he kisses me and pats me on the back like any father might any child. But my dog gets more real affection from him than I do."

Do Things For Him

Well, first, I think, this wife might try working out some of her wish-to-be-loved in doing things for her husband instead of pleading with him for a display of affection.

In a part of her letter not quoted, she speaks of the job she holds with a railroad company, where both she and her husband are employed. They also work the same shift, from midnight to eight o'clock in the morning. Presumably, therefore, they go to and from work together.

I wonder if it might not help if she could find herself a job somewhere else, so that they would not see quite so much of each other? If she worked more normal hours—say from nine to five—she could be at home, with breakfast ready, when he got there in the morning. Every man likes to come home to find his wife waiting for him with a cheery welcome and a good hot meal on the stove. If this could possibly be arranged I think it might have a beneficial effect on the whole situation.

Better still, let her give up the job if they could do without the money she brings in, and devote herself for awhile to the home and her husband's boy. If she were around more during the day, she could become more companionable with her stepson and they would draw closer together so that all three of them would have a lot to talk about and she wouldn't feel so 'shut out'.

Less time with the husband, more time with the stepson, and a cheerful, self-forgetting, outgiving attitude at all times—these, if anything can, will gradually bring about a change in her husband. Let her ignore his bitterness, his cynicism about women, and devote herself to showing him what it means to have a wife he can depend upon for those things that make married life worth the living. One way or another she will get her reward in that happiness she has sought so long, and up till now has failed to find.

BEAUTY

HELEN JAMIESON

Dressing the Wrists

It sometimes happens that wrists, like elbows, aren't anything to yodel about. With prominent wrist bones and sharp elbows, a girl has an extra problem to add to her list of good-looks grievances. The plump woman, of course, has an advantage over the skinny one in this respect. Her wrists are neatly padded with adipose tissue; her elbows may be dimpled. But she does not escape pulchritude trials. The neat waistline of girlhood has evaporated, her calves may have expanded, her chin may have taken a mate. So it goes. Always something.

The beauty of the hand and the good appearance of the wrist often depend somewhat upon the cut and design of the sleeve. A three-quarter length sleeve is seldom flattering and should not be worn unless the forearm has pleasing contour. The long, fitted sleeve should be snug at the wrist, if it is to look neat and trim. The sleeve of diaphanous fabric can come well over the back of the hand.

Sarah Bernhardt used that trick. You won't remember her, but old, old-timers will. She had ugly hands, the back of which were always partially covered by fabric.

A long, narrow sleeve gives a perpendicular feeling and is no help to the appearance of a tall, thin woman. A wide sleeve, fairly full, such as is being worn at the present time, adds to width and breaks the height of the feminine figure. It just won't do for the short, dumpling-shaped woman; it adds to her curves. If the sleeve is one color, without a contrasting cuff or other trimming, the arm looks longer. Gloves of contrasting color have an effect similar to that of color contrast on the sleeves.

Prominent wrist bones can be concealed under a wide bracelet. You will find some smart ones among costume jewelry displays, in case you are inclined to be a lightweight.

The sensible step, of course, is to grow adipose padding to cover your bones. It is much easier than reducing, is merely a matter of planning good living habits. If underweight is marked, take yourself to your doctor's office and have a physical checkup. The troubled may be malnutrition.

To woo curves it is necessary to include more fat-building food elements in your diet. These are mainly fats, starches and sweets. For breakfast you should have fruit, a hot cereal with plenty of cream and sugar, or an egg, and a beverage. Put more butter on your bread. Drink a quart of rich milk a day. Get eight hours of sleep every night and don't tear around like mad, as most girls do these days.

The long, fitted sleeve should be snug at the wrist.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Must he, the best man, pay for the bridal attendants' flowers?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

In June I am to be best man at my nephew's wedding, and I would like to know what responsibilities I am supposed to have. What is today's custom concerning the responsibilities of the best man? I'm single, and although I don't make a very big salary, I don't want to make a cheap showing to my nephew, if I'm supposed to give a wedding present besides perhaps paying for the flowers for the bridal party.—N.R.

As best man you have only two "financial" responsibilities. Of course you would give a wedding present to your nephew's bride-to-be, a present for the new home, as nice a present as you can afford. And your second responsibility is to supply for yourself the attire your nephew tells you his attendants are to wear at the wedding. Beyond these your duties are entirely social ones: to be graciously co-operative with all the plans, to be a gracious guest at the pre-wedding parties to which the members of the wedding party will be invited, to be helpful at the rehearsal and at the wedding procedure itself, and to be a pleasant guest at the reception. Practically all the wedding expenses are the responsibility of the bride's parents, for they are the hosts; just a few are the responsibility of the bridegroom. But the best man or ushers do not pay for any of the flowers, or any other wedding expenses.

Wedding note. . .the short-length wedding dress for the informal bride!

"The Bridal Ballerina-length Dress". . .here we have the new, new answer to the old, old question: "I am planning to have an informal wedding, but I want to be dressed 'like a bride',—wedding dress, bridal veil. What type of dress would be proper for me to wear at this type of wedding. . . with the groom and best man wearing dark business suits?" Never before has there been such a comforting answer to this yearning question. . .the "short-length dress", to the ankle (the "well-turned ankle," we hope!)

The colors: bridal white, off-white, palest blush-pink, softest ice-blue, delicate champagne shade. Or perhaps white lace or tulle or net over soft pink or blue.

The skirt: full, full. The veil: short, short. The gloves: the smart new "shorties". The bouquet: small, pert, informal in design.

And as with most of today's dresses for bride and attendants, most of the designs have a wise and practical eye toward the "convertible", the "double-duty dress", wedding dress with removable jacket or bolero, or detachable fichu or stole.

Robert's "Rules of Order" is the classic

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am very anxious to be informed about the parliamentary procedure for an organization. Also about the duties of the various committees. Any suggestions, please?—Sarah L.

Yes, ma'am. . . get a copy of that splendid classic stand-by, Robert's Rules of Order. This will give you all the rules for conducting a meeting according to the best parliamentary practices. If you don't wish to buy this book, you will, I am sure, find it your local library, and the librarian will also guide you to books setting forth in detail the duties and procedure of the chairman and members of the various committees.

Readers' Saturday Column

QUESTION:

In your December column you printed a recipe for pound cake which was a grand cake but my cook threw out the recipe when she finished and as I hadn't written it down we are out of luck as we would like to have another. —Olive W.

ANSWER:

I think the following is the pound cake to which you refer. It appeared in my column on December 17th, and is called

COMPANY POUND CAKE

One and one-quarter cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup shortening—preferably butter, 3-4 cup sugar, 5 unbeaten egg whites, 1-2 cup finely cut glace cherries, 1 cup blanched almonds (or 1-2 cup cherries and 1-2 cup almonds or a mixture of both plus chopped citron peel and light seedless raisins), 3-4 cup shredded cocoanut is optional, 1-2 teaspoon almond extract, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla. Sift flour, measure, sift with baking powder and salt 3 times. Cream butter, adding sugar gradually while creaming; beat in egg whites one at a time. Add fruits, and nuts and flavoring. Sprinkle dry ingredients over and mix well. Bake in loaf pan, greased and paper-lined, and greased again. Bake at 275 deg. Fahr. or 300, 1 1-2 or 1 1-4 hours. Keeps well.

QUESTION:

Would you please send me recipe for spud-nuts. They are something like doughnuts but contain potato flour and white flour and I think yeast is used.—Mrs. Ernest S.

ANSWER:

These are made from a commercial formula hence it is secret. However I can give you a yeast doughnut recipe calling for potato flour.

RAISED DOUGHNUTS (Yeast)

One and 1-4 cups milk, 1 yeast cake, 3 1-3 cups bread flour, 1 cup potato flour, 2-3 cup sugar, 3 beaten eggs, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon each cinnamon and nutmeg, 4 tablespoons melted shortening. Scald the milk and cool to lukewarm, then add 1 tablespoon of the sugar to it and the crumbled yeast cake, and when the yeast has softened and begins to work beat in 1 1-2 cups of the bread flour. Cover and stand aside in a warm place to rise until very light—about 1 1-2 hours. Cream the shortening and the remainder of the sugar together, and add the well-beaten egg, then turn this mixture into the raised sponge, adding also the remaining flour sifted with the salt and spices. Mix well, then knead on lightly floured board for 5 minutes. Cover, and let rise until doubled in bulk. Turn out on floured board and roll to 1-2 inch thickness, and cut out with regular doughnut cutter. Let rise about 45 minutes on floured board, covered. Drop them carefully in hot deep fat, and as soon as they rise to the top, turn them over so they become evenly browned without cracking. Drain on unglazed paper towels. When cool dredge with sifted sugar. Frying temperature of fat is 375 deg. Fahr.—bread test 60 seconds.

POTATO DOUGHNUTS
(Baking powder)

Mix 2 cups very light brown sugar with 1-4 teaspoon each nutmeg and salt. Add 6 1-2 tablespoons melted lard, then 3 slightly beaten eggs. When well mixed add 1 cups sweet milk with 2 cups very light mashed potatoes (unsalted and not flavored with butter). Add sifted flour—first add 4 cups—sifted with 5 teaspoons baking powder. If dough is not stiff enough to roll out add one more cup sifted flour. Cut out on floured board and fry as directed above. These are "different" and absorb less fat than ordinary doughnuts.

Junior Hawks Trounce Barrie 8-1 To Sweep Series In Two Straight Games

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

NO PANTY-WAISTS!

Mebbe these junior Hawks are heavy-sea sailors. It looked like it last night when they cut loose with the best fore-and-aft checking display these hockey-weary orbs have seen in some time. And one Robert Wilson was in his sea-going glory. With strapped ribs the youngster, taking a definite liking to the Barrie idea of things, cut loose with everything but his bandages and heave-hoed the opposition in all directions while 2531 fans howled their approval.

Nor was Wilson alone in this torso-tossing glory. All the boys with the exception of Don Barclay laid on the body since it seemed that was the way Barrie liked it — and it paid off. The visitors, possibly leg-weary from that 180-mile jaunt faded in the third heat and the Doran dandies, taking every advantage poured in a quartet of markers that sent everybody home happy, including those with ducats.

Munro, Peter Green, Duke Doran, and the rest of the crew were not the least backward in demonstrating to the hard-hitting visitors that they liked the "two-bucks-and-a-kick" type of hockey. This combined with opportunist-offensive tactics led by Hec Lalande, Doran, and Billy Strahan not to mention Pat Gilmour, Ted DeGray, Henry Therrien and the up-front troops gave the Hawks a well-deserved victory.

But don't forget one Don Barclay. The slim be-padded youngster, who has played consistent hockey all season, came up with another outstanding performance in the nets. He stood out like a sore thumb especially when the Hawks were one and two men short and his effort was one of the outstanding reasons why the Barrie-ites were held to a lone marker.

Next Wednesday sees the torrid Toronto troupe, the Weston Dukes here for their initial encounter with the Hawks. The Dukes are rated as "sum-punkins" by Toronto sports writers, when they find the time, and if the Hawks come up with a performance like that of last night, the faithful hereabouts are in for the hockey classic of the year.

And speaking of the Dukes, Secretary Dick Beare of the BHA announced today that a special railroad car will be attached to the 2.30 p. m. CNR train on Tuesday April 1st for the benefit of fans who wish to take in the second Hawks-Dukes game in Weston. Arrangements have been made for bus transportation from Toronto to Weston as have tickets at the Weston arena. All interested are requested to get in touch with Cooks Cigar Store, Front Street. At least sixty must guarantee passage before the car can be secured. Do it right away.

HAS A CASE?

It seems that D. A. McGillis, sponsor of the Peterborough Eagles team is a hard man to make "say uncle". Especially when the Edgar Bergen of the piece is the Ontario Hockey Association.

He airs his grievance with that august body in a piece in a Toronto newspaper. It speaks for itself. Here 'tis:—

"What's the good of being an eagle if you can't flex your wings?"

That's the position Peterboro Eagles find themselves in after being grounded by the Ontario Hockey Association for refusing to play a series B semi-final game in Kingston last week.

They may be grounded but that hasn't stopped them from baring their talons in the direction of the OHA for what Eagles' sponsor and president D. A. McGillis terms "a raw deal."

The Eagles, who lost two straight games in the best-of-seven set with Kingston SAC, refused to play the third in Kingston because, they claimed, that club was using an ineligible goaltender. The OHA says he is eligible, and cracked down with a Peterboro suspension.

McGillis and company have, however, what would appear to be proof that Sonny MacDonald, the goaltender in question, is not, according to OHA rules, eligible to play for a senior B team. McGillis has copies of the Saint John, N.B. Telegraph Journal, which contain two pictures and three Stories featuring MacDonald as goaltender for the Saint John senior Beavers who were knocked out in three straight games in the Allan Cup hunt by St. Francis Xavier.

Allan Cup teams are senior A category, and, according to OHA rules, senior A players cannot step down to senior B status.

McGillis, in addition, has a telegram signed by J. Elliott Hudson, Maritime Major League president, which reads: "MacDonald was goalkeeper this season for Saint John senior Beavers. Last season, played for both Halifax St. Mary's Majors and Cornwallis intermediates. Have no idea of his present season's record but is considered one of the best senior Maritime goaltenders."

This would seem to contradict a telegram the OHA has from Charles Campbell, MML registrar-treasurer which says MacDonald was "registered as senior B".

McGillis, who says he has spent $6,500 on his club this year, says he will carry his case through even if it costs him $10,000. "This is just sop to Kingston. The OHA got themselves in a jackpot over the suspension of the Nylons last year. Then that chap from Kingston got up in Parliament and said the Government should supervise the OHA. Now they're trying to salve Kingston at our expense".

He may get his chance but not until April 10, when the OHA says president John Roxburgh, will deal with the suspension. By then, if the Eagles win, it will be too late to play in the OHA".

Be that as it may. Mr. McGillis should not forget the fact that his Eagles used five Peterborough Links junior "B" players in a game against the Sacs, and according to a rule "that was printed wrongly" lays himself wide open to a protest from the Kingston club.

So prithee, will some kind gentleman please tell us what will happen if the OHA upholds the Eagles protest of MacDonald which will be aired in April?

It seems to us the best course would be to let the awakened protest dogs go back to sleep and doing something about what appears to be a wacky set of rules and regulations, that no one, with the exception of the OHA, seems to be able to interpret.

Climax Fine Two-Way Effort With Four-Goal Splurge in 3rd Before Record Crowd of 2531

By GEO. H. CARVER

(Sports Editor)

A hard-checking, hard-hitting Belleville Hawks squad out-played, out-hit and out-checked the Barrie Flyers by an 8-1 score here last night to practically clinch a spot in the O.H.A. Junior "B" semi-finals.

The Hawks defeated the Flyers two straight in their home-and-home series in the current round robin for the right to meet the Western Ontario semi-finalists for the Ontario title.

Hawks meet Weston Dukes in a home-and-home series as does Barrie. The Flyers must defeat the Dukes two straight to draw on even terms with the Hawks. Hawks clash with the Dukes here next Wednesday night in the first game of their home and home series.

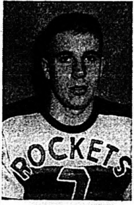
A junior "B" record of 2531 saw the Hawks unleash a both-way checking style that beat the Flyers at their own game. They gave check for check in a rugged hard-hitting battle that combined with a flashing third-period offensive put the game in the bag.

Sixteen Penalties

Sixteen penalties including a misconduct and two majors were handed out by Referees Bill Reason and Art Casterton of Kingston, with nine of the sentences going to the visitors.

The two major penalties climaxed a free-for-all fight in the second period when at least eight players tossed their gloves and staged a minor donnybrook. Lalande and McMurray of Barrie were sent to the sin-bin for five minutes. A Barrie player went to the dressing room for nasal repairs.-

The Hawks were full value for their win. Stung by the only Barrie goal after six minutes of the first period, they struck back for two goals in the same session. The first period apparently took the sting out of the Barrie offensive for in the second heat the Hawks fired home two goals to end the period 4-1 and then took over from a tiring Barrie squad in the third to sling home four goals without a return.



BOB WILSON

. . . Barrie Basher

But they can thank another brilliant performance by Don Barclay in the nets for the difference margin. The goalie came through with another outstanding effort. The Barrie front lines, dangerous at net-front at all times, were thwarted time and again by Barclay's fine game.

Up front, Lalande, Strahan and Doran stole the goal-scoring limelight. The North Bay centre came through with two goals and two assists. Billy Strahan scored a hat-trick while Doran was good for one and two. The latter came through with two fine efforts, one in the first period to tie the count and again in the second when he ripped through the Barrie defence to score, only to have the count nullified when the officials ruled the gong had rung to end the heat before the puck entered the net.

Paddy Gilmour and Ted DeGray accounted for the other pair while George Jacklin came through with a pair of helpers. Bob Wilson turned in another sterling performance on the Hawk defence, taking on all and sundry and hurling back the Barrie offensives time and again.

Munro also stood out with Pete Green doing his share. The whole Hawks team played heads-up hockey with stiff forechecking and backchecking featuring their overall effort.

Beaten at Own Tactics

The Flyers had a hard-hitting, well-coached squad but were beaten by a team that excelled at their own tactics. They were always dangerous in front of the net but Barclay and his mates matched them check for check and stride for stride throughout.

Turnbull, starry Barrie centre, Long, Reid, and Cuculich, the goalie stood out for the Flyers.

Eight penalties, one a misconduct to Reid of the Flyers featured the first period. Long took Brennan's pass to beat Barclay for Barry's first and only score of the game in a rugged tilt that saw both squads tossing torsos willy-nilly. Duke Doran's fine effort at nine minutes, from DeGray, tied the count.

DON BARCLAY

. . . Held the Fort

Long and McMurray went off and Lalande drove home the Hawks second goal with a close-in drive. Munro got the gate and Barclay kicked out Barrie drives as the visitors poured on the pressure.

From then on Hawks never looked back. Jacklin handed Lalanre a neat pass and the North Bay kid made no mistake to put the Hawks two-up. Gilmour dumped Reid, then Bob Wilson and Long got the gate. It was fast furious hockey but no damage was done. Hawks sped to the attack and Cuculich stopped three hard drives before Strahan drove home Lalande's pass.

Came the free-for-all and the Hawks were two men short but again Barclay, DeGray, Wilson and company held the fort. Doran broke in the clear swept through the Barrie team and scored but the count was disallowed.

The tiring Flyers bowed before the "third-period" Hawks. The Doran crew, checking like fiends, hemmed the Flyers in and had a wide margin of play in this heat. Strahan fired his second goal of the night to start the four-goal onslaught at the three-minute mark. He scored his third ten minutes later from Jacklin's pass and the DeGray, Gilmour and Doran came back into the scoring picture.

Gilmour ripped home Doran's toby at 15.45 and fifteen seconds later Degray locked the door on a three-way play with Gilmour and Doran.

Barrie never gave up. Decisively beaten they were battling desperately at the bell in an effort to whittle down the margin, but an inspired hard-checking Hawks squad barred the door.

The teams:

Barrie, goal, Cuculich; defence, McMurray Reid; centre, Turnbull; wings, Kirk, Kaupinnen; subs, Graham, Miller, Long, Edwards, Don Coulson, Doug Coulson, Brennan.

Hawks, goal, Barclay; defence, Wilson, Green; centre, Lalande; wings, Jacklin, Strahan; subs, Munro, DeGray, Doran, Gilmour, Houle, Carey, Therrien, Mason.

Referees — Bill Reason, Art Casterton, Kingston.

Leafs Need Pair of Victories Coupled With Two Hab Defeats To Clinch Second Position

By CRAIG SWAYZE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

With spring officially here and the four Stanley Cup positions all but set, the National Hockey League will run off the final five clashes in its 70-game schedule this weekend.

The most important pair of the final quintet is a home-and-home series between Montreal Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings.

The Wings clinched their fourth consecutive N. H. L. championship two weeks ago while Chicago Black Hawks and New York Rangers have been mathematically eliminated from post-season play. Boston Bruins are snug in fourth position. However, Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens are still fighting for the runner-up slot in the six-team standings.

The second-place Montrealers held a three-point edge over Toronto with both clubs scheduled to appear twice during the weekend.

Leafs Need Two

A single point on the Habs ledger would clinch it for the club, assuring them of the runner-up spot and an escape from the fate that awaits the third-place team—a bout with Detroit in the first round of cup play. On the other hand, Toronto needs two victories coupled with a double Montreal defeat, to gain second spot and the right to meet Boston Bruins in the semi-final.

Thus, the big games will be the Montreal-Detroit clashes. The teams open tonight in Montreal and move into Detroit Sunday.

A the same time, Toronto entertains the tail-end Black Hawks tonight and plays at Boston tomorrow. The weekend's fifth struggle is a Sunday night affair between the Rangers and Hawks in New York. It means nothing to either club.

On paper, the weekend appears to lean toward the Leafs. With the Habs meeting the rough-and-ready Wings twice, while Toronto spars with Chicago and Boston, the odds seem all in favor of the Smythemen. However, the Detroiters have nothing to gain or lose against Montreal while the Hawks have consistently given Leafs trouble over the regular season.

In 13 games between the two this season, the Leafs have won six and lost as many while playing to a tie in the remaining fixture. They are one of the main reasons why Toronto is not in second place looking back at the Montrealers.

If Conn Smythe's crew winds up in a point deadlock with Canadiens, the Montreal club will retain second place on the basis of a better over-all winning average. In other words, Dick Irvin's team needs but a lone point of a possible four against Detroit to cement Leafs into third.

With Montreal coming through, it is considered likely the Leafs will be running for the train immediately after tomorrow night's game in Boston. They would arrive in Detroit Monday night for the Tuesday and Thursday Stanley Cup openers against the Leafs.

However, if the Maple Leafs come through on the weekend and steal that runner-up slot right from under Montreal's nose, they would stay in Boston Sunday, ready to open the semi-finals Tuesday night. The second game would be Thursday and in either case, the third back in Toronto next Saturday.

But most Leaf fans have conceded the Habs second, consoling themselves with the thought that its nice this time of year in Detroit anyway.

Greenshirts Fire Junior Coach

Kitchener, March 22—(CP)—Kitchener Greenshirts of the Ontario Hockey Association yesterday notified coach Lloyd Gross that he will not be retained in that capacity next season. No successor was named.

The Greenshirts finished in the sixth and final playoff spot in the 10-team junior A circuit. They bowed out to St. Catharines in the first round of the playoffs.

Biltmores Oust Marlboros 3-1; Mercurys Win

(By The Canadian Press)

Guelph Biltmores played second fiddle to Toronto Marlboros throughout almost all of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A schedule. Last night they gained sweet revenge.

The Bilts handed Marlies a 3-1 defeat before a packed Guelph Arena and eliminated the Toronto Maple Leaf farm club from further Memorial Cup play. Guelph won the best-of-seven semi-finals four games to two and now awaits the winner of the St. Catharines - St. Michael's semi-finals series.

This series is deadlocked at two games each with the fifth and final clash scheduled tomorrow afternoon at Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto.

The defeat was a humiliating one for Marlboros, the league champions being out-played at every turn. In the course of 60 minutes of play, the Toronto club managed to get only six shots away at Marv Brewer in the Guelph nets. They went the entire second period without sending a puck in Brewer's direction.

In the OHA Senior A finals, Owen Sound Mercurys hung on to their championship chances with a 5-3 win over the host Stratford Indians.

Indians lead the best of seven series 3-2.

The sixth game of this series will be played tonight at Owen Sound. Should Mercs win, the final clash is scheduled Monday back in Stratford.

Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds bounced back into the thick of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A finals last night when they edged Noranda Copper Kings 2-1 in the Quebec mining community and squared the best of seven series at two games each. Fifth game is scheduled tonight in Noranda.

In the NOHA junior A finals South Porcupine Combines made no mistake about it in taking a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven series when they drubbed Sudbury Wolves 10-2 at Timmins. The fourth game is scheduled tomorrow afternoon in Timmins.

Wait Ten Hours For Habs, Wings Hockey Tickets

Montreal, March 22—(CP)—It looked like Stanley Cup playoffs—instead of the tail-end of the regular National Hockey League season—at the Montreal Forum late tonight.

Shortly before midnight, there was a line-up of 25 fans in front of the Forum—with a 10-hour wait before tickets for the high-up terrace section would go on sale. After that comes standing room. Holders of season tickets already had the biggest block of tickets in their hands.

At the front of the line were Mr. and Mrs. Roger Goudreau.

"We'll take turns holding our place," they said. "One will stay while the other goes for a rest."

There was every indication the line-up would strengthen as the night wore along.

The big attraction is the game tonight between Montreal Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings. Second place is at stake for Canadiens. The Wings long ago nailed down first place. Another game with the Wings in Detroit Sunday night, winds up the season.

Canadiens need a tie or win in either game to assure themselves of second place over Toronto Maple Leafs.

Frankford Sport

Frankford — Ross Huffman's Crackpots virtually assured themselves of a first-place finish this week, as they took five points from Gene Lohnes' Pinpoppers. In what was perhaps the hardest fought series of the season, Ross led his team to victory with fine support from his assistant captain Bob Arbuckle. Jack Farley's Fireballs climbed into a second place tie with the Pinpoppers, as they blanked Russ Hogg's Inkspots. Harry Hearns' Hotshots advanced to fifth place as they took seven from the Rockets, led by Ed Tomecek. Ray Scott's Skeeters lost their last chance to get out of the cellar his season, as Bob Morglan's Bobsmob took five from them.

With only one night to go, seventh and eight position in the league are the only spots which could not be changed on the final night. There is a remote possibility that either the Fireballs or Pinpoppers could dethrone the Crackpots. However, with the Crackpots playing the last place Skeeters, it doesn't appear probable. This is the third straight year that the pennant has been decided on the final night of bowling.

Made Presentations

Following the bowling, league president Francis Murphy presented Bob Morglan with a billfold from the league, prior to his departure from Frankford. President Murphy complimented Bob on his fine contribution to league in sportsmanship, and willingness to work in the various league projects.

Karl Austin then read a letter to Bob from his team, "Bobsmob" and on their behalf presented Bob with a small travelling clock. Bob thanked everyone for their kindness, and wished the league every success.

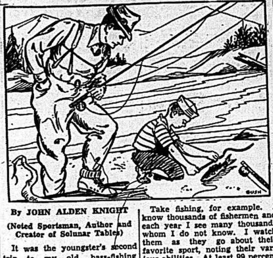
Practical Conservation



By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Solunar Tables)

It was the youngster's second trip to my old bass-fishing stamping grounds, the headwaters of the Delaware River. He was a little fellow then, eleven years old, and his small hand was not quite equal to casting a helgramite out far enough to reach the good bass water.

To be sure, he made heavy inroads on the available supply of chub, sunfish and rockbass, but as yet he had not landed a smallmouth bass. He was standing not far from me when he hooked a fish which obviously was not one of the lesser fry.

After much excitement, he slid the fish up onto the pebbly beach. Sure enough - - - a smallmouth bass at last! I was fearful that his prize would not quite meet the New York State size limit of ten inches, but I let him measure it all by himself.

After several vain attempts to stretch lower jaw and tail to the ten-inch mark, he looked at me.

"Nine and three-quarters is the best I can do," he said. "Gee whiz, Dad; isn't that close enough?"

"You know the law, Dick - - - ten inches."

"I know. but it's almost ten inches.

I didn't say anything further. The boy admired his prize for a moment; then he removed the hook carefully, walked to the water's edge, and watched his first bass swim slowly away into the depths.

"That's a dirty trick, Mister," said a voice behind me. "Was he my boy I'd let him keep the - - - - - fish. What's one little bass?"

I turned to find a tall, thin New York State farmer scowling at me with disapproval.

"In the first place," I replied, "He's not your boy. In the second place, I can see no point in encouraging him to break the law. Moreover, if that's the way you happen to regard the fish and game laws, it might be better not to express your opinion so freely. What do you think, Dick?"

"Dad's right," he said to the farmer. "The law says ten inches.

The fellow stood there for a moment, looking at us. Then he turned and strode away up the bank. Incidentally, Dick picked up not one but two legal bass later in the day, thereby making the trip a complete success.

It has always seemed to me that training in applied conservation cannot begin at too early an age in the career of a young outdoorsman. This business of turning a boy loose and letting him learn about the outdoors for himself never has worked out very well.

Take fishing, for example. I know thousands of fishermen and each year I see many thousands whom I do not know. I watch them as they go about their favorite sport, noting their various abilities. At least 99 percent of them are rank amateurs.

In other words, the great majority have learned what they know the hard way - - - by being self-taught. The result is that they cast miserably, know little or nothing of modern, efficient methods and haven't the remotest notion of how to "read" a trout stream or a bass lake.

The majority of these fellows could very well be able anglers if, in their youth, they could have been taken in hand and trained by qualified persons. A boy learns quickly.

About seven years ago my son and I took under our collective wing a youngster who showed every promise of being a natural outdoorsman. He is a quiet boy who rarely asks a question, but he has the gift of keen observation.

We taught him about tackle. saw to it that he had a decent fly rod, and told him something of casting and methods. In about three years he changed from an outright beginning to a finished angler who can hold his own in any company.

Gradually the men who direct our institutions of learning are coming to realize that early training in conservation and the outdoor sports makes better citizens. The State and Federal Conservation Departments are more than willing to cooperate, as are the local sportsmen's associations.

On my desk is a photograph which I clipped from a Wisconsin magazine, the official organ of the Wisconsin Conservation Department. The picture shows a roadway, lined with children. Down the centre of the road marches a mallard hen, closely followed by thirteen tiny mallard ducklings. The following is the caption:

"A mallard duck hatched her brood near the steps of the Riverview school Milwaukee, last spring. Pupils watched her daily - - - from the porch, for fear of disturbing her. They became highly interested in ducks, and studied them in their classes. Came the day when 13 ducklings were ready to go see the world, Principal Oliver C. Heine dismissed classes; 400 pupils watched the mallard family parade to the Milwaukee River and swim away."

Had the same circumstances come to pass when I was a child - - - thirteen baby mallards being hatched under the school steps - - - I know very well that those thirteen little ducks would have found themselves in thirteen different homes as pets, no doube to die rather quickly from overkind but unwise treatment.

This year Wisconsin is staging an all-out educational program in conservation. This is being done on a trial basis, confined to 35 high schools in the northeastern section of the state. The announcement is as follows:

"The school programs will be carried out through the cooperation of six divisions of the conservation department. At each of the cooperating schools an effort will be made to present the fundamentals of forestry, forest-protection, fish and game problems, law enforcement, gun and boat safety and tackle usuage.

"At least one day will be given over to the program in each of the schools. Groundwork for the day will be laid at a general assembly session and following that special classes will operate simultaneously in four different rooms. Divided classes will spend the rest of the day shifting from one of the specialized classrooms to another. The conservation department is furnishing moving pictures, slides, exhibits and material, and classroom work will be carried on by representatives of department divisions involved in the subjects. Conservation department teams and equipment will be moved from school to school until all of the cooperating institutions have been served. The conservation department estimates that it will take to the middle of March to fulfill the involved obligations."

This is a splendid step in the right direction - - - organized, carefully planned instruction under the direction of competent men. It is to be hoped that other State Conservation Departments will profit from this experiment and follow along in like manner.

OHA President Contradicts Claim Of Eagles Regarding Sacs' Goalie

Guelph March 22 —Jack Roxburgh, Ontario Hockey Association president, tonight contradicted the claim of Peterborough Eagles that Kingston Sacs' netminder, Sonny MacDonald, played senior A hockey in the Maritimes before transferring to the senior B Sacs.

Roxburgh's statement came after G. A. McGillis, Peterborough Eagles' president, had declared that there was proof that MacDonald had played for a senior A team in Saint John, N.B.

Settle Question

"Just to settle the question once and for all, I phoned Charlie Campbell (Maritime Hockey Association secretary) again today" Roxburgh said here. "There has been a misunderstanding in Peterborough, MacDonald played in an industrial league for Saint John. His team is classed as senior B, but down there, the B team can play against the A winner."

The Saint John team, according to what Campbell told Roxburgh played against Xavier University an "A" club. Xavier won the series and continued against Pembroke.

"I can understand McGillis feeling that MacDonald is an A player," Roxburgh continued. "But he definitely isn't and that's all there is to it."

Roxburgh said he didn't want to see the question continue indefinitely. He criticized McGillis' attitude which leld to the Eagles defaulting their best-of-seven series to Kingston after they had lost the first two games.

"I think he's been most unfair to Kingston as well as to his own players and fans," Roxburgh said. "We don't like that sort of thing.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The thought will persist that perhaps we have missed the pleasure of being a duffer. He knows in advance that he must lose his pants. So, why should he worry and suffer.

A dub must get a lot of enjoyment out of his bridge. If he fails to make a contract he can dismiss it by believing it could not have been made. Not so with a player of experience.

East is declarer at four spades in this deal.

NORTH
♠K 9 6
♥9 6 3 2
♦A J 9
♣7 5 3

WEST
♠10 8 4 3
♦Q 10 7 4 2
♣A K 6

EAST
♠A Q J 2
♥Q 10 8 7 4
♦8 5

SOUTH
♠7 5
♥A K J
♦K 6 3
♣Q J 10 9 4

Opening lead from south is a heart. It wins and he switches to the lead of club queen. Declarer stops to take stock and finds a few different ways to go at trying to make his contract.

He might try cross-ruffing diamonds and hearts in an attempt to make six ruffs, two top clubs, two tricks in trumps. But he may lose a trump trick by an overruff and thus lose the contract.

He might try establishing his longest suit first, the diamonds. But this will shorten his east trumps to permit opponent to take a trump trick with king. With two diamonds and a heart they set him.

Another way is to take the club lead with dummy king and lead a trump from there. The finesse is successful. Lead a heart and ruff in dummy. Return a trump and successfully finesse again.

Lead another heart and ruff in dummy. East hearts are now set up. So, cash dummy club ace and ruff a dummy club in east. Now cash trump ace and pick up the north king of spades.

Lead queen of hearts and another for your final two tricks and give opponents the rest. You have taken two clubs, two hearts, two heart ruffs, one club ruff, three trumps; your ten needed tricks.

Maybe there are other ways to make the contract. I will not take time out to look. But if you guess wrong, you look to see why. A dub simply grins and says: "Maybe we bid too much."

Tacoma Takes 2 From Vancouver

(By The Canadian Press)

Tacoma Rockets, travelling under full steam, won two games in the Pacific Coast Hockey League last night, both over Vancouver Canucks. Tacoma beat Vancouver 2-1 in the regularly scheduled game and then won a replay of the last 11 minutes of a protested Feb. 22 game, 7-6.

Canucks thus became one of the few teams in sports history to win a protest but lose the game. The result left Vancouver tied with Calgary and Victoria for last place in the league. Each has a game to play as the league winds up its schedule during the weekend.

Edmonton Flyers defeated Saskatoon Quakers 7-0 in Edmonton last night in a game that left Quakers in second place and Flyers in fifth. Ching Johnson and Motto McLean each scored twice, Bert Giesebrecht, Howie Cox and Eldor Thomas getting the others.

In Victoria, the Cougars trounced New Westminster Royals 7-3.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

San Francisco, March 22 (AP)—Hot news in the Giants' camp is the hitting and the all - around fire being exhibited by Hank Thompson, third - baseman who flopped last season and forced manager Leo Durocher to bring Bob Thomson in from centrefield.

Hank now looks like the fellow who hammered 20 home runs in 1950 and drove across 91 runs and set a new National League double play record for third sackers. Durocher doesn't know whether to believe his eyes. Hank, himself, says it's the McCoy.

"Of course I'm going to come back—all the way," he says. "That last year is just something you can forget about. I don't know how I could have been that bad."

Hank, who had played in 143 games the previous season, got into only 87 last year and was little help during the Giants' great flag drive. He drove in only 33 runs and wound up with a .235 mark.

"It just seemed that no matter how hard I worked I couldn't quite get in shape and find my batting eye," he said. "But everything has come back this spring and I know I'm going to take that job away from Bob. He would rather be in that outfield, anyway."

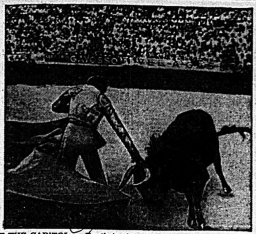
Right now there is no crying need for Hank's services at third, but there will be when Willie Mays is told to don an army uniform. It will be extremely comforting to Durocher.

"I'm happy to play anywhere Leo wants me to," Bobby says, "but if I had my choice I guess it would be the outfield. Out there I feel there is a better chance of using my speed to advantage."

Until Willie is called, there is a possibility that Hank will have to take over second base. Neither Davy Williams nor Bob Hofman looks like making anybody forget about Eddie Stanky.

PAPER RATE INCREASED

Minneapolis, March 22 (AP)—The Minneapolis Morning Tribune and the Minneapolis Star last night announced an increase of five cents a week on home deliveries. The new rate for both papers, effective Monday, will be 30 cents a week. The Sunday Tribune remains at 15 cents a copy. The newstand price of both papers will continue at five cents a copy.



AT THE CAPITOL — Death in the afternoon and romance at night are the twin themes of Columbia Pictures' new Robert Rosen production, "The Brave Bulls," opening at the Capitol Theatre Monday for its first Belleville showing. Mel Ferrer is featured as the toreador in love with beautiful, blonde Miroslava. On the same program, in Technicolor, "Al Jennings of Oklahoma," starring Dan Duryea and Gale Storm.

BANCROFT

$428 Collected In Fines, Costs

Bancroft. — The sum of $428 was collected in fines and costs in the semi-monthly court for Bancroft and district on Wednesday afternoon. Magistrate R. C. Jackson, of Napance, presided. Two citizens of Bancroft and fifteen from the neighboring townships paid fines, while six cases were enlarged until April 2nd.

Stanley Poff of Maynooth, paid $100 and costs for illegal possession of liquor and $50 and costs for a second offence of intoxication.

On a charge laid by R.C.M.P. officers Murray E. Kelusky of Bancroft paid $25 and costs on a charge of income tax default.

Fifteen dollars and costs were paid by Earl Kerr, Fort Stewart, for intoxication; Durwood Lavoy of Fort Stewart for having liquor in a place other than a residence; Roy Stoughton, of Toronto, and Archibald Bird of Gilmour, for the same charge.

Theft of Christmas trees cost Martin O'Brien of Faraday township and Kenneth Jackson of Wollaston township $20 and costs each.

In the $10 and costs category were Ernest Lindsay of Lake St. Peter for common assault; Thomas Deady of Maynooth for intoxication; Elwood Mackey of Fort Stewart for having liquor in a place other than a residence; Edwin Pilgrim of Palmer Rapids for speeding; Claude Peacock of Faraday for intoxication; Mervyn White of Fort Stewart, for obtaining liquor while being a minor; and Donald Spence of Bancroft, for intoxication.

L. J. Campbell of Coe Hill, and Willard Spence of Hybla were fined $5 and costs for failure to share half the road and placing refuse on the highway.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, March 22 — (AP)—The movie industry is at sea.

War pictures seem to be on the wane. Westerns, which come and go in importance, also appear on the downbeat. The most notable trend in movie subjects is in the direction of the ocean.

The trend appears to be duplicating what has happened with best-selling books. The fiction leader for many months has been "The Caine Mutiny," and closely following it was "The Cruel Sea," another naval saga of the Second World War. The non-fiction leader has been "The Sea Around Us," a lucid account of submarine life and phenomena.

Now the movies are getting into the act. Every studio has sea stories in the works. And one ocean saga often leads to another, for an interesting reason. The construction of a sea-going vessel on a movie stage is an expensive matter, and studios like to use the set for more than one film.

For instance, Paramount built an 18th century English vessel for "Botany Bay". The set has since been used for two other films, "Caribbean Gold" and "Hurricane Smith." MGM has constructed a replica of the Mayflower for "The Plymouth Adventure." Now the studio is hunting around for other sea subjects. A sequel to "Mutiny on the Bounty" may be one of them.

At 20th Century Fox, there are no less than five sea films being prepared. They are:: "Single-Handed," a Second World War story by C. S. Forester; "Nearer My God to Thee," about the Titanic, "Face in the Deep," concerning a deep-sea diver; "12 Mile Reef," a story of sponge fishing, and an untitled submarine opus.

Warners has "Sea Chase," the story of a German U-boat, and subjects concerning the U. S. S Marblehead and the four chaplains who lost their lives at sea. U-I has made "The World in His Arms" with Gregory Peck, "Against All Flags" with Errol Flynn, and "Yankee Buccaneer" with Jeff Chandler.

Two producers have latched onto best-sellers. Howard Hughes bought "The Sea Around Us," and Stanley Kramer now owns "The Caine Mutiny." It's still doubtful whether the navy will lend co-operation to the latter subject, however.

HUNTER'S PARADISE

Nairobi, the capital of Kenya Colony in East Africa, has long been one of the world's greatest centres of big-game hunting.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY, MARCH 23, 1952

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) Jupiter, Moon and Venus in friendly array now augur for an interesting day, but over-aggressiveness is tabu. Music, good reading, pleasant social gatherings, prayer top sponsored.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Ideal for new, unusual matters, especially if they pertain to the home, personal needs, healthy entertainment, gatherings for charity, hospitals, etc. Fine period for seeking funds. Pray.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) Pleasant indications for home, family, church interests, for children's activities, homes for the aged and ill. You are clever, offer your services to aid good causes. And have tact.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Your Moon and Venus very favorably aspected for benefits, blessings for self-restraint, help to the unfortunate, lonely, for church services and praying for peace and security.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Sun's configuration advises against the unnecessary, being irritable or unpleasant. Otherwise day advances religious needs, family gatherings, true charity, quiet deeds of merit.

August 23 to September 23 (Vigro)—Heed Gemini now. And don't permit trivial matters to upset your disposition, cause worry. This can be a happy period of worth-while doings. Pay tribute to God, enjoy family, a hobby.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Fine Venus, Jupiter configurations here hold advantages for all useful, worthy activities and interests and particularly so if they will aid humanity, religion, our country's security.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Urgent and necessary work, transacting business for government, church, charity activities under fine rays, but deserve extra care. Don't seek unnecessary labor, relax, enjoy home.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Highly favorable now for the many good activities, healthy sports and hobbies free peoples enjoy. And first of all comes our religious freedom for which we should constantly thank God.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—You in the service of our country; you working in hospitals, aiding the poor; physicians, surgeons, nurses, chemists highly favored. Can be a pleasant, productive period for all.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Unusually benefic Uranus rays. You should be creative, ambitious; interested in new and improved devices that will aid and further good living generally. Pray; relax, too.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Some personal wishes may not be fully realized but this is an ideal time for artistic affairs, happy family socials, good fun; and, first of all, your spiritual needs.

YOU BORN TODAY have excellent qualifications for top success; sensible ambition, impulsiveness tempered by caution, charity, kindliness and unusual artistic ability. You may worry too much over mistakes you've made, think they cannot be rectified. This hampers, so eradicate it now. Don't think too much in the past, get busy with today and have high hopes for the future. Associate with energetic people who can help urge you forward. Blessings!

Birthdate: Joan Crawford, actress.

MARMORA

Miss Olga Wurm Tells of Teaching Children to Sing

Marmora—Miss Olga Wurm of Madoc, teacher of music at the public schools of this district was guest speaker at the monthly meeting of Marmora Home and School Association held in Marmora Public School on Wednesday evening, choosing as her subject, "The Development of the Child's Voice."

In an interesting manner she described and illustrated the methods of teaching children to sing from Grade 1 to Grade 8, so that when their school studies are ended, they are fitted to be recruits in church choirs and other organizations wherein music has a part.

According to Ability

In the first three grades, she said, "pupils are, according to their musical ability, divided into three groups: Those with most ability are termed 'Canaries', and the other two are 'Red Birds' and 'Blue Birds', the latter having disadvantages which are only overcome by dint of hardest work on part of the teacher.

Miss Wurm was heartily thanked by Donald Marett chairman of the school board, for her edifying talk.

In the absence of Mrs. Roy Frost, the vice-president, Mrs. A. F. Fraser presided, Mrs. H. Mawer was pianist for the evening. There was a splendid attendance of parents who before the meeting were able to inspect their children's work and discuss problems with the teachers.

Following the usual preliminaries, a motion was passed that the two waste-paper baskets presented by Arnold Walker, be fixed for serviceability. It was also decided to send two delegates including the president to the provincial convention which is being held in Toronto in Easter week. The date of the next open meeting was set for April 23rd.

Planting of Shrubs

The Rev. W. N. Crandall who was present at the invitation of the executive, discussed the further planting of shrubs on the school grounds, with those present.

The parent attendance, taken by principal E. C. Prentice, resulted in honors going to Mr. J. Trombley's room for the second successive month.

The nominating committee was then appointed to comprise Mrs. H. Mawer, Mrs. A. F. Fraser and Mr. J. Soroul. Miss Wurm's address followed after which a humorous reading "Passing the Buck," was given by Mrs. T. J. Bateman.

Story of St. Patrick

Miss G. Cole read the story of St. Patrick; a twofold contest, the first part of which constituted the identification of Irish melodies, was staged by Mrs. G. D. Young, and Mrs. Mawer. Mr. J. Trombley was the winner.

After the meeting closed a social half hour was spent and refreshments served by mothers of the children of Mr. Trombley's room.

CAN BUY ON SUNDAY

Alderney, Channel Islands, Mar. 22 — (Reuters) — The residents of Alderney will be able to have a drink in a tavern next Sunday for the first time in the Island's history, the government decided yesterday. Last year the laws were relaxed to allow visitors arriving on Sunday to buy drinks. But local residents still had to go thirsty.

NO INQUEST ORDERED

Perth, Ont., March 22 — (CP) —The bodies of a young couple were found yesterday in a parked automobile on the dairy farm of Stanley Taylor, near this town 60 miles southwest of Ottawa. Police said death was due to asphyxiation.

Dead were Alvin Dodds, 21, of Perth, and Mazie Truelove, 19, of Perth and nearby Sharbot Lake.

Dr. A. C. Fowler, coroner at Perth, ruled death accidental and said no inquest will be held.

Nobody Loves Forever

By Margaretta Brucker

"She looked up and caught Doris' glance fastened upon her face. "That's my ring," Jessica said in a low troubleld voice, "you guessed?"

"I never saw the ring."

"Then why did you think—"

"I didn't think about the ring. I read the story and thought—"

Their glances locked. Jessica felt the blood drain from her face. A cold chill touched her spine.

"What did you think?"

"I remember that you thought Hugh Linton wanted the ring. There were men at that hotel last night who rushed off and left the girls they took there. I wondered —" She broke off and her glance shifted away from Jessica's shocked face.

Jessica said hotly, "not Lucy! You couldn't believe—"

"She was crazy about him," said Doris stubbornly.

"How dare you insinuate that this little tramp—"

"She isn't a tramp necessarily," said Doris bluntly. "She might be any girl who lost her head over a man and let him persuade her to do something contrary to/her principles."

"But Lucy—"

"Everyone at the plant knew," Doris went on. "But no one will say one word because no one will risk what might follow—loss of job, the accusation of libel. You don't stick your neck out tarnishing a reputation like Hugh Linton's. He doesn't deny that he was present at that fire. Bill told me he saw him. Bill used to work in the same plant when Linton was foreman. He's risen fast. It went to his head. He took on all the angles —drink and women—they were all a part of the life he led after he came into a big salary. He's smart invaluable to his firm, and they'll protect him. Now he's a hero. He went right into the fire last night and helped to rescue several people. His hands were burned and clothes were singed; and that's his story!"

"Lucy," Jessica spoke the name in almost a whisper. "You can't mean Lucy."

"Lucy's human."

"Did Genevieve know?"

"Probably. She has supersleuth instincts and probably guessed what she didn't know and tipped off Lucy's mother."

"Then you think—"

"Bill heard some men talking. The old lady was crazy. She rushed right into the fire last night screaming her daughter's name. Why else, unless she was in there? What would compel her to associate Lucy with a dump like that? Tell me that."

She couldn't. She was heartsick. "I can prove the identity of the ring" said Jessica.

"Do you want to?" asked Doris.

Did she? The implication of what Doris thought shocked her. Should she go back and tell Tom her suspicions? Would he accept them? Dared she risk accusing Lucy of something so foreign to her nature that Tom would never forgive her for the accusation?

She tried to explain this to Doris as they sat in the gathering dusk in the little living room. She forgot entirely that David would call her that evening. This new and terrible suspicion about Lucy blotted out everything else from her mind as she bundled Betsy into her coat. She must go home, but she could not suppress a wave of dread as she started toward the bleak gray house across the street.

In a few moments she must come to a decision, disclose what she feared and meet Tom's angry refusal to accept what Doris suspected or have upon her conscience the fact that she had allowed Lucy—if Lucy should be this unidentified girl—to lie alone and wretched in a city hospital.

Tom himself flung open the door. There was a new expression on his face. He drew her inside and lifted Betsy in his arms and held her close. He said soberly "I've news for you, Jess."

"About Lucy?" She could not move a step as she stood trying to read the expression on his face.

He nodded. He sat down and clumsily tried to remove Betsy's leggings while Betsy nestled her curly head against his blouse and sighed. He said "there's been a change. Not much, but Mom spoke Lucy's name—just a few mumbled words. Then Genevieve came—"

"What did she say?"

Genevieve herself appeared from the kitchen. She said "I told Tom that I thought Lucy had gone away to work."

"Gone away?" Jessica repeated stupidly.

"She talked a lot about Detroit," said Genevieve. "I think she left Akron. I think I know the reason." She shot a significant glance at Jessica over Tom's bent head, as though they were linked in some mad conspiracy of silence, as though they would connive to fool Tom into believing that his sister had left town to find work elsewhere. Had she? Was it her own imagination which made her feel that Genevieve planned to conceal something from Tom?

After Tom left the room Jessica turned to Genevieve. "You don't believe that, do you—about Lucy going away to find work?"

Genevieve shrugged. "It was up to someone to stop Tom's worrying. He's been like a crazy person, calling over the telephone, rushing to the door. Maybe this is the explanation of Lucy's absence. What else?"

What else? thought Jessica gloomily. Can I go to Tom and hint that the girl who lies unidentified in the city hospital is his sister? Can I add still another burden to what Tom must carry?

No, she couldn't do that. She must wait and see Tom watching for a letter that did not come and in the meantime, convince herself that the girl at the hospital was not Lucy, but a stranger.

Two days passed with no change in Mrs. Blake's condition. Two days in which Tom shut himself in his mother's room, taking complete charge of the nursing, coming down to meals Jessica prepared, but showing no interest in the food she struggled to cook.

On the afternoon of the second day, David called. Jessica talked to him in low, nervous tones, aware of Tom in the room above. David was indignant because she had not called him on Sunday. He must see her. Finally Jessica promised to meet him at the Mayflower the next afternoon if Doris would consent to look after Betsy.

Perhaps David could help her solve the mystery of Lucy's disappearance. He worked in the same office with Hugh Linton and knew him well. He would be able to ascertain whether Linton's secretary had gone away to find another job, wouldn't he?

For no letter had come from Lucy, no message. There were only Genevieve's hints that Lucy had gone away to find work in another city. Meanwhile, Jessica read the papers with mounting interest. All efforts to identify the girl at the hospital were unavailing. The girl herself refused to talk. She would live, although she did not wish to live. In fact, every precaution had been taken to prevent her from taking a life upon which she placed no value.

Again the papers published the picture of the ring. Her ring.

She alone could offer a clue to its identity, thought Jessica. Would the ring identify the girl? She shrank from the thought and refused to acknowledge a growing conviction that the girl might be Lucy.

The next afternoon, when she set out to meet David, was clear and cold, and the air invigorating after her long stay in the gloomy house with Tom and his mother. The bright sun lifted spirits which had been dull and heavy. The escape from Tom's presence was a reprieve. Alone with him she became uneasy and possessed by a sense of guilt because she could not comfort him in his unhappiness.

Tom knew that things were changed. After that brief conversation on Sunday he made no effort to break through the barrier set up between them. He lavished his affection upon Betsy, which fact alternately touched and then alarmed Jessica. Betsy's response to her father's affection might easily make the coming separation mose difficult.

For I will not change my plan to leave Tom, Jessica told herself stubbornly as she left Betsy with Doris and hurried away toward the bus stop. I will not weaken in my resolve, for if I do—

She would lose David.

She thrust Tom and his problems behind her as she entered the lobby of the Mayflower, and saw David coming toward her, eager and smiling. Dear David! In his presence she would meet his blue eyes with the smile she loved. She thrilled when he whispered "darling!"

David caught her arm and held it close against his as they went toward the bar. "I still love you in spite of the fact that I haven't seen you for a week," he said. "Surprising, isn't it?"

She thought of that week, of the terror and the trouble, and her gay spirits collapsed and her dark eyes were serious. "Is it?" she asked. "Must we see one another every day?"

David said roughly "I'm afraid. I confess it. Love me?"

"Of course."

"Are you sure?"

"Of course." Then "Tom's home."

He said indifferently "what difference should that make? You expected him."

She began to explain about her fright on Saturday night, and her terror when the stranger brought Tom's mother home. Her relief when Tom appeared to take the responsibility from her shoulders. As she talked she saw David's face darkened. It would be difficult to make him understand. to see that she couln't run off and leave Tom when he was in trouble.

She said, "there's no one else."

"I thought there was a sister?"

She looked up quickly and surprised an odd expression in David's eyes. He looked away hastily.

Jessica said "Tom has a sister, Lucy. She was Hugh Linton's secretary."

She waited. David said nothing. Did he know? Did he guess that Lucy was not at home? Would Hugh Linton confide in David?

She felt her throat tighten and her heart grow heavy. On the tip of her tongue was the question which might give her the answer to Lucy's disappearance.

Why did she hesitate now? Because she was a coward. She did not want to burden her mind today with Tom's affairs. She wanted to avoid discussing Lucy. If she knew, really knew, that Lucy was that girl, she would add still another to Tom's heavy burdens. She would make her own responsibility greater.

All this ran through her mind in the few moments she and David sat silent. Then he asked "can't your contact this sister? Didn't she leave an address?"

"How did you know that she was not at home?"

David moved impatiently. Did not you say that Blake was dependent upon you? That there was no one else?"

"Yes," she acknowledged but was not satisfied that David had not learned in some other way of Lucy's absence. Now she was doubting David, for the first time analyzing his simplest statement.

Against her will, Tom's troubles intruded and spoiled an afternoon to which she had looked forward with anticipation and pleasure.

Railway Union Expels Official For Statements

Guilty of Circulating False And Misleading Information

Ottawa, March 24 — (CP)—J. E. McGuire, national secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and other transport workers (C.C.L.) has been removed from office and expelled from the union, the union's National Executive Board announced today.

A board statement said the action was taken after Mr. McGuire was found guilty of a series of charges including circulation of false and misleading information, "villification of a fellow officer and member, namely the national president," A. R. Mosher.

He also was found guilty of "disregarding constitutional authority without proper approval" and "general disregard for supervisory authority.

The national executive said that the union's president, Mr. Mosher, withdrew from the board during the hearing of Mr. McGuire's case, except to appear as a witness. Mr. McGuire did not appear but sent a telegram requesting a postponement because of ill-health.

Right to Appeal

The executive of the 28,000-member union said that "despite his claim of illness" Mr. McGuire was "carrying on extensive activities from his home, was able to travel, organize and attend meetings." He will have the right to appeal to the next convention of the union, at Ottawa in September.

The executive board said it is not unmindful of the many years of membership of Mr. McGuire on the board "but this fact cannot mitigate the seriousness of his conduct."

The board's action, predicted last week, is the climax of about four years of friction between the 71-year-old president of the union and his 54-year-old secretary-treasurer.

The statement said the "board's action is a vindication of the position taken by President A. R. Mosher, who the board found, had been subject to repeated attacks by Mr. McGuire."

Mr. Mosher, who is also president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, commenting on the board's findings, said: "I do not think I am thin-skinned or vindictive. I can, and do, readily forgive any attack on me personally but my duty and responsibility to the membership which has honored me with its confidence since our organization was established in 1908, is something that cannot be brushed aside. I have had occasion to perform many unpleasant tasks in my 44 years in office, but this most recent experience was the worst."

No Immediate Comment

There was no immediate comment from Mr. McGuire.

One point of resentment between the pair was believed to be the fact that Mr. Mosher is staying in office well beyond the 65-year-old mark at which the C.B.R.E. pensions officials.

The rift came to a head about a month ago when the C.B.R.E.'s official publication, edited by Mr. McGuire, came out with a sharp criticism of C. H. Millard, of Toronto, Canadian director of the powerful United Steel Workers (C.I.O.-C.C.L.).

At the national convention last September in Vancouver of the 350,000-member C.C.L., Mr. Millard was leader of a faction which overthrew the majority of the Congress leadership of an internal Congress issue. One result of this was the resignation of Pat Conroy from the post of secretary-treasurer of the C.C.L.

President Mosher had opposed Mr. Millard on some points but later apparently effected a liaison with the Steel-Union chief. When the critical article appeared in the C.B.R.E.'s journal, Mr. Mosher quickly denied that he had anything to do with it.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, March 24 (CP) —Synopsis: The comparative calm of sunny skies and light winds after the weekend storm will be a welcome relief to the residents of Ontario. Although there will be considerable cloudiness in northern regions today and Tuesday skies will be much brighter and temperatures slightly cooler. Sunny, milder weather appears in store for southern regions on Tuesday, although tonight will be clear and cool with temperatures in the mid or low 20s.

Detective Tong Dies 19 Days After Being Shot

Toronto, March 24. (CP)—Eddie Tong, the sergeant of detectives who was shot down 19 days ago by two gunmen, died early yesterday.

Charged with murder are Steve Suchan and Leonard Jackson, captured in gun fights with police in Montreal. They previously had been charged with the attempted murder of the 48-year-old Tong and his partner, Det. Sgt. Roy Perry.

Perry is in good condition in hospital, his arm shattered by the gunmen's bullets.

Tong died at 12:05 a.m., when a blood clot reached his heart. He had been wounded by a .45-calibre bullet that ripped through both his lungs and severed his spine.

Hopes had been held for his recovery. As late as Friday night his doctors expressed satisfaction with his progress and hoped to operate this week to remove the bullet. But Saturday night he took a turn for the worse.

The men charged with his murder were wounded in separate gun battles with police that resulted in their capture. Suchan is being held in a Montreal hospital until he is well enough to be removed to Toronto. Jackson was brought from Montreal Friday.

To Take Care of Family

Mayor Allan Lamport, in Florida for a few days, said the city, through the police commission, would take care of Mrs. Tong and her two children, Margaret, 21, and Raymond, 13.

A native of Leeds, Yorkshire, Tong joined the force in 1926 and in 1933 he became a detective. Since then he worked on every major crime in the Toronto area.

He and Perry stopped a suspicious car in the west end March 6. Tong stepped from the police car and was shot down. Before he lapsed into unconsciousness he told a witness that he thought he recognized the gunman.

The manhunt swung into action. The next night Suchan was shot and captured in Montreal. Four days later Jackson was also shot and taken prisoner in Montreal.

Last Saturday Edwin Boyd was caught in Toronto. He is believed to have masterminded the bank holdups. However, he does not face any charges arising from the shooting of Tong and Perry.

REMAND WEEK

Cornwall, March 24 — (CP)—Joseph Peters, 37, of nearby Cornwall Island, today was remanded for one week without being asked to plead when he appeared in court on a shooting charge.

Police said the charge arose from the shooting-up of the Canadian customs office on Cornwall Island early Saturday. Two shotgun blasts were fired into the office and 22 windows broken. Two officers in the building escaped injury.

TWO YOUNGSTERS DEAD BUT THIRD IS FOUND ALIVE

All Huddled Together In Abandoned Outhouse

Lakewood, Wis., March 24 — (AP)—Two five-year-old youngsters perished in the winterbound wilderness of the Nicolet National Forest after becoming lost in a storm but a third child was found alive today, huddled with her dead companions in an abandoned outhouse.

Mary Ann Church, 3, was found alive at 10 a.m. today by two searchers snowshoeing through the heavy new snow, and taken to a doctor.

She recovered consciousness, drank a little milk and greeted her mother, then was sent to hospital where her condition is fair.

Police said that searchers at first thought "a spark of life" was left in the other two children but they were pronounced dead by a coroner.

The dead were Mary Ann's sister Cathy, and their cousin, Steven Kennedy, both five.

Police said the three were found huddling in an outdoor toilet on the grounds of a closed resort in the winterbound wilderness of Nicolet National Forest.

The three youngsters were missing since mid-afternoon Saturday, and have been sought by hundreds of searchers.

Freezing Rain And Snow Halt Wide-ScaleSearch

Halifax, March 24 — (CP) — Freezing rain and snow over northern New Brunswick today halted a wide-scale search for a Maritime Central Airways plane missing since Saturday with five men aboard.

A five-plane night-long search revealed no trace of the twin-engined Dakota that disappeared on a charter flight from Saint John, N. B., to Goose Bay, Labrador. Twenty-six military and civilian planes unsuccessfully scoured 28,000 square miles of territory yesterday.

Search officials at the Greenwood, N. S. air base feared the weather would be against them today. Intermittent rain was forecast for the Bay of Chaleur area focal point of the search. Operations were cancelled until noon.

Crew members of the plane were Capt. John McClatchie of Charlottetown, former bush pilot, and J. E. Boudreau, Moncton, N.B. The others, including an European immigrant and an American, were believed en route to Goose Bay to work for the construction company which chartered the flight.

Names of the passengers have not been released pending notification of next-of-kin.

The disappearance marked the first time in the airline's 11-year history that one of its craft has been missing.

The Dakota left Saint John at 1:48 p. m. AST Saturday and was last heard from over the RCAF fighter base at Chatham.

The radar screen at Chatham tracked the plane for 14 minutes after it passed the base. It did not check in at Seven Islands, Que.

Capt. Carl Burke, manager of the M.C.A. who piloted one of his company's search planes yesterday, said it appeared possible the plane could have gone down between these points.

Truman Asks Congress to Admit 300,000 More European Immigrants

Key West, Fla., March 24 (AP) —President Truman today asked congress to open immigration gates to admit 300,000 additional Europeans during the next three years. Many escaped "victims of communist tyranny" would be included.

This request highlighted a program drafted at Truman's vacation quarters here asking Congress to: provide aid for victims escaping from communist tyranny; continue United States participation in the international effort to assist migration and resettlement of persons from the over-populated areas of western Europe; authorize additional immigration into the U.S. to aid in alleviating the problems created by communist tyranny and overpopulation in western Europe.

No estimate of the cost of the three-year "emergency period" immigration was contained in the message. It suggested immigrants be brought in at the rate of 100,000 a year.

The message followed a presidential directive yesterday allocating $4,300,000 of mutual security funds for immediate use to form able-bodied men and specialists escaping from behind the iron curtain into elements of the military forces supporting the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Truman said as a result of repressive measures, "some 15,000 to 20,000 Germans are slipping over the border from the Soviet zone of Germany and crossing into western Germany every month."

There are about 18,000 persons from other communist areas already west of the iron curtain and they are coming in at the rate of about 1,000 a month, Truman added.

Canadian and U.S. Planes Expected to Start Supplying Arctic Weather Stations Soon

Ottawa, March 24 — (CP) — Canada and the United States are expected to start supplying their joint weather stations in the Arctic by air early next month, the Defence Department announced today.

Two R. C. A. F. transports and four U. S. Air Force C54s will fly in supplies to the four stations, the farthest north of which is on Ellef Ringnes Island, some 2,000 miles north of Winnipeg on west longitude 100 degrees on the map.

Besides Isachsen Station on Ellef Island, flights will be made to Mould Bay on Prince Patrick Island and to alert and Eureka on Ellesmere Island. Prince Patrick and Ellesmere are both a few miles south of Ellef but the former is bisected on the map by 120 degrees west longitude and the latter by 85 degrees west longitude.

Two North Stars of 426 Thunderbird Squadron at Dorval, Que., the group which has been flying the Korean airlift since July, 1950, will handle the Canadian end of the job. They will work out of Resolute Bay on Cornwallis Island, about 250 miles south of Ellef where latitude north 75 meets longitude west 95 on the map.

Fly From Resolute Bay

Hundreds of tons of mail, food and equipment will be flown in from Resolute Bay to the men who have been living on supplies flown to them last year.

The supplies are taken to the Arctic jump-off points such as Resolute Bay during the short summer navigation period. The planes then ferry the supplies during the equally-short spring flying season.

The United States Air Force planes engaged in the air lift will be based at Pepperrell base at St. Johns, Nfld., from where they will handle supplying of the stations at Alert and Eureka with 230,000 pounds of cargo.

The weather recording teams at the northern stations, half Canadians and half Americans, take several daily observations of upper air conditions to heights of 60,000 feet or more, among their other observations.

Missionaries Agree It Is Good To be Out of China But Differ On Merits Communist Regime

Hong Kong, March 24. (CP) — The last six United Church of Canada missionaries in communist China arrived today in Hong Kong from Chengtu ending work in China which began in 1925.

They agreed it is good to be out of China but sharply disagreed on the merits of the Chinese communist regime.

All were teachers at Chengtu's West China Union University. They are:

Dr. and Mrs. Leslie G. Kilborn of Toronto. Kilborn was dean of medicine at the university. He was born in China and his parents founded the first medical mission at Chengtu in 1891. Mrs. Kilborn's parents live at Guelph, Ont.

L. Earl Willmott, instructor of religious education, and Mrs. Willmott, both of Toronto.

Bursar William Small of Toronto and Mrs. Small, whose parents live at Hamilton, Ont. With them were their two daughters, Lorraine, 3 1-2, and Katherine, 1 1-2.

Ordered Out

Arriving with them from the university were Jesse and Mrs. Moncrieff, Northern Baptists of Los Angeles, Calif.

The returning missionaries said the Szechwan foreign office has already ordered out Marion Hughes of the British Friends' Society, last foreigner and last Presbyterian missionary at Chengtu University.

Willmott, whose series of letter-essays lauding the Chinese red regime were published last year in Shanghai's English language "China Monthly Review," published by John W. Powell, an American, told reporters he still stands by his earlier writing.

"The Chinese communist church doesn't want and doesn't need foreign missionaries. They're on their own legs now and have a feeling of independence. I haven't met anyone who doesn't agree that the new regime is popular. I've heard nothing about persecution of the Chinese people."

Small, who like Willmott wore an unmarked blue uniform of the government - sponsored Teachers' Union, said "the people are behind their government. Actions of the government are to the benefit of 98 percent of the people"

Sharply Critical

Asked about the persecution of Chinese and foreign missionaries in China, he replied "I know nothing about that but I am concerned over what I've heard about persecution abroad." He wouldn't elaborate.

Dr. and Mrs. Kilborn were sharply critical of the red regime saying it had "achieved miracles but at a terrible price."

Dr. Kilborn said:

"You must remember it's not a communist revolution but a nationalistic one. They call it controlled anti-foreignism. The basis of the entire communist control is simply fear and you can't imagine how deep down the regimentation goes.

"The night before I left a Chinese professor I've known for years sent me a note asking me to visit him 'between 11 p. m. and midnight, today, to say goodbye.' The first thing he asked me 'did anyone see you?'"

Shifting Wind Drives Water Back into Lake

Toledo, O., March 24. (AP)—Water that smashed three summer cabins and left about 50 families homeless, flowed back into Lake Erie today with a shifting wind.

Huge waves, driven by a stiff northeast wind, poured into lowlands along Lake Erie over the weekend. The estimated 50 stranded families of Reno Beach and Howard farms, east of Toledo, still were waiting for the water to recede from their homes.

The water also forced police to block off several waterfront streets in Sandusky, O.

All along the Northern Ohio shore the waves smashed small craft, threatened house foundations and left a litter of debris.

Millions Wasted On Super-Secret Air Base Report

Washington, March 24. (AP) —Reports that millions of dollars have been wasted an a super-secret air base in Greenland—described as near the North Pole and on an air route to Russia—are under study by United States Senate investigators.

Public hearings may be ordered this week by Chairman Lyndon Johnson (Dem.-Tex.) of the Senate Armed Service Sub-Committee on Preparedness.

Johnson's criticism of 'waste, inefficiency and downright graft' on an airbase project in North Africa brought a drastic military-headquarters order for reforms Friday.

Army Secretary Frank Pace directed the chief of army engineers to relieve the top officers in charge of the North African construction.

16 Killed in Crash

Marseilles, France, March 24.—(CP)—Sixteen persons—including a baby—were killed early today when a French passenger plane crashed at Gao, French West Africa, reports reaching here said.

The plane, belonging to the African Transport Company, crashed while taking off for Nice, France, after landing at Gao, east of Timbuktu, for refuelling.

Three persons were stated to have been rescued from the burning plane, a Lockheed Lodestar, which started its flight from Abidjan, on the French ivory coast. It carried a crew of three.

An official of the company at Nice said the plane's engines apparently failed as it left the ground.

KING FAROUK DISSOLVES HOUSE CALLS ELECTION

Action Requested By Prime Minister

Cairo, March 24, (AP)—King Farouk today dissolved parliament's Wafdist-dominated Lower House and called a new general election May 18.

The royal action was requested by the cabinet of independent Prime Minister Ahmed Naguib Hilaly Pasha.

Farouk's decree also ordered the new chamber of deputies to meet May 31.

The dissolution did not affect Senate, which also is dominated by the anti-British Wafd faction. There was speculation, however, that the government might soon request Farouk to make changes in the Senate membership to remove this Wafd majority. Only three-fifth of the Senators are elected; the rest are appointed by the king.

Interior Minister Ahmed Mortada El Maraghy Bey told reporters no provision had been made yet for the lifting of martial law, which was clamped on Egypt on Jan. 26 after the disastrous fire riots in Cairo.

He added, however, that the government would take "all necessary measures to ensure a free election."

Propaganda Minister Farid Zalouk said last night that martial law would be lifted for the election period.

The dissolution came two days after talks began between Hilaly and British Ambassador Sir Ralph Stevenson, seeking a settlement of Egypt's demands that British troops quit the Suez Canal zone and that Britain surrender the Sudan to Egypt.

Live 20-Pound Bomb is Found Near Pembroke

Pembroke, Ont., March 24. — (CP)—Discovery of a live 20-pound mortar bomb in possession of a seven-year-old boy Saturday touched off a search by the army that netted five more in the area.

Thomas Rae, a veteran of both World Wars, saved his son, Jimmy, and a neighbor, Edwin Bourne, 30, from injury or death when he spotted the bomb as a live incendiary.

Army experts from nearby Petawawa military camp said they could not understand why the bomb did not explode when Jimmy, accompanied by Bourne, picked it out of a ditch near here.

A box of five more was found in the same area, apparently left there from training during the Second World War, said army officials.

SAP RUNNING

Richards Landing, March 24 (CP)—The sap has started running on St. Josephs Island near this community 25 miles southeast of Sault Ste. Marie. Island maple sugar producers report sunny days and frosty nights are helping the output.

Three Toronto Doctors Build Artificial Heart, Prove its Value

Ottawa, March 24 (CP)— The National Research Council disclosed today that three Toronto doctors built an artificial heart in Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children. They demonstrated it may safely be used in surgery.

The heart's designers were Doctors W. T. Mustard, A. L. Chure and J. D. Keith. They built it to shunt the blood from the heart of a child suffering from congenital heart disease while the doctor repaired the damage.

The work of the three doctors was part of a N.R.C.-supported program for devising artificial hearts, the council's medical research division reported. No details of their invention were given but the division told what led up to its making.

One of the key reasons was the need for absolute control by the scientist over at least one of the various factors which maintain the circulation of the blood. An artificial heart also helps the surgeon who wants to operate directly on a patient's heart from which the blood must be excluded.

But artificial hearts can't be used for everyone so the council made 10 other grants to medical scientists to investigate various phases of heart failure.

Under one of these, Dr. F. A. L. Mathewson of the University of Manitoba undertook to follow for at least 25 years the history of young men whose medical examinations during war service indicated grave heart disease but who appeared to be in good health.

Two Saws Found In Jackson's Artificial Foot

Suchan, Jackson Charged With Murder After Tong Dies

Toronto, March 24 (CP) —Two hacksaw blades have been found in the wood-and-metal artificial foot of Leonard Jackson, police said today.

The foot was x-rayed in the Don jail hospital after Jackson was brought here from Montreal last week to face a charge of attempted murder in the shooting earlier this month of sergeant of detectives Edmund Tong. Tong died Sunday and the charge has been raised to murder.

Jackson and Steve Suchan, now also charged with murder in connection with the shooting, were captured by Toronto and Montreal police after gun battles in Montreal apartments.

Successful Demonstration

The blades were detected in a "demonstration" for jail officials who have been considering buying the X-ray equipment as an aid in searching newly-admitted prisoners.

Police said they searched the leg because they believe Jackson used the same method of concealing the blades when he escaped from the jail last November.

Police said the blades were hidden in such a way that only the X-ray machine could detect them. The foot had been carefully examined on several occasions previously by law officers.

Can't Be Too Careful

"It shows you how ingenious Jackson is. You can't be too careful with him. I don't know where he obtained the blades. Probably they were there all the time."

After the discovery, police made sure there were no more blades hidden and gave the foot back to Jackson.

Despite his name, Tong was not an Oriental. However, the underworld sometimes referred to him by the nickname it gave him —"The Chinaman."

Insist Germany Be Left Free To Join Army

Bonn, March 24 — (Reuters) — The Big Three western powers in their answer to Russia's note calling for a conference to draw up a treaty with a United Germany, will insist that Germany be left free to join the European army, a senior British source said today.

The source added that the west will also insist that a peace treaty allow a United Germany to join such western associations as the Schuman coal-steel pool.

The Russians have made clear they will insist Germany will not be allowed to join any organization directed against one of the treaty signatories.

The western reply to Russia's note of March 10 calling for the treaty conference is expected to be delivered within the next 24 hours.

The source said the note would lay down two cardinal conditions for treaty negotiations:

1. There must be genuinely free all-German elections.
2. The international status and independence of the resulting United Germany must be guaranteed.

Youth Killed, Buried Under Frozen Ensilage

Buried under a mass of frozen ensilage as he was doing chores on his grandfather's farm Jack Brooks, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Brooks, 226 Moira Street East, was killed Sunday morning.

Since September the boy had been staying at the farm of his grandfather, Richard Arnott, 2nd concession of Sidney township, where he assisted in doing chores.

Sunday morning he was first out to the barn and when he failed to come in for breakfast his grandfather went to the barn to look for him. He saw the boy's foot protruding out through the silo door and found him covered with the frozen ensilage.

City Firemen Called

City firemen were called and used the resuscitator for half an hour with no success. There will be no inquest.

During the winter ensilage had frozen to the walls of the silo and as the feed was used the frozen chunks still clung to the walls. Saturday night's rain apparently loosened the ensilage allowing it to fall.

The boy liked farm work and took pleasure in assisting his grandfather. He was taking an agricultural course at Belleville Collegiate. He is survived by his parents and five brothers, Raymond of Toronto and Ernest, Clyde, Kenneth anr Walter at home.

The youth was born at Colborne and had lived in the city for the past nine years. He was a member of Christ Church.

Six Persons Injured

Woodstock, March 24 (CP) —Six persons were taken to Ingersoll Hospital with serious injuries Sunday following a collision in Beachville on No. 2 Highway.

In hospital are Sylvia Dickhout, 19, of Galt, severe head lacerations teeth knocked out; Joyce Tansley, 20, R.R. 2, St. George, severe head and facial lacerations; Jack McComb, R.R. 4, Galt, severe head lacerations; George Nutt, 28, Salford, possible skull fracture; Florence Corbett, 16, Brownsville; Joan Osborne, 17, Salford, undetermined injuries.

Police said a westbound car driven by Nutt slid across the highway in some manner and was in broadside collision with an eastbound car driven by McComb.

Two Injured When Car Turns Over in Ditch

Two persons were injured early Sunday when the car in which they were riding went off the highway at the Mohawk turn south of Marysville and turned on its top in the ditch.

Injured were Dirk Jan Bosch of Cataraqui and Mrs. Tet Vandermeer of Joyceville. Mrs. Vandermeer suffered lacerations to her forehead, while Mr. Bosch had a cut hand. Both had injuries attended to at Belleville General Hospital. Several other persons in the auto including Mrs. Bosch and Mr. Vandermeer, escaped injury.

The accident was investigated by Provincial Constables Tasker and Hooker of Belleville.

Prices Improve At Cattle Auctions In District

Prices at community auctions improved last week with purebred cattle at local auctions bringing encouraging prices, according to the weekly crop report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

In Prince Edward County the largest all-registered Holstein dispersal sale in many years was held with buyers present from Uxbridge, Napanee, Port Perry and surrounding district. Fifty head of Holsteins were sold the average price being over $200 and the top price $290.

However, prices were still about $100 less than they would have been prior to the recent embargo on shipment of cattle to the United States.

Sows very close to farrowing have been bringing $30 to $40 in Prince Edward County sales. Farmers are very concerned over cheese milk prices and are disappointed at the lack of settlement to date of tomato prices.

MINISTER DIES

Kingston, March 24 (CP) — Rev. Leroy Rice, 69, minister of Wolfe Island United Church, died yesterday in Kingston General Hospital where he had been a patient for four months.

A native of New Durham, Ont., Mr. Rice was a graduate of McGill University and the Canadian Congregational College at Montreal. His first charge was at Kingston and later he served at various parishes throughout New England. He came to Wolfe Island in 1948 after retiring from the active ministry.

South Hastings Film Council Reviews Prints

The March meeting of the South Hastings Film Council was held in the Fourth Line Community Centre in Sidney. Mr. Ward, representative of National Film Board opened the meeting by previewing a film by U.K.I.O. on Briton's health scheme.

A short discussion followed. This film was voted as "good." It was informative and tended to counteract United States and Canadian criticism.

The treasurer showed a balance of $662.73 in bank besides a small amount of cash on hand.

Several letters of condolence were read in connection with the sudden death of the council's president Laurence Ketcheson.

Mr. Ward in his review of work spoke briefly on (1) film festival to be held in Ann St. School, Belleville, some of the films to be shown being: Fair County of Ayr; Festival of London; Eldorado; Yours is the Land; Stage coach to the Stars; Song in Norway. (2) School for advanced projectionists. (3) Purchase pool. Last year $31.00 was raised in this way to buy films. Thus they can buy better quality. There was discussion on how to get information out of people.

Business

1. Decided to purchase projector at a price of $500 and a screen to be used with it.
2. Membership fees (yearly) are from Sept. 1st to last of August. It pays to join at beginning of year.
3. Belleville Film Council broadcasts every Friday night. Listen to this program. Picton Film Council will be on the air on evening of April 18 and South Hastings on evening of April 25. A committee of Mrs. Churchill, Harvey Homan, Rev. W. Neelands and Mrs. Morley Sine to arrange for broadcast.
4. The council was commended on increase in number of adult showings.
5. Next meeting to be held in school at S.S. No. 23 Thurlow, where Miss Holgate teaches with John Huffman for discussion leader.

A good discussion film was then shown "Right or Wrong"—a film on making decisions. After a good deal of discussion it was decided this was a good film to have in the library

Discussion of films in general and South Hastings Film Council in particular was continued while refreshments were enjoyed.

Head-on Crash At Trenton Injures Three

Three persons were injured and vehicles were badly damaged early Sunday morning in a head-on collision which occurred on the Trent Road on the west outskirts of the city.

Injured were the two drivers, Lornes Solmes, 173 Charles St., and Charles Tice, 101 North Park Street, driver for a local taxi firm, and his passenger, Louise Jackson, Trent Rd.

Solmes suffered a lacerated knee and possible leg fracture; Mr. Tice had facial lacerations and a broken rib, while Miss Jackson suffered a lacerated tongue and facial cuts.

The accident occurred near the Sidney Street intersection just inside the city limits. The taxi was westbound taking Miss Jackson to her home, while the other vehicle was eastbound. Police said the impact occurred on the north lane of the highway.

POLICE BLOTTER

Air rifle enthusiasts had a field day over the weekend according to a complaint received at the city police station today.

An official of the Houston Lumber Company, St. Paul Street, complained that close to 100 windows had been broken by BB pellets.

Domose Bosley, Tweed, was badly beaten up Saturday night at the rear of a local hotel. Bosley claimed that three men had pulled him from his car and had beaten him up. He did not know who the men were.

Public Utilities employees reported a fire hydrant broken on South Front Street, just below the tracks.

Firemen answered a chimney fire alarm to 17 West Bridge St. over the weekend.

CAT RETURN

Port Colborne, March 24 (CP) —Blackie, nine-year-old cat owned by William Wigston, returned home after an absence of two years. Blackie disappeared shortly after Mr. and Mrs. Wigston acquired a Shetland sheep dog and wasn't seen again until he turned up on the verandah recently.

Obituary

MRS. LENA MAY CARTER

Ill for the past six months, Mrs. Lena May Carter, 40 Purdy St., died at her home Sunday morning. She was in her 62nd year.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Kinloch, Mrs. Carter was born at Melrose and had lived at Madoc before coming to Belleville to reside 40 years ago. She was a member of Christ Church and of the Parish Guild. She was also a member of the Order of the Eastern Star No 55, and of the Bethlehem White Shrine of Jerusalem, No. 11.

Surviving are her husband, Herbert Carter, two daughters, Mrs. Marshall (Mary) Moffat, Elgin, Man.; and Mrs. George (Eleanor) Locke, Fredericton, N. B., and five sons, Jack, Gordon, Eric and Arnold of Belleville and Clare of Owen Sound.

One sister, Mrs. Oliver Wilson; three brothers, Donald Kinloch, Oshawa; Robert, of Falconbridge, and Bertram of Madoc, also survive.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home; the funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

DANIEL H. MARACLE
(Tyendinaga Reserve)

Daniel H. Maracle, 88, a resident of the Tyendinaga Reserve, died Sunday night in the Belleville General Hospital.

He was born on the reserve. Surviving him, besides his widow, are two sons, Theodore and Freeman, and one daughter, Mrs. Harold Bartram, all living on the Reserve.

LATE MRS. PHOEBE C. WHITE
(Shannonville)

Funeral services for Mrs. Phoebe C. White were held from Holy Trinity Church, Shannonville, on Saturday with Rev. Arthur Page officiating.

Bearers included Henry Winn, Raymond Clark, Arthur Yateman, Harold Burtt, Gordon Johnson and John Alfred.

Interment was in Shannonville Cemetery.

HORACE J. NEATH

Marmora.—Horace J. Neath, proprietor of the Royal Hotel, Marmora, for the past eight years, died in the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, on Saturday evening at the age of 51. After treatments for a lung disorder which only brought temporary relief, he returned to the hospital to undergo an operation last Tuesday. Although hope was entertained for his recovery, he became worse on Friday and died the following day.

His death is a distinct shock to the district as since coming here from Toronto, he had shown a deep interest in matters of public welfare. He was a charter member of Marmora District Chamber of Commerce, a member of St. Paul's Anglican church, besides being fraternally a Freemason.

He was born near Peterborough, England, and had made several trips by air to visit his aged mother since taking up residence in this village.

He is survived by his wife, who is a native of the county of Lancashire, England, and two young daughters, Shirley and Sandra, both at home.

The funeral will be held at St. Paul's Anglican Church at 2 p.m., on Wednesday with Canon J. M. Brownlie officiating. Burial will take place in Marmora Protestant Cemetery.

High Water And Low Prices Worry Trappers

High water and low prices appear to be the problems of the muskrat trapper this year.

Added to this are the strange antics of the water which appears to have as many ups and downs as a hotel elevator.

While the height of water varies every year, it runs in a seven-year cycle according to conservation officer Fred MacDonald and present indications point to this being the seventh year.

"The water in this district will reach its peak this summer," said Mr. MacDonald today.

Intermittent freezing and thawing is causing differences in the height of water, he said. Freezing tightens the tributary streams and causes a drop. Thawing has the opposite effect.

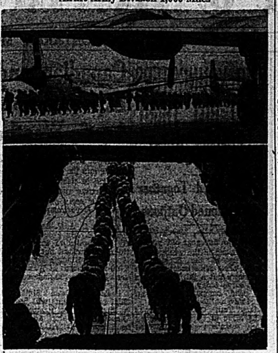
"On Saturday morning," MacDonald said, "I saw trappers placing traps in marshes in this district well below the waterline. This morning I visited these traplines and some of the traps were high and dry, inches above the water level."

Present "sign," the conservation officer said points to a good "run" of rats this season.

But what is worrying the trapper the most is the price of pelts this season.

According to trappers and others, pelt buyers are showing some degree of consistency. Half a dozen contacted quoted the same price, $1.35, the lowest quotation made in years, it is stated.

Airlift Army Division 1,000 Miles



Biggest peacetime military airlift in history was accomplished by the U.S. military forces when they shifted almost an entire division by air from Sumter, S.C., to Fort Hood, Texas. Top, some of the 8,750 infantrymen transported in the manoeuvre prepare to become airborne, and above, the jaws of an army transport open to receive its human cargo. Eight hundred tons of equipment were flown 1,000 miles with the men. — Central Press Canadian.

Recent Changes in Grant System And Assessment Presented By Education Dept. Member

Mr. G. L. Duffin gave a masterful presentation of recent changes in the grant system and in assessment procedures in addressing the first annual Ontario School Trustees and Ratepayers Educational Conference for the Belleville District at Prince Charles School held recently.

The purpose of this conference was to promote a better understanding of educational problems among school trustees, ratepayers, teachers, councillors and other interested parties in the four counties of Northumberland, Hastings, Prince Edward and Lennox and Addington. The theme of the conference was "Education Today."

Notable among the points stressed by the speaker were facts relating to buildings erected after January 1, 1951, with regard to payments on the first debenture; book grants for 1952 will be $3 per student of average attendance in grades one to eight; an enrolment between 30 and 35 pupils per classroom is desirable; prevention of discrimination on account of race, color or religion in advertising for teachers; municipal auditing and the charges therefrom; standardization of assessment throughout the province and equalization of assessments in the case of union school sections.

Mr. Duffin was introduced by Inspector L. C. Sutherland.

Norman Ingram, president of the Ontario School Trustees and Ratepayers Association, and Mrs. Jean Watson, field secretary of the same organization brought greetings from their organization and invited all boards to support the Trustees Association and to attend the Ontario Educational Association meeting at Easter.

Nominating Committee

The nominating committee consisting of Seymour Hamilton, Lee Ketcheson and Robert Dawson as well as the inspectors, brought in the following slate of officers who were elected by unanimous vote.

Mr. Orno Sharpe of R.R. 3, Stirling was elected to the office of president, A. A. Kemp of Castleton as vice-president and Seymour Hamilton of R.R. 7, Belleville as secretary-treasurer.

County representatives were elected as follows: Durham and Northumberland, Rev. C. H. Bowden of Port Hope, Bob Dawson of South Monaghan, Carl Ireland of Smithfield and Leonard McGee of Hastings; Prince Edward: Mrs. Alfred Hillman of R.R. 9, Belleville; Hastings North: Herb. Hawkins of Bancroft, Mrs. Deady of Maynooth; Hastings Centre: Mrs. Rupert of Madoc, Phil Carr of Stirling; Hastings South: Arnold Mitchell of R.R. 6, Belleville, Clifford Ray, of Halloway; Lennox and Addington: Rockwell Parks and Wilfred Baird of R.R. 3, Napanee; Belleville: Fred Symons and A. C. Wilkin. All school inspectors were included as members.

Films Shown

The meeting opened in the morning with Orno Sharp acting as chairman. A conservation film entitled "Our Forest Heritage" was shown following which Mr. Sharp invited G. L. Duffin, assistant superintendent of Elementary Education, Norman G. S. Ingram, president of O.S.T.R.A., Mrs. Jean Watson, field director of O.S.T.R.A., superintendent of Public Schools L. A. Kells and several inspectors to join him on the platform.

Mr. Sharp read questions which had been sent in by the trustees and these were answered by the delegates, by Mr. Duffin and by the inspectors. These questions covered many phases of education including grants, pupils per classroom, advertising for teachers, qualifications of trustees, eye testing of pupils, use of flags, teachers' salaries, discharging teachers, auditing costs, nursing services, discounts, assessments and other relative problems.

In the afternoon Mr. Kells introduced Fred T. Symons, chairman of the board, who welcomed the delegates and expressed the hope that the conference would contribute to a better understanding of school problems.

The resolutions committee consisting of Harry Brown, Stirling; Phil Carr and William Slater proposed several resolutions which were dealt with.

COBL Meeting Is Laid Over

Hazardous driving conditions played havoc with the annual meeting of the Central Ontario Baseball League, scheduled to be held in Kingston, Sunday.

Only three teams, Belleville, the Kingston Disney Leafs, and a second Kingston entry, were represented. Peterborough, Brockville and Smiths Falls delegates reported that they would be unable to attend.

The meeting has been rescheduled for next Sunday afternoon in the Kingston City Hall.

President Bob Nesbitt of Kingston reported that three Northern New York State teams have indicated that they wish to affiliate with the loop.

Next Sunday will be the last date for accepting entries, at which time the election of officers for the coming year will take place.

Six Tornado-Torn States Show 233 Dead, 1,100 Hurt

Little Rock, Ark., March 24 — (AP) — The living worked grimly at burying and rebuilding today in six tornado-torn, flood-afflicted southern states in which 233 died and 1,100 were hurt.

In small, partly-wrecked churches throughout the region yesterday half-dazed people clustered for funeral services.

The normal Sunday quiet of small towns was broken often by the chugging of bulldozers laboring at the debris, the rattle of trucks and the clumping of boards being piled.

Survivors of the disastrous weekend picked at what was left of their homes searching for something salvageable.

Arkansas alone reported 135 dead, 711 injured and 1,452 families — thousands homeless — affected by the winds.

In basements of churches, schools and armories Salvation Army and Red Cross workers struggled to feed, house and clothe those left desolate.

An accurate estimate of damage was impossible but it was expected to reach into the tens of millions of dollars.

Doctors and nurses, eyes red from lack of sleep, worked to near-exhaustion to aid the injured.

Arkansas' Governor Sid McMath appealed directly to President Truman for funds to help the state rehabilitate itself.

It was the most disastrous weekend of wind-swept terror since March 18, 1925, when 689 persons died in Illinois, Missouri and Indiana.

The storms ripped into Arkansas Friday afternoon and cut a deadly swath from the southwest corner to the northwest tip.

Other storms formed in Mississippi and skipped into West Tennessee the same day, reaching a 300-mile-an-hour velocity.

Other storms boiled up in Kentucky and Tennessee. Then in North Alabama Saturday a twister kicked up at Hartselle.

Speckled Trout Season Opens On Thurs. May 1

Toronto, March 25 (CP) — The Ontario fishing season for speckled trout opens May 1, a Thursday. It runs until Sept. 15.

The same dates apply to brown, rainbow, Aurora and Kamloops trout.

The pickerel season opens May 15 in the Bay of Quinte and a few other areas where year-round season is not permitted.

Black bass fishing will be permitted July 1 to Oct. 15 except in the St. Clair River, Lake St. Clair and the Detroit River (June 25 to Dec. 15) and Lake Erie and the Niagara River between Lake Erie and Niagara Falls (July 1 to Dec. 15).

Muskellunge fishing runs from June 20 to Oct. 1 in the region north of and west of the French and Mattawa Rivers and Lake Nipissing and in those waters. South of that area, the season will be July 1 to Oct. 1.

The dates were announced Saturday by the Ontario Lands Department.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, March 24 — (CP) — Slowly strengthening western oil support today edged the stock exchange's index to another record high. Golds also strengthened but industrials dipped.

Canada Southern sparked the western oil advance, climbing $1.50 following reports of a light crude strike in Saskatchewan. Central Explorers, Commonwealth Petroleum, Jupiter, Canadian Williston, Royalite and Western Homestead also rose strongly.

Agricultures, foods and constructions led industrials lower with a scattered list of fractional declines. Papers and manufacturing companies slipped but refining oils and banks turned upward.

Base metals were mixed as Falconbridge, Ontario Pyrites, Sherritt-Gordon, United Asbestos and United Lead strengthened while Eureka, Labrador, Quebec Manitou and Torbrit weakened.

Senior golds sagged as Dome, Hollinger, Lake Shore and Wright-Hargreaves eased. Secondary issues posted a majority of penny advances.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, March 24. (CP)—Ontario stockyards cattle prices dropped 50 cents on steers and as much as $1 on all other grades today. Receipts: cattle 3,250; calves 130; hogs 480; sheep and lambs 60. The left over from last week was 75 cattle.

Choice weighty steers sold at $25.50-$26 with one load at $26.25, good steers at $25 to $25.25 and common sold downward to $21.

Good heifers sold mostly $24 with a few upward to $24.50. Common to medium heifers were from $18 to $23. Good cows brought $19 to $20 with canners from $12 to $15. Good heavy bulls made $19-$20 with common bulls downward to $15.50. Choice fed yearlings sold at $26-$27 with medium to good fed yearlings from $20-$25.

Calves were $1 lower at $26-$28 for choice with a few tops at $29. Common light calves sold from $15-$20.

No prices established on hogs.

A few medium to good lambs were selling from $25-$29 while good to choice sheep sold upward to $20.

Fire Threatened A-Energy Plant For 45 Minutes

Trail, B. C., March 24 — (CP)—Fire threatened one of Canada's atomic energy operations for 45 minutes last night.

Firemen quickly brought under control a fire in the transformer room of the hydrogen section of a chemical plant at nearby Warfield. The transformer was a complete loss but no one was hurt.

Officials of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, biggest lead-zinc chemicals producer in the world, said an investigation is planned.

The chemical plant is part of the company's huge operation in this area. Some heavily - guarded plants in the district produce heavy water for atomic energy.

But there was no indication whether the plant hit by fire is one of those engaged in the production of heavy water. Details of the hush-hush atomic project here have never been disclosed.

At the time of the fire, a tremendous power surge brightened lights throughout Trail, a city of 15,000 about 400 miles east of Vancouver. Warfield is a mile from the centre of the city.

ABSOLVED OF BLAME

Summerside, P. E. I., March 24 — (CP) — A coroner's jury last night absolved Harold P. Roberts of any blame in connection with the shooting of Lac. John F. MacGuire of Timmins, Ont., last Monday.

MacGuire was killed when a pistol accidentally discharged in another room, ripped through a partition and hit him in the neck. He had been writing a letter at the time.

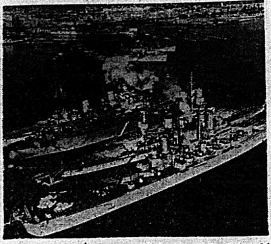
NATO Navies Complete Manoeuvres



Warships of three of the four Allied powers that participated in "Grand Slam," in the Western Mediterranean naval training exercise, are shown tied up side by side at a pier in Naples, Italy. At the pier are: the U.S. heavy cruiser Newport News, flagship of Vice-Admiral Matthias R. Gardner, commander of the U.S. Sixth Fleet; the Italian battleship Andrea Dorian, flying the flag of Admiral Guisseppe Manfredi, commander-in-chief of the Italian fleet; the U.S.S. Adirondack, flagship of Admiral Robert B. Carney, U.S. navy; and the British heavy cruiser H.M.S. Liverpool, flying the flag of Admiral Sir John Edelsten, commander-in-chief of the British Mediterranean fleet. — Central Press Canadian.

12 Communist MIGs Destroyed Or Damaged

Seoul, Korea, March 24 (AP) — United States jet pilots today destroyed or damaged 12 communist MIG-15 jets in three air battles over northwest Korea.

The U.S. Fifth Air Force said three red jets were shot down, two probably destroyed and seven damaged. Allied losses, if any, are reported in a weekly summary.

Only small patrol actions were reported across the 155-mile ground front.

The U.S. Eighth Army said three communist platoons fired on U.N. positions northwest of the Punch Bowl on the eastern front Sunday, but the reds withdrew under heavy fire.

In the first air battle Monday 32 F-86 Sabre jets encountered about 30MIGs trying to break up a formation of Allied fighter- bombers on a rail cutting mission. The Sabres shot down one, probably destroyed another and damaged two.

Just before noon 18 Sabre jets raced to the rescue of another flight of fighter bombers being attacked by 44 MIGs. One MIG was destroyed, one probably destroyed and one damaged.

The third battle was a 35-minute melee just south of the Yalu River.

The American pilots shot down one MIG and damaged four others.

The reds opened fire on the minesweeper Osprey Friday and shelled Allied warships intermittently for the next 24 hours. Counter-fire silenced the communist guns.

The navy said there were no casualties and no damage to any Allied ships.

TO BUILD HOSPITAL

Cornwall, March 24 — (CP)—A new $2,000,000 Sacred Heart hospital is to be built here. Plans call for the project to be completed in 1953.

The three-storey brick building will have accommodation for 150 beds, with provision for expansion to 500.

B.C. and Alberta Start Livestock Restriction Talks

(By The Canadian Press)

British Columbia and Alberta scheduled formal talks today aimed at lifting the west coast province's embargo on southern Alberta livestock and against any prairie meats.

Agriculture Minister David Ure of Alberta took the stand that B. C. shouldn't keep out Alberta livestock because foot-and-mouth disease never appeared in Alberta herds and the outbreak in southern Saskatchewan was under control.

"Our farmers have been most patient and have taken serious financial losses," he said on his arrival in Victoria to attend the talks.

"This has been an alleged danger, not a real one."

Meanwhile, the first cattle reached Vancouver since B. C. closed its borders to prairie cattle because of foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan. The shipment of more than 750 head came from northern Alberta which B. C. considered free from infection.

With another shipment on the way, packers said there was no further danger of a meat shortage in Vancouver.

Mr. Ure's trip to Victoria was prompted by a change in B. C.'s embargo. After opening its doors to all prairie livestock and meat, B. C. switched to allowing in only livestock from northern Alberta certified healthy by federal inspectors.

Seeking information about B. C.'s ban, Mr. Ure asked federal Agriculture Minister Gardiner if the B. C. and federal governments had an "understanding" respecting movement of livestock and meats to B. C.

Mr. Gardiner replied that the understanding provided for federal certification that Alta., livestock could not have been in contact with foot-and-mouth disease.

However, he said B. C. officials retained the right to reject "animals which might in their opinion come from an area which may have had contact."

Harold Seldon Gives Talk On 'High School Area'

Following the business period conducted by Mr. C. Bain, president of Centenary-Aikens Home and School, the teachers, Mrs. T. Spafford and Miss McEwan, with the pupils of both schools, presented a fine program for Education week.

Mr. W. Slavin was chairman for the following numbers: The Centenary Juniors sang, "The Little Blue Bird"; Barbara Hall, of Aikens, told the story of "The Growth of Education; the seniors of Centenary school sang a two-part song, "Land of Spain"; a three-part song was given by Barbara Smith, Barbara Hall and Betty Grills; Centenary pupils presented a dialogue: "A Dull Class"; a reading "Literal Obedience", was given by Ruth Slavin; Marilyn Jones, of Aikens, gave a comic poem and Glenda Bain, of Centenary, did the Highland Fling.

"Education in Canada", was the subject of Jimmie Jones' address.

Doreen Hollomby, Margaret Slavin and Barbara Hall presented one of their popular puppet shows, "Boy Friends".

A choral reading was given by Aikens School.

Larry May gave a violin selection, "Mocking Bird Hill", with piano accompaniment played by Donna May.

Aikens School pupils sang "Education", and "Peter Cotton Tail".

Miss Grace Pitman was presented to the company and warm applause was given her for the teaching of music to the pupils She was accompanist for the musical numbers.

Mr. Harold Hollomby introduced Mr. Harold Seldon, chairman of the Quinte High School Area, whose address on "High School Area", was interesting and of great value to the members.

Following his address, a general discussion of High School Area pertaining to Sidney township, took place.

Mr. Hollomby thanked Mr. Seldon, on behalf of Home and School, for his address.

After the meeting was closed, refreshments were served by the conveners, Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Woods, and their helpers, and a social half hour enjoyed.

Price of Ungraded Tomatoes Set at $35

Hamilton, March 24 — (CP) — An all - time high price of $35 a ton for ungraded tomatoes was announced by R. W. Neal, secretary of the Canned Foods Association of Ontario. The price represents a 22-per-cent increase over last year's, and has led processors to believe they will lose western markets.

W.E. Tummon Addresses W.I.

Corbyville—The March meeting of the Carmel W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Hicks. The president, Mrs. Earl Dafoe, presided with 21 members, three visitors and two children present.

Mrs. Charles Brintnell was appointed delegate to attend the officers convention in Guelph in April. An invitation from Cannifton was accepted to attend the Co-operative program on April 2nd.

At this time the meeting was turned over to Mrs. John Homan convener for Agriculture and Canadian Industry. A reading by Mrs. Seldon Homan "O Where Has the Winter Gone!"

Guest Speaker

Mrs. John Homan introduced the guest speaker, Mr. W. E. Tummon. Mr. W. E. Tummon, who spoke on "Agriculture" referring to how the United Kingdom was Canada's greatest market for hogs and cheese in the past and now Canadians have to look for markets in other places.

He also stressed how the foot and mouth disease in western Canada was affecting the provincial and U.S.A. markets.

Mr. Tummon concluded his address by saying that the United Kingdom without money to buy and the foot and mouth disease in the west, Canada may be facing a serious crisis in the very near future in agriculture and industry.

Mrs. Seldon Homan, on behalf of all present, moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Tummon for his fine address.

The hostess and her helpers served refreshments.

WILLIAM KEEGAN WINNER OF TV SET

The Trade and Industrial Fair sponsored by the local branch of the Canadian Legion and held at the Armouries closed on Saturday night. "It exceeded our expectations" stated an official of the Legion. "We went well over our objective and the money will be used for worthwhile projects."

The draw for the television set and the bicycle was made at the conclusion of the fair and William Keegan, 13, of 141 Pinnacle Street was the holder of the lucky ticket. Nancy Waite of 51 Strahan Street was the winner of the bicycle.

ONTARIO SETS GOOD EXAMPLE

Members of municipal councils throughout Ontario will rejoice at the announcement, made in the legislature a few days ago by Premier Leslie Frost, that the province is going to allow the municipalities to begin levying taxes on properties owned by both the provincial government and its subsidiary, the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario.

In taking this action, the government of Ontario, as usual, establishes a precedent and sets a good example to the other provinces — no such action had ever been taken previously by any provincial government in Canada.

It has been estimated that the new revenues which Ontario is providing to the municipalities will total about $4,000,000. This will not amount to a large sum when it is divided among the many municipalities concerned. But it should be remembered that the government of Ontario is already making numerous other very generous grants to the municipalities. Provincial grants to municipalities last year totalled about $100,000,000. During the next fiscal year, they will total about $119,000,000. As recently as 1943, the total of all grants which the Ontario government made to the municipalities was only $18,000,000.

Many municipal councillors complain that they cannot collect enough in taxation to meet their requirements. But however much their complaints about having insufficient taxing powers may be justified or justifiable, these municipal councillors certainly cannot complain that the Frost government is ungenerous in its treatment of them. No other government in Ontario's history has even approached the Frost administration in this respect.

It is worthy of note that the latest Ontario budget makes provision for levying no new taxes nor raising any old ones. There are even some downward revisions — such as a reduction in the pari-mutuel tax of two per cent.

TOO MANY U.S. FLAGS

Hon. Louise P. Cecile, Ontario minister of travel and publicity, has joined those who deplore the excessive and sycophantic display of the United States flag in this country.

Said Mr. Cecile: "One of the most irksome displays of the feel-at-home attitude is the tasteless manner in which many stores, gasoline stations, hot dog stands and other roadside spots display the Stars and Stripes. It is usually the only flag flying at such places. Treat the Americans as welcome guests, but do not forget that we are Canadians."

The same sentiment has been expressed previously, but it is important enough to be worthy of repetition. An American tourist is likely to be repelled, rather than attracted, when he sees his own flag used as the decorative motif in or before a hot dog stand, a store, or a hotel.

In their own country, the Americans do not display the flag of Canada or of any other foreign country. In this respect, Canadians would do well to imitate them.

SUZANNE GETS HER CHANCE

From Hollywood comes word that Suzanne Cloutier has signed a contract to make movies for one of the major film companies. The red-haired, blue-eyed beauty is a native of Ottawa. She is a daughter of Edmond Cloutier, the Queen's Printer.

Suzanne is not well known in her native country, nor even in her native city, because she studied in England before going on the stage. But before returning to North America, she starred in several French-language films made in France and has been acclaimed in Europe as a coming great star.

Now, Suzanne has her big chance. Here's hoping that she makes the grade. Here's hoping also that she does not become Hollywoodized.

RUSSIAN SALMON "EXCELLENT"

According to Arthur Blakely, Ottawa correspondent of the Montreal Gazette, the Canadian army brigade in western Germany to help curb Russian aggression has been eating food produced in Russia.

Mr. Blakely asserted, in his column "Ottawa Day by Day," that this discovery was made by Defence Minister Claxton himself, when he visited the Canadian troops a while ago.

Mr. Blakely also said that a Canadian photographer pleaded for permission to take a picture of one of these cans of Russian salmon, but was refused such permission.

The Russian salmon, Mr. Blakely added, was described by those who sampled it as of "excellent quality." Whether the salmon was pink in color or red was not disclosed.

MAGICIAN

I know he's a clever deceiver.
I know that the feat cannot be.
I know when I watch a magician I cannot believe what I see.
I know when a card I am choosing, the choice will be his that I make;
And the card I select will be always the one he has forced me to take.

I know that his steel rings are fashioned for me to inspect as I will,
But to part them and join them so deftly is a rare exhibition of skill.
I know that the coins he produces unseen through his fingers must run;
But, amazed at the magic of palming, I marvel that it can be done.

I know that his hand must be quicker than ever the spectator's eye.
I know that he isn't a wizard;
no more of a wizard
than I.
But still I am fond of magicians. Their tricks,
new or old, I enjoy;
And should one request it this evening I'd lend him my watch to destroy.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE HOPEFUL FUTURE

There is a great deal of complaint today about the age in which we live. To hear some people talk, one would think that we are in the midst of one of the most unpleasant and unsatisfactory periods in the world's history.

This of course is a matter of opinion. I beg, however, to volunteer the opinion—in opposition to what the complaints say — that with all its jeopardy and its disadvantages, the age in which we live is the best age human beings have ever experienced. To be sure, the atom bomb hangs over our heads, suspended by a hair.

And as for the United States and Canada, here at least we can say that in spite of high taxes and continual threat of war, we are enjoying privileges which makes the life of our forebears look drab and lifeless. All this is a challenge to the best that is in us.

"We are living, we are dwelling in a grand and awful time,
In an age on ages telling;
to be living is sublime;
Hark! the waking up of nations,
Hosts advancing to the fray;
Hark! what soundeth is creation's
Growing for the latter day."

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

France is famed, not only in its own opinion but in the opinion of the world, for its logical mind. It is also famed for having anywhere from thirty to forty political parties.

No doubt each of these parties has arrived at its position by some process of logic. That is where logic can land you.

In this day and age, in which miracles of science and technology are being performed on every hand in almost every field of human endeavor, the prestige of logic must be at an all time high. The dictionary gives several definitions of logic. The first is: "Logic is the science which investigates the principles governing correct or reliable inference."

This definition covers most of the scientific revelations of recent years. The atom bomb, for example, was correctly and reliably inferred by a group of gentlemen employing logic.

The second definition of logic is "reasoning or argumentation." When fifty million Frenchmen, who can't be wrong, all start reasoning and argumentation in search of political truth, they splinter into thirty or more groups —almost incapable of co-operating with others, and each convinced of its own logic.

The probability is that logic is a highly commendable science so long as it leaves human nature alone. Human nature is not only not logical, but not amenable to logic. And the more logical a political system may sound or appear, such as communism or any of the socialist programs, the less likely is it to serve humanity. Nothing sounded more logical to Hitler, Mussolini and their bully boys than fascism. Nothing seems more logical to Moscow and its bully boys everywhere than communism. The trouble is, those bully boys. As has been so far demonstrated, they aren't quite human.

Florida Holiday

By G. A. MORTON
(Managing Editor)

South of Miami lies one of the most extensive vegetable producing area in Florida. The value of the fruit and vegetables runs to about $30,000,000 annually with the latter making up the greater portion of the yield.

One pleasant morning we decided to see something of this area so we followed Highway 1 out of Miami and it was not too long before we had our first views of this interesting garden land. Expecting to see nice orderly fields much after the manner in Ontario we were surprised to note the growing areas were irregular in shape and generally bounded by pine woods and palmetto. Nor were there fields after fields as are to be seen in Ontario. Rather the vegetable lands were rather patchy in location. There would be fields covering possibly ten, twenty or thirty acres then we would pass by uncultivated land for some distance before more growing areas were to be seen.

The reason for this could be that the fertility of the soil was much better in one place than another and one could surmise that considerable fertilizing must be needed in the growing sections. The soil appeared sandy in character or at the best a sandy loam with little of the rich make-up which one associates with garden land.

Tomatoes seemed to form the bulk of the crops alongside the highway, and in the fields gangs of Negroes were busy picking the vegetable for the market. The tomatoes are picked green for long-distance shipment, but roadside stands had the ripe product for sale. Trucks were busy carting the crates to the large packing plants which were to be seen at frequent intervals as we continued southward. The railroad parallels the highway and considerable numbers of refrigerator cars were spotted beside the plants which conveyed some idea of the extent of the crop yield.

Lettuce, corn, potatoes and beans are also grown in huge quantities although we do not recall seeing table corn during the drive. This vegetable section extends down to Homestead about forty miles from Miami which indicates the amount of space devoted to satisfying the market demand by Florida and all points north.

South of Homestead the growing section turns into swamp much like the Everglades in south central Florida until the traveller reaches Key Largo which is noted for the fine fishing waters surrounding it. The landscape is unattractive and the land is covered with a wide variety of trees and bushes growing in such profusion that it would be rather difficult to walk through.

Running alongside the road is the pipeline carrying fresh water to Key West and intervening points. We believe the U.S. army constructed this 120-mile line to supply the naval and air base at Key West, which like Bermuda has no fresh water sources or at least not in sufficient quantity to furnish the requirements of this fast-growing community. The pipe appeared to be about twelve to fourteen inches in diameter and we could imagine the water would be rather warm by the time it reached its destination for the sun beats down with hot intensity all day long in this section of the state.

Some friends from Belleville had recommended that if we journeyed to Key Largo we should stop at Rock Harbor and visit the Sunset Cove Tea Room run by an elderly couple who are noted for the lime pie the wife made. The tea room is located across from the small post office and is very small, indeed. The husband, a Mr. Mack, is a jovial and friendly person, while Mrs. Mack, a most attractive woman despite her years, made the guests feel at home. Her place was immaculate and although humble in size we spent a most enjoyable time there listening to her husband's comments as customers came and went. He was very frank in his opinions.

The lime pie was as delicious as we had been told, so besides having a serving with our sandwiches, we bought one to bring back. So great is the demand for the pies that Mrs. Mack limits one to a customer for she makes only about twenty-five or so daily. They sell from one dollar to one-fifty apiece. The pies were like cream pies in color and appearance and topped with a deep meringue. The filling was so delicately flavored with lime juice as to be absolutely delicious. No wonder the maker's reputation had spread far and wide and we could well believe that Mr. and Mrs. Mack are doing all right with their small business place and having time to enjoy life as well.

Before we left we obtained a few movie shots of the couple outside their tea room with Mr. Mack holding aloft a pie in such a reckless manner that we feared his wife would have one less to sell that day. Now when we view the scene on the screen we are reminded of another pleasant incident during our trip and of a couple who, although old in years, are young in spirit and energy. People like that are worth knowing no matter what their status in society. Sometime we hope to buy another of Mrs. Mack's pies.

Severe March Storm Buffets South Ontario

Toronto, March 24 — (CP) — Wind and water went on the rampage during the weekend along southern Ontario's Great Lakes shoreline.

Hundreds of residents were driven out of their homes as winds that reached gusts of 60 miles an hour lashed the water. Huge waves pounded the shore.

The storm was the tail-end of a disturbance that earlier stirred up tornadoes in the southern United States.

Flooding water of Lake St. Clair forced some 250 residents out of their homes in the Windsor suburbs of Riverside and Tecumseh Saturday night. Thousands of acres of land near Point Péelee, 35 miles southeast of Windsor, were covered with a foot of water after Lake Erie waves pounded

In the Toronto suburb of Long dike.

In the Toronto subrb of Long Branch, 44 families were made homeless as waves tore at their houses. Twenty-one houses were condemned as unfit for human habitation in an on-the-spot check by village councilors.

The worst flood in 30 years forced many families from their homes in the lake-front area of Oshawa. A motorist raced up and down the road with his horn blowing at 4 a. m. Sunday to warn residents of the danger.

In the Hamilton beach area, two cottages were demolished and four others damaged by the storm. Lakefront roads were deep in water and many were impassable.

Workers Called Out

Red Cross units, the Canadian Army Service Corps and municipal workers were called in at various centres along the Lake Ontario shore to aid and care for families forced to evacuate their homes. In Long Branch, six evacuated families were housed in the Salvation Army citadel.

Throughout the Toronto eastern beaches area, docks, boathouses and trees were damaged or knocked down by wind and waves. Residents said the unusually high level of the lake increased the amount of damage.

Nearly every home in the islands of Toronto harbor were flooded. The main street of Centre Island was three feet under water. Several houses had brick facing torn away by the wind.

At Port Stanley, 25 miles south of London, heavy waves broke up part of the east pier and washed away embankments where commercial fishing tugs dock.

Newsman Oatis On Stand Again

The Prague radio in communist Czechoslovakia reported that American correspondent William Oatis (above) testified at the trial of 12 "accomplices" who were convicted as spies. The broadcast said that Oatis, now serving a 10-year sentence, "again admitted his guilt." Oatis was convicted last year after he admitted that he was gathering news — a reporter's function. The reds consider this espionage. —Central Press Canadian.

MARRIAGE HAZARD

London (CP) — Industrial life tends to undermine the foundations of a lifelong marriage, says Rev. Cyril Brundritt. He said many divorce cases are founded on the dissatisfaction that arises when women give up jobs where they are earning as much as their husbands.

THE INNOCENT LITTLE GAS STOVE

A reader asks why not a dissertation on the "innocent little gas stove"? Most of us, the reader observes, have been lulled to to sleep by the sales argument that this stove has perfect combustion and hence there are no fumes, and no flue pipe is necessary. The reader says he wonders why the pipe manufacturers do not warn the public about pipeless fuel-burning installations. Maybe the vendors of pipeless heaters have the pipe manufacturers intimidated. Or maybe the pipe manufacturers reckon it would be like the tail wagging the dog.

Since Tony was a pup there have been articles in this column about the danger of fuel-burning heaters without flue connection, every winter, and some years several such articles.

The reader continues:

"We're all such wiseacres — we resort to the easy method of setting up a portable heater in bedroom or bathroom, attached to gas outlet with hose, and with the heater going full blast we get into bed or into the tub with all doors and windows closed — too often with grave conseqeunces . ."

Any furnace, burner, heater, lamp or stove that burns fuel — coal, coke, charcoal, wood, oil, kerosense, gasoline, natural, artificial or bottled gas may, under certain conditions, give off odorless, colorless but deadly carbon monoxodie — and a person who breathes for a few minutes air containing only two parts of this colorless, odorless gas per thousand quickly becomes powerless and unconscious; three parts per thousand will kill in a few minutes if the victim is not rescued.

Conditions that favor the formation of carbon monoxide gas by lamp or heater are (1) insufficient draft or closed damper and (2) impingement of the flame on a badly sooted surface.

It seems regrettable that the public schools do not teach enough elementary chemistry to save most of the lives that are taken by carbon monoxide anoxia (asphyxia) from year to year. The lethal effect is not "poisoning," but just asphyxia or, as doctors now call it, anoxia — absence of oxygen. The carbon monoxide is absorbed into the blood and having a stronger affinity for the oxygen-carrying hemoglobin (red coloring matter of the blood) than oxygen, it crowds oxygen out.

Conditions or precautions that prevent or reduce the chance of C O anoxia are (1) free ventilation of the room in which fuel-burning heater is used—always at least one window open; (2) vent pipe to convey products of combustion into flue or chimney or out of doors; be sure the vent pipe or stove pipe is free from leaks.

For protective ventilation of bedroom, bathroom, kitchen or other room where a fuel-burner is used, with or without proper flue pipe, a window screen made of unbleached muslin is excellent. It excludes cold, wind, rain or snow but admits fresh air, without discomfort. An occupant of a room so ventilated would be much less likely to be overcome by carbon monoxide in the atmosphere of the room.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Heavenly Climate

I was really alarmed about you going without overcoat and hat in the dreadfully severe weather we had a few weeks ago. (C.M.)

Answer — Climate aside, it is true that men and boys who wear overcoats or hats when they might be comfortable without 'em abuse their health. The less any one wears at any time, with due regard for comfort, physical comfort, not mental, the better for health.

Every Spring

At this time every year I have a lot of trouble with dry, itchy skin . . . (H. W. A.)

Answer—It is probably due to the winter you spent in the great indoor Sahara — excessively dried out atmosphere. Use one of the recipes given in the booklet 'Save Your Skin' — for which send 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Poor Girl

Wife, health conscious, takes everything that is recommended to be good for the health. I wonder if wheat germ capsules and two tablespoonfuls of wheat germ cereal every morning will do her any harm? (A.S.C.)

Answer—No. Some plain cracked wheat would be better for any one than either or both. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing for pamphlet "Wheat to Eat."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

RESPECT

Respect is the vestibule door to love. Without respect love becomes an idle dream. We are wary of the one whom we do not respect. He inspires no confidence in us. Respect is essential to important leadership, just the same as it is to genuine friendship.

Character, first of all, is what invites respect, for it is the sum total of all the elements in one's nature that stands for integrity, sincerity of effort and unselfish service. This respect which we look for others to pay to us must start with our own self-respect. Not until we have inspired ourselves can we inspire others.

How many times we have heard it said of a person that he had the respect of everyone. You don't have to agree with a person merely because you respect him, but that one is bound to impress you more greatly because you respect the man himself. We get along best with those whom we respect.

When the nations of this world come to the time when they will have honest respect for one another, and will talk over their differences together in frank fashion, we can then just forget about spending the greater part of our substance in worry and taxes, and dismiss all our fears as to war. International respect could change the course of history — and how happily, if all nations were to respect one another. Not merely their physical and economic resources, but their sincere spiritual convictions.

We can learn a great deal from the one with whom we may have differences, but to whose judgment and intelligence we pay our respects. People listen to the one who thinks and says what he believes, whether others hold his views or not. Under all circumstances we should respect courage and independent expression.

Let us be tolerant and understanding — respect the views of the other fellow, giving him credit for his knowledge, beliefs, and achievements, and then try and render some service in return for what we have learned from him.

Halifax Gazette Celebrated 200th Birthday on Sunday

By KINGSLEY BROWN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Halifax, March 24 (CP) — North America's oldest continuous newspaper, the Halifax Gazette, celebrated its birthday yesterday as quietly as it came into the world 200 years ago.

The Gazette itself — now the Royal Gazette after several name changes and concerned almost exclusively with government matters — announced the occasion without fanfare with a few lines in a front-page box. In the provincial legislature, Health Minister Harold Connolly, a former newspaper man, informed members of the event.

The Gazette began almost with the founding of Halifax in 1749. Lord Edward Cornwallis arrived at this port in the sloop-of-war Sphinx with 13 transports. He brought with him the artisans to build the city, soldiers to protect it, tradesmen, clergymen, lawyers and doctors — but no printer or printing press.

Two years later, Batholomew Green, grandson of the man who established the first fully-equipped printing office in North America, came to Halifax from Boston with his press.

Crude Equipment.

He set up his crude equipment in a dingy, two-storey frame building on the slopes of Halifax fortress. Outside the building, where city hall now stands, were muddy streets between grubby houses, grog shops, slave markets and cows grazing in the fields.

Green died within three months at 52. A partner, John Bushell, took over early in January, 1752. By March 23 he had launched his first edition.

Bushell's work stood up well with Boston papers of the period—papers which long since have ceased publication. Two woodcuts flanked the masthead of the two-page sheet, one of a hunter pursuing game, the other a ship under sail.

Most of the news was European, culled from English papers, and at least six months old. Local news was meagre.

The advertisements, for example, listed that Joshua Maugler had several slaves to sell at Major Lockman's store, "all were able and sound."

Considerable revenue was obtained by advertising runaway slaves. One read:

Girl Named Thursday.

"Ran away from her master, John Rock, on Monday, the 18th. day of August last, a Negro girl, named Thursday, about 4½ feet high."

Eight years later Bushell, in debt, took into partnership Anthony Henry, a German-born printer who successfully managed the Gazette. Bushell died a year later.

Next to work for the Gazette was Isaiah Thomas, later the founder of the Worcester (Mass.) Spy and the historian of Printing in America, a rare book on early journalism.

John Howe took the reins several years later and changed the name to the Halifax Journal, and later became the King's Printer. He died in 1835, a few months after his youngest son, Joseph, gained his great legal and political victory that established responsible government and freedom of the press in the colonies.

Young Joe Howe, probably Nova Scotia's greatest journalist, gave his province a standard of reporting rarely equalled in Canada. Through him the Journal's pages blossomed into a new, living journalism.

Later the Journal reverted to its old name and finally it was called Royal Gazette and became the official publication of the province.

BEGIN TO REALLY LIVE!!
SCIENTIFIC FORMULA PROVIDES VITAMINS and MINERALS FOR FULL ENJOYMENT OF LIFE

Here at last – Formula 7-11 – the latest scientific development that gives you vitamins and minerals needed for maximum health, vitality and energy!

Formula 7-11 may be your answer to the vitamin deficiency that weakens your resistance to nervousness, insomnia, irritability, colitis and other ailments of advancing age. It can be just what you need to bring your run-down system back to vibrant health!

Gilbert A. Milne.

Charm, beauty and sparkling personality depend on radiant, buoyant health. Safeguard it by making FORMULA 7-11 part of your diet.

Note: R7-11 LOW IN CALORIES HIGH IN ENERGY

Vitamins--the "Spark Plug" of the Human Body Machine

A TINY fraction of an ounce of vitamins and minerals is all you need in your daily diet, yet its power for good is enormous. Without it your body engine does not function properly and your health can suffer.

VITAMINS differ from other food in this important way: they do not themselves build body tissues. They serve, rather to help you assimilate and get the full energy out of all the other foods you eat. A deficiency of one or more vitamins may keep your body engine from hitting on "all six cylinders"

LONG storage, over-refinement in processing and cooking destroys a large part of the vitamins in the foods we eat. That is why millions of "well-fed" Canadians do not get enough in their daily diet.

Are You Getting Enough Vitamins?

THIS is not so much a matter of the quantity of food you eat as the variety and quality! You can literally starve on three big meals a day if your food lacks vitamins and minerals—the vital spark that converts what you eat into the energy you need for good health. Supplement your diet with the regular use of Formula 7-11.

Avoid This Pain

If you suffer the painful discomforts of neuritis, it's possible you haven't enough Thiamin (Vitamin B1) in your system.

"Thiamin protects against and aids in the treatment of neuritis due to Thiamin deficiency." If you suffer from a deficiency of vitamins and minerals, try R 7-11.

Strike The Source—Not The Symptom

It's necessary to strike at the source—not at the symptom. When an individual suffers serious ailments caused by a food factor deficiency, a one hundred percent improvement cannot be expected unless he is supplied with those elements which were lacking in his diet, the absence of which caused the degeneration in the first place.

To keep free from ailments, we must keep our tissues, blood, bone, and glands well supplied with the food elements they need. Our normal body chemistry must be maintained if our health is to be maintained. If we keep our body chemistry in normal balance, we can expect to possess normal health conditions.

HOLD BACK THE YEARS!

Thanks to geriatrics . . . that branch of medicine concerned with the body's aging process . . . we now have an excellent chance of advancing vigorously into the 70's and 80's.

Many of the ills of older people are unnecessary, according to physicians who specialize in geriatrics. They say selective therapeutic nutrition is part of their newer scientific plans for the defeat of aging and the continuance of youth and vigor.

Many doctors believe that the average diet is more deficient in calcium than in any other food element. This deficiency accumulates and becomes more serious as age advances. Calcium is a friend of youth at any age. A liberal supply, well beyond the bare daily necessity, makes every year of life fuller and stronger. It is one of the secrets of youth prolongation. Calcium poverty is one common cause of aging that can be corrected by properly guided therapy and by use of dietary supplements that are heavy in calcium content.

R 7-11 has a very high calcium content.

VITAMIN B DEFICIENCIES

B Vitamins are among the commonest of all dietary deficiencies. R 7-11 provides an ample supply of Vitamins B1, B2, B6 niacin and D-panthenol in every daily dose of merely three tablespoons—PLUS the other vitamins and minerals so frequently short in most diets planned to trim the figure. Full directions and a list of all the valuable contents of R 7-11 are printed on each box. Go to your drug store and ask for R 7-11 . . . it's a health insurance for slimming diets.

A DRUGGIST SPEAKS:

"I have compared the formulae—7-11 is the best product of its kind that's ever been on my shelves."

That is how one druggist expressed his opinion of 7-11, a new formula for better health.

WHY TAKE CHANCES

Supplement your diet with Formula 7-11. Eleven ingredients! Tasty . . . nutritious. Formula 7-11 contains most of the vitamins and minerals your body requires.

ASK YOUR DOCTOR

If your health is seriously out of balance, consult your doctor. Ask him about the benefits of R 7-11.

Formula 7-11 is not a pill! Not a powder! Any doctor will tell you that pills and powders have to dissolve before they can even begin to work. But R 7-11 IS A LIQUID and LIQUID R 7-11 GOES TO WORK IMMEDIATELY.

WEDDINGS

WANNAMAKER—MOXAM

Snapdragons and phlox formed a pretty background for a wedding on Saturday, March 15th, at 2:00 p.m., in Bridge Street United Church, when the Rev. Duncan McTavish, pastor of the church, united in marriage Lillian Glee Moxam, Belleville, R.R. 1, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Moxam, to John Harold Wannamaker, R.R. 1, Carrying Place, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wannamaker.

Mr. Alec S. Gordon, church organist, rendered the wedding music and Miss Carolyn Forhan, cousin of the bride, was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in her gown of white net and lace over taffeta; orange blossom halo and fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Joan Moxam, of Syracuse, N.Y., was maid of honor, wearing yellow net over taffeta with halo of flowers and carrying a matching nosegay.

Miss Aneita Wood, of Belleville, was bridesmaid, gowned in turquoise net over taffeta with flower halo, and carrying a nosegay of matching flowers.

Mr. Warren Terry, Carrying Place, R.R. 1, was groomsman, while Mr. Gerald Wannamaker, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Bob Lafferty, cousin of the bride, acted as ushers.

The reception was held at the Masonic Temple, Foster Avenue, where the bride's mother, wearing navy blue with blue accessories and corsage of red roses, received, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was attired in navy blue with blue accessories and corsage of pink roses.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Wannamaker left for Niagara Falls, the bride travelling in navy blue taffeta, with white and blue accessories, white hat and grey topcoat. They will reside at Belleville, R.R. 1.

Guests were present from Ottawa, Syracuse, N.Y.; Toronto, and Hamilton.

CROOK—ALLAN

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Picton, was the scene of a pretty wedding, on Saturday, March 15th, at 7:00 p.m., when Myra M. Aileen Allan, of Crofton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Allan, became the bride of Ronald W. Crook, of Crofton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Crook. The Rev. W. McLean officiated before a background of spring flowers in tall standards.

The wedding music consisted of the traditional organ music and the singing of "The Lord's Prayer".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in her bridal gown of white satin featuring a long train with tulle veil and carrying a cascade bouquet of white Calla lilies.

Miss Marilyn Adams, of Rednersville, the maid of honor, was gowned in embroidered buttercup nylon net over taffeta; Miss Janet Salisbury, of Belleville, was bridesmaid in orchid nylon sheer, and the flower girl, little Miss Elaine Allan, of Peterborough, was in green nylon sheer.

Mr. Theron Allan, of Peterborough, was groomsman, and the ushers, Mr. Douglas Allan, of Ridgeway and Mr. Gregg Haight, of Cobourg.

At Rickarton Castle, Picton, where the reception was held, the bride's mother received the guests, gowned in blue nylon sheer. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore navy rayon faille.

Following the reception, the young couple left for Fort Lauderdale, Florida, the bride travelling in a blue suit with matching coat. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Crook will reside in Belleville.

Out-of-town guests were present from Brockville, Toronto, Ridgeway, Peterborough, Cobourg and Trenton.

BRADY—ELLIK

Marmora—A pretty wedding took place Saturday evening at six o'clock in the Protestant chapel, R.C.A.F. Station, Clinton, when Padre C. L. Harding united in marriage Dorothy Margaret Ellik, Clinton, daughter of WO 1 and Mrs. E. Ellik, Courtenay, Vancouver Island, B.C., and Thomas Eugene Brady, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Brady, Marmora.

F/S. Verne Boys was organist and accompanied AW 1 Marion Archer who was soloist for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in a ballerina-length gown of white lace designed with small pointed semi-sleeves and an underskirt of accordion pleats. Her shoulder length veil of French illusion was held in place by a crown of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a cascade bouquet of American Beauty roses and freesia.

Miss C. Cole, Halifax, N.S., as maid of honor and Miss Beryl Brookbanks, Weston, as bridesmaid, wore gowns of powder blue taffeta and powder silk repectively. They wore pink headdresses and matching accessories and carried pink carnation nosegays.

Louis H. Villeneuve, Ottawa, was groomsman and Peter Morris, Port Hope, ushered.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of F/S. R. Jackscon, R.C.A.F. Station. Later, an informal reception was held at the home of Mrs. I. Henri, Clinton. The bride's mother received in an afternoon dress of navy blue with orchid accessories.

For a motor trip to Windsor and Detroit, the bride changed to a grey and navy suit. She wore a cherry red hat, matching accessories and a blue topcoat. On their return, the couple will reside in Clinton.

Guests were present from London and Weston.

Alice Rogers Will Share in N.Y. Music Discussions

London, March 24 — (CP) — Miss Alice Rogers, London lyric soprano, will be the only Canadian singer to take part in the annual symposium of new compositions, sponsored by the Federation of American Music Students in New York City.

Miss Rogers will sing four works by 20-year-old Paul McIntyre of Toronto.

Miss Rogers is well known in this city. She is a daughter of the late William K. Rogers, former Canadian National Railways superintendent of the Belleville division.

Miss Rogers has competed several times in the radio program "Singing Stars of Tomorrow" and last year toured Ontario singing at educational institutions.

Club Activities

VOTA-VITA MISSION CIRCLE

On Tuesday 28 girls from the Victoria Avenue Baptist Church young women's mission circle met at the parsonage on William Street.

Mrs. Ruth Campbell led in a rousing sing-song of choruses. The president, Miss Margaret Hagerman, then read the poem "Folded Hands."

Mrs. Daniel brought the Watch Tower. She told about the new church house in Toronto which proved interesting. There were several requests for prayer which she mentioned to the girls.

It was a joy to have Mrs. Wilma Houston back with the Circle and she presented the topic for the evening. Wilma enlightened Vota-Vita on the workings of Home Missions, bringing home the responsibility to pray for these missionaries at home as well as abroad.

The meeting ended in refreshments prepared by Mrs. Dorothea Bleecker.

ENERGETIC CLUB

The Energetic Club met at Bridge Street Church on Friday night with a good attendance.

At 8.30 the group left on a tour of the new Bell Telephone building on Bridge Street. Groups of eight were escorted through the building by competent guides who explained each phase of telephone operation in the different departments.

The manager and staff were thanked for their courtesy and co-operation by the president, Carson Stratton.

Later, at the church, the devotional was in charge of group leaders Jack and Nelda O'Neil, taking the usual form of scripture, meditation, hymns and prayer.

The program opened with two vocal solos by Ross Purchase. Mrs. Ernie Brown, of Toronto, favored with two piano solos and also accompanied her husband, Ernie Brown, as he sang two lovely numbers.

All enjoyed the refreshments.

On Monday they will be luncheon guests of Mrs. George Drew and on Wednesday they will attend the banquet given by the Hon. George Drew.

WEDDINGS

WANNAMAKER—MOXAM

Snapdragons and phlox formed a pretty background for a wedding on Saturday, March 15th, at 2:00 p.m., in Bridge Street United Church, when the Rev. Duncan McTavish, pastor of the church, united in marriage Lillian Glee Moxam, Belleville, R.R. 1, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Moxam, to John Harold Wannamaker, R.R. 1, Carrying Place, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wannamaker.

Mr. Alec S. Gordon, church organist, rendered the wedding music and Miss Carolyn Forhan, cousin of the bride, was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in her gown of white net and lace over taffeta; orange blossom halo and fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Joan Moxam, of Syracuse, N.Y., was maid of honor, wearing yellow net over taffeta with halo of flowers and carrying a matching nosegay.

Miss Aneita Wood, of Belleville, was bridesmaid, gowned in turquoise net over taffeta with flower halo, and carrying a nosegay of matching flowers.

Mr. Warren Terry, Carrying Place, R.R. 1, was groomsman, while Mr. Gerald Wannamaker, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Bob Lafferty, cousin of the bride, acted as ushers.

The reception was held at the Masonic Temple, Foster Avenue, where the bride's mother, wearing navy blue with blue accessories and corsage of red roses, received, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was attired in navy blue with blue accessories and corsage of pink roses.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Wannamaker left for Niagara Falls, the bride travelling in navy blue taffeta, with white and blue accessories, white hat and grey topcoat. They will reside at Belleville, R.R. 1.

Guests were present from Ottawa, Syracuse, N.Y.; Toronto, and Hamilton.

CROOK—ALLAN

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Picton, was the scene of a pretty wedding, on Saturday, March 15th, at 7:00 p.m., when Myra M. Aileen Allan, of Crofton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Allan, became the bride of Ronald W. Crook, of Crofton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Crook. The Rev. W. McLean officiated before a background of spring flowers in tall standards.

The wedding music consisted of the traditional organ music and the singing of "The Lord's Prayer".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in her bridal gown of white satin featuring a long train with tulle veil and carrying a cascade bouquet of white Calla lilies.

Miss Marilyn Adams, of Rednersville, the maid of honor, was gowned in embroidered buttercup nylon net over taffeta; Miss Janet Salisbury, of Belleville, was bridesmaid in orchid nylon sheer, and the flower girl, little Miss Elaine Allan, of Peterborough, was in green nylon sheer.

Mr. Theron Allan, of Peterborough, was groomsman, and the ushers, Mr. Douglas Allan, of Ridgeway and Mr. Gregg Haight, of Cobourg.

At Rickarton Castle, Picton, where the reception was held, the bride's mother received the guests, gowned in blue nylon sheer. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore navy rayon faille.

Following the reception, the young couple left for Fort Lauderdale, Florida, the bride travelling in a blue suit with matching coat. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Crook will reside in Belleville.

Out-of-town guests were present from Brockville, Toronto, Ridgeway, Peterborough, Cobourg and Trenton.

BRADY—ELLIK

Marmora—A pretty wedding took place Saturday evening at six o'clock in the Protestant chapel, R.C.A.F. Station, Clinton, when Padre C. L. Harding united in marriage Dorothy Margaret Ellik, Clinton, daughter of WO 1 and Mrs. E. Ellik, Courtenay, Vancouver Island, B.C., and Thomas Eugene Brady, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Brady, Marmora.

F/S. Verne Boys was organist and accompanied AW 1 Marion Archer who was soloist for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in a ballerina-length gown of white lace designed with small pointed semi-sleeves and an underskirt of accordion pleats. Her shoulder length veil of French illusion was held in place by a crown of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a cascade bouquet of American Beauty roses and freesia.

Miss C. Cole, Halifax, N.S., as maid of honor and Miss Beryl Brookbanks, Weston, as bridesmaid, wore gowns of powder blue taffeta and powder silk repectively. They wore pink headdresses and matching accessories and carried pink carnation nosegays.

Louis H. Villeneuve, Ottawa, was groomsman and Peter Morris, Port Hope, ushered.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of F/S. R. Jackson, R.C.A.F. Station. Later, an informal reception was held at the home of Mrs. I. Henri, Clinton. The bride's mother received in an afternoon dress of navy blue with orchid accessories.

For a motor trip to Windsor and Detroit, the bride changed to a grey and navy suit. She wore a cherry red hat, matching accessories and a blue topcoat. On their return, the couple will reside in Clinton.

Guests were present from London and Weston.

Alice Rogers Will Share in N.Y. Music Discussions

London, March 24 — (CP) — Miss Alice Rogers, London lyric soprano, will be the only Canadian singer to take part in the annual symposium of new compositions, sponsored by the Federation of American Music Students in New York City.

Miss Rogers will sing four works by 20-year-old Paul McIntyre of Toronto.

Miss Rogers is well known in this city. She is a daughter of the late William K. Rogers, former Canadian National Railways superintendent of the Belleville division.

Miss Rogers has competed several times in the radio program "Singing Stars of Tomorrow" and last year toured Ontario singing at educational institutions.

Club Activities

VOTA-VITA MISSION CIRCLE

On Tuesday 28 girls from the Victoria Avenue Baptist Church young women's mission circle met at the parsonage on William Street.

Mrs. Ruth Campbell led in a rousing sing-song of choruses. The president, Miss Margaret Hagerman, then read the poem "Folded Hands."

Mrs. Daniel brought the Watch Tower. She told about the new church house in Toronto which proved interesting. There were several requests for prayer which she mentioned to the girls.

It was a joy to have Mrs. Wilma Houston back with the Circle and she presented the topic for the evening. Wilma enlightened Vota-Vita on the workings of Home Missions, bringing home the responsibility to pray for these missionaries at home as well as abroad.

The meeting ended in refreshments prepared by Mrs. Dorothea Bleecker.

ENERGETIC CLUB

The Energetic Club met at Bridge Street Church on Friday night with a good attendance.

At 8.30 the group left on a tour of the new Bell Telephone building on Bridge Street. Groups of eight were escorted through the building by competent guides who explained each phase of telephone operation in the different departments.

The manager and staff were thanked for their courtesy and co-operation by the president, Carson Stratton.

Later, at the church, the devotional was in charge of group leaders Jack and Nelda O'Neil, taking the usual form of scripture, meditation, hymns and prayer.

The program opened with two vocal solos by Ross Purchase. Mrs. Ernie Brown, of Toronto, favored with two piano solos and also accompanied her husband, Ernie Brown, as he sang two lovely numbers.

All enjoyed the refreshments.

Wallbridge W.I. Hears Address on 'Plastics'

Wallbridge—The Wallbridge Women's Institute met for a social evening at the home of Mrs. Cecil Sine, with an attendance of 25 or more.

The meeting opened in the usual manner with the president presiding.

A letter from the department was read asking all members to wear a purple ribbon 1" long under their institute pin until May 31st in mourning for King George VI. Also a letter from Mrs. Summers, president of the F.W.I.C. asking for 1 cent donation from each member to erect a cairn and bird bath in the F.W.I. International Peace Gardens to commemorate Mrs. Watts devotion to the organization.

A donation of $5 was granted to the Red Cross Society, the drive now on.

Mrs. Cecil Sine, Mrs. Morley Phillips and Mrs. Sam Nicolson were appointed to present the slate of officers for the coming year at next meeting. A motion was put through that all members that are eligible for life membership may do so sometime in the near future. An announcement of the school for leaders at Stirling the 11th and 12th of March for "The Milky Way" course for the girls club.

Mrs. Jack Smith volunteered to act as assistant for Mrs. T. Evans for the Garden Club work. Seeds to be distributed around the 20th of March.

Guest Speaker

The guest speaker for the evening was Mr. Campbell, sales development manager of the Bakelite plant of Belleville, who gave an instructive talk and demonstration of plastic products such as dishes, wall paper, insulation, tiling, electric switch plates and many others.

Mrs. Nicolson thanked the speaker for taking his time so generously and coming out and giving such a splendid talk.

This being Education Week, Mrs. T. Evans gave a reading on "Education." Ivan Phillips gave a piano solo. After the meeting closed a sociable time was spent and refreshments served by the lunch conveners and hostess.

LONG ENGAGEMENT

Piketberg, South Africa (CP)—After an engagement which lasted 40 years Millem Grobbelaar and Miss Hannie Smith finally got married. The former, now in his 60's, had promised his mother that he would not marry during her lifetime and she died only recently.

GOOD FISHING

Oslo (CP) — A Norwegian concern sponsored by boat yards, gear and engine manufacturers, is sending a 60-foot model fishing boat to South Africa to demonstrate new Norwegian fishing methods.

FOUR JAPANESE KILLED

Sendai, Japan, March 24 (AP) —Four Japanese farmers were killed and three wounded Friday by grenades tossed by United States soldiers on a drill ground near here, the U.S. army said.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Her Son is Inconsiderate and Ungrateful — Did She Make Him So?

I am not one of those who believes that children owe their parents anything whatever purely in return for having been brought into the world. My idea is that parents are not automatically entitled to the love, respect and gratitude of their children, but instead must earn the right to these things.

The real tragedy comes when parents actually have done everything they can to earn this right and fail to win the natural response from a child.

Here is a case in point — the story of a widow who has had seven children, three of whom are married and four still at home. Among the four is a boy of 19, whom the mother — a cripple and unable to get around without crutches — is struggling to put through college.

"I have done everything for this boy," she writes, "even more than I did for any of my other children, because he was smarter. My other boys just have an ordinary education, but this one is now in his third year at college.

"My problem with this boy is that inspite of all I have tried to do for him, he ignores me as much as possible. If I try to talk to him about anything, he acts as though he would rather I didn't speak to him, and at times will even get up and go into another room. Yet if some of his own friends are here, he is talkative and full of fun, the life of the party.

"We have a car which belongs to a son who is in the service, and I like once in a while to be taken somewhere in it. When I ask this particular son to do this, he will do it, but won't even speak to me all the time we are together. He never wants to tell me where he is going when he goes out, and if he can't always have the car to take his friends in, he resents it very much."

Now I said in the beginning that it is tragic — as it is — when a mother has done her best for a child and gets no love or gratitude in return. At the same time, however, there might be two reasons to account for a situation like this.

Possibly Spoiled Him

The first reason might be that the mother has so spoiled and indulged the boy, so impressed him with the fact that she considers him smarter and more promising than any of her other children, that he has come to think so well of himself as to look down on the rest of the family. Hence he doesn't bother to make himself agreeable, nor even to be thoughtful, loving and considerate of the mother who has given him all his advantages. If this is so, the mother has brought it on herself, even though with the best of intentions, and it is she who must try to bring things into adjustment.

The second possible cause of the unhappy relationship between the mother and her son is that she may be constantly reminding him of all she has done for him. What she would hope to accomplish by this, of course, is to arouse his gratitude and affection, but things like this never work that way. Instead, the person who is constantly reminded of his obligations becomes resentful and surly; in other words, he reacts just as this boy is reacting.

As I see it, therefore, it may be the mother herself who must first change her own attitude, before she can expect the boy to change his.

To that end, I suggest that she drop all reproaches and complaining from her conversation, if in truth she has been guilty of this, even try to eliminate them from her thoughts. Let her treat the boy just as she treats any other of her children; be interested in what he is doing, but avoid praising him unduly. If she wants to be taken out, she might stop asking this son to be her chauffeur and get one of her other children to do it. Let her avoid waiting on the boy too much and, in a cheerful way, give him to understand that he is expected to do things for himself. Let her talk often about the good qualities and abilities of her other children so that he may come to think more of them.

If she will work at all this consistently, without scolding or nagging, she may in time see this boy begin to change. At any rate, it's the best bet she has.

HOME COMFORTS

Copenhagen (CP) — A Danish freighter has sailed the seas for six months with all cabins and messes decorated with potted plants. The object was to find out which plants thrive on board ship, before plants are provided by the merchant marine navy welfare organization to make Danish seamen feel "more at home."

Food for Thought

By Mary Moore

Hungarian Poppy Seed Roll Requested

My Viennese friend Thilde gave a Sunday afternoon party and served Poppy Seed Roll because I asked for it.

I am so glad this happened and that I have this precious recipe for Mrs. O. LeC. whose letter follows. (I am sorry it is in "grams". You will have to do as I did—take your ingredients to the druggists who will have a gram scale, and charm him into letting you weigh them out—then measure them by ounces or cups and teaspoons to have it for keeps, and if you don't mind send it to me.)

Dear Mary Moore: When I was home I used to help my mother with some delicious rolls she used to make—She always made the basic recipe and I filled them with walnuts chopped up or poppy seed. I wish now that I had learned to make the dough because for going on 11 years I'm still trying and no success—mine always turn out too hard. They were made of a yeast dough and it's a Hungarian recipe. Could you help me?

Also would you give me a recipe for either mayonnaise or salad dressing, as yet I haven't found one I could make properly.

I have three little boys ages 8-6-5, and I'd love to have a good plain cookie recipe. I can never keep the cookie can full. My boys all dislike cooked vegetables, that's really a problem. I would appreciate any help you could give me.—Mrs. O. LeC.

ANSWER:

It is just sheer luck that I have this for you. You may use chopped walnuts in place of poppy seeds, of course.

YEAST POPPY SEED ROLL

Five hundreds grams flour (bread), 3 eggs, 1-2 pint milk, 30 grams yeast (1 1-oz. cake) 125 grams butter (4 1-2 oz. or generous 1-2 cup will do), 125 grams sugar (1-2 cup will do). Scald the milk, cool to body temperature (lukewarm) and dissolve the crumbled yeast in it with 1 teaspoon of the sugar. When it has been stirred and foams to top of cup, add to the beaten eggs. Add the remaining sugar to the flour, make a well in centre, pour in liquids and stir until well mixed. Cover and let stand at room temperature for 1 1-2 hours. Roll out to 1-2 inch thickness on board floured with bread flour. Brush with soft butter. Cover with

FILLING

375 grams minced or ground poppy seed (or chopped walnuts). 1-2 pint milk, 3 eggs beaten, 80 grams raisins, 85 grams sugar (3 oz.), about 80 grams other chopped nuts if desired (like almonds), 75 grams (2 1-2 oz.) butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Mix together, stirring, over low heat, and when it nearly boils cook over boiling water 10 minutes. Spread on rolled out dough, roll up, and let rise again until doubled in bulk. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about one hour.

PRIZE ALL-PURPOSE DRESSING

(This is the first time I have given this in this column—it will please both the salad dressing and mayonnaise addicts.)

Combine in order given 2 beaten yolks, 1 teaspoon each mustard and salt, 4 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice, 1 cup very cold oil—adding the oil 1 teaspoon at a time and beating until it emulsifies—between each addition. (Emulsify means thicken.) Now melt 3 tablespoons butter, then stir into it 1-4 cup flour and when blended 1 cup boiling water. Stir until thick and cook 10 minutes over boiling water. Chill. Beat into emulsified oil dressing. Add 1 or 2 tablespoons icing sugar. Economical and popular.

Watch this column for my answer to the last part of your letter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Carletor spent the weekend at Maxville, Ont.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

TAKE OFF YOUR HAT, LADY!

Foolish Question No. 999: Woman in theatre to person behind her, "Do you want me to take my off my hat?" Of course the person wants you to take off your hat. Don't risk — be a nice lady and take off your hat, just as you know you should do. The inconsiderate person just isn't a pleasant person.

Makes Good Sense to Give Shower Well in Advance of Wedding Date

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We are three girls who are planning to give a bridal shower for a very dear friend of ours. The most convenient time for all of us who are to give the shower, and also the most convenient time for the bride-to-be, is the second week in April. She is a college girl, and her spring vacation is at that time. All arrangements have been completed for her marriage in the last week in June. Do you think it would be improper for us to give this shower for her so much in advance of the wedding date?

— Three friends.

Not at all improper . . . indeed I think it's extremely wise and practical and sensible to give a shower well in advance of the wedding date. Particularly in this case, when the bride-to-be will be very, very busy, not only with her graduation but also with her wedding plans. Also this delightful party (truly an April-shower!) can be more charmingly planned and more leisurely enjoyed by all concerned than if it were to be given in the busy days just before the wedding. And I'm positive that the guest of honor will be enchanted with the early-shower date. Have fun!

King Messages of Sympathy Should be Thanked For—by Notes

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

It has so happened that recently several of my business friends have lost their husbands, and in each case I have written a letter of sympathy to the widow. In no case have I received an acknowledgment of my note. Should I expect a reply? Should letters of sympathy be acknowledged, or is it optional whether they are acknowledged?

— M. K. J.

Every letter of sympathy should be acknowledged by a note of appreciation. Surely anyone who is so kind and thoughtful as to write words of sympathy and understanding should be thanked for this so-human gesture. Naturally no one would expect a prompt reply — and it may be that your friends have not yet had the opportunity or the untroubled inclination to write. And naturally just a sentence or two of thanks is adequate. And also anyone would understand if the one mostly closely concerned with the death would ask another member of the family or a close relative or friend to write the notes: "Beatrice has asked me to write you to tell you how deeply touched she was by your kind message of sympathy. Your words were a great comfort to her, and she sends her sincere thanks to you."

LOVELIES ON THE CAMPUS

During college years, from the age of eighteen to twenty-two, a girl is at her prettiest. It should be the happiest time of her life. In her secret heart she is convinced that good appearance is just about as important as a diploma, especially if she is to be one of the belles of the campus.

With classes, study hours and social affairs, she has to plan for those small rituals that make for pulchritude and chic. If she has a program, not much time need be spent. Once a week, of course, the shampoo must be done. She should experiment with different mediums, selecting one that can be quickly rinsed away, that will leave her hair bright and shining. If she can manage to have a bath spray, she will find it more effective and speedier than the shower.

No matter what the condition of her skin, she should use a cream after the bedtime face-washing. If she goes to bed without removing her make-up she will not be justified in bawling about a dingy complexion or one speckled with blackheads. The girl who goes to bed with a clean face can dash cold water on her face in the morning to bring rosy coloring. If her skin is oily, she should use an astringent after the cold rinsing.

After using a cream at night she should friction some of it into the cuticle around her fingernails to keep it free of the nail fabric. This practice will not cause nail polish to go spotty. She should pass the nail white pencil under the eaves. After that comes the hand lotion that dries quickly, or an emollient that can remain on over night. A touch of mineral oil on the eyebrows and lashes is worth a try. Only takes a minute.

College girls are no longer casual about their clothes. Fashion designers have created smart attire for them; they are simple, have good lines and youthful colors. It is the habit of many college girls' mothers to patronize the misses departments of shops, so they too can fare forth in youthful attire.

The wardrobe friend Number One is the sweater. No more Sloppy Joes. Some lovely items are thin and soft enough to wear with suits in place of blouses. The turtle neck — sometimes heavy and high; sometimes soft and low —has become a favorite, doing away with the round line that isn't becoming to all faces. There are the usual long sleeves, bat wing sleeves and the elbow-length variety. You make your choice according to the kind of arms you have.

Sweater jackets have taken on changes for the better. Some have push-up sleeves; some have short ones; some are decorated with fancy buttons.

EMPTY SADDLES

Kimberley, South Africa (CP) —Trucks, not horses, are used at round-up time for thousands of Springbok and Black Wildebeeste on a big farm near here. The animals are too swift for horsemen, and are caught by "cowboys" on speeding trucks.

2ND THURLOW

Neighbors' Aid Holds Progessive Euchre

2nd. Thurlow — The Neighbors' Aid held a progressive euchre party at S. S. No. 3 on Monday night; Mr. and Mrs. Don Leeming, Messrs. Manley Mitchell, Harry Grills were in charge of the arrangements.

Seven tables of euchre were in play. Prizes were won as follows: Ladies, Mrs. Ormsby, Mrs. Douglas Atkins; consolation, Mrs. Meens. Men, Mr. Ormsby, Mr. Harry Grills; consolation, Mr. P. Pocyulika; lone hands, Mr. Chas. Grass.

Lucky card, Mrs. M. Ray and Mr. M. Mitchell.

The president, Mrs. Corah Howard, expressed appreciation to the committee and to all who came. Refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed.

4TH THURLOW

4th. Thurlow — Mrs. Henry Cooke, of Stirling, spent a few days last week with her daughter Mrs. Grant Cole, Mr. Cole and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mullett, of Wilkie, Sask., also Mrs. Frank O'Carroll, of Belleville, took dinner on Friday at the Cooley and Treverton home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Mifflin and Mrs. Gordon Mifflin, of Whitby, also Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Mifflin and Raymond of Belleville, were Sunday afternoon callers of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Tummon.

Mrs. Neva Horton, Mr. Jack Francis and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Baxter, of Picton, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Garrison.

Mr. Robert Miller, of Belleville, spent Tuesday at the Cooley and Treverton home.

Farewell Gifts

A number from this line attended the send-off on Thursday evening for Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson and Linda, 3rd. Line, who left on Saturday for their new home, 8th. line. They were presented with a lovely hostess chair and Linda received a teddy bear.

The Bethany W.M.S. and W.A. met on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Frank Walker, 3rd. line.

Fashion Flashes

STEP OUT and see for yourself how smart are the new shoes designed for spring costume wear. Right in the mood of the season is a shapely pump of glittering black patent leather with white calf underlay for a series of tiny square cut-outs.

TOPAZ touches in jewellery, scarfs and other accessories go beautifully with all the blonde tones so much in fashion for spring and summer. Benedictine yellow is another shade that is winning approval for its rich, warm tones.

SUBURBAN living calls for smartly simple daytime cottons—crisp and efficient, yet colorful—and this type of wardrobe backbone is better than ever this season, judging from a recent house-frock show. Stripes and solid combine for a cotton sheer made with a tucked bib front. The top is of white and gay stripes; the skirt of unpressed pleats is all grey. White rayon linen collars and cuffs, and a black velvet shoestring bowtie are other attractive accents.

DREAM DRESSES stud every good dinner and dance wear collection. Dreamy, indeed, is a short-skirted model of pale pink corded lace over crisp pink taffeta. The square neckline tapers down to a waistline molded by a velvet girdle in shades ranging from light grey to steel blue.

THERE'S NOTHING like crisp touches of white to dress up a suit — be it grey, navy, brown or black. New and attractive is a petal-shaped ascot in white shadow striped organdie that resembles pleating. Such a scarf takes nicely to glitter pins or colorful floral bits, such as the new, tiny ceramic rose pins or shaded orchid pins, all set with tiny rhinestones.

STILL GOING OUT with the smartest costumes is the good faille handbag. A new one, a big dressmaker pouch has a shirred overskirt, and, for a different look, has a tortoise-shell frame with a big ball closing.

Red Wings, Leafs, Canadiens And Bruins In Stanley Cup Semi-Finals

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

SEMI-FINALISTS AT LEAST

Belleville's starry junior "B" Hawks entered the OHA junior "B" semi-finals on Saturday night by virtue of the Weston Duke's 11-2 victory over the Barrie Flyers in Barrie. Westons eliminated the Flyers from the round-rabin series by handing Barrie its third straight defeat in the series. The Dukes meet the Hawks here Wednesday night in the first game of their home and home series.

Reports from Saturday night's game reveal that the Barrie squad was not the same one, from a playing standpoint, that the Hawks defeated here last Friday night by an 8-1 score. It was evident the Friday game plus the 180 miles after-midnight trek back to Barrie took its toll from the Flyer kids, and they were not in any condition to battle the classy Dukes.

The Dukes, a reliable source says, are a big husky team possibly one of the biggest in junior "B" circles. And they love to play the knock-'em-down, drag-'em-out style of hockey. If last Friday's game can be judged a criterion, the Dukes will find plenty of opposition from the Hawks in that type of hockey. In any event it should be the junior "B" classic of the year of not for a decade.

OPEN HOCKEY SCHOOL

Chicago Black Hawk's boss Bill Tobin is not letting any alfalfa sprout between his toes insofar as junior talent for the team in concerned. Neither is he sparing any effort to get his share of the best youngsters available and giving them every opportunity to prove their worth.

With this in mind the Hawks mentor through his chief eastern scout Bob Wilson, today inaugurated the first spring hockey school held by the Hawks. This morning twenty-three young aspirants to National Hockey League fame reported to the Galt Arena to begin the three-day period of training, tuition and observation. They came from North Bay, Kirkland Lake, Virginia Town, Sault Ste. Marie, Thorold, Toronto, Kitchener, Simcoe, London, Dundas and other points.

Wilson said Friday night it was planned to send Hec. Lalande, George Jacklin, Bob Wilson and Henry Therrien, four Belleville Hawks stars to the school for "show purposes" but it was later decided to keep the quartet here in lieu of important practices and the fact the Hawks are engeged in a mighty important playdown series at the moment.

However Hawks manager Bill Cook, and BHA director "Toots" Holway are looking over the field today.

Some of the better prospects reporting to the school are Pozzo, of the Soo, son of a former pro; Howse, of Kirkland Lake and Brian Anderson also of Kirkland Lake, a 16-year older who won a juvenile scoring championship and jumped to intermediate "A" for a three-game trial, and stayed there.

The spring school has its fine points. Primarily the youngsters who have finished or are finishing the 1951-52 season will be in the "pink" of condition and will give observers a better chance to estimate their ability than if the school were held in the fall with an off-season behind them.

The school also eliminates attendance of those selected at the Hawks training camp since they will be sent direct to the farm clubs of Belleville, Galt "A's", and junior "B's" etc. next autumn. It is from this school that the Belleville Hawks quota of 1952-53 imports will be sent.

The school will be under the supervision of Bob Wilson and "Red" Hamill, coach of the Galt junior "A" club. Transportation will be forwarded to players selected while the Hawks management will pay all expenses during the three-day duration of the school.

FINE SHOWING!

Gary Schreider, St. Michael's College grid and track star won the 50-yard sprint at the Legion track meet in Montreal last Friday night. Gary finished third in the 500 yards, leading all the way until within a few yards of the finish when clubmate Aiken passed him to establish a new Canadian mark. Schreider ran the 50 in 5.8 officially but club officials timed him in 5.6.

Under the tutelage and training of Lloyd Percival well-known Sports College mentor Gary is rapidly developing into one of eastern Canada's finest trackmen. Percival feels that by the time the open meets roll around, his seventeen-year-old former Belleville protege will rank with the best in the Dominion.

Gary's most imposing victories this year were the 50 and 300 sprints at the Hamilton meet a few weeks ago, which he won in convincing style.

* * *

Jack Doran's St. Michael's Academy gave a highly creditable performance in the first annual COSSA Volleyball Tournament held at McMaster University, Hamilton, on Saturday. The "Irish" playing their first games in tourney competition defeated Hagersville 21-1; Ridgway CI 21-16, then bowed to Elgin District H. S. 21-12 and were eliminated by the starry Collingwood CI 21-10.

Up against larger, heavier and more experienced teams the St. Michael's squad, winners of the Bay of Quinte district title acquitted themselves well. With this year's tournament experience Doran hopes next year to have a bigger and better team represent the district, if, of course they are returned Quinte champions.

The boys spent Saturday evening in Toronto where they saw the Black Hawks-Leafs hockey game.

WANT MORE STEEL

Tokyo, March 24 (Reuters) — The British Iron and Steel Corporation is asking for more steel from Japan, an official of the Yawata Steel Company said today. The corporation is discussing possibilities of securing 40,000 to 50,000 tons of semi-finished steel in addition to the 109,000 tons whose export was approved by the Japanese government this month.

The longest game in National Hockey League history was played at Montreal 16 years ago tonight, when Detroit Red Wings beat Montreal Maroons 1-0 after 116 minutes of overtime. The clincherR after a total of 176 minutes of play was fired by Modere Bruneteau, then a 22-year-old rookie in Red Wing uniform.

Hawks Spoil Leafs' Chances Of 2nd Place With 3-2 Win; Mosienko Gets 3 in 21 Seconds

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

It's Toronto-Detroit and Boston-Montreal in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-finals starting Tuesday—which doesn't surprise anybody too much—but the weekend, closing-out date of the 70-game National League schedule, really belonged to individuals.

Toronto Maple Leafs blew their last chance of catching up to the second-place Montreal Canadiens Saturday as they lost 3-2 to Chicago and, with the semi-finalists declared and the pressure off eveverybody, the boys went out to pick up some personal honors in the three-game league windup Sunday.

Bill Mosienko, 30-year-old veteran of 11 seasons with the Black Hawks, burned up New York's Madison Square Garden ice with a three-goal splurge in 21 seconds—the fastest hat trick by a single player in the history of the league. The score here was 7-6 for the lastt-place Hawks.

Then, at Detroit, the spoils were distributed three ways as the Red Wings splattered Canadiens 7-2, following a 3-3 draw at Montreal Saturday.

Vezina For Sawchuk

Goalkeeper Terry Sawchuk of the Wings wound up with the Vezina Trophy and the $1,000 that goes with it. Right winger Gordie Howe scored three goals to boost his season output to 47 and his point-total to 86 for the No. 1 spot and line-mate Ted Lindsay scored twice and assisted in another to finish in the runner-up position with 69 points.

Howe, who received a trophy as the team's most valuable player of the season in a pre-game ceremony, collected $1,000 and Lindsay $500.

At Boston, the Leafs sent 36-year-old Walter (Turk) Broda into the nets for the first time this season. The Turk stayed around for half the game, allowed three goals and made 14 stops as the fourth-place Bruins defeated Toronto 4-2. Al Rollins finished out the game in the Toronto nets.

Winnipeg-born Mosienko made a shambles of the old rapid-firing mark. That was one minute, 52 seconds set by Carl Liscombe with Detroit against Chicago March 13, 1938. And his lightning-like string, also eclipsed another N. H. L. record—the fastest three goals by a team.

Previously, the fastest-scoring trio had been held by the old Montreal Maroons with three tallies in 24 seconds—by different players in the 1932 season.

Bodnar Assisted

The Hawks were trailing 6-2 when Mosienko caught fire in the third period. He put his first past rookie goalkeeper Lorne Anderson at 6.09, notched his second at 6.20 and completed the trick 10 seconds later. Gus Bodnar assisted on all three, setting another N. H. L. record. The old mark of 81 seconds was held by Don Raleigh of the Rangers, set in 1947 against the Hawks.

The three goals boosted Mosienko's output to 31, the second highest in his big-league career. He netted 32 in the 1943-44 campaign when the schedule was only 50 games.

Mosienko was the big cog in the Hawks' Saturday victory over the Leafs, fighting hard to pass Canadiens and take a shot at Boston in the semi-finals, peppered Chicago goalkeeper Harry Lumley with 41 shots—20 in the last period—but the apple-cheeked Lumley held them out.

Senators Have Same Look But Harris Has Hopes

Orlando, Fla., March 24 (AP) —The 1952 Washington Senators have the sae look as the bedraggled bunch that finished seventh in '51, but manager Bucky —Harris sees better things to come.

This year is Bucky's silver anniversary as a big league pilot. In 24 years of masterminding, the oldest active skipper has never finished in the cellar.

"I have to face it," admits Harris, "we don't look very good. But we're not going to finish last. That you can be sure of."

The Senators have a pretty good front-line squad and a good pitcher in Bob Porterfield. But the team is an unbalanced one, the bench is weak, the catching uncertain and the rest of the pitching staff is poor.

"We should be better this year for several reasons," says Bucky. "Firsht, we will have Porterfield right from the start. He did not join us until mid-seaso n last year. We also will have Pete Runnels, a fine hitter, right from scratch. Cass Michaels, our second baseman, looks greatly improved and we hope nothing happens to Irv Noren, as good a centrefielder as there is in the league."

Harris needs pitching help badly, although Porterfield is a standout. The righthander won nine and lost eight in his half season's work. Don Johnson is next. He may do better than 7-11 mark.

Tillsonburg Trims Toronto Tri-bells By 87-46 Score

Tillsonburg, March 24 (CP)—It's a long way from Tillsonburg to Helsinki but Gerry Livingston's cagers took a long stride toward their Olympic games goal when they trounced Toronto Tri-Bells 87-46 here Saturday night to win the Ontario Senior Basketball Championship. The victory wiped out a two-point margin Toronto picked up in the opening game of the series and gave Tillsonburg the round 147-108.

In what was probably the greatest upheaval of form in the history of Ontario senior basketball, the Livingstons ran the vaunted Tri-Bells into the floor early in the game. After the first half ended with them holding a 48-21 edge, they virtually coasted to the easiest win of their season.

Tri-Bells, who had beaten the Livvies twice in exhibition games and in the first half of the two-game final series, were never in the running.

Tillsonburg now meets the northern Ontario champions, Sault Ste. Marie, in the all-Ontario senior final. The best-of-three-games series to be played in Tillsonburg, starts Thursday. The winners of this round faces the Ottawa-Montreal winner in the eastern Canada final.

Cougars Squeeze Into Pacific League Playoffs

(By The Canadian Press)

Victoria Cougars squeezed into the Pacific Coast Hockey League play-offs yesterday as the regular schedule ended in Seattle with a 5-4 victory over the Ironmen.

The victory put Cougars, who won the league title last year on the final day of the season, in a points tie with Calgary Stampeders for sixth and last playoff spot. But Victoria has won one more game than Stampeders and thereby gains the right to meet first-place New Westminster Royals in the opening playoff round.

Calgary moved briefly into sole possession of that vital niche Saturday night when they defeated the visiting Saskatoon Quakers 6-3. While Tacoma Rockets were careening to a 9-1 triumph over Vancouver Canucks in Tacoma.

In other Saturday night P.C. H.L. action, Royals smashed a Pacific Coast Hockey League record in New Westminster when they defeated Seattle Ironmen 8-3 for their 40th win of the season. They set the former mark of 39 themselves in 1949-50. The victory also boosted Royals' season points total to 91, three more than the old league high for points in a season, 88, which they broke earlier last week.

Hoppe Retains Billiards Title

San Francisco, March 24—(AP) —Willie Hoppe, 64-year-old emperor of billiards, retained his three-cushion championship Saturday night when he defeated Kinrey Matsuyama 50-37 in 60 innings.

The two battled it out in a spectacular finish that saw Hoppe's long lead cut away as Matsuyama went ahead 36-35 in the 46th oinning.

The 12-time holder of the title went into the lead again at the end of the 48h frame and slowly pulled away from the Japanese ace from there on.

Petes Trim Sacs For 2nd Straight

Kingston, March 24 — Peterborough Petes jolted Kingston Sacs' OHA Senior "B" group championship aspirations alarmingly when they speed to a 5-1 triumph in the Community Memorial Centre here Saturday night. The win gave the Petes a 2-0 edge in the best-of-seven series.

It was a stunned crowd—2,850 were in attendance—that saw the Sacs falter and fall before superior foes.

Kingston scored the opening goal at 1:29 of the first period, with Don Murray the marksman, but thereafter, Ray Harding, the Petes' veteran cageman, was unbeatable.

The Petes came back to tie the score early in the period, then added three in the second and another in the third.

Arnie Dugan, one of the top performers for the Petes, scored two of their goals, with others going to Mason, Steele and Floyd.

Third game of the series is slated for Peterborough tonight.

Intercollegiate Athletic Union Cracks Down on So-Called Amateurs

Montreal, March 24 (CP)—The Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union has cracked down on today's so-called amateurs, as far as inter-collegiate ranks are concerned, outlawing players in the interprovincial and western football unions and Alexander Trophy hockey from intercollegiate sport.

The blast came Saturday at a meeting of the board of governors of the union who also clapped down on athletic scholarships, athletic loan funds and strengthened the transfer rule.

Action of the committee was seen by observers as aimed at halting abuses of scholarships and the glossing over of amateurism as obtained among universities in the United States.

It was also decided a condition of membership in the union would be that all athletes must be directly under the control of the administration of each institution.

On eligibility rules and amateurism, the board decided:

"No person who has at any time played in a recognized professional league is eligible to compete.

Wide Scope

"Recognized professional league is interpreted to include all teams in rugby football in the Interprovincial Rugby Union and the Western Canada Rugby Football Union, and in hockey to include all teams entered in senior leagues leading to competition for the Alexander Trophy.

"No person is eligible who receives an athletic scholarship, or other form of remuneration, either from the institution itself or from any other body or individual, for the purpose of recruiting members of athletic teams.

"Because of the difficulty of controlling athletic loan funds, any student receiving aid from a loan fund is also ineligible unless that fund is directly controlled or administered by the academic authority of the institution.

"The present 'transfer rule' was extended to apply to students transferring from any university to a member of the union. Formerly, it applied only within the union. Under this rule, a student who is classed as a transfer must spend one year at the institution to which he has transferred before he is eligible to represent that institution on an athletic team . . ."

The governors decided on a three-conference organization, previously in effect but now formally recognized within the union. They are:

Ontario-Quebec conference, which includes McGill, Queen's, Toronto and western Ontario; the Ottawa-St. Lawrence conference and the southwest Ontario conference.

Each conference is largely autonomous with regard to its administrative operation but is subject to C. I. A. U. regulations with respect to eligibility, playing rules and other such matters.

Assumption College of Windsor, Ont., was admitted to the Ontario-Quebec conference in basketball but the application of McMaster University of Hamilton for admission to Ontario-Quebec conference football play was referred to a committee of five institutions chiefly interested.

Sport in Brief

(By The Canadian Press)

Murray (Muzz) Patrick, manager of Tacoma Rockets, is proud of his Pacific Coast Hockey League team—so proud, in fact, that before Friday night's game with the Canucks in Vancouver, he began passing out pictures of his players to Vancouver fans.

Vancouver owner Coley Hall, however, objected to Patrick's picture passing.

"Next thing I knew," said Patrick afterward, "Coley takes a poke at me. I wing at Coley." And, the former pugilist added "the police grab him and the fight is over." It took 4 policemen to break up the scrap, but neither participant was marked and neither laid a complaint with police.

What would have happened had the incident occurred after the game is anybody's guess. Tacoma beat Vancouver 2-1 in the regularly scheduled game and then won 7-6, a replay of the last 11 minutes of a Feb. 22 game that Canucks had protested.

Don Gehrmann, the Wisconsin Whippet, ran the fastest halm-mile in history on a standard 11-lap track Saturday night—negotiating the distance in 1:51 at the Olympic Carnival in New York's Madison Square Garden.

Steve Sundra, former New York Yankee pitcher, died yesterday in Cleveland of an incurable disease. Sundra, 40, was flown to Cleveland from his Atlantic City, N.J., home two weeks ago to spend his last days with his father, Michael. The nature of his disease was not disclosed. Illness dragged Sundra's weight down to 75 pounds from 215 after he retired from baseball in 1946.

The University of Alberta Golden Bears won the 1952 Western Canada Intercollegiate senior men's basketball championship in Edmonton Saturday by defeating University of British Columbia Thunderbirds 62-56 in the second game of a best-of-three series. Bears, who now meet University of Western Ontario Mustangs in the Canadian Intercollegiate final, won the first game Friday 72-55.

In Laurel, Md., H. A. Kimball's Algasir, longest shot of eight horses in the race, won the 37th running of the Capitol Handicap Saturday before 21,888 fans at Laurel's opening. For the $2 bettors, Algasir paid $62.80 to win.

First baseman Lou Limmer, the rookie Philadelphia Athletics expected to make the big leagues with a bang, was farmed out to Ottawa of the International League yesterday in West Palm Beach, Fla., as manager Jimmy Dykes dropped eight players from his squad. Along with Limmer, pitchers Joe Murray, Ed Hrabscak and Mike Kume went to the A's triple-A Ottawa farm team.

Canadian Wins International Ski Titles

Stowe, Vt., March 24 (CP)—Ernie McCulloch, 25-year-old chief ski instructor at Mont Tremblant, Que., raced down the Nose Dive trail to win the United States and American International downhill titles Saturday.

The Canadian used borrowed skis to run the straightest lie possible from an elevation of 4,060 feet for 1¾ miles to the valley some 2,500 feet below.

He covered the distance in 2:16.7 to beat 10 Olympic aces, including Norway's Stein Eriksen and Austria's Othmar Schneider. He broke his own skies in practice.

McCulloch took a bad spill Sunday and was forced to drop out of the international slalom championship. He fell in his first slalom run over a foggy, sleet-covered course and did not qualify for the second run.

Olympic champion Andrea Mead Lawrence of Rutland, Vt., and Jack Reddish, 25-year-old sailor from Salt Lake City, swept most of the honors in the United States-recognized phase of the downhill and slalom competition.

Mrs. Lawrence captured the U.S. slalom Sunday and the downhill Saturday.

Kitchener Cagers Down Kingston

Kitchener, March 24 (CP)—Kitchener-Waterloo Y.M.C.A. Blues Saturday downed Kingston Monarchs to earn a 108-87 edge on a two-game, points-to-count Ontario Basketball Association Intermediate series. The victory oved the Blues against Windsor Alumni who eliminated Hamilton.

Down two points following the series opener in Kingston, the Blues made no mistake in the second clash. Don Heller led their attack with six baskets.

Gladu Gets 3 For A.L. Record

Providence, R. I., March 24—(CP)—Paul Gladu of St. Hyacinthe, Que., last night pumped in three goals in 87 seconds for an American Hockey League playoff record.

His hat trick led Providence Reds to a 5-1 victory over Cleveland Barons and gave the Reds 2-to-1 edge in the second-place playoff series.

The mark, although a playoff record, is 30 seconds behind the 57-second regular season record posted by Bill Jennings of Indianapolis in 1941.

Training Camps Buzz Over Cobb's Blast at Moderns

By JACK HAND

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP)—Ty Cobb's blast at modern ball players has the boys talking about the old Georgia Peach. In training camp dugouts, oldtimers revive the Cobb legends for new ears.

Casey Stengel was asked what he thought of Cobb's statement that Yankee shortstop Phil Rizzuto and Cardinal outfielder Stan Musial are the only modern players who can stand comparison with the oldtimers.

"I'm not going to comment on it," said Stengel, then he commented for the next 30 minutes.

"There's probably a lot right and a lot of wrong in what he says," Casey began. "But I know one thing. He could play ball."

Stengel spotted Rizzuto walking past the bench. He gave you that big wink.

Broke Cobb's Record

"I'm having a lot of trouble with Rizzuto since Cobb wrote that piece," he said. "Fighting with the other players, picking scraps. Thinks he's Cobb." Rizzuto grinned and walked away.

Along came Clyde Milan, old "Deefoot" who once broke Cobb's record by stealing 88 bases in 1912. Cobb, of course, came back to set a high of 96 in 1915.

"He was a great player," said Milan. "A good friend of mine—off the ball field. But he's been away for years. I know he's wrong when he says modern players don't train and work hard.

"Don't think he didn't make mistakes, too. I remember at least three times when I was playing against him that he stole a base with somebody already on it."

"He'd stop at nothing to beat you.

"When he was fighting for the batting championship one year he made the groundkeeper let the grass grow down the third base line. Let it grow nice and high for about five days. Then he had it mowed down real close for about 10 feet from third towards home.

"If the third baseman stayed back, he'd bunt in that high grass and leg it. If he charged in, Cobb could slap one past him where the grass was cut and it would roll into left field."

Sasky Riders Sign Yank Star

Tampa, Fla., March 24 (CP)—Holland Aplin, University of Tampa high-scoring end, has signed to play football with Saskatchewan Roughriders team next fall.

John Rowland, an executive of the Western Interprovincial Football Union Club, said Aplin has signed a one-year contract.
